The Man With a Branded Hand.

The announcement in our special dispatches yesterday of the death of Capt. Jonathan Walker, at Black Lake, in this State, says the Detroit Post of May 3, recalls vividly one of the most startling incidents of anti-slavery agitation of thirty and thirty-five years ago, for Capt. Walker was the "Man with the Branded Hand," celebrated by Whittier in one of his stirring poems against slavery. He was born near Harwich, Cape Cod, March 22, 1819, and at an early age became a seaman. In 1835 he went to Mexico to assist Benjamin Lundy, one of the earliest anti-slavery workers, in colonizing fugitives from slavery. The scheme failed, as all colonization schemes for slaves have failed, and Walker returned to his avocation as sea captain. In 1844 he was solicited by several fugitive slaves at Pensacola, Florida, to carry them in his vessel to the British West Indies. Although well aware of the hazard of the enterprise, he attempted to comply with their request. He was seized by an American vessel and taken back to Florida, where he was loaded with irons and kept in solitary confinement for one year. When he was finally brought to trial he was convicted of assisting slaves to obtain their freedom and sentenced to the pillory, to be branded with the letters "S. S." (slave stealer) with hot irons on the right hand, and to pay a fine of $600 and costs. It will seem almost incredible to the younger readers of to-day that such a sentence should be imposed and executed in the "Land of the Free" during the present generation, but it is true. After his liberation he became a very effective anti-slavery lecturer from 1845 to 1849. In 1863 he came to Michigan and settled at Black Lake, Muskegon county. He has lately been in reduced circumstances, infirm and old, and the Post and Tribune published some months ago an appeal in his behalf by ex-Lieutenant Governor Holt of Muskegon, which was generously responded to. The anti-slavery pioneer and veteran has now passed away, and the brand which the slave-traders meant for his lasting shame has proven his greatest honor.

THE Mayor of the village is no end of a good fellow, but as an official not a success. He is lazy, very, and his ideas of routine and order singularly crude. To him enter first Citizen:

First Citizen—"I have come, sir, to ask you to record the birth of my son.!'

Official (warmly)—A son? Bully for you! Name, etcetera? (Takes memorandum. Exit First Citizen.)

A week later the First Citizen returns in black and tears.

First Citizen—I have come, sir, to have you register the death of my son, my beloved che-ild, only a week—(Sobs.)

Official (kindly)—Come, come, bear up. We must all die, you know. Everything's for the best. By Jove! I hadn't entered that the little beggar was born—quite overlooked the mem. I jotted down. So much the better; we'll call it a stand-off. We won't count him as having been born at all—save two entries that way.

FOR some reason not explained the run of salmon is unusually late this season—if it is to come at all. In seasons heretofore hundreds of fish have been taken daily by the fishermen on the fishing grounds here, but they have considered themselves in luck to get as many as four or five this season, and there have been days when they have not taken a single one. The fishermen up the river have been doing little if any better than those here. Some attribute the scarcity to the taking of seed fish for the canneries last year, and the capture of small fish by the Chinese with their fine mesh seines. Others think these causes may partly but do not wholly account for the scarcity, but that the run is delayed by some unknown cause, and that we shall have it later along in the season. —Contra Costa Gazette.

AN exchange remarks: Nihilism in Russia, socialism in Germany, communism in France and Kearneyism, which is a hotch potch of all three, in America—such are the terms ringing from the press with words of warning. It is time Govrnment should interpose to protect itself and society. From our Eastern exchanges we find that the Communists in various places are drilling and preparing for a contest, not at the ballot-box, but at the cartridge-box. Such things are always dangerous to government and society, and should be nipped in the bud. They not only threaten the peace but the stability of society. Truly does the Boston Traveller, in speaking on this subject, say:

Who can conceive a greater outburst of lunacy than the following resolution adopted by the American Labor Reform League at its reunion in New York recently:

Resolved, That since capitalists take life and destroy property to retain their power to steal, the "Kearney" men who invoke the halter in California, and the Molly Maguires, reported to have killed coal bosses, are morally lawful belligerents, justly exercising the same rights of defensive warfare applauded in tipping tea into Boston harbor, John Brown's march on Harper's Ferry, and the killing of pro-slavery Southerners by Northern Unionists.

Here is food for serious thought on the part of every right thinking man. There is no mistaking the animus of such a resolution and the purpose it discloses.

A CLERGYMEN traveling in the mountains of West Virginia put up for the night at the house of a pious old lady, who never refused to entertain strangers lest haply an an angel might be turned away from her doors unawares. Shortly after his arrival supper was announced, and the old lady after a blessing had been invoked, began to rattle the cups and saucers preparatory to matronly ceremony of pouring out and handing around the hot coffee. It was customary to make the inquiry, and, therefore, the good dame, with a gracious smile, inquired of her guest:

"Do you take sugar in yourn?"

"If you please," replied the hungry and thirsty evangelist, "and I'll be obliged if you make it pretty tolerably sweet."

The old lady began to twist in her chair, adjust her spectacles and look searchingly around the table. She dipped the spoon desperately in the blue china sugar bowl, but it rattled ominously against the sides of the empty vessel. At last she summoned courage to tell the truth. With admirable pluck and candor she opened her mouth and spake, and the words that reached the ear of her guest were these:

"Stranger, we hain't it."—Charlottesvelle, Va., Chronicle.

THE FIRST BABY IN CALIFORNIA.—The following is quoted from an old file of a foothill paper: It was the Fourth of July and Downieville celebrated. The stars and stripes floated from a peeled and lofty pine, and the chorus of the anvil had re-echoed through the hills. The house was crowded with miners; poet, reader and orator had performed their parts, and the recently organized brass band was giving in boisterous resonance some national anthem, when suddenly there burst out the feeble wail of an infant, first low, then swelling out in all the defiant strength of baby lungs. The band put forth its loudest strains; the baby incited to renewed exertion, redoubled its vigor. It was nip and tuck between the band and the baby. The young mother did her best to divert the child and hush him, when from the audience there uprose a brawny miner, and, shaking his fist at the music, cried, "Hush that infernal band and give the baby a chance!" The band stopped its playing, and never did stalwart men listen to sweeter music than those exiles from home and women as they drank in the tones of the wailing child. The child was hushed upon its mother's breast, and at the word there went up three rousing cheers for the first baby of the Northern Sierra.

THE selection of the Marquis of Salisbury as Foreign Secretary is a triumph of skill on the part of the Earl of Beaconsfield. Lord Salisbury knows the diplomatists of Europe, and is in a singular degree master of French. He can meet Prince Gortschakoff with sarcastic sentences better even than his own.

WHEN a prize fighter, gambler, political striker and life-long leader of the worst elements of society is borne to his grave by an ex-Lieutenant Governor and nine Senators, it becomes time to inquire whether the path to honor and distinction pointed out by Sunday-school books is really the right one after all.

NAVAREZ was a Spanish soldier and a devout Catholic. As he was about to die the priest asked: "Do you forgive your enemies?" The reply was a grim one: "I haven't any—I shot them all."

CARSON MINT.—We are indebted to the politeness of Otto Greenwood, Chief Clerk, for the following items respecting the workings of the United States Branch Mint at Carson: The total coinage of standard silver dollars for the present month will amount to about $650,000. The shipments of silver coin (the new dollars) for the past week were as follows: New Orleans, $150,000; St. Louis, $150,000; Cincinnatti, $25,000; Chicago, $25,000. The last purchase of bullion on Government account was from the bonanza mine owners. In future bullion for coinage will be purchased from private parties at London market rates, the amount of gold in the same will be returned to the owners in gold coin and the silver in silver standard dollars. The Mint is now being run to its full capacity. The whole number of male employés is 66; female employés, 15.—Virginia Enterprise.

ARMY worms have made their appearance at different points on Tule river and Fraser Valley. Grasshoppers are also plentiful, but have done little damage as yet. The potato bug, which we think is wrongly called the Colorado bug, has been more than ordinarily destructive this season. This bug is almost universally called the lady bug. It breeds a species of vermin which rapidly destroys turnip tops, cabbage leaves and vines of all kinds.—Visalia Delta.

A LAWYER once asked the late Judge Pickens, of Alabama, to charge the jury that "it is better that ninety and nine guilty men should escape than that one innocent man should be punished." "Yes," said the witty judge, "I will give that charge; but in the opinion of the court the ninety and nine men have already escaped in this county."

THE color of a girl's hair is regulated by the length of her father's purse. If the latter be plethoric, the girl's tresses are golden or auburn; if the old man's wallet be lean, we hear the daughter spoken of as "that red headed gal." You never saw a rich girl with red hair.

CONSUMMATED.

By the official notice published elsewhere it will be noted that the removal of the office of this land district from the central point of Independence to Bodie, 150 miles away in the mountains on the extreme northern line, is a fixed fact. It goes to a more inaccessible point than Aurora, from whence it was transferred here on account of general convenience, and but twelve miles distant from that place. As one part in the programme of a deliberate steal, it goes to an ephemeral mining camp now on the down grade, on the ostensible but most ridiculous and absurd plea that the public business of the whole district will be increased thereby! In reference to the mines there, perhaps, as has been mysteriously said to one of the officers, "there's money in it to keep the place."

Aside from the mining sharks, however, in this contemptible business the Administration has been handled by a ring that is stronger than the Government itself, and sends to this community a home thrust that ought to give us a realizing sense of the power of the Central Pacific railroad. In the hands of the Federal ring of this Coast, whose dupes and tools are ever ready to fabricate lies at the behest of their masters, the people are powerless, even if those high in authority were honest.

Let her rip. But if the manifest jobbery, corruption and blackmailing which crops out in governmental transactions on this Coast is not provocative of Communism, Nihilism, Socialism, Kearneyism or what not, then Beecher is right about there being no hell.

BALLOTS.

By this mention due notice is given that this office will not supply ballots for the coming election. Even were we willing to take the responsibility of insuring the correctness of the thirty-three names to go each ticket, the matter of presenting them in due legal form is out of the reach of any office not contiguous to a type foundry. To repeat the formula—for thirty-three times would require an ordinarily schemed font of long primer weighing 1,800 pounds to give required sorts, saying nothing of the monopoly provided for by Swift's "vignette" business. If our country contemporaries will look at that business they will see a nigger in the fence: id est, a monopoly in printing election ballots.

FOR

JOHN H. BURKE has brought suit in San Francisco against the Bonanza men to recover $35,000,000 for the stockholders of the Consolidated Virginia mine. The complaint alleges that this sum has been wrongly diverted from the stockholders by the managers of the mine making credit-mobilier contracts among themselves. If Mr. Burke can show that so prodigious a sum has been made out of the mine by illicit contracts, the people will clearly understand the modus operandi by which the colossal fortunes of the Bonanza men have been made.

A BIG CLAIM.—Ben. S. Brooks, Egbert Judson and John Center, all of whom are or have been more or less identified with law or mining operations in this county, have recently memorialized Congress for an opportunity to try and establish their ownership to Yerba Buena Island, San Francisco Bay. They set forth that they are the owners of said island; that they were driven therefrom by U. S. troops, who took possession under orders of Gen. McDowell. They assert their ability to prove their title.

Public Meeting of Citizens of Darwin.

In view of the danger to our interests abroad through what has occurred in Darwin during the past week, a public meeting was called on Thursday evening last to obtain from the people an expression of opinion. We have not space for more than the proceedings of the meeting, which we give below:

Pursuant to a call for a public meeting, to be held in the school house in Darwin, for the purpose of devising means to suppress the lawlessness that has and now is taking place in our midst, C. F. O'Brion was appointed Chairman and O. M. Paris Secretary.

P. Reddy, Esq., being called upon, responded in a telling speech, setting forth the wrongs committed by the Workingmen's Club of this place.

On motion of T. S. Harris that a committee be appointed to draft resolutions, the following gentlemen were appointed: Geo. Center, R. S. Hatch, C. F. Duval, N. R. Carson and O. M. Paris.

The committee retired and soon reported the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted by the meeting and received the signatures of the persons attached thereto:

At a mass meeting held at the town of Darwin, County of Inyo, State of California, on the 23d day of May, 1878, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, The Workingmen's Club of Darwin have resorted to threats against the persons of individuals and property in this community, and have resisted and impeded the officers of the law in the execution of their duties, thereby causing several of our most estimable citizens (laboring men) to leave the town, and have also sent threatening letters to others of our most peaceful and useful citizens, and by false statements have attempted to induce large numbers of the laboring men in the neighboring camp of Lookout to come to this town for the purpose of resisting lawful authority and assist them in their riotous proceedings and attempt to intimidate the law-abiding citizens of this camp;

AND WHEREAS, The officers and members of said Club induced one C. M. Delahanty to join them in their unlawful acts, placed him in the front, and then, in a cowardly manner abandoned him and caused his death:

AND WHEREAS, The President of the Club, one M. J. Cronin, appointed and detailed the said C. M. Delahanty to fill a most dangerous position, and did, as soon as the firing commenced, under which Delahanty fell, flee in a most ignominious manner a mile or more from the scene of the conflict and there hid himself in bed, leaving his wounded comrade to be cared for by others; therefore be it

Resolved, That we deplore the death of Mr. Delahanty and sympathize sincerely with his bereaved mother, relatives and friends, and although misled in this particular action, we willingly bear testimony to the fact that he was a brave and generous man, and, with the exception of this one act, a good and upright citizen; but that we denounce the men who took advantage of his known bravery to deceive and lead him to his death;

Resolved, That the Workingmen's Club of said town, having heretofore endangered, and are still menacing the peace and well being of this community, that the President and Secretary of the said Workingmen's Club be notified in writing, by the President and Secretary of this meeting, that we hold them personally responsible for any violence or violation of the law on the part of said Club, or any of its members, and each and every member of the organization as well;

Resolved, That we regard the safety of life and property, and the liberty of the citizen, as against any unlawful attack, paramount to any object or purpose of the Workingmen's Club or any other organization;

Resolved, That we recognize in Wm. F. Welch, Deputy Sheriff of Inyo county, a faithful and efficient officer of the law, and that the action of the said officer, Constable Fitzgerald of Lookout, Constable Holmes, of Darwin, and Deputy Constables Oliver Roberts and William Hogan of the Sheriff's posse, is fully indorsed by us, and that in the future each and every one of us will hold ourselves in readiness to assist them in maintaining peace and good order in the community.

On motion the committee was requested to circulate the resolutions for the benefit of those who could not attend the meeting.

On motion of C. F. Duval, a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Reddy for the able manner in which he addressed the meeting. Meeting adjourned.

MONO COUNTY CORRESPONDENCE.

MAMMOTH CITY, Lake District, May 27.

MESSRS. EDITORS—Perhaps a few lines from this mammoth country concerning the mammoth mines will be of interest to miners and prospectors who contemplate wending their way to this mammoth mineral belt for the purpose of finding bonanzas, which are numerous in this region.

THE MINERAL RESOURCES

Of this country are the chief resources, although wood, timber, water, grass, grazing and farming land is abundant. It will require ages of active mining and milling operations to consume the present growth of timber now standing is this vicinity. And, no doubt the mines are as good as represented. Prospectors are opening up their claims, which show ore beyond all expectation. The Mammoth mine, from which this place derives its name, was recently sold to Gen. Geo. S. Dodge for $10,000 and stock to the amount of $20,000, making the sum of $30,000 which this mine brought to five prospectors. The Alpha mine is bonded and being worked by a party from Virginia City, and superintended by Mr. Jas. Lowery. Their tunnel is now in 168 feet, and for the last ten feet the ledge has been all they expected of it. Their bond will expire on the 7th of July, but rumors are that they will be on hand with the required amount, to-wit, $35,000, before the time expires. The Armstrong ledge, lying between the Mammoth and Monumental, shows splendid ore for 30 feet, that being as far as they have drifted or cut across it, and is beyond a doubt one of the mines of the district.

LAUREL HILL DISTRICT

Is situated about six miles south of Lake District or Mammoth City, and is said to contain a great many valuable mines. There are about 25 men there prospecting, and they have good locations, but the ore is base and principally of a smelting character, while the ore of Lake District is free milling ore. Mr. Mattox, an assayer and scientific miner, expressed a preference for the base ore, provided it existed in paying quantities (there is no doubt about that). He also asserted that the famous Mammoth, Alph and Armstrong mines were 1,500 feet wide, "which assertion," said he, "I am not ashamed of."

A NEW DISTRICT

Was formed a few days ago about 14 miles north of this place, and named Mountain View, because of the mines being on the top of a bald mountain with an excellent view of the surrounding country for miles. Reports all agree that they have a number of good ledges there containing silver in paying quantities, and the ore resembling that of Benton. Mines were discovered and located there last Fall, but owing to the scarcity of men no district was formed and the ledges neglected.

PERSONAL.

Gen. Dodge, Jas. Morgan and Mr. Lambeth, of San Francisco, were here inspecting our mines, and left for the city on the 17th. Mr. Clark, of Bodie, was with Gen. Dodge's party. Numerous strangers are continually arriving. Messrs. Saylor & Riddle have a large and commodious boarding house in operation, and Chas. Schuman has another one almost complete. Vincent Higgins has a blacksmith shop in full blast. Geo. W. Rowan has a good assortment of general merchandise, and is selling quite reasonable. Frazer & Co. are going to put up a large steam saw mill, Mr. Frazer having started on the 25th inst. to Washoe Valley for the mill. N. C. Webster is running a stage twice a week between this place and Beaton. Messrs. Parker, Burke and Bowen went out a few days ago and located a large ledge, the croppings of which look well.

Important Ruling.

The following special Washington dispatch to the Record-Union not only covers an important point in obtaining patents to mines, but also gives us the true inwardness of this Land Office removal swindle:

The Secretary of the Interior has rendered an important and interesting decision concerning the application of the claimants of the Empire, Crescent City, Lady Alice and Bunker Hill mines, in Mono county, for the approval of the surveys of said mines made by Deputy Surveyor Wilson in 1867, which approval would necessarily lead to the issuance of patents for them. Surveyor General Ames last February wrote to the Department that he declined to approve the survey of the Empire and Crescent City claims solely because of the absence of any certificate from the Register of the Land Office; that there were no adverse claims, and asking for instructions regarding the novel question thus raised. On the day of the receipt of this letter objections to an approval of the survey were filed with the Department, together with allegations that certain papers in the case were forged. Secretary Schurz now decides, first, that the Surveyor General should not approve such surveys until he receives a certificate from the Register; that there are no adverse claims, and adds that if the Registers in any case improperly refuse to give the required certificate, the claimant may appeal to the Surveyor General and ultimately to this Department, for relief. The Secretary next discusses the question whether the Register improperly refused certificates in these cases. He finds that certain steps were taken by the above mentioned applicants to obtain patents under the mining act of 1866 during the years of 1866, 1867 and 1868, but the surveys were not approved by the Surveyor General, and no further proceedings were taken until the latter part of 1877, when the application was renewed and the Register refused to give the certificate. It also appears that a large portion of the tract included in the Empire survey was patented, under the mining act of 1872, to the Osceola and Tioga mining companies in August, 1877, and that most of the Lady Alice claim was thus patented to the Bullion company in January, 1877. No protests appear to have been made against the application for these patents, and applications for patents for other portions of the tract in controversy are now pending under the act of 1872. The Secretary thus finds that the proceedings of the first claimants were suspended for ten years, during which time the law of 1866 was repealed, and although its repeal saved existing rights, they should have been affirmatively shown. Therefore the Register properly refused the certificates. Secretary Schurz proceeds to decide that no further action can be taken in regard to the patented portion unless such patents are declared null and void by a court of competent jurisdiction, and as regards the unpatented portion, he decides that a hearing must be ordered before the local officers, and testimony taken as to the respective rights of the recent claimants. If it appears that the locations under the act of 1866 were abandoned, the applications of the second locators must be allowed unless adverse claims be filed during the period of publication, and suits commenced as required by law; in which event proceedings will be stayed until the question of title is decided by the courts. If abandonment prior to such location be not proved, the applications under the act of 1872 must be rejected. The Secretary, in conclusion, directs the Commissioner of the General Land Office to keep the papers which are alleged to be forgeries, and furnish only copies for the purposes of the local investigation.

ANOTHER CLAIM.—One of the most noted women in America figures in late Washington correspondence as follows:

Mrs. Myra Clark Gaines, who is known all over the country as the most famous litigant in America, has figured conspicuously in Washington society the past Winter. The veriest Miss Flite in stature, the little old women knows everybody of note and is known by all. She has spent her life in the Courts. And at last, after near fifty years fighting, she has come off victorious, and has been declared the owner of most of New Orleans and valuable portions of Baltimore. But she is not content and has now put in a claim for lands in the heart of St. Louis city, the value of which is estimated at many millions of dollars. Her lawyers, thus far in their examination of her chain of titles, can find no flaw in them. Mrs. Gaines does well to do her own work and not leave it for her heirs to do, for not one person in a thousand can be found with the pluck and perseverance she has exhibited in fighting for what lawfully belongs to her. I have mentioned her as conspicuous. One can know when she is at a reception, be it ever so crowded, or even in a lecture or concert room, by her piercing, cackling laugh, which she never appears to attempt to stifle. Another of her peculiarities is that she is never seen without a bonnet or hat. Why this is no one knows, and various are the reasons guessed at. Some say she wears a wig, which is undoubtedly so—though many deny it—for that of her hair which appears is soft, curly and red, without a streak of gray, and the woman is past seventy.

SATURDAY, JUNE 1.....1878.

WORK BEGAN.—In its local effect and future importance to the country at large, we are glad this week to chronicle the fact that the Independence Tunnel and Mining Company, owning the Potosi series of mines, on the north side Kearsarge Peak, has began active operations. A. Caldwell, a mining engineer and expert, arrived during the week, and has put a few men on the hill building cabins, opening trails, etc., preparatory to regular work. In an interview with Mr. Caldwell, he stated that he would remain himself but a few weeks, when Mr. Holt, by whose name the mines and enterprise is best known, will come up and take the active superintendency of the work. The rich mines themselves and the almost absolute certainty of an immense success when once pierced by the tunnel proposed, are matters which we have frequently referred to and described in detail; suffice it now to state that we know of no mining venture on the coast having before it such assurances of success. To cut through all the Company's own mines requires a tunnel 2,000 feet in length, beyond which are situated the Rex Montis and others. In prosecuting the work, which has already been begun by Mr. Holt, Burleigh drills and all modern means of rapid work will be introduced and matters pushed right ahead. When by the melting of the snow such work is practicable, a road will be constructed to the summit and the waters of the lakes thereon turned down the creek to furnish power for the mill, to be erected just below the mouth of the tunnel. We can confidently state that the Company is a substantial one and in the hands of thoroughly practical and go-ahead men.

GONE BELOW.—N. T. Piper, whose name has become well known in this section from the fame of his ranch at Oasis, left here yesterday for Los Angeles, where Mrs. P. has been sojourning for some months. Mr. Piper is just in from over the Inyos and reports a brighter business prospect for that section than for some years. Considerable prospecting is going on all around. The Lida mill is running steadily on ore from a new development in the Brown's Hope. The new Silver Peak mills were to start on Friday last. Further north the Marrietta mill is putting in 10 more stamps. A new mill is in progress at New Boston, near Belleville. He also states that it is expected that Senator J. P. Jones, having invested in the mines at Columbus, will erect a 20-stamp mill there this season.

FIRE.—From a description of the place and circumstances, we conclude that on Monday evening last Lone Pine had a narrow escape from a disastrous fire. A small bakery building near Meysan's store, in the best part of town, by some unknown means caught fire and was destroyed. It happened that the high wind which was prevailing here did not reach Lone Pine, but it took the hardest kind of work to keep the surrounding buildings from being burned.

STRUCK IT.—It is stated that an important strike of rich ore has been made in the tunnel of the Inyo company, on the Homestake mine, the claim on which Joe McDermott and others have been working all Winter. It will be a matter of congratulation if the "Sardine company" have struck it, and from the best information we believe that such is the case.

STORE AT LAKE DISTRICT.—Parties contemplating a visit to Lake District will note that our old friend G. W. Rowan, formerly of Bishop Creek and Benton, is established at Mammoth City in the merchandising business, and can furnish everything necessary during a sojourn there, and at lowest rates. George is a popular man to deal with. See his advertisement this week.

LAND SCRIP.—Those disposed to acquire any of the unappropriated thousands of acres of land in this district will learn of an opportunity through the advertisement of D. H. Talbot, elsewhere in this issue. Ex-soldiers and sailors, and those having the right to Government pensions, will also do well to consult the advertisement.

BASE BALL.—There has been some little sport going on in town at the great National game of base ball. In a match on Sunday evening last the first nine of the Sooners got away with about the second ten of the Dirty Stockings by one run, causing the beer to flow at the expense of the latter.

RICH ORE.—Mr. Cunningham, who has been prospecting in the foothills below the Rex Montis, brings down samples of rich sulphuret ore from new discoveries in that region. He states that the ledges show very favorably for good mines.

VENTILATOR. — Supt. Gray of the Kearsarge has received an air blower for use at the long tunnel, rendered necessary by the lack of air. The tunnel is being driven slowly but steadily ahead for the Cliff ledge.

TO START UP.—The Cerro Gordo furnaces will fire up again next Monday, after a stoppage of two or three weeks on account of a lack of lead ore.

EXAMINER.—Dr. Wainright, of Bishop, has received the appointment of Examining Surgeon for United States Pensioners.

CLEANING UP.—Edwards and Market streets have been receiving a much needed cleaning up of loose rocks and debris generally.

TO MEET.—Stated meeting of the Masonic Lodge on Saturday evening next.

Another Killing.

In a great many communities such an event as the death by violence of three human beings, at one sitting as it were, would create something of a commotion; but here where homicidal items are of almost ,if not quite, weekly occurrence, an episode of this kind which transpired on Sunday evening last at George's Creek, about eight miles south of Independence, occasioned but the slightest ripple over the smooth surface of current topics.

One Jake Dentz, a besotted old man who has for years off and on, while not in the County Hospital, kept a whisky tent, yclept the Sage Brush saloon, at different points near George's Creek, was on Sunday last, the 26th instant, occupied in a customary drunk with some ten or fifteen Indians. The statement of Indian interpreters and circumstances go to show that during the afternoon the Indians had a general fight amongst themselves, in which Indian Charley, or Wild Bill (noted as a bad character, and the one who killed another Indian near Harris & Rhine's warehouse a few months since), got slashed across the arm with a knife. Afterwards it would appear that the frenzied bucks began helping themselves to old Jake's stores of fire-water, upon which he shot and killed two of them—known as Jim and Tom, one of whom got a bullet in the mouth and the other one in the left breast. From behind, Jake then got a fatal knife thrust in the vertebrae, and was shot in the head and his face mashed to a jelly with bottles or rocks.

Mr. Bellers, in passing, discovered the condition of affairs and immediately notified his neighbors. Upon their arrival they found the three dead bodies lying on their faces within the 8x10 tent, the premises in and around bearing every evidence of a wild fight. Three Indians, helplessly drunk, were taken and tied up as prisoners. Messengers to Independence summoned Sheriff Moore and Coroner Lank. Upon the inquest on the following morning, it was ascertained that the place had been robbed of all whisky and everything which could have contained it, while a ten-gallon beer keg, half-filled, was discovered about 100 yards away. No money or firearms were left, except one small pistol which had evidently been lost by some Indian.

Indian Charley or Wild Bill had escaped. The three drunken Indians were discharged, the remains of the Indians turned over to the tribe, Dentz' body inclosed in a box made of the remnants of his tent shanty and buried. after the finding by the Coroner's jury of the following

VERDICT,

That the deceased came to his death by wounds inflicted by drunken Indians unknown to the jury. The deceased name was Jacob Dentz, a native of Holland, aged 52 years.

Signed by John Kispert, C. M. Joslyn, John Shepherd, Fred. Albers, Henry Hopper and Green Hitchcock, Coroner's Jury.

NEW BUILDINGS.—H. P. Cartier begins work this morning upon Rothschilds & Co.'s new warehouse, to stand in rear of their present store building. Louis Fromm is preparing to erect quite a large building on the corner south of Levy's restaurant for restaurant purposes, in which line of business Mr. Fromm is equal to the best. J. Heckel, occasionally aided and abetted by a member hereof, is at work upon a dwelling on the west side of town, for the junior of this establishment. Others contemplate similar improvements.

GREAT REGISTER.—The Supplement to the Great Register, now in course of printing at this office, contains 333 names. In each precinct the election officers of the last election are presumed, under the law, to have on hand at least one copy of the Great Register then used, which is to serve again, except that an X is to be used in place of or over the word "voted." The supplemental list referred to contains the names of those registered since the date of the last one published, August 1, 1877.

IRRITATED.—In the matter of old Jake Dentz' death, the maddest man in the county is Revenue Collector Childs, who says the infernal sun of a gun went off without paying his special tax. Thus are the proud institutions of America ruthlessly trampled into the dust, and such inconsiderateness should be frowned upon by all true lovers of the inalienable right of taxes and death.

GONE.—An omission was made last week in not mentioning the departure of our old friend H. W. Woods, who has gone to the Black Hills. He starts thence for the practice of law, with a valuable library, a clear head and unlimited pluck and energy. Inyoites certainly wish him well.

PLANS.—There is a chance for some good mechanic or architect to realize a county warrant by preparing and submitting plans for a fire-proof vault for the Court House. See the advertisement. The one whose plan is approved ought to be able to bid the lowest for doing the work.

NEW AGENTS.—Mr. Geo. W. Rowan, at Mammoth City, in the new Lake District, has been appointed a representative of this institution, as agent. Judge Gould of Darwin is also empowered to receive orders, subscriptions and coin.

PAINTING.—Gardner is a chief in his line of house and sign painting, as numerous examples in town will show. His finishing work on the Pioneer Brewery is very fine and tasty.

REMOVED.—W. H. Huff has removed his tonsorial establishment to new quarters in the Walters' building, one door south of the Postoffice.

QUERY.—Is this January or June? Frosty nights and cold winds say January; the almanac leads to the belief it's June—a lie out somehow.

RETURN OF THE BOUNDARY LINE SURVEYORS.—We are glad to note the safe return of the Inyo-San Bernardino boundary line surveying party under County Surveyor Joe Seeley, who reported at his office here this morning. Nothing had been heard from them since they started out in the latter part of April, on which account it was feared the whole party might have perished on some of those interminable deserts out there. One fellow here, remarking on this possibility, said "there were good men in that party, and he would hate to have them go up that way more'n anybody, particularly as they would be of no use dead; look at John Alec, for instance; no starving cayote that ever was could stomach such a mixture of fat and tobacco, so it would all be a clear waste of material!" The fellow's sympathies for the moment seemed to rest with the cayote. Seeley's party consisted of John Alexander and Wm. Covington, flag and chainmen, F. Whitmore, and Corasco and Agular, packers. The San Bernardino party consisted of seven besides County Surveyor Fred. Paris, in charge of the work for that county. The two parties worked together. At point of separation, near Tecona, Paris had twelve days' travel (300 miles) to reach home; Seeley, nine days'. Tecona (about the size of Cerro Gordo) is in this county, but within three hundred yards of the line. Middle Resting Springs, which is on the head waters of the Armagoza, is five miles northward, therefore also in this county. The furnace there employs some 44 men, and is turning out about a ton of $300-base bullion per day. Covington, as duly authorized Deputy Assessor, there collected some $400 in poll, road and Hospital taxes. (Let's get those fellows up here for jurymen; they couldn't be challenged for bias). San Bernardino is their base for supplies. A good road is now being built to accommodate this trade. We have not space to give further note of Mr. Seeley's observations upon the country, or details of the survey, but expect to do so in due time, as regards the latter at least.

BEVERIDGE DISTRICT.—The new gold mines of Beveridge District, just across the Inyos and some eighteen miles distant from here, are coming into high note, the outlook being second to none in the county. Parties just in from there confirm our account given in detail some three weeks since, especially as to the number of ledges and the quantity of rich gold ore in sight. To the north of the Hughes, Porter & Co. mines there is a field known to be rich in gold ledges, and unoccupied unless a recent Lone Pine party have made locations there. Above one of the Hughes camps, Messrs. Kelly & Apple have a strong ledge from four to ten feet in width. The original company are about putting in a mill, Mr. Hughes having been in on that business during the week. The town of Independence is the natural supply point for the whole region, and the construction of a road thereto becomes a matter of the primest importance to both places. Nature has provided a feasible route exactly in the right place; the Union cañon leads from a point just below the Eclipse mill diagonally to the summit, presenting a smooth wash without ledges or falls to cross so far as known. The grade is doubtless heavy, but it is only eight miles in length and has a bountiful spring of water at the bottom and summit. Competent men from here are going next week to make a careful examination of the route and the mines, and should they report favorably it will become the duty of our enterprising citizens to stand in on that road.

JUSTICE COURT.—Judge Gardner has his hands full these days, in matters of action which can be referred to as follows: The People vs. José Lopez and Ramon Antoine; charged with grand larceny in a sheep transaction; held to answer before the Grand Jury, bail being fixed at $1,000 each. Several parties familiar with the matter claim entire innocence of wrong intent on the part of the Mexicans. During the week Lafe Gill appeared before his Honor, plead guilty to battery upon one John Cannell, and was thereupon mulcted in the usual sum of $5. In the same matter, C. A. Walter causes complaint to be entered against "D." Gill for assault with a deadly weapon, and Lafe proposes to file a charge against Walters for selling beer to Indians—all of which will come up for hearing next week. To-day came up an action brought by H. Levy against E. Robinson, for damages in the sum of $290, a suit growing out of an overflow of the creek causing injury to Levy's well.

WEATHER.—During at least three nights this week ice to a considerable thickness has formed in this locality, and, of course, has destroyed more or less of tender early vegetables. The damage, however, is very much less than might have been anticipated. During the week the wind has blown frosty and strong from the snow-laden mountains, and the destruction to fruit and some kinds of vegetables is greater from this source than from the cold. There have been no "white frosts."

THE ARMY WORM.—Those destructive pests, the army worm, are ravaging some of the farms in this locality, and it is feared they will prove very destructive before they get ready to move on to pastures new. So far as we have yet learned, however, the scene of their operations is limited to the adjoining farms of G. H. Hardy and E. Robinson; for the latter they have destroyed several acres of young alfalfa and potatoes, for the former a good deal of garden truck of various kinds.

NOTARIES APPOINTED.—On the 27th of the month just passed Gov. Irwin commissioned D. P. Macarter and R. L. Peterson Notaries Public, to reside at Lone Pine.

IN TOWN.—A. O. Thoms, the Visalia stage man was sloshing around town yesterday. Mr. Bond, of the Inyo Lumber and Coal company, was also up on business.

LETTER FROM ROUND VALLEY.

MESSRS. EDITORS—The 22d was the last day of school for the present. The juveniles had been preparing for the "last day," when they poured out recitations, songs, etc., all of which were very interesting, and reflected much credit on teacher and pupils. But the grand entertainment came off in the evening.

By 8 P. M. all the seats of the school house were occupied, and the performance commenced with instrumental music by Messrs. Buck and Peregrine on the violin and organ. Then the "Greeting Glee," by Misses Lottie Jones and May Sherwin, Messrs. Buck and Cairnes. "Learn a little every day," "Bombastic description of a Midnight Murder," "Three Leap Year Rhymes" and "Another Song," all of which went off spiritedly, like firecrackers on a Fourth of July morning, by J. Jones, C. Hilton, Nettie Olds, Lily Olds and Jennie Shipley.

"Sweet Spirit, Hear my Prayer," by Debbie Jones, was well delivered and full of pathos; "Drake's Address to the American Flag," by Lottie Jones, was good; then music, "Banner of Glory," four parts, with organ accompaniment. Miss Millie Hilton done full justice to the "Maniac," and she richly deserved the round of applause which greeted her when finally declaring "I'm mad! I'm mad!" Miss Mary Ann Jones impersonated "Widder Green," winking through green spectacles and wishing to leave "this airthly scene." Mr. J. Rowlands gave us several comic songs. Mrs. Morgoon, late of New York, and daughter of the late Dr. P. B. Randolph, entertained us with the "Old Church Organ;" "Mother Caudle," "Grandpapa's Soliloquy" and "Sheridan's Ride" were well delivered by D. Jones, May Sherwin and Mollie Jones. Mr. Badger took active part in the performances, and is a very comical genius on the stage, possessing a well developed faculty of imitation, a retentive memory and sufficient vim and confidence, which are essentially necessary to make a good actor. "Peter Simple," "cockadoodledoo, cockadoodledon't," and "Schneider's Ride," on "dot der mool," were really side splitters.

The winding up performance of the evening was the farce of the "Rough Diamond," which was played remarkably well by F. W. Hilton, Sir Evergreen, Millie Hilton, Margery, Orson Vaughn, Lord Plato, Lottie Jones, Lady Plato, J. Rowlands, Capt. Blenheim, and G. H. Badger as Cousin Joe.

And right here your correspondent gets stuck in the mud. How to play the rolé of a dramatic critic is beyond the comprehension of a cabbage head. A turnip top attempting to criticise a drama, reminds a fellow of Mark Twain's experience when editor of an agricultural paper, during the editor in chief's absence of two weeks. In his first editorial Mark said:

"Turnips should never be pulled, it injures them. It is much better to send a boy up and let him shake the tree.

"The guano is a fine bird, but great care is necessary in rearing it. In the Winter it should be kept in a warm place where it can hatch out its young.

"The pumpkin is a fine berry; preferred by the New Englanders to the gooseberry for the making of fruit cake, and who likewise give it the preference over the rasberry for feeding cows."

Upon his return the chief was hostile. "Why didn't you tell me that you knew nothing about farming?" demanded the veteran. "Tell you, you cornstalk!" retorted Mark. "I tell you, sir, that the less a man knows the bigger the noise he makes and the higher the salary commands. Who review the books? People who never wrote one. Those who generally write the dramatic criticisms are a parcel of shoemakers and apprentice apothecaries. Who criticise the Indian campaigns? Gentleman who do not know a war-whoop from a wigwam, and who never had to run a foot race with a tomahawk, or pluck arrows out of the several members of their families to make the evening fires with."

Leaving M. T. with his "watermelon trees and peach vines," allow your humble servant to simply state that this was the best entertainment we have ever had in this valley, and we hope to enjoy such a treat oftener in the future. There is certainly musical and dramatic talent here, which only requires study and practice to insure its development. We suggest a repetition of the "Rough Diamond" and other select pieces. It would be a pity to let it drop now. Give us another rousing "experdishun" soon, and charge! Much credit is due Mr. Buck for his untiring energy in arranging, directing, singing and playing accompaniments, thus inducing the young folks to action—to cultivate and improve their intellects.

Mr. L. Hutchison and Mrs. Harrold, of Bishop Creek, and Mrs. Horton and daughter, just fresh from San Francisco, were present and spoke in high terms of the entertainment.

Three cheers for the "Rough Diamond," and "four cheers for Schneider's mool!" YOU BET.

WATER WORKS.—A movement now on foot for the introduction of water into town by a system of pipes, for domestic purposes and protection from fire, is meeting with such substantial support as to almost warrant its success. We shall endeavor to present the facts and plan in full next week.

GOOD.—A statement said to come from Wm. Hamilton, the mail contractor, is to the effect that a daily mail will be given us upon the Southern route from and after July 1. Postmaster Rowley has had no official notification as to the matter yet, but we believe such to be the fact.

ANOTHER REDUCTION.—The Cerro Gordo Freighting Company have again made a reduction in rates of up freights, this time amounting to one half cent per pound for Darwin, Lone Pine, Cerro Gordo and Independence.

NEW GOODS.—Messrs. J. S. Rothschild & Co. are in regular receipt of all kinds of merchandise and supplies. See their new advertisement this week.

UTILIZING BITS OF SOAP.—Instead of throwing away the bits of soap which become too small for convenient handling, make a square flannel bag of suitable size; leave one end partly open, and put in the pieces as they accumulate; when it is full baste up the opening, and it makes a nice bath tub arrangement. Another way is to add a little water, set them in a tin on the stove, and let them simmer slowly. When cold you will have a tolerably good soft soap, just the thing for putting in your wash boiler or washing tins with. Or by evaporating part of the water you may get the soap hard enough to be molded into small cakes, which can be dried for use.

A New York exchange says that detectives have been on the alert to discover the movements and purposes of the communists in that city. Not long since they succeeded in reaching definite information that leads the authorities to comprehend the situation. There are twenty-two full, organized companies in New York city. They are drilling and preparing themselves for work when it is decided on an emeute. They have organizations in almost every Eastern city of any size.

THE Amador Ledger says that nearly all fruit trees are, on their trunks or among their branches, affected with moss lice and various kinds of insects. These can all be effectually cleared away by a wash of lye, made from potash or wood ashes, of a strength sufficient to bear up an egg. It will kill every noxious insect and will not hurt the bark. A pound of potash to a pail of water will make it sufficiently strong.

THERE lives in the town of Lee, Me., a gentleman by the name of Peter Royal, who is 110 years old. He has a daughter who is 84, and two sons—one 82 and one 80. He used tobacco constantly until he attained the dignity of a centenarian, when he reformed and discarded the weed. He discarded tea and coffee at the same tender age. His hair, which has been white, is now turning to jet black.

CAPITAL OATMEAL CAKES. — Work three parts of fine oatmeal and one part of flour into a stiff paste with treacle (golden syrup), with the addition of a small quantity of lard, and sufficient baking powder to impart the desired lightness. Bake the paste in the form of small flat cakes, much resembling the ordinary "ginger-nuts" of the biscuit baker.

HERODOTUS tells of a cruel practice often resorted to in order to send messages in time of war. The head of a trusty man was shaved and the writing impressed on the scalp, and the hair was allowed to grow so as to cover the characters, but again removed when the messenger arrived at his place of destination. The news must have been fresh when it was received at last.

DOBBINS'
"Electric Soap."
HAVING OBTAINED THE AGENCY OF THIS celebrated Soap for Lone Pine and vicinity, we append the opinion of some of our best people to its merits:
"I have used 'Dobbins' Electric Soap,' made by I. L. Cragin & Co., Philadelphia, Pa., and can most cheerfully recommend it as the best Laundry Soap in existence." MRS. F. P. BALL.
"Family washing is rendered both pleasant and agreeable by the use of 'Dobbins' Electric Soap.' Boiling the clothes is entirely unnecessary, and but very little rubbing is needed. It promises wonders, but it does all it promises," MRS. JNO. W. GASPER.
We desire all our friends and customers to give this Soap one trial, so that they may know just how good the best soap in the United States is.

REPTILES AND INSECTS IN AUSTRALIA. The reptiles are really beautiful—crocodiles in the north, and snakes, lizards, scorpions and centipedes in the south. I shall not readily forget the sensation I experienced when one night a huge black centipede, eight inches long, crawled upon my neck with his horrible sixty-four legs, and made his way to my feet leisurely, much to my disgust, and though he was probably only a few seconds I thought him slow. He is in the musem at Adelaid, with all the whisky he can drink. Insects are wonderfully prolific—insects and fleas being particularly abundant. The native children are sometimes hardly recognizable, so completely are they covered with flies, filling their eyes, noses and mouths. When eating, it requires dexterous maneuvering to get a piece of meat into one's mouth without its complement of flies. Spiders are very common, as are also ants, the tarantula being the most formidable of the former, and the buli-dog ant the worst species of the latter. These ants are an inch or more in height and about two inches long. They all fight fiercely, and their sting is not at all to be desired. They catch hold of the skin with their nippers, and bend the body under like a scorpion, and put the sting gently in, leaving the venom and sometimes the sting itself. When camping near a nest of them, we generally thrust a fire stick into the hole, which has the effect of keeping them at home.—Lecture by Jesse Young, the Explorer.

DISEASE AMONG PEACH TREES.—The Ledger says that in Amador county the peach crop will be very light. The trees are all more or less affected with "curl leaf." The foliage is shriveled up and blackened, the trees have made no wood, and the fruit, although formed in abundance in some cases, looks small and stunted, and appears to make no progress toward maturity. Altogether the trees wear a very sickly hue, and not more than one quarter of an average crop is expected. Old gardeners attribute this disease to excessive moisture. It is noticable that on sidling lands, where the water has drained off, the trees are less affected than those on the low lands. It is remarkable that the peach trees alone are affected. In spots where the disease shows the worst, every other variety of fruit-bearing trees are in the picture of health, and promise to yield in abundance.

JUST after the overthrow of the Commune in Paris, two couples were married under very curious circumstances. Each bridegroom had for the best men two gens d'armes, and each bride two female warders for bridesmaids. They separated at the church door, and the honeymoon was deferred until the couples met again in the French colony of New Caledonia, where they were permitted to reunite, in consideration of the men having given certain valuable information to the police.

UNCLE JASON asked Spikes the other day, "Wat dat injineer mean by sayin' dat I done a'most sprout into a anjul?" "Don't ask me." said Spikes, "ask him." It was subsequently inferred that he had done so, as he went around the mill muttering, "Dat no sign of a anjul kase a man's ears look like wings."

AN old lady says: When I was a gal the women with the prettiest faces were the only ones men looked at most on the street; but now it's the female who holds her skirts up highest when she goes across muddy places receives the most attention."

THE Salt Lake Tribune says: "There will be a large crop of strawberries within the next four of five weeks, and the churches ought to all be able to eat themselves out of debt."

WHEN two girls meet they kiss. When two young men meet, they—take a drink. That shows who wants kisses the most.

7. A Board of Commissioners to review and equalize the sentences of criminal courts.
8. Each bill to be considered in sections and to have a full reading on final passage.
9. All bills to be passed by recorded yeas and nays.
10. Profits of corporations to be limited to ten per cent. on capital stock as assessed for taxation.

THE ORIGIN OF CONSUMPTION.—In 1853, when Hanover and other parts of Northern Germany were visited by a very malignant kind of small pox, the great anatomist Langenbeck tried to discover the "peculiarity of organic structure which disposes of one man to catch the disease while his neighbor escapes." "I have cut up more human bodies than the Old Man of the Mountain with all his accomplices," he writes from Gottingen, in his semi-annual report, "and, speaking only of my primary object, I must confess that I am no wiser than before. But though the mysteries of small pox has eluded my search, my labors have not been in vain; they have revealed to me something else—the origin of consumption. I am sure now of something I suspected long ago, namely: that pulmonary diseases have very little to do with intemperance or erotic excesses, and much less with cold weather, and are nearly exclusively (if we except tuberclous tendencies inherited from both parents, I may say quite exclusively) produced by breathing foul air. The lungs of all persons, miners included, who had worked for some years in close workshops and dusty factories, showed the germs of the fatal disease, while confirmed inebriates, who had passed their days in the open air, had preserved their respiratory organs intact, whatever inroads their excesses had made on the rest of the system. If I should go into practice and undertake the cure of consumption, I should begin by driving him out into the Deister (a densely wooded mountain range of Hanover), and prevent him from entering a house for a year or two.

JIM MCCUE GETS TOGETHER.—After an account of J. S. McCue's meeting at Marysville on Monday night, in which he met with poor encouragement, the Marysville Appeal says: There was no enthusiasm manifested, and at an early hour the meeting adjourned. After the adjournment Mr. McCue got together in his own room and made the following nominations for the Third Congressional District: J. C. Garber, merchant of Humboldt county; D. M. Gloster, farmer, Sierra county; W. M. Thorp, farmer, Butte county; J. H. Worth, carpenter, Solano county; Jonas Spect, farmer, Colusa county; H. A. Boyle, farmer, Marin county; John Crigler, merchant, Lake county; Simon Hochstadter, merchant, Yuba county. There were no county nominations made. Mr. McCue did not come up for that purpose.

THE Nicaloff Vestnix, one of the leading papers of southern Russia, was started fourteen years ago as a daily, and is sometimes published every day in the week including Sundays. At other times it is issued but once or twice a week, and occasionally an entire week passess without its appearance. The hour of publication is equally uncertain. It has been occasionally published at 5 and 6 in the morning, but generally appears between 2 in the afternoon and 10 at night. The publisher considers a regular system of publication too monotonous. "Besides," he says, "we're always short of something—advertisers, copy, compositors or cash, and when we have all these, we are often short of readers."

IT requires three men to start a newspaper in New Orleans—one to die of yellow fever, another to be killed in a duel, and a third to wind up the affairs of the concern.

MRS. PARTINGTON ON DISEASES. Diseases is very various—very. The doctor tells me poor old Mrs. Haze has got two buckles on her lungs! It's dreadful to think of—'tis really. The diseases is so various! One day we hear of people's dying of "hermitage of the lungs," another of "brown creatures," here they tell us of the "elementary canal" being out of order, and there about the "tear of the throat;" here we hear of the "newrology in the head," and there of an "embargo in the back." On one side of us we hear of a man getting killed by getting a piece of beef in his "sorcofagus," and there another kills himself by "deskevering his jocular vein." Things change so that I don't know how to subscribe for anything nowadays. New names and rostrums take the place of the old, and I might as well throw my old yarb bag away.

KEEPING HAMS.—I noticed an inquiry in a late paper for the best method of keeping hams through the Summer from the fly. I have tried many and find the best to stick them in paper sacks such millers use to put flour in, made of thick manilla paper. Wrap the ham in several thicknesses of old paper of any kind, to keep the moisture from striking through and spoiling the sack. Tie up tightly first, twisting the top around well, and then hang up anywhere; the fly will not find its way into the ham. I know a pork butcher that serves his in this way, and has them hanging in the market house, some of them all Summer. This paper is strong enough to bear the weight of the ham. A 25-pound sack is large enough, and will last from three to five years.

STALE BREAD.—Every housekeeper will find occasionally bits of stale bread accumulate. This is a good way to utilize them: Soak in warm water several hours before supper or breakfast, adding plenty of milk, if convenient; mash up with a spoon when soft, adping one beaten egg, a cupful or more of flour, a teaspoonful of soda, if needed; a teaspoonful of sugar. Bake same as buckwheats. They are very nice. No bread need be wasted, even if somewhat sodden, heavy or a little sour.

CLEANING CLOCKS.—Common brass clocks may be cleaned by immersing in boiling water. Rough as this treatment appears, it works well whenever they stop from dust or thickening of oil upon the pivots. Boil in rain water, and dry in a warm stove.

AMERICANS try to be English in everything except the English language.

CHALFANT & PARKER.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, JUNE 15.....1878.

THE great need of California to day is agricultural enterprise. In San Francisco, through the centralization of capital, a feverish, unhealthy state has been engendered in society. People have been drawn there by thousands in the hope of amassing speedy fortunes by stock gambling. The result is that a few sharp men have grown wealthy while thousands have grown poor. Agriculture has been neglected with sad results to the State. Capital has been withdrawn from that field of investment and put into stock gambling. It would be infinitely better for California if this capital was put into farming enterprises, since these constitute the basis of all true, permanent prosperity. It is not too late, even now, to bring about a change in this respect. Our people ought to be educated in this direction, for until our cities stop growing and let the rural districts attain a proportionate prosperity and population, we may expect the present condition of things to continue. In this valley there are, at a low estimate, 50,000 acres of land which could be made the most productive and profitable of any on the coast by irrigation. Owens river has been placed here for the purpose by nature, and hundreds of thousands of dollars of wealth now flows to waste which should be used.

NON-PARTISAN NOMINATIONS. — The following are the candidates nominated by non-partisan Conventions in the four Congressional districts to represent the State at large in the Constitutional Convention:

First District.—Samuel M. Wilson, M. M. Estee, John L. Hager, W. H. L. Barnes, John F. Miller, Joseph P. Hoge, Joseph W. Winans, Eugene Casserly.

Second District.—Henry H. Haight, Henry Edgerton, J. B. Hall, J. M. Porter, Walter Van Dyke, Hugh M. Larue, James E. Hale, Rufus Shoemaker.

Third District.—W. J. Tinnin, W. F. Heustis, A. P. Overton, Benj. Shurtleff, J. McM. Shafter, Marion Biggs, I. S. Belcher, John M. Kelly.

Fourth District.— John Mansfield, W. J. Graves, P. B. Tully, Geo. Venable Smith, J. J. Ayres, E. Marton, B. Waters, Geo. W. Schell.

ANOTHER CANDIDATE.—A friend at Bodie writes as follows: "Pursuant to due notice given, a large and enthusiastic mass meeting of the citizens of Bodie and vicinity, regardless of party politics, assembled in the public square of that town on the evening of June 8, 1878, for the purpose of nominating a Delegate to the Constitutional Convention for the counties of Mono and Inyo. Whereupon Col. Sam. B. Ferguson was called to the chair, and —— Mather chosen Secretary, and after able speeches by the Chairman, and others, Hon. F. K. Bechtel was placed in nomination and unanimously elected such candidate." Mr. Bechtel's announcement of candidacy will be found in due form in our advertising columns.

THE insurrection in Cuba is ended at last. The cost of the ten years war in lives and dollars has never been officially stated, either by the authorities of Cuba or Spain. If we estimate the property that has been destroyed and the loss by the suspension of trade and industry it is probable that $500,000,000 will not be far from the mark, and the best authorities put the loss of life at over 300,000 on both sides. As Spain is bankrupt, the great stress of this enormous cost of the war will necessarily fall upon the people and property of the colony, and it will therefore be a long time before Cuba can become as rich and prosperous as before the rebellion.

GEN. CROOK appears to think the condition of the Indians in Idaho, or their disposition, of such threatening importance as to demand the presence of additional troops at Fort Hall, and he has accordingly ordered five companies—three of infantry, from Camp Douglas, and two of cavalry, from Fort Russel, to immediately proceed to Fort Hall and take the field for quelling the Indian disturbances there. The Bannocks and other Indians have been starved into revolt and warfare through the miserable and unfeeling policy of the Government and the Administration of the Indian Bureau.

IT is predicted that Grant and Tilden will be the Presidential candidates in 1880. Grant will be taken up on the ground of availability by the Republicans, while the pressure to make Tilden even on his last race is almost certain to dominate the National Democratic Convention. The fight will be an interesting one, but its occurrence will show a degeneracy in American politics by no means creditable to the Republic.

AT HAND.

The much talked of election to chose men to frame another State Constitution takes place next Wednesday. No man of thought, of ordinary intelligence, but must know that this election is one of the very highest importance. The work to be done by the chosen men is not for to-day and to-morrow only, or of the kind if once approved of and found unsatisfactory, subject to repeal like the acts of a Legislature. On the contrary, if anything at all, it must be of the most enduring character, subject to no amendment or repeal until the mischief wrought is fairly beyond remedy. But it seems that many people are disposed to treat this election with unusual indifference, so much so that numbers who ordinarily would go long miles to vote for a party candidate or favorite for some petty county office, will hardly take the trouble to vote at all in this the most important election ever held in California.

In this legislative district we have a choice between two candidates. Both are quite well known personally or by reputation, to all old residents in both counties. As to the comparative fitness of the two men, we will say only this: That by the very nature of his calling as a lawyer, and his thorough knowledge of his profession, we have in Mr. Reddy a candidate for this Convention who is especially well suited for the great work in hand; a man who will know what to do, and knowing it dare do it, under any and all circumstances. Most of our readers know this to be true.

Opposed to him is Mr. Bechtel, of Bodie, Mono county, a gentleman who as a citizen and business man stands among the first, and a man who will do his constituency no discredit. If we did not truly believe that Mr. B.'s candidacy has been induced by identically the same ring and in the same spirit of an expressed determination to "get even on Inyo county," by which that rascally Land Office swindle was engineered, we would look upon it in a far different light from what we do. Though we hold Mr. Bechtel himself entirely blameless in the matter, yet we are satisfied he owes his nomination only to that spirit and that ring referred to; therefore, that he has no claims one inch above his own personal merits as a private citizen, upon any part of Inyo county or southern Mono.

A NICE little game in stocks has just leaked out in Virginia City. There is likely to be a development in Crown Point, which has been carefully concealed for some weeks, and will be kept covered until Senator Jones get there, and then used to give him a send-off for his election. A counter-plot is also in the hands of Gen. Williams, in a body of Savage, which is being held for the same purpose as that in the Crown Point. These little games are in the mouths of everybody, and those best posted swear that there is truth in the report.

IN the present political excitement it is comforting to know that Charles Francis Adams is not forgotten. The New York Tribune revives his memory in these touching words: One reason the country manifests no alarming symtoms of nervous excitement over the conspiracy to unseat Mr. Hayes is found in the general popular realization of the fact that one way of escape from all possible political woes lies ever open. Whenever an occasion grave enough requires it, Charles Francis Adams stands in frozen readiness to suffer violence and be elected President by adoration.

GEN. GRANT writes from Europe to a friend in New York that, as for himself, he thinks his eifiht years in the army, and eight more in civil administration, constitute his share of public service, and he hopes to return home after another year to enjoy the quiet of private life. He seeks no new responsibilities of public service, and will decline them persistently.

CHICAGO has within the last few days purchased a battery of six guns, organized four companies of cavalry, bought any number of small arms and established army headquarters in the Exposition building, to be in readiness for the Commune. The people there expect a riot, and are determined to be in readiness for the rioters.

NEW MONEY ORDERS.—Under instructions from the Postoffice Department gold is now taken at all money order offices. Heretofore greenbacks were only taken, but now gold and greenbacks are the same price, and to require those who wish money orders to bring greenbacks would be a useless and annoying ceremony.

THE Virginia Enterprise says ten million dollars in gold have been sent to foreign countries from the Pacific Coast in the last four months, because the owners were afraid to invest it on account of the Communistic uprising of the Workingmen under Dennis Kearney.

THE MICROPHONE.

The telephone and phonograph, though opening avenues to the most marvelous scientific developments, have been seen to be merely discoveries in embryo. The transmission and reproduction of the human voice by these instruments have been accomplished, but in so feeble and unsatisfactory manner that unless the principles employed were expanded, the inventions could hardly answer any better purpose than scientific toys. The obvious need has been the means of magnifying the sound conveyed through the instruments, and according to the latest reports of the scientific journals, this has now been attained by Prof. D. E. Hughes. The philosophy of the new invention has not yet been unfolded, but the manner in which the desired increase of sound is obtained has been described. Two pieces of charcoal heated to a white heat, are plunged into mercury. They are then placed in a glass tube and subjected to a considerable pressure, until the ends meet. The glass tube is now made part of an electric circuit; and upon introducing a telephone to the circuit, and transmitting sound through the prepared charcoal in the glass tube, it emerges with an astonishing increase of volume. The experiments already made and recorded are marvelous. When the diaphragm of the telephone was gently touched with the point of a feather or a camel's hair brush, the sound emitted at the other end of the telephone was so loud that its intensity was almost painful to the ear. The noise made by a common house fly in walking over the diaphragm was distinctly audible. In short, it was made apparent that by employing the microphone, as the new invention has been named, not only will the sounds of the human voice be transmitted with such an increase of volume as to remove all difficulty from the use of the telephone and phonograph, but sounds hitherto inaudible may be registered in the clearest manner. The importance of such a discovery cannot be overrated, for it promises to give all the practical value desired, for the purposes of every day life, to the telephone, while it justifies the expectation that the most expansive ideas of the uses of the phonograph that the imagination can form may be realized. If it is possible that by employing relays of microphones the faintest whisper confided to the telephone at Sacramento may awake the echoes at New York in stentorian tones; while the song or the speech breathed into the phonograph in another hemisphere may be so reproduced as to thrill vast audiences here!

STANDARD GEOGRAPHICAL NAMES. According to Prof. Hayden, U. S. Geologist, the future schoolboy will be put to his wit's end to follow out our geographical points in the great West. There seems to be a scarcity of names and a multiplicity of objects; in consequence of which names are duplicated right and left. Thus, we can find almost any number of "Pyramid Peaks," and "Round Tops," and "Bald Mountains," and "Crooked Creeks," and so on, which is all extremely confusing where identification is necessary. Prof. Hayden suggests that the general Government issue a map of the country, which shall exclude all duplicates, adding new names for old ones discarded, and which shall become standard authority for our geographies.

A TARANTULA'S HOME.—One of the most singular curiosities in nature that has ever come under our observation is the nest of a tarantula, a species of spider whose bite is supposed to result fatally. It is constructed of clay and small stones, and is about four inches long and two inches wide. A hole three-quarters of an inch in diameter passes through it lengthwise, one end of which is closed by a trap door, beveled on the top, and fitting so perfectly that when closed scarcely a sign of the opening is visible. The door rounding at the top, perfectly straight at the bottom, and works on a hinge constructed on the same principle as the joints on which a door hangs. The nest is lined with a soft gossamer substance, and is as round as if bored with an auger. It is said that the tarantula, when attacked crawls into its nest and closing the trap-door, secures it by inserting one of its legs through a staple scarcely distinguishable to the naked eye. These tarantula nests are quite a curiosity, yet they are found in great numbers in Calaveras, Tuolumne and Stanislaus counties; visitors returning from the Yosemite can find them all along the stage road plentifully.—California Farmer.

BE GENTLE WHEN YOU MILK.—The advantage of kindness to cows has been frequently insisted on in these pages, and is well illustrated by the following anecdote: A man had a fine cow that week after week was milked alternately by a couple of hired men. He observed that the amount of butter he carried weighed about a pound more each alternate week. He watched the men and tried the cow after they had finished milking, but always found that no milk had been left in the teats. Finally he asked the Scotch girl, who took care of the milk, if she could account for the difference. "Why, yes," said she, "when Jim milks he says to the old cow, 'So, my pretty muley, so.' But when Sam milks, he hits her on the hip with the edge of the pail and says, 'H'ist, you old brute.'"—California Farmer.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Three men broke into the store of T. Sorraco, at Drytown, Amador county, and having bound and gagged him, compelled him at the point of a knife to deliver his safe keys and tell where he had hidden a lot of gold dust, after which they robbed him of values to the extent of $10,000 and escaped.

Recently a man named Caldwell, living near Atlanta (Ga.), killed his wife, three children and his wife's sister with a smoothing iron. Failing to kill himself by leaping into a well from the roof of his residence, he finally succeeded by throwing himself from the top of his gin house.

On the night of May 30 four masked highwaymen boarded the cars on the Union Pacific near Rawlins, and after robbing the passengers of a few hundred dollars and some jewelry, made their escape. They have since been arrested.

It is said that for 29 years past rain has fallen in California every 20th day of May, there being snowfalls about the same time in the Sierra Nevada mountains, extending down to the foothills.

A GRACEFUL ACT.—The appointment of General Fremont to the Governorship of Arizona will be recognized by everybody as the most graceful act of the present Administration—given at a time when the sympathy of the whole American people had been enlisted in the recital of the altered fortunes of a man who had once been a prominent candidate for the Presidency of the United States, who had pioneered the way to the Pacific Coast and participated in the early history of California, who had held an important command in the army during the war of the rebellion, and had occupied more than the usual share of attention accorded to the foremost men of the age. Gen. Fremont will administer the affairs of the Territory of Arizona with wisdom and energy, and reflect credit on the President who devised the way of relieving the embarrassment of a noted man who had suffered from reverse of fortune. The transfer of Gov. Hoyt to Idaho seems to have been a necessity, because Gov. Brayman had lost the confidence of the people, and the Governor of Arizona had shown his capacity to deal with a people excited by Indian troubles, —S. F. Alta.

JOHNNY'S COMPOSITION ON THE SHERIFF.—A man wich was the sherif of a jail his prisners kept a gettin' out nites and steelin' hens, cos the jail wasent strong enuff to hole 'em inside. So the man he sed, the man did: "I'll put a stop to that little game, my hearteys!" and he had another cote of paint put on the jail. But the artist had put some salt in the paint, and some cows cum along and licked the paint ol off, and then the prisners got out a other time and steeled more hens. When the sherif he seed wot they had done he was so angry he sed, "This is no place for theefs, you bet, so you fellers has got to behave yourselfs or lite out and russle around for your hash the best way you can."

PORTER ROCKMAN, the Mormon Danite chief, is dead, having probably been poisoned.

AN OLD ENTERPRISE REVIVED.—There is no doubt but that the Dunderburg mill and mine, in Castle Peak District, will again at once assume active operations. It is the property of A. F. Bryant of Bridgeport, and G. K. Porter, of San Francisco, who have leased it to Ogg & Foote, both practical mining men and well known on the Comstock. The lease calls for 10 per cent. of the net proceeds of the mine and mill. There has been no work done in this mine for six or seven years, the ore being considered too base to be handled. Mr. Treel, who came here several weeks ago for that purpose, has made two tests and asserts positively that the ore can be worked and that it is nothing like so hard to reduce as some on the Comstock. He has had considerable experience with this kind of ore and is confident of being able to handle it right along. When the mill was in operation over six years ago, they run off over a ton of quicksilver, and did not save over five per cent. of the bullion. There was a large force of men at work in the mine when it was formerly in operation, and a tunnel was run in 600 feet which tapped the ledge. Here they found 100 feet of ledge matter and a pay streak from five to six feet. The mill is a 10-stamp and complete in every department. The revival of these old enterprises abandoned years since and believed to be of no value, is certainly very gratifying, and it is a good indication when men of means turn their attention to hunting them up and giving them another test. —Bodie Standard.

DARWIN ITEMS.—The bullion shipments of the Modoc furnaces for the month of May aggregated $64,727 57, up to the 30th. On the 31st of May there was shipped bullion valued at upward of $10,000, with about $5,000 on hand not shipped—making the total product a little over $80,000, all of which was produced since the 5th of May.

Mr. Guptill, Superintendent of the Modoc Consolidated Mining Company, came in last Wednesday, and informs us that in order to change the tuyere and make some necessary repairs above the jacket, No. 1 furnace had to be closed down a couple of days. It was to be started on Tuesday morning. Mines are looking well. Supplies of all kinds are ample. Shipments of bullion are being made regularly. On the 1000-foot level sinking is progressing on the ore body, and it has every indication of being an extensive one, the ore being of high grade, and improving as they go down.—Darwin News, June 8.

WASHING WINDOWS.—It is not an easy thing to wash windows so that they will look clear and well polished, and if soap suds are used it is quite impossible to do it. The old fashioned way of taking out all the windows and washing them in soap suds, and setting them aside to dry after the suds have been rinsed off, is, to be sure, the easiest way of cleaning them, but it is also the worst way to make them look clear and bright. First brush them off well with a sponge or brush that comes for the purpose, then wrap a bit of cloth about a sharp pointed stich and wipe out the dust that adheres to the corners, then take some weak tea, boiling hot, and add to it a tablespoonful of alcohol and a few drops of aqua ammonia, or a bit of carbonate of ammonia the size of an English walnut. Dip a piece of sponge or old flannel or old canton flannel into it, and rub the glass one way only until it shines clear. Wipe it off with another cloth, rubbing it until well polished. Newspapers used to be much better than any cotton cloth for washing and wiping windows and mirrors, but now that the paper is chiefly composed of wood pulp they are the worst things that can be used, as they cover them with a linty substance

THE Fenian movement is now stronger and has brighter promises for abundant success than ever it had before. The Hawkeye says: The Treasurer of the "Skirmishing Fund" has just built him a new house and gone to the Paris Exposition, and the Secretary gave $20,000 for a mouse colored horse that can show a record of 2:26¼.

SATURDAY, JUNE 15.....1878.

The Proposed Road to Beveridge District.

INDEPENDENCE, June 12.

MESSRS. EDITORS—If there is anything pleasureable in writing one's statements on business matters—whether pertaining to one's self exclusively, friends or the public generally—I think its when we can sit down, feel free and easy and dictate with the full assurance of being correct on the subject in hand. Such is the case, I am proud in being abte to state, as regards the possibility of the construction of a road at no outrageous expense through Union cañon to connect with one on the summit to the new mines of Beveridge—thus shortening the distance from Independence, as now traveled by way of Cerro Gordo, some 25 miles. It is true that through this pass there are some few falls, almost perpendicular drop offs, varying from four to twelve feet in hight, but these can be got over comparatively easy. Owing to the sides of the cañon being abrupt, rotten and in close proximity, the filling in and grading of these places will appear a matter of little moment to the people of Inyo, when the boys at Beveridge demonstrate the fact of their leads being continuous and productive in depth as on their course at the surface.

Respectfully, JOS. EUDEY.

FELL SHORT.—By the report of the School Census Marshal, B. H. Yaney, for this district, it becomes a self-evident fact that the total number of children of school age is less than it was last year, and less than the required number to entitle the district to any portion of the surplus school money—that is to say the whole number of children between five and seventeen years of age is but 46. Such being the case the Trustees will be compelled to change the original "high school plan" for the ensuing year, for the said sum of $500 a year, less the library apportionment, won't do. Will some public spirited man please rise up and explain how it can be increased? We don't mean one of that kind who say a sufficiency can be raised by contribution, for "I'll give ten, fifteen or fifty dollars myself." We had enough of that kind of deception.

MOUNTAIN EXCURSIONS.—The heavy snow fall of the past season, together with the late Spring, has kept back most of the usual fishing excursions across the Sierras to Kern and Kings rivers. However, the annual Summer exodus will soon begin. Among other plans on foot, a small sail boat is to be built by parties in town for use upon one of the lakes on the summit, where the trout planted some three years ago are said to be very large and numerous. The lake is about one mile in length, one day's ride from Independence, and will some day form a favorite Summer resort.

THE FOURTH.—A general outline of the plan of proceedings on the coming Fourth will be found set forth elsewhere in this issue, by the Committee of Arrangements. The programme at the beautiful grounds of Camp Independence seems to comprise but little further than a grand social picnic assemblage of everybody, with the amplest provision for dancing and general fun. The ladies of Independence can be depended upon in the matter of preparing all the edibles appropriate and essential to the usual dinner business.

FIRE AT INYO.—At Inyo, better known as Col. Stevens' place, Cottonwood Creek, a barn belonging to Mr. Bond, of the Lumber Company, was discovered to be on fire about 9 o'clock one evening last week, resulting in its total destruction; to make it still worse one of Mr. Bond's mules was burned to death, despite every effort to rescue the poor creature. Two tramps had been noticed in the vicinity about dark, and no doubt is entertained but the fire was the result of their carelessness or malice.

WATER PIPE.—About 1,000 feet of the 4-inch iron water pipe, from the old works of the Surprise Valley Company, at Panamint, arrived here last Thursday. A portion has already gone up to the Kearsarge for use with the new blower, while the balance will remain in the hands of Messrs. Harris & Rhine for sale. There are some four or five miles more of it down there at Panamint, and the proposition to purchase it for the Independence water works is a good one.

INYO PATENTEES.—By reference to the Scientific Press report of U. S. patents granted for inventions it will be seen two are in favor of Inyoites, making some six or seven for this county in the past year. Our sincerity won't be questioned, after noting one of the names in the list, that we hope these patentees may win fortunes (not too cumbrous) out of their respective inventions.

NEGLIGENCE.—Some ten days since the Executive Committee for this county sent an order to the Secretary of the State Democratic Central Committee to forward ballots for use in this and Mono county immediately. Up to this writing (Saturday) no return has been received. The question begins to arise, "What's a hungry nigger gwine to do?"

PREACHING.—Rev. Mr. Pratt will preach in the school house here tomorrow evening. As the evenings are so short, it is very desirable to begin services not later than 8 o'clock, or "early candle lighting."

ON VACATION.—Charley Barry has returned home from Santa Clara College to spend his six weeks vacation.

Mount Whitney vs. Fisherman's Peak.

The old controversy as regards the right of discovery and naming of the great peak of the High Sierras has of late received considerable attention. though so far no new material points have been brought out differing from those discussed by various correspondents in this paper four or five years ago. One of the fairest statements of the whole matter will be found in the following letter from Prof. Wm. H. Brewer, of Harvard, who addresses Assemblyman Moffat as follows:

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 23.

Hon. S. P. Moffat, Independence, California: DEAR SIR—Yours of May 6, in reply to mine asking information about the proposed legislation relative to "Fisherman's Peak," is at hand. Accept my thanks for your prompt answer and explicit statement. Your letter, however, shows that you have been misinformed on several essential points about the Mount Whitney question, and this has led you, too, into mistakes. Your interest in the matter as evidenced by the proposed legislation, leads me to write this somewhat lengthy letter to correct some of the misapprehensions and clear up the matter.

So far as one man could do it, I named the highest peak of that region Mount Whitney in 1864; or that right belongs not to me personally, than the exploring party of which I had command named it at that time, on an expedition which I had planned and carried out so far as the means at my disposal allowed. We then named the highest peak in that group or region, published it to the world and very soon it had passed into the geographical literature of the world.

There was then no mistake or question as to which peak was called Mount Whitney, or which peak was the highest, or who discovered which was the highest. Mistakes and confusion came in later by giving the name to two peaks. This arose at first from a natural mistake, and afterward became curiously mixed into personal feeling. With those purely personal matters I have no wish to meddle. Whether Goodyear likes King, or not; whether Lieut. Wheeler loves Prof. Whitney, or not; whether Bowen and others are pleased with the late State Geological Survey, or its chief, or not, are matters which you may or may not be familiar with, which I do not care to discuss and which have absolutely nothing to do with the question as to the discovery and naming of the highest peak of that region.

The real question is a very simple one: Shall the name be allowed to stand where I (or my party) placed it in 1874? It was placed there when the first scientific exploration of that group of peaks was made. Had I then acted on the policy some later explorers have adopted, the late mistake might never have arisen. Had I then cared more for the eclat of personally ascending what we believed to be the highest peak of the Sierra Nevadas, and less for what I believed to be the best for science and the State, I would have have turned southward and made that a more prominent part of the Summer's work. As it was, I chose what I thought to be the most important, as well as most laborious, part, although the least interesting work, of filling out the reconnoisance to the northward, and sent Clarence King to get on the peak if he could with the scanty means I could furnish him. Although then young and comparatively inexperienced, he was intrepid and enthusiastic, and poor as his means were, nearly succeeded. I am not aware that it has ever been questioned that he then nearly reached the top of the highest peak. King investigated this very matter on the spot within a month of the time when the first successful ascent was made by the "fishermen" of 1873.

Some years after the events of 1864, and very soon after King had ceased his connection with the State Geological Survey, he went again to the ground to climb the peak. Falling into a mistake then common in the valley east, as to which was the highest peak, he then climbed another point than the one he had tried in '64. He climbed the one popularly supposed to be highest, instead of the one he had earlier found to be the highest, and his publication of this ascent in his "Mountaineering" only tended to continue the mistake. In 1873 Mr. Goodyear, who had also been connected with the Geological Survey, discovered King's mistake of 1871, and published his discovery. Your letter is the first intimation I have ever had that Crapo and Hunter were the first to find this out, and hence their ascent. That was not the story in 1873 when the "good joke" was no secret in the valley.

King failed to reach the top in 1864. Such failure was no new thing in geographical explorations. I had failed to reached the top of Mount Lyell and Fremont had failed to reach the top of Mount Shasta, but I am not aware that any attempt has been made to change their names by act of Legislature or otherwise, "as an act of justice to the parties making the first ascent." Such a rule as that would never be popular enough to become general among even our intrepid military engineers. Not a United States officer of any kind or description had ever up to that date carried instruments as high as King got on Mount Whitney. Fremont's Peak was the only peak in the United States over 13,000 feet high on which any United States engineer had carried instruments. Shall all the names they gave before that be lost to geography, Pike's Peak, Long's Peak, and so on through the long list?

I have written this at last because I feel that you have been led into a mistake. It is unfortunate for geographical science that such a series of mistakes and comedies should have occurred. But I trust to the general desire for truth and fair play so set the mistake right, as it may easily be done. Prof. Hayden's name was applied to two peaks, but the matter has been righted. Lieut. Wheeler's name is the third that has gone on that one peak. but the confusion will be cleared up, Any attempt to take Whitney's name off the peak where we put it, will only advertise it the more.

Thanking you again for you kind letter, and trusting to your love of truth and fair play, I am yours truly,

WM. H. BREWER.

ENTERTAINMENT.—The most enjoyable and interesting feature of the day's proceedings of the Fourth will be the theatrical entertainment in the evening at the Court House. The Dramatic Club have made good selection of pieces, interesting and difficult, but fairly within the power of the company's talent to creditably reproduce.

ELECTION.—An election is called to take place between 1 and 2 o'clock P. M. Saturday, June 29, at which to chose two School Trustees for this school district. Trot out your candidates, for there will be an opening for one or two new officers.

Darwin to Independenco.

A very singular statement appears in THE INYO INDEPENDENT of last week relative to the report of the viewers appointed by the Board of Supervisors to examine the road from this place to Owens Lake. THE INDEPENDENT says: "A report was received from the Viewers or Appraisers of the Darwin and Owens Lake Toll Road, estimating its value at $1,000, for which sum they state an equally good road could be built between Winters' station and Darwin. The Board ordered that a warrant for such sum be proffered for the road." The proffer of $1,000 is not exorbitant by any means, for the road between here and Winters' station is one of the best in the county, and why the viewers should state that as good a one could be built between the two points for that money is more than we can understand. Nobody down this way has any desire for a road to Winters' station, but we are very much interested in having a better and shorter road to Lone Pine, or rather to Independence. It is the road from Winters' station to Lone Pine that needs the attention of the Board of Supervisors, not a new one from Darwin to Winters' station. From one of the viewers, Mr. Joseph LeCyr, we understand that Mr. Omai Mairs stated to them that he would undertake to construct a new road from this place to Lone Pine for $4,500, the road to run from this place on a different route—within five or six miles of Lee District, to the south, crossing the Inyo range south of Cerro Gordo, and coming out near the head of Owens Lake, so as to cut off about eight miles of the distance between this place and Lone Pine, avoiding the deep sand and rocks now encountered between Winters' station and Dockweiler's. If that can be done for that sum of money, or even one or two thousand dollars more, it is better for the county to order that road to be built than to purchase the present toll road. It will also give better satisfaction to an owner in that toll road who is interested, not only here but at Independence, and is a heavy taxpayer. He invested about $500 in that road, but if a road to Lone Pine could be built that would shorten the distance eight miles and avoid the deep sand and rocks between Winters' station and Dockweiler's, he would not only gladly lose the $500 but would gladly give as much more. We believe the examination of the new route was not altogether satisfactory to the viewers. Mr. LeCyr is under the impression that they were not on the right track. If there is a chance to get a good road across the mountains below Cerro Gordo, so as to cut off the deep sand and rocks between Winters' station and Dockweiler's, we hope the Board will keep their present order to pay $1,000 for the toll road in abeyance, and order some good man to prospect the mountains for a passable route, and, if it should cost $5,000 or $6,000, we believe it would be to the interest of the whole county to invest that much in a good and shorter route than to pay $1,000 for the present toll road, for the Road Overseer, Mr. Connelly, says he knows of no way to improve the deep sand road except with brush and they are not to be had on the route. We hope the Board will not be hasty in their conclusions as to the purchase of the toll road, but order an examination for a new and shorter route: if it cannot be found, then we believe the county should purchase the toll road and improve the whole road hence to Independence, so that people in this end of the county can go up to Independence with a little more profit and comfort to themselves.—Darwin News.

Bodie and Sonora Stage Line.

It seems to be a settled fact that we are to have a stage line from Bodie across the Sierras to Sonora. The first stage will run into Bodie about the 15th and not so late as the 1st of July as before stated. N. Baule is putting up a stable thirty by fifty for himself, and will keep the company's stock for them. The stock and coaches will be strung out along the route in a few days. McAlpin & Cran are the agents in Bodie, and inform us that all the horses used on the line will weigh from 900 to 1,000 pounds. Stages will leave Bodie at 6 o'clock in the morning, and travelers will reach San Francisco the next evening at 6 o'clock. The Sierras will be crossed in the daytime, so that passengers can enjoy the splendid scenery. It is thought that the trip through to the bay will not cost over $30, and only one night's staging. This line will pass through a very rich section of country, where nearly all the tropical fruits abound, and as all the expense of a trip below will be so much less, many will travel it only to remain for a few days. There was some talk of the company not being able to run in the Winter, but this report seems to have been without foundation for, we are reliably informed, by using sleighs the road can be kept open all Winter. A large number of men are now at work improving the road, and ere long there will be two daily lines of stages coming into Bodie—one from Sonora and one from Carson. With this great change times may be expected to liven up accordingly.—Bodie Standard.

A Short History of Petroleum.

The Lumberman's Gazette gives the following short history of petroleum;

The production of petroleum as an article of trade dates from the 28th of August 1859, when Col. Drake, in a well 69½ feet deep, "struck oil," and coined a phrase that will last as long as the English language. From that beginning it has increased to an annual production of 14,500,000 barrels of crude oil. The first export was made in 1861, of 27,000 barrels, valued at $1,000,000, and the export of petroleum for the year 1877 was, in round numbers, $62,000,000. The annual production of petroleum to-day—crude and refined—is greater in value than the entire production of iron, and is more than double that of the anthracite coal of the State of Pennsylvania, and exceeds the gold and silver product of the whole country. As an article of export it is fourth, and contests closely for the third rank. Our leading exports are relatively as follows: Cotton annually, from $175,000,000 to $227,000,000; wheat flour, from $69,000,000 to $130,000,000; pork and its products (bacon, ham and lard), from $57,000,000 to $82,000,000; petroleum, from $48,000,000 to $62,000,000. The total export of petroleum from 1861 and including 1877 (16 years) has been $442,698,968, Custom House valuation. From the best sources of information there are at this time 10,000 oil wells, producing and drilling, which at an average cost of $5,000 per well would make an investment of $50,000 000 in this branch of the business. Tankage now existing of a capacity of 6,000,000 barrels, cost $2,000,000, and $7,000,000 has been invested in about 2,000 miles of pipe lines connected with the wells. The entire investment for the existing oil production, including purchase money for territory, is something over $100,000,000, which amount cannot be lessened much, if any, for as wells cease to produce new ones have been constantly drilled to take their place.

SILVER DEPOSITS PERMANENT.—In his treatise on silver mines Fuller says: "Wherever in any part of the world silver mines have been worked, they are worked now, unless from war, invasions of Indians, etc. We know of no silver mining region in the world that has given out. Mexican mines worked by the Aztecs before the conquest by Cortez are still worked as profitably as ever; the old Spanish mines opened long before Hannibal's time, are still worked with enormous profits; the South American mines have constantly yielded their wealth for more than three hundred years, and are as productive as ever; mines in Hungary that were worked by the Romans long before the Savior's time, still yield an abundance of ore; the silver mines of Frisburg, opened in the eleventh century, and worked continually ever since, yield their steady increase. So in Norway, Sweden and Russia, and indeed wherever silver mines have been opened, we believe without exception, they continue to be worked at the present day, and generally are more productive than at any time in their past history."

A FINELY dressed young woman came hurriedly out of Worthington street, and as she turned into Main, ran against a barefoot urchin, one of a group, upsetting him. "I beg your pardon," she said, "did it hurt you?" "No, miss," replied the little fellow as soon as he recovered his speech, "you may run agin me, and knock me down twenty times a day if you want ter." Then as the young woman passed on, turning to his companions, he continued, "I tell you, fellers, it kinder tuk my breath at fust ter hear her 'pologize ter me, but I guess I did the right sort of thing arter all, didn't I?" "You bet!" was the unanimous response. —Springfield Republican.

THE receipts of the May Festival were $23,000, about all of which was absorbed by expenses, leaving most of the advertising bills unpaid.

Idaho.

As the Territory of Idaho is likely to be the scene of an Indian war, our readers will be interested in knowing something about the country. The Territory is of course mountainous, but it is diversified by many rich and beautiful valleys. There are about 16,000,000 acres of arable land well adapted to wheat, rye, oats, barley, fruit and vegetables, while the foothills and mountains constitute about the best grazing land in the United States. The climate is mild, exhilarating and healthy. According to present estimates, there are in the territory about 6,000 Indians, 8,000 Chinese, and about 15,000 whites. The whites are well and comfortably settled, with homes, farms, schools, churches, newspapers and libraries. The farm products amount to about three millions of dollars a year, and the mines and other industries produce about six millions annually. The people are well supplied with all the apparatus of a growing civilization, and the prospects for future growth are very promising. The people who are willing to work need the Territory, and the Government should send the tricky agents and guilty speculators of the Indian Ring into the lava beds to fight the Indians, while it protects the pioneers in their work.—Sacramento Bee.

THE YELLOWSTONE PARK.—Protect the Yellowstone Park by all means possible and practical. It is a creation that no vandal should be suffered to gaze upon. Secretary Schurz' request for $15,000 to improve and protect it should be granted without a dissenting voice. The report of the superintendent of the park shows the absolute necessity of a live guardian—one who can shoot. The superintendent says that the act of March 18, 1878, set aside and dedicated the Yellowstone National Park for the benefit and enjoyment of the people, and provided formally against trespassers, and for the preservation from injury and spoilation of all timber and mineral deposits and natural curiosities and wonders within it, and their retention in their natural condition; also against the destruction of fish and game, and for the construction of roads and bridges therein. No appropriation has as yet been made to execute this legislation, which is confirmed by official publications and those of travelers. Valuable forests of pine and cedar timber have been prostrated and travel impeded by the careless use of fire. Bison, elk, antelope, bighorn sheep and other beautiful and valuable animals have been slaughtered by the thousands merely for their tongues and pelts. Great masses of ancient timber, fossils, geysers, cones, and beautifully scalloped pool borders, which made the region valuable, have been broken up to obtain transportable specimens, which have been made articles of fraudulent commerce. The preservation of these animals and wonders, and the construction of roads, bridges, etc., are necessary to carry out the act. The opening of the great Yellowstone route by steamboats, and the approach of several railroad routes, in rapid construction toward it, show the immediate need of practical means, both to preserve the park from irreparable damage and to make the beauties enjoyable.

A BONANZA MILLIONAIRE.—Dion Boucicault is, it appears by his own statement, one of the Bonanza millionaires. He invested largely three years ago in California and Consolidated Virginia, and has since steadily continued to buy additional shares with the very large sums which have been received as dividends by the stockholders of those two famous mines. Mr. Boucicault's interest is so large that he is quite justified in saying "we," as he does in his conversation when speaking of the Bonanza Kings. The dramatist has been very successful in amassing money. He is about to launch a steam yacht, which will cost him nearly $200,000 and which will necessitate the outlay of a small fortune yearly to keep afloat. It will not do to say that dramatic writing does not pay. The leading Parisian and English playwrights make large sums from their works, and live, some of them, in princely style. As yet American authors have not caught the knack of writing plays which the public care to patronize, but the fact that Boucicault is a millionaire may tempt American authors to try their hands at the production of popular plays. Joaquin Miller has realized more money from his "Danites" than from any two books he has ever published, and even such poor stuff as the "Black Crook" brought its author an independent fortune. There is money in the drama, decidedly, but it must be remembered that in that lottery for one prize there are 20,000 blanks.—N. Y. Graphic.

THE labor statistics published by the labor bureaus of Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Ohio show that the average daily wages earned by 2,042,200 workingmen in one hundred of the wealthiest cities in the Union is only eighty cents, and only an average of eighty-seven days' employment in a year at that rate! By this it will be seen that $149 60 was the average earnings of millions of mechanics, artisans and workmen during the year 1877.

Major Harry Egbert.

The following resolutions adopted by the citizens of Winnemucca, Nevada, June 12, explain themselves, and, at the same, recall pleasant reminiscences of a former and most popular commandant of this Post, gallant Major Harry Egbert:

WHEREAS, Hostile Indians are laying waste our northern border by burning houses, stealing stock and murdering our citizens; and whereas, helpless women and children are at the mercy of these incarnate fiends; and whereas, we raised a company last night of volunteer citizens to go to the front and repel the savage attack; and whereas, we were and are destitute of arms, and called upon the military department of the United States for permission to take a case of United States arms lying idle in this town; and whereas, Capt. Egbert, of the United States Army, now in the field against the Indian foe, upon the request promptly gave us permission to take said arms; and whereas, our volunteer company left this morning with a portion of said arms for the scene of hostilities; and whereas, Gen. McDowell has informed us that the Secretary of War will hold the said Captain Egbert personally responsible for said arms; therefore be it

Resolved, That we will indemnify and hold harmless the said Capt. Egbert pecuniarly for said arms, and return them in twenty days to the military department of the United States in as good condition as we received them, reasonable wear and tear excepted.

Resolved, That we hereby tender to Capt. Egbert our hearty and sincere thanks for said arms, and anxiously await a fitting opportunity to express to him our obligations in a more substantial form.

Resolved, That while Capt. Egbert may be guilty of a technical violation of the rules governing the United States Army, we respectfully submit to Gen. McDowell, and through him to the honorable Secretary of War, that instead of Capt. Egbert being deserving of censure, he is entitled to the highest commendation under the circumstances.

THE TOTAL ECLIPSE OF THE SUN. On the 29th of July next a total eclipse of the sun takes place under such circumstances as to present opportunities that occur scarcely once in a generation for the study of some of the most interesting phenomena with which astronomers have to do. The path of the totality of this eclipse runs diagonally across the United States from Montana to Texas, and is somewhere about 140 miles wide. Many of the best points for observing the eclipse are therefore directly accessible by railroad, and several expeditions might be sent out fully equipped to as many different points, without spending so much money upon them all as it would take to equip a single expedition to a more distant point.

THE ELECTION.

Returns of the election are as yet incomplete, but sufficient to show the undoubted election of Mr. Reddy and throughout the two counties about 600 solid votes for the People's Non-Partisan ticket.

The following tabte is compiled from the total votes and majorities as have been so far reported:

	REDDY.	BECHTEL.
Bridgepert	9	35
Bodie	12	164
Benton	33	10
Antelope	—	—
Lake District	—	—
Round Valley	—	—
Bishop Creek	38	2
Big Pine	20	—
Taboose	12	—
Independence	84	4
Georges Creek	7	—
Lone Pine	29	17
Olancha	—	—
Cerro Gordo	—	—
Darwin	46	1
Lookout	49	—
Lucky Jim	—	—
Lee District	—	—
Total	339	232
Majority	107

It is not likely that polls were opened at Lucky Jim or Lee District, no election being held at Cerro Gordo at all; but in any event the result cannot be changed when the table is made complete by official canvass. Except Antelope Valley, all the precincts unheard from will increase Reddy's majorities.

In all the straight Bechtel tickets, some San Francisco printer made an error fatal to their being counted at all —as having thereon the name of Mr. B. as Delegate at Large, in addition to the thirty-two authorized by law, instead of as Joint Delegate for Inyo and Mono. At Lone Pine eight of these were thrown out and at Independence four, under the plain and unmistakable provision of Section 1202, Political Code. If the Bodie voters have not discovered and corrected this error, the votes there cannot be counted or canvassed should there be any occasion whatever for a contest.

It is only necessary to add that Inyo and Mono counties can congratulate themselves upon having selected a man who will prove himself a peer among the able men composing the Convention.

COMMISSIONER WILLIAMSON, at the request of Page, has written an official letter urging the necessity of a special appropriation for surveying timber lands in California, Oregon, Washington Territory and Nevada. The Commissioner writes that unless these lands be surveyed the law recently enacted for their sale will be, to a great extent, if not wholly a dead letter, as very little timber land unfit for cultivation has heretofore been surveyed on the Pacific Slope. He adds: "It may be well to mention in this connection that the grant was to maintain under existing laws, all the machinery for conducting the surveying, and thereby becoming subject to sale under said act. There can be no doubt that they will sell readily at the price fixed and thus reimburse the United States for surveying them. I therefore think it wise, and, in the end economical, to appropriate at least $150,000 to survey this class of lands in California, etc., the amount to be apportioned by the Commissioner of the General Land Office in such a manner as to secure the survey of such lands as will most readily sell, and are most liable to be trespassed upon. Page, in view of the improbability of obtaining the appropriation thus advocated, has prepared an amendment, which he will request Sargent to use in the Senate, providing, as a means to make the recent law effective, that an applicant to purchase timber lands may be allowed to deposit money for the surveys, and be credited with these advances when making payment for a perfected title.

UP in Aurora, according to the Herald, they revel in good things, notwithstanding "the late frosts" irreparably injured the extensive fruit orchards of that favored locality. The other day a party brought in from Mono Lake several sacks of oysters, in which were found many pearls—one very large and pure one falling into possession of the Herald editor. The Sazerac Lying Club has dispatched a committee after the Herald man, instructed to take him dead or alive.

THERE yet seems a chance for the monetary congress proposed by our Government being a success. France, Greece, Italy, the Netherlands, Hungaria, Russia and Switzerland have accepted the invitation to attend, and Austria, Belgium, Germany and Great Brithin have the subject under consideration.

ANOTHER INDIAN WAR.

The House amendments to the Army Bill were under discussion in the Senate when the news arrived that the Bannock Indians were on the war path in Idaho and that the lives of white men, women and children were again at the mercy of savages. The tick-tick of the telegraph was more eloquent than words, and with little discussion the House amendments designed to cripple the army, already all to feeble, were rejected. Even at its present strength the army of the United States is not equal to the work which in times of so-called peace it is called upon to perform. In Idaho at the present moment the small force under Major Collins and Col. Bernard is entirely inadequate to do more than reconnoitre and watch the Indians. They cannot afford to offer them battle. The officers have done and are doing all that is possible, with the means at their command. Citizens are with deep solicitude and anxiety, awaiting the arrival of reinforcements which are coming. What the Indians have yet done is only preparatory to what will be attempted when they are assembled and organized. The Big Camas Prairie which is the bone of contention between the whites and Indians, is a vast meadow like valley, some fifteen miles in width, and extending in an easterly direction from a point seventy-five miles from Boise City for a distance of thirty miles. The Indians claim this valley by virtue of prior occupation, as well as from a clause in some old treaty, which is said to give them the right of joint occupancy with the whites. This joint tenure, however, they have now concluded to ignore, and they claim the whole valley for themselves. The land, which is very fertile, has been surveyed by the Government and is now subject to entry under the land laws. The valley and adjacent hills afford the most magnificent pasturage, which has been used by the whites for pasturing large herds of cattle and horses. Between the prairie and Snake river lie the Lava beds, which extend easterly for a distance of fifty miles or more, with a width of from six to eight miles, enclosing every variety of sustenance from grazing plains and gentle slopes to rugged, precipitous ridges of broken volcanic rock, which in many places completely surround large areas with high jagged walls, behind which are well armed bands of Indians, that defy the approach of many hundred troops. It is within these fastnessess that the Bannocks have made their headquarters and base of operations. With the small force at their command the officers opposed to the Bannocks are utterly impotent. In their efforts to reconnoitre it is not all improbable that they may fall into a trap and the scenes of the Modoc war and the Custer massacre be re-enacted. Then, of course, the country will be aroused and the Bannocks crushed until the next time. Meanwhile, many a gallant soldier—officer and private—will have met a horrible fate, simply because a miserable economy left him defenseless in the face of a powerful, cruel and vindictive enemy.

THE ex-King of Hanover, whose death is announced from Paris, was a native of Berlin and a nephew of the Queen of Prussia. As a ruler he was a complete failure, being unable to adhere to any public policy long enough to insure any tangible result. By turns he was a Protestant and an Ultramontane. In 1866 he sided with Austria in her struggle with Prussia, though he rendered no practical aid, and in retaliation Emperor William dethroned him. His departure was viewed by his subjects without regret, and his death will be regarded as a matter of no consequence.

CONCERNING the disastrous effects of land monopoly there is a perfect unanimity of opinion in this State, and the approaching Constitutional Convention will be an unexampled success if it does nothing else than check this evil. Few of the land grabbers of California have come by their possessions honestly, and system of taxation should be devised that will render vast tracts of uncultivated lands ruinous to the holder.

WILLIAM CULLEN BRYANT died at New York, June 14, in the seventy-fifth year of his age. He was born at Cummington, Mass., and at an early age gave tokens of great genius. His manners were reserved and simple, even to shyness, yet he did not avoid, while he did not court society. America has lost in him one of its most gifted poets, and humanity a friend.

THERE is a Chinaman in the Stockton Jail who has three times shed his irons and tried to get away, and has twice tried to kill himself, and it takes all the guards in the establishment to watch him. He evidently believes that the Chinese must go.

THE Sun assests that a Tybo jury the other day, in an assault and battery case, found that "the plaintiff was not guilty."

A GOOD LAW.

Those interested will remember that our Representative, Mr. Moffat, introduced a bill designed to effect a more equitable division of the public school moneys among the various school districts. Action on the bill was delayed until near the close of the session, and, though it passed both Houses, we, until the present, supposed it had, like many other bills, come to grief in the Governor's pocket; consequently that the unjust and ridiculous old law still remained in force. We see now in the advance sheets of the new laws received by Mr. Moffat that the Govenor did not pocket the bill, but approved it on the 30th of March last. It provides that the School Superintendents of the counties of Inyo and Mono "shall apportion $500 to each school district of not less than ten census children." Under the old law any district with less than fifteen children could get but $300 of the public fund—that is, the weaker the district in point of tax-payers the greater the proportion of special taxes were they compelled to pay to maintain a school of any grade. After each district has been apportioned its $500 as stated, the whole of any of the funds remaining in the Treasury is then to be divided up among the several districts on a per caplta basis. Under this important and sensible clause our children hereafter will be worth just as much per head in a little district as a large one; under the absurd old law there was not only a discrimination in the apportionment of the main fund to the prejudice of the smaller districts but also, and in a still more unjust degree in the apportionment of the surplus money. For instance, districts having the minimum 15 children on up to 25 got but $300, when those with more than that got $500—a discrimination of sixty per cent. there; but it was still worse as between the districts with 50 children and upwards and all those with less down to 15 when it come to apportioning any surplus cash remaining on hand; this surplus all had to go to the districts richest in children provided there was not less than 50. Two years ago there was but one district in this county that had to exceed the 50 census children; the result was child No. 51 that time had a cash value to his district of about $1,100, being all the surplus, whereas all the rest together in the county outside that district were not worth a d—, a dollar we going to say, but it was really about a bit a head in surplus money. Of course such figures gave no encouragement to raise children at all for school purposes in the small districts, and of course, in such, the industry languished in the same ratio. Talk about discrimination in fares and freights—nothing in that line ever equaled the unjust discrimination provided for in this old school law, now happily no more as regards these two counties. We do not know whether the man who devised that old law is dead or not, but would feel safer if he was. We shall defer publication of the full text of the new law, and further comments, till next week.

THE OREGON ELECTION.—The latest election returns show most conclusively that the Republican State ticket has all been elected, with the exception of H. K. Hines, Republican candidate for Congress, who has been defeated by at least 500 majority. The Legislature on joint ballot will have a Democratic majority of ten. Fifty members are Democrats, thirty-six are Republicans and four Independents. Had all the counties which gave a Republican majority on Governor elected Republicans to the Legislature, there would be a strong Republican majority on joint ballot. The Republicans lost the Legislature in consequence of the controversy over the United States Senator. ship; a large portion of the Republican party—perhaps the larger portion—being opposed to the re-election of Mitchell.

IT is estimated that upwards of thirty thousand Americans will visit Europe this season, and, allowing that their average expenditure will be $300 per month, each of them will spend $400 during a visit of only four months, making the total expenditure about $36,000,000, all made in foreign countries. When passage, railroad fare and hotel charges are taken into consideration, the purchase of clothing and various other things which are so attractive to the American abroad, the total sum will be found to be very much over rather than under the sum named. The foreign exhibitions are not beneficial to America.

THIRTY or forty companies of United States cavalry have crossed the line into Mexico in chase of marauding redskins. This will fire the Mexican heart, but perhaps they will keep their Indians at home hereafter. We have plenty of Indians this Summer without importing any from Mexico.

THE Standard Company shipped from Bodie last month $63,026 15. The Standard says it was a light month, as many days were given to repairs.

THE doctors of Cincinnati have recently been scraping the bones of a dead law maker, and have got themselves into trouble. And now the Medical Faculty of the Cincinnati Medical College, through a member, publicly state that they were wholly ignorant of the fact that they were purchasing the body of Hon. John Scott Harrison, and that under no circumstances would they they have done so had they known it. They insist, however, that "subjects" are a necessity in a college of 300 students, and that medical institutions should be permitted by law to have the bodies of paupers for dissection.

A GLASS ball, two feet in diameter and coated inside with quicksilver, has been received at Virginia City, and is to be placed on top of the new flagstaff on Mt. Davidson. This spherical mirror was made in Paris. With the sun shining upon it when in place this ball will glow like a diamond, and can be seen for miles. Its original cost was only $25, its weight being about 30 pounds.

PUBLIC feeling in Germany continues to be profoundly disturbed. No one ventures to speak openly in extenuation of Nobeling's crime, but in private men say that the country is ripe for a republic. Arrests of suspected parties are frequent. Bismarck has submitted to the Federal Council a motion to dissolve the Reichstag.

"BABY MINE," by Barbour, as sung by Mr. T. B. Dixon, of Haverly's Minstrels is the sweetest song we have seen lately. It has just been published and sent to us by Messrs. A PRESS dispatch of the 10th from Carlin says:

Adjutant General Adams, of the State of Nevada, left Carson last night with 140 stands of arms and 4,000 rounds of ammunition, en route for the scene of Indian hostilities, and arrived at Carlin this afternoon. He will leave Curlin for Tuscarora to-night, and there will organize a volunteer force for the protection of that part of the State.

Two companies of the Twelfth Infantry, under the command of Major Egbert, left Winnemucca to-day in the direction of Silver City. Two companies of United States Cavalry have left Kelton in the same direction. These separate columns, with the assistance of Gen. Adams' State troops, will cover and protect the country from Winnemucca to Kelton, a distance of 350 miles, and will drive the Indians north in the direction of Gen. Howard's command, now approaching Baise City from Oregon.

The hostiles are composed entirely of Bannocks and are estimated at 300 strong. They are moving without their women or children. They are well mounted and armed. Considerable property has been destroyed and several lives lost.

The settlers between here and Tuscarora are alarmed, and some have come in. Fighting is reported between the volunteers and Indians in the Duck Lake country.

BORN.

At Independence, Inyo Co. Cal, June 18, 1878, to the wife of L. Wood, a daughter.

DIED.

At Bishop Creek, Inyo Co., Cal., June 16, 1878, MRS SUSAN FRANCIS KINKADE, beloved wife of James H Shannon.

Crossed the plains with her parents in 1862, and resided in Folsom, Cal., for some years, where in an adjoining town she was married. Her health failing on account of the climate, they removed to Washington Territory, when after several years residence, her health not improving, she came here last August with her three children, to visit her sister, Mrs. Maggie Hutchison, with the vain hope of regaining her health; but that fell disease consumption had fastened itself too deeply upon her vitals for any remedies or medical skill to cure. She hoped against hope, and when joined by her husband some months ago, she longed most ardently for a new lease of life. But slowly she became aware that she must go, and her father was sent for, and he came and ministered to her comfort of body and mind for the last three weeks, while she resigned herself to the inevitable fate that awaited her, with great fortitude and patience; and when the hour drew nigh that she must go and leave her loved ones for a time, she called them to her bedside, took a kind parting look at all, and bidding them farewell, she, with a heart felt prayer to the Author of Light, soon passed with a short but severe struggle through the valley of death, where all must go alone, leaning and and trusting the angels of Faith and Hope.

Farewell, our loved one dear,
No more wilt thou our pathway cheer,
And bless us as in days of yore;
Yet ever shall thy loving words,
Like tuneful harp of sweet accord,
Speak sadly of one gone before.

CARD.

With heartfelt gratitude I return my sincere thanks to the friends and strangers who so kindly done so much for me in this my sad bereavement, in ministering to my family needs, also for the beautiful and appropriate decoration of the chuach wherein the funeral services were held, and more thanks are due to the Rev. Mr. Chase for his good and eloquent discourse on the sad occasion. Wishing these kind friends every blessing of life, I am most sincerely yours.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, JUNE 22.....1878.

LAND PATENTS. — Pre-emption and homestead patents for the following named parties have been received during the week, which will be delivered to the owners upon surrender of receipt: Walter W. Inman, O. B. Wilson, Manuel Machado, Elihu Smith, Benj. F. Short, Clark M. Joclyn, Chas. Rivers, Henry J. Evans, Wm. H. Nosler, Cyrus H. Powers, Josiah D. Harger, Benj. F. Theban, Joseph Bohler, Benj. Weaver, John M. Carter, Elihu Bentley, A. B. Finney, Clark Eggleston, Henry T. Boden, Irwin S. Kirkendale, J. G. Ash, E. Crist, A. G. Boley, M. J. Kearney, F. M. Brady, A. Harrington, D. M. Barnett, R. Trenkle, J. W. Summer, J. E. Oberchain, John T. Denton, J. M. Harney. Government patents to lands or mines should be at once placed upon record in the County Recorder's office, as forming the basis of all present and future real titles to the property. After the expense and trouble of obtaining a Government title, it is somewhat strange how many of the documents lie unclaimed in the several land offices. In this district the Receiver would like to deliver accumulated and uncalled for titles of this kind to the persons named therein as follows: W. H. Stanton, Moses Huntoon, Paul Lawson, J. Sinnamon, H. C. Badger, Wm. T. Elliott, M. S. Clark, S. C. Coltin, Walter Adams, Jos. Lobdell, Oscar Matthews, J. N. Summers, Thos. Swigart, Geo. B. Day, Ernest Heilegendorffer, M. L. Cook, M. A. Taylor, Jos. H. Magallon, Robt. A. Russell, Moses Huntoon.

A SAD AFFAIR.—Friday or Saturday morning last week, a little child less than three years of age, and the only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. McDonald, of Big Pine, fell into an irrigating ditch near their residence at that place and was drowned. Nothing was known of what had happened until the dead body was found at a fall in the ditch, about a hundred yards below where the child must have fallen in, probably not to exceed thirty minutes previously. It is a most sad affair, indeed. A week or two previously, Harry Burt's little child came near suffering the same fate in the same ditch, being found but a moment before life was fairly extinct.

BASE BALL.—The Olympic Base Ball Club, of Lone Pine, have sent to this place a challenge to play any nine that may be selected a series of three match games on the diamond field. The Independence boys have accepted the challenge, and the first game will occur upon the picnic grounds at Camp Independence, July 4. There are quite a number of good players on both sides, and the result will be looked for with unusual interest. A meeting of the Independence crowd is called for tonight, at May's saloon, to perfect the organization and assignment of positions.

INDEPENDENCE TUNNEL.—The work of opening up and building new roads and trails at the Independence Tunnel has been steadily going on. The old openings on the Potosi series of mines have been cleared up, and in No. 4 a new body of good ore shown. In the company's affairs, important negotiations are going on, very likely to be consummated soon, and to the great advantage of the enterprise and this mining section. Mr. Holt will arrive about the 15th proximo, probably accompanied by several leading capitalists or their representatives.

ROUND VALLEY.—The Fourth observances at Round Valley include the usual picnic, for which the good people up there have become noted. At the school house in the evening a dramatic entertainment will be given—presenting the rattling farces of the "Rough Diamond" and "Punkin' Ridge." Miss Millie Hilton as "Margery" is admirably supported by Mr. Badger, in the character of "Cousin Joe." The latter gentleman is a professional, and we hear the Round Valley theatrical entertainments highly spoken of.

GRAND JURY.—A venire for the usual number of Grand Jurors has been ordered by Judge Hannah, returnable on the 8th of July, passing the first Monday in that month on account of the Fourth. The principal business, so far as now known, to occupy the attention of this Jury will be to look into that little sheep stealing business of the two Mexicans now sweating away time in the county sweat box, under commitment from Justice Gardner's court for the said mutton transaction.

FLUME IMPROVEMENT. — The long flume at the new Black Rock Saw Mill has been strengthened and much improved throughout by a three-cornered strip laid tightly in the bottom. In the steepest places this is made of oak. The flume is found to work splendidly, the lumber coming down without jams and with much less water than formerly required.

REX MONTIS.—The new ore strike in the winze from the lower level of the Rex Montis cannot now be availed of by reason of foul air and inconvenience of economical extraction. Supt. Hudgins is urging upon the Directors the necessity of opening a deeper tunnel level.

A SHOW.—Saturday evening last an exhibition of Billy Welch's Stereopticon was given at Mair's Hall, to a slim audience. The machine and views are good, but the agent or manager in charge lacks a knowledge of even the rudiments of such a show business.

SHAKE.—About 2 o'clock last Monday afternoon this locality was favored with quite a noticeable shock of earthquake—more noise than shake, though.

STAGES.—The Allman stage line outfit, to take the Independence and Aurora road in July, is on the way from Benton.

THE LAND OFFICE.—Connelly's team starts to Bodie with the Land Office, books, records and furniture next Tuesday. Receiver May will be compelled to go to Bodie also, and may have to stay there until his successor is appointed and qualified. And now, henceforth the people of the entire district, except those in the immediate vicinity of Bodie, can have the pleasure of traveling anywheres from 50 to 350 miles, and a chance to climb to the highest town in North America, when they have any business to transact at Mr. Briggs' private U. S. land office. How all such will rise up and bless Secretary Schurz' method of civil service reform as demonstrated in this dirty piece of business! There are some parties down near the Colorado river who think some of getting a patent on a mine they are looking for, and, to save expenses, and in the "interest of the public service," propose to get Father Briggs and Bill Stewart and that gang interested, and move the land office down there just as soon as the patent is completed on the other Bodie mine as proposed. No doubt, in that event but the whole Pacific coast delegation will join in a letter to the President indorsing the plan, if urged by the aforesaid—after "this other" Bodie mine is patented, of course.

CLOSE OF VOLUME VIII.—With the next number begins the ninth year of THE INYO INDEPENDENT, upon which occasion it will have a little piece to speak concerning itself and its future plans and prospects.

LAKE DISTRICT.—Mr. E. C. Drullinger, well known by our Darwin people, came down from the above named district last Tuesday on private business and returned on Thursday. He speaks in highest terms of the prospects of this district, which is young and but slightly prospected. In an interview with Mr. Drullinger we obtain the following: The Mammoth mine, situated about a mile and a half below Pine City, was recently purchased by Gen. Dodge and other parties of San Francisco. It has large croppings, which has been estimated to be sufficient, should the mine not go down, to keep twenty stamps crushing for twelve months. A tunnel has been commenced, which will have to be run 250 feet, tapping the ledge 300 feet below the surface. Gen. Dodge is expecting a new saw mill to arrive every day. A 20-stamp quartz mill has already been ordered. Work on the mill race to bring the water—a mile distant—to the mill site has been commenced. The Alpha mine, Parker, Lowe & Co. owners, has been bonded to Riley Armstrong and Jim and Dave Lowery, of Gold Hill, Nevada. The tunnel is now in 185 or 190 feet. They expect to strike the ledge every day. There are other locations on the same belt, which are equally as promising, but not having as yet been worked to any extent. In Pine City and Mammoth—two rival towns—there are 75 or 80 cabins, a hotel 30x80 feet, Saylor & Riddle, proprietors; one general merchandising store and three saloons. Some prospectors have recently made some very rich strikes of base metal mines, twelve miles south of Pine City.—Darwin News.

PORTER BOCKWELL, formerly the chief assassin of the Mormon hierarchy, is dead. He was a callous and case-hardened old scoundrel, who had committed more murders than were probably known to anyone else than himself. He attained notoriety as the leader of the Danites or Destroying Angels, a gang of cutthroats in the pay of the Mormon Church, and who were employed during several years in assassinating troublesome people, and putting emigrants out of the way quietly. If a Mormon man or women became disgusted with the proceedings of the church, and proposed to return to civilization, and if there was the least danger that they knew too much, the Danites were charged with the care of them, and they never reached the frontiers of Utah. Rockwell was deeply implicated in the Mountain Meadow massacre, and in many another bloody deed, and if there had been any energy in the Government policy toward the Mormon abuses he would have been hanged years ago. As it was Justice, halting as she is in that Territory, had slowly come up with him. He was under indictment for several murders committed more than twenty years ago, and he was to have been tried this Summer, though there could have been no certainty of convicting him among such a people. There is only one thing to regret in connection with the death of such a ruffian, and that is that it was not inflicted by the laws he had outraged, and did not take place on the gallows.—Record-Union.

SOUTH MODOC.—Mr. M. E. Joyce, Superintendent of the South Modoc Mining Company, who came up from San Francisco about the 1st of May, to do the yearly assessment work on the mines owned by that company, returned to the Bay on the 11th instant. This company own several good mines, situated in Lookout District, and being close to the Modoc Consolidated, which has proved to be a bonanza, can not help being good property. Mr. Joyce informs us that the mines showed so favorably he really did more upon them than was required by law, and that he will return in eight or ten days to commence active operations. All that our mines want is development, as is shown by those that have been sunk upon to any depth. We hope ere long to publish rich strikes in the South Modoc. —Darwin News.

AMONG the bridal presents at the marriage of Lieut. Hoxie and Miss Vinnie Ream were a picture contributed by Gustave Doré and a musical composition by Liszt.—Exchange. The Lieut. Dick Hoxie aforesaid is an old-time chummy of our junior, if that fact happens to be any honor to the gallant Lieutenant or the fair and talented Vinnie.

JUDGE WRIGHT, at Reno, has granted Mary E. Squires a divorce from Wm. G. Squires. Cause—desertion and failure to provide.—Virginia Enterprise.

The Eclipse Mine.

INDEPENDENCE, June 19.

MESSRS. EDITORS—Knowing the desire on your part to give your readers all news possible on matters of general importance, and especially that in relation to mining progress, permit me to say that the Brown Monster and Hirsh claims, two recent locations on a lode formerly known as the Eclipse, are turning out ore rapidly for the force employed. This ore is such that will, I feel no hesitation in saying, pay a fair profit after mining and milling expenses are deducted. But for the nefarious work carried out a year ago this month by one who occasionally shows himself in our midst, the Eclipse mine. instead of being abandoned and the company gone into liquidation, would, I fearlessly assert, have given, instead of lying idle so many months, constant employment to many a workingman, and no doubt a profit to the company. This would have more than likely induced other capitalists to invest in the district also. That newsy little Darwin paper, the Coso News, hit the mark in saying that some of the mining companies of Inyo too often retard the progress of their works by the changes of Superintendents. In the Eclipse case the company are not so much to blame; as in two months or thereabouts after the change of management took place they saw their error, and from London cabled at once to their agent in San Francisco to reinstate the former manager. Through the instrumentality of the one alluded to before—as divulged by himself six months later—the cablegram was suppressed, and the mill continued to be run by a young man of no experience whatever. The consequences of this, I need not tell you, are badly felt to-day by the people of our county, and myself perhaps the worst. So much for his interference, and judging from his actions little he can help in restoring the confidence necessary to bring capital into this county to repair the damage he has been the means of doing. I hope, however, with your assistance in giving space to this, to convince my friends in Frisco and elsewhere that the fault of the late failure was not in the mine but simply from reasons as aforesaid—the truth of which inspections shortly to follow will fully demonstrate. Respectfully,

JOS. EUDEY.

GOING HOME TO DIE.—A dog's fidelity to home surroundings was beautifully illustrated recently in this city. A gentleman who owned a favorite setter, missed the dog about two weeks ago and supposed he had been stolen. Yesterday he detected a peculiar smell about the premises, and looking under the house discovered his pet lying dead, and swollen to about the size of a flour barrel. The faithful animal after having been poisoned had crawled home and gone under the house to die, so as to be near his master. The hole he crawled through to get in was just big enough to admit him before he died and swelled up, and in order to get him out his master was obliged to cut away the wall at an expense of $8 50. He thinks that a dog's attachment may be a trifle overdone.—Virginia Chronicle.

LITTLE BINKS (to unsteady party who had lurched heavily against him)—"I beg your pardon, I'm sure, but I am very short sighted." Dissipated stranger—"Do' menshn't, shir—I've met goo' many shor'sighted people'sh morn; bu' you're firsh gen'lsh made 'shl'st 'pology."

SATURDAY, JUNE 22.....1878.

BLACK HILLS.—The total assessed valuation of Lawrence county, made one year ago, aggregated something over $300,000. Of this year's assessed valuation, 57 individuals and firms alone aggregate the handsome sum of upwards of $600,000, or nearly twice the total valuation of last year. It is only within the past two years since the region around the Black Hills was settled, after much difficulty and considerable loss of life. Within that time what a great transformation has been effected! Deadwood is now a city containing between 4,000 and 5,000 population, with three solid banking institutions, two churches, a public school, two theaters, an evening and morning newspaper, and wholesale and retail stores of all classes equal to any that can be found in any city in the country of three times the size of Deadwood. There are now over 100 stamps in operation, and it is not unreasonable to expect that during the season 2,000 additional stamps will be up. Wealthy capitalists have come in and purchased many mines at high figures, and are now building extensive mills. Gold paying ore is being found everywhere, and new camps are being worked and and discovered daily. The belt theory is exploded, and the gold-bearing territory will most prove to extend within the two branches of the Cheyenne river, an area of 1,500 square miles, sufficient to make the gold supply permanent. Our climate is delightful in Summer and mild in Winter. with the exception of an occasional snowstorm. Our country produces good crops, both roots and cereals, in abundance, and we raised sufficient potatoes last year for our own consumption. Our grazing lands are fertile, and in another year all the necessaries of life will be as cheap here as in Eastern cities.—Lawrence County Times.

A TYPICAL CURIOSITY. — The first American paper published on the Pacific coast was the Californian, the first number of which was issued at Monterey in the Fall of 1846. The type and press once belonged to the Spanish authorities and were used to print their public documents. Everything used was in a state of dilapidation; but that seemed to be a minor consideration as soon as it was possibie to put forth a sheet containing letters, whether they were legible or not. Instead of w's two v's were used. In explanation of this the following appeared:

"Our Alphabet.—Our type is a Spanish font picked up in a cloister, and has no VV's in it, as there are none in the Spanish Alphabet. I have sent to the Sandvvich Islands for this letter; in the meantime vve must use tvvo v's. Oar paper at present is that used for vvrapping cigars; in due time vve vvill have something better; our object is to establish a press in California, and this in all probability vve shall be able to accomplish. The absence of my partner for the past three months and my duties as Alcalde here have deprived our little paper of some of those little attentions vvhich I hope it vvill hereafter receive. VVALTER COLTON.

WHAT THEY THOUGHT OF IT.—An earthquake occurred at Los Angeles on Tuesday night, June 11, when the Chinamen, according the Star, expressed themselves to this effect:

Tuesday night during the earthquake, a Chinaman in the employ of one of our citizens, came rushing into the house, his eyes almost bursting out of their sockets, and with a wild look exclaimed, "My housee all shakee up! Comee out and watchee 'em allee shakee up."

Down in Chinatown they were seen running out and staring wildly, while such exclamations as these were heard, "Muchee shakee! Hell, dam!"

"Well, John, what did you think of the shake up last night," said a citizen to a Chinaman. "Me no savvy him, me feel like a policeman shakee me!"

While the dirt was rattling down the walls of one of the adobe houses, a Chinaman rushed out frightened nearly to death, and exclaimed: "Thissee lodger house no good! Too muchee Josh savee Chinaman!" He was a new importation.

A GOOD CLEANSING FLUID.—The following is recommended for washing alpaca, camel's hair and other woolen goods, and for removing marks made on furniture, carpets, rugs, etc.: Four ounces ammonia, four ounces white Castile soap, two ounces alcohol, two ounces glycerine and two ounces ether. Cut the soap fine, dissolve in one quart water over a fire, add four quarts water. When nearly cold add the other ingredients. This will make nearly eight quarts and will cost about 75 cents. It must be put in a bottle and stoppered tight. It will keep good any length of time. To wash dress goods, take a pail of lukewarm water and put in a teacupful of the fluid, shake around well in this, and then rinse in plenty of clean water, and iron on wrong side while damp. For washing grease from coat collars, etc., take a little of the fluid in a cup of water, apply with a clean rag and wipe well with a second rag. It will make every woolen fabric look bright and fresh.

GREEN VARNISH FOR METAL. — A green varnish for metal furniture may be thus prepared: Put as much red arsenic or mastic into a strong potash lye as will be dissolved by it, then dilute the solution with water and add a salt of copper (vitrol or acetate of copper). The green precipitate should be washed, dried and dissolved in the oil of turpentine. Unfortunately, mastic is too dear for the varnish to be used for all purposes.

"WHISKY is your greatest enemy," said a minister to Deacon Jones. "But," said Jones, "don't the Bible say, Mr. Preacher, that we are to love our enemies?" "Oh, yes, Deacon Jones, but it don't say we are to swallow them."

Two Men Shot at Gillett.

The stage brings the exciting intelligence of a sad fracas, which occurred at Gillett on the evening of Wednesday. last. It seems that one Sitright (or Setright) was on a "bender," and hit some one over the head with a bottle, whereupon Deputy Sheriff Burnett arrested him, or was about to arrest him, when Sam. Weir, well known to everybody in Prescott, interceded for the man, and upon promise to take him away or something of that sort, Weir was allowed to take Setright away. The two started down the street, and had walked about 150 yards when, without any apparent cause, Setright pulled a pistol and shot Weir through the head, the ball entering just above the eyes Setright went back and told of his act and mounted a mule and put out. Half the town at once mounted and went in pursuit, capturing the offender somewhere below the mill in the brush, and brought him back. Deputy Sheriff Burnett got possession of the prisoner and took to his assistance L. G. Taylor and fortified themselves in a house against the mob, who soon came in great numbers, and the shooting of pistols and loud talk were freely indulged in. While this shooting was going on, Taylor, against the wishes of Burnett, opened the door, and almost instantly received a bullet in the head, which passed entirely through, The mob then took the prisoner (Setright) down into the creek below town and hung him. Taylor was left laying where shot until next morning, when the excitement should have abated and an inquest could be held, the result of which we did not learn. The mob consisted of some 40 men. —Arizona Enterprise, June 15.

AN ENGLISH VIEW OF MINING ENTERPRISES.—An observation which has just been made in the American press, says a London paper of a recent date, with reference to the United States, is equally applicable to this country. At no time in the history of mining enterprises has it been more necessary for all true friends of that great and vital industry, and all legitimate workers in this wide field of labor, to frown down and expose all attempts, by whomsoever made, to convert into an arena of greedy, reckless speculation without regard to true values or honest returns. The lessons of the past will not soon be forgotten; and now that capital is ready and willing to co-operate with honest labor, it behooves every man who is interested in mining as a legitimate business to guard it jealously against fraud and deception. It is essential that capitalists should be put on their guard against those who are too ready to mislead the public by extravagant promises which can never be realized. Above all let the basis on which promoters assume to do business be established beyond doubt, and the evidence of the values which they place upon mining property be placed above suspicion. Then, and not till then, will the public properly respond to the invitations to come into that broad and attractive field; the labor of our honest, hard-working miners be appreciated and rewarded; and the great vital mining interests of the country be established on a permanent, secure and widening foundation.—Eureka Sentinel.

MRS. ANNIE LITTLE, widow of the late Thomas Little, the miner who was run into the sheave at the Savage mine, and thrown down the shaft from the surface to the 1300 level, on the 19th of January last, has commenced a suit against the Savage Mining company wherein she claims $150,000 damages, one the ground that the accident was the result of gross carelessness on the part of the engineer who hoisted the cage upon which her husband stood. Mr. and Mrs. Little were married on the 26th day of January, 1861, and nine children, all of whom are now living, are the issue of the marriage. They are aged 15, 14, 12, 11, 10, 9, 6, 5 and 3 years respectively.—Virginia Chronicle.

The Perils of a Throne.

During the past thirty years no less than twenty-eight attempts at assassination have been made upon the persons of rulers, as follows:

On Nov. 26, 1848, the Duke of Modena was shot at.

June 21, 1849, an attempt was made against the Prince of Prussia, during his sojourn at Minden.

May 22, 1851, Sefeloque, an artificer, shot the King of Prussia, breaking his fore-arm.

February 18, 1853, the Emperor Francis Joseph was seriously wounded in the neck by Libenyz, a Hungarian tailor.

April 16, 1853, a second attempt was made againt Louis Napoleon in Paris, while on his way to the opera.

March 20, 1854, Ferdinand Charles III, was assassinated by an individual who is still unknown. When found, a moment after the attack, the Duke was streched on the ground in an alley in his park, and in his stomach had a cut fully a foot in length out of which his bowels protruded.

April 25, 1855, a third attempt was made against the life of Louis Napoleon. This time Giovanni Pianori was the assassin, and the Champs Elysees, while the Emperor was out driving, was the place selected.

May 28, 1855, Raymond Fuentes was arrested as he was taking aim at the Queen of Spain. His gun was discharged but the load went up into the air.

December 8, 1856, Agesilas Milano, a private soldier, drove his bayonet into Ferdinand III's abdomen at Naples.

August 7, 1857, Bartoletti, Garibaldi and Grillo were condemned to the guillotine for a fourth attempt upon the life of Louis Napoleon.

January 14, 1858, Orsini, Rudio, Pieri, Bernard and Gomez made a fifth attempt upon the life of Louis Napoleon by throwing bombs under his carriage as he was on his way to the opera.

July 14, 1861, Oscar Beker, a student at Baden Baden, discharged two shots at the King of Prussia without hitting him.

December 18, 1862, Aristide Bruzos, a student at Athens, fired one shot out of his revolver at the Queen of Greece.

December 24, 1863, Grecco, Strabucco, Imperatrice and Liaglione, who went from London to assassinate Louis Napoleon, were arrested in Paris.

April 14, 1865, Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States of America, was shot while at Ford's theater, in Washington, and died within ten hours.

April 6, 1866, Karasov attempted to assassinate the Emperor of Russia, at St. Petersburg.

In 1867, Berezowski, a Pole, also attempted to assassinate the Russian Emperor, on his from a review of troops in the Bois de Boulogne, in Paris.

June 10, 1868, Prince Michael of Servia was killed by the brothers Radivanovitch.

In 1871, Amadeus I, king of Spain, had a narrow escape from assassination.

In August 1872, the President of the Peruvian Republic, was assassinated by Col. Guttierez.

In January, 1873, President Morales, of the Bolivian Republic, was also assassinated.

In August, 1875, Garcia Moreno, President of the Republic of Ecuador, was also assassinated.

In June, 1877, President Gill, of the Paraguayian Republic, was killed by Commandant Molas.

May 11, 1878, Hoedel, alias Lehmann, a Socialist, discharged three chambers of his revolver at the Emperor of Germany.

June 2, 1878, Dr. Nobeling, a Socialist, discharged the contents of a double-barreled shot-gun at the Emperor of Germany, seriously wounding him.

A CALIFORNIA EXPERT ABROAD.—Advices from Chihuahua, Mexico, annouce that Mr. J. B. Low and party reached that city on the 24th of May, after a pleasant trip via Denver, Santa Fe and El Paso. The party consisted of five persons, viz: Mr. Low and Col. J. H. Holt, of San Francisco, and three gentlemen from New York. The object of Mr. Low's visit to Mexico is to make a practical and thorough investigation of the famous Santa Eulalia mines, situated about twelve miles from the city of Chihuahua. Mr. Low, as Western readers of the Stock Report are well aware, is one of our most prominent mining engineers. He has been superintendent of leading mines, and for twenty years his time has been devoted, almost exclusively, to the study of silver-bearing quartz. His intelligence, integrity and coolness have always stood him in good stead and enabled him to speedily detect mining impositions. Hence it is that his opinion of a mine is worth knowing. He is a trifle too conservative to suit some people, but his tendency to conservatism can scarcely be termed a fault, His examination of the Eulalia mines is in the interest of enterprising New York capitalists. Of one thing these capitalists may rest assured—his report will be reliable. If he says buy, he will be prepared to demonstrate that the mines are worth the purchase money, and if he advises against the purchase, don't purchase.—S. F. Stock Report.

Southern Railroad Matters.

The Colton (San Bernardino) Semi-Tropic, a so-called railroad paper, has the following concerning prospective railroad building to the southward:

The outlook for considerable railroad building in the great Southwest during the next two years is gratifying in the extreme. The stagnation which has so long prevailed among railroad builders seems to given place to a spirit of push and considerable animation is already discernible all along the projected lines.

Last week work was ordered recommenced on the Utah Southern road. This road is owned by the Union Pacific, and is pushing south and west to an outlet on the Pacific Ocean. It is to run south from Salt Lake City via Provo, Nephi, Fillmore and Beaver, to Callville, at the head of navigation on the Colorado river. From there the road will make for the Cajon Pass, which is the only available pass through the Coast range for near two hundred miles.

Before the Utah Southern will arrive within three hundred miles of the Cajon, the Southern Pacific will have its cut-off from here to the Mojave completed and running. This cut-off will save nearly ninety miles of travel between Yuma and San Francisco, and four hours in time, thus saving the company thousands of dollars monthly and cheapening both fares and freights. This route has been decided upon and may be commenced at any time.

The old corporation known as the San Bernardino and San Diego railroad company, have lately been making spasmodic efforts to show a little vitality. This company was chartered some years ago to build a line of road to San Diego, but nothing was accomplished. Now they propose to try and build a narrow gauge road. The Southern Pacific have also a proposed line to San Diego from here, of the usual gauge. A road from Colton to San Diego would pay, as there are no difficulties to be surmounted of a costly nature. and the road would do a good business. Between the two companies we are certain to have a road south within a very few years, and of the two it is easy to predict which will be the first at the goal.

Thus when the Utah Southern arrives at the Cajon Pass it will have a choice, via Colton, both of routes and sea ports. It can go directly south to San Diego or west to Santa Monica or Wilmington as seems to it best.

The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe road is pushing things with a vigorous hand. They will have nearly 300 miles completed in a southwesterly direction by next Christmas. This road is pushing down to a junction with the Southern Pacific at some point east of Tucson, Arizona, where these two great corporations expect to join hands in three years at furthest. From the point of juncture the Southern Pacific will build eastward to the Rio Grande, provided the right of way be secured.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY, BY

CHALFANT & PARKER.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, JUNE 29.....1878.

VOLUME NINE.

THE INDEPENDENT this week starts out with No. 1 of Volume IX—having completed eight years of existence, and without the omission of a single issue.

Its proprietors were in hopes by this time to have accomplished certain important (to them, at least) outside undertakings which have of late diverted much time and attention from the paper, to the end that—having disposed of other matters—they could assume the task of running a journal of larger form and more varied and painstaking in its contents.

They have, however, found the proposed enlargement impracticable at present, but do not give up accomplishing it within a short time.

Thanks are heartily tendered to all patrons who have stood by the paper so long; to all present ones, and the many new ones to come.

THE ELECTION.—No tabulated statement of the election throughout the State has yet been made up or published, but enough is known to authorize the positive statement that all of the Non-Partisan candidates at Large are elected, therefore the great Dennis will not run the Convention, the San Francisco Chronicle to the contrary notwithstanding. We think this a fact for sincere gratification. The complexion of the Convention will be very nearly as follows: Non-Partisan, 85; Workingmen, 49; Republicans, 9; Democrats, 5; Unclassified, 2. The San Francisco Examiner and its country imitators ought now to feel proud.

THE aunual subscription price of THE INYO INDEPENDENT is, and always has been, lower than that of any other paper on this side of the Sierras and in the Great Basin. And for $5 a year an Inyoite can keep his friends abroad better posted on the local affairs of this entire region than he could by a system of perpetual letter writing. If this idea was acted out by a few hundred more of our citizens it would tend immensely to this county's advantage.

FOR the past year "THE INYO" has had a steadily increasing subscription list, to the great and special advantage of all regular and transient advertisers. One of the best established facts in business is that all kinds of advertising pays, in times dull or otherwise. Our patrons should see to it that their advertisements are frequently changed, renewed and enlarged, and be willing to pay a slightly increased rate as the paper becomes a more valuable advertising medium.

"CAPT. JINKS" was a man of note, if the song don't lie. Now comes Mrs. Jenks in the actual flesh to add further lustre to the name of Jenks or Jinks. She is a witness before the Potter Committee, and is smarter than the whole lot, old Strabismus included.

GEN. SPINNER, ex-Treasurer of the United States, is planting olive trees and tea bushes in Florida. His signature is still used to frighten off alligators and small boys.

A LARGE portion of the subscribers to THE INDEPENDENT are of those who began with the very first number, a fact which speaks well for the permanency of our population, and for their steady support of their county paper.

ON the 17th instant a report received in Berlin from Vienna of a meditated attmept on the life of the Crown Prince Frederick William caused some sensation, and led to the arrest of 130 Socialists in the German capital.

THE House unanimously concurred in the Senate resolution that the treaty with China allowing unrestricted emigration to this country should be modified, and calling the attention of the President to the subject.

THE news from the European Congress at Berlin is contradictory and unsatisfactory. The sessions of the Congress are held in secret, and therefore but little of importance can be learned of its proceedings.

IT is reported that James Gordon Bennett intends to go out in the Pandora and discover the North Pole himself.

A SUGGESTION.

Times in Darwin are reported extremely dull, and the general outlook for a prosperous near future by no means encouraging. The trouble seems to be that too many companies of too limited means are trying to carry on both mining and reduction of ores in their own respective furnaces at the same time. Not one of their mines but produces a fair quantity and quality of ores, but scarcely one, apparently, that can do so in quantities sufficient to keep its reduction works in continuous operation. A bonanza of greater or lesser extent is struck; the company's exigencies or the expectations of distant stockholders demand frequent shipments of bullion; the furnace is fired up and kept running as long as this bonanza holds out, paying well, as a general thing for the time being, but in the end making a losing because kept running on any kind of ore when the best quality cannot be got out fast enough; then shut down to await further developments in the mine; in a short time another strike is made, and the operation repeated; the new strike is again exhausted, with nothing more in sight because, in most every case, not enough "fielders" could be kept at work in driving and sinking at other points for new deposits.

In short, as it looks to us, Darwin has been trying to keep up too many different establishments — too many mining superintendents, too many furnace crews, too many furnaces, too many of all these things for the number of actual miners kept at work underground. Too many good mines lie there yet untouched: among these may be mentioned the Promontorio, the Grand, the Michigan, and quite a number of others, in all of which it is known good ores are to be found in good quantity.

If it were possible to place these and the mines that have been worked for the past two years by half a dozen different companies and nearly as many furnaces under one efficient superintendency, with but one or two furnaces at the most for the whole, Darwin now would be one of the most prosperous mining towns in this State. In that case the one furnace could be kept under steam from year's end to year,s end. No difficulty in reducing the various qualities of ores in combination would have to be provided for as has been the case with several of those mines whose ores have to be mixed with others from other mines, belonging to different companies perhaps, to make them reducible at all.

Had Cerro Gordo had as many different mining and furnace companies to begin with as there is now at Darwin the chances are that each and all would have made a dead failure. As it was there was but a single management in fact, though many different mines were being operated upon under independent ownerships. But all these were made to contribute to the success of the one reduction company—Belshaw & Beaudry. That management paid out for ores to these different small mining companies over $90,000 before they realized a dollar's profit from their own now famous mine. Through the advantage of combining the ores of different mines with their own, and the profits thereby made, they were enabled to successfully reduce all, and at the same time to develop their own mine, and keep it developed ahead, so that their furnaces were kept running all the time. It was a sort of a consolidation of all the mining interests on Cerro Gordo Hill in one company. The fact that the advantage rested all the time with the principal management—that it was a sort of a compulsory partnership between the furnace men and the various individual mining companies, mainly to the advantage of the former, does not alter the fact that but for that partnership or consolidation Cerro Gordo, in all probability, would have "petered" years ago.

From all this we conclude that, as things now exist, the best thing that could happen for Darwin would be a consolidation of the interests of its various mining and furnace companies into one management—a limited partnership arrangement, through which, at least one furnace could be kept running all the time, and at the same time give each mine, its actual ownership unchanged, a chance to prospect ahead to some purpose. Then hundreds of miners would find employment where but a score or so are likely to get work now. Then there would be a steady output of rich bullion, whereas now there is but comparatively little, and that at uncertain intervals. Then it is possible the aggregate of expenses for reduction, superintendency and other outlays necessary to maintain so many different establishments could be reduced to just what is needed now for one.

We do not know that such an arrangement is practicable or desired, neither do we assume that the existence of the place in moderate prosperity is essentially contingent upon it. Nevertheless, the chances of the latter would surely be greatly enhanced, while there ought not to be a great deal of difficulty in the former.

THE LONE PINE IRRIGATING CANAL.

An effort is being made to enlist a sufficiency of capital to commence and complete the Lone Pine Irrigating Canal, as proposed last year. According to the survey then made the canal, beginning at a point opposite Fish Springs, would have a total length of 30 miles, with a capacity of 12,000 inches of water; estimated cost between $1,000 and $1,200 per mile. Water from it would be available upon 51,000 acres of land. Of this about one-half is of little or no value for agricultural purposes. Of the remainder full 20,000 acres or more rates as good land for general farming purposes, much of it being of the best quality found in this valley. Of these 20,000 acres about one-half has been taken under the different land laws, leaving as near as may be full 10,000 acres of good Government land available to the ownership and control of the canal company. Scarcely any of this but, with plenty of water, can be made to produce excellent crops of grain, vegetables, and particularly, pasturage and hay. One thing can be accepted as a certainty, namely, that either upon the lands as here set apart as available to the company's ownership or upon lands now held by private individuals, and but partially cultivated through lack of water, every inch of water this large canal or even of the river itself, could be used to paying advantage. There need be no question on that point.

The question has been mooted, "where are you going to find a market for all the possible farm products from this canal?" In this we can only say the probabilities are there will be no difficulty about that whatever, especially by making due allowance for future developments of the surrounding country, in connection with the market for such products now existing that has to be supplied by importations from across the mountains. In the way of flour, grain for feed for freighting teams, bacon, lard, vegetables, fruit, green, canned and dried, and some other articles of consumption, capable of home production, far greater quantities are shipped in here every year than most people imagine. In fact nearly the whole of all these articles used in the southern portion of the county, Lone Pine included, is brought in from the other side. The total for Cerro Gordo, Darwin, Lookout and the dozens of outlying mines, camps and coal camps, may be approximated from these figures, presented as a fair estimate of the importations to supply Lone Pine alone, even for a dull year like the present. The estimate of importations into that place last year is: 700 barrels flour; 20,000 pounds bacon, 1,000 dozen eggs, 6,000 pounds butter, 500 pounds beans, 3,000 pounds cheese, 2,000 pounds lard, saying nothing of dried, green and canned fruits, potatoes, etc., etc., aggregating say 10 tons at the least. Taking the needed importations on this basis for the other places named, these figures would have to be more than quadrupled. The importations for this place (Independence) is less in proportion to the population than either of the others, because it is nearer the source of home supply. Nevertheless, the aggregate of importations of the various articles enumerated foots up to full 40,000 pounds per month.

These figures may be relied upon as being correct in the main. They show to what extent the lands now in cultivation fall short of supplying existing home demands for articles capable of home production. No more lands can be brought under cultivation without additional irrigating facilities, the only resource for water being the river and somewhat costly canals.

THE San Jose Mercury, in view of th indifference manifested at the late election by a very large percentage of the citizens, favors the incorporation in the organic act of a compulsory clause, making it obligatory on every registered voter to cast his ballot at every election. "Let the law," says that paper, "make it the duty of the County Clerk, after every election, to cancel from the Great Register the names of all persons who failed to vote, the same not to be reinstated for the period of five years, except upon valid proof that the delinquent's neglect of duty was caused by sickness, absence from the county, or some other good and sufficient reason. Or, let an election proclamation be in the nature of a legal summons that no citizen may neglect to obey, except at the peril of a fine, or of both fine and disfranchisement. The effect of such a provision would be to place the governing power in the hands of those best qualified to use it. If men were compelled to vote they would naturally take an interest in seeing that proper men were brought forward for the suffrage of the people. Elections would not then go by default nor be wholly controlled by the rowdy and vicious elements."

"HAVING neither guilty person to shield, nor innocent person to convict," said Gen. Butler to his colleagues of the Potter committee a few days ago, "I want to know all the facts."

SOME curious statements and calculations lately appeared in the London Times correspondence as to the popular notion of high numbors, such as millions, billions and trillions. Mr. Bessemer said that he did not think any clear conception of a billion could be formed. Other correspondents gave the following facts: A single thickness of sovereigns spread over the floor of a room 71 feet 6 inches square is almost exactly one million. If, instead of being neatly laid in rows, the sovereigns are placed as closely as possible, a million will just cover the floor of a room 67 feet 6 inches square. Mr. M. Hawkins Johnson writes: "The difficulty of comprehending the idea of a billion is scarcely so great as Mr. Bessemer would have us suppose. A shot one tenth of an inch in diameter is an idea readily grasped. It would take exactly one million of such shots to make a ball ten inches in diameter, and a billion of such shots would make a globe 83 feet 4 inches in diameter, which although it may be called large is not beyond ordinary comprehension." Mr. Lockwood writes: "In addition to Mr. Bessemer's dissection of a billion, it may be mentioned that fifteen persons may dine together a billion of times without twice sitting in the same relative position."

THE spectacle of a man sailing around in the air, at will, was enjoyed last week by residents of Hartford. Whether this air ship will stand the test of further experiments remains to be seen, but enough is already developed to prove that the principle upon which it is constructed is worthy of examination. In this instance the operator was able to elevate himself to a height of one hundred feet, and sail away an eighth of a mile with the wind and then return to his starting point against it. This was certainly a successful test. We may yet get a machine that will solve the long vexed problem of air navigation.

THE New York Evening Telegram says "there is a very general feeling of satisfaction with the appointment of Gen. Fremont as Governor of Arizona and the opportunity it gives him to take a fresh start in his old age after many misfortunes. A conviction that Fremont has been harshly dealt with has fast been gaining ground of late, and we hear many expressions heartily approving his selection to govern this Territory, part of which was conquered for the United States by his own gallantry and enterprise thirty years ago."

GEN. HOWARD'S army is composed of the following companies: Five companies of the Twenty-first Infantry, 125 men; one company of the Second Infantry, 30 men; two companies of the Fourth Artillery, 60 men; six companies of the First Cavalry, and five companies of the Twelfth Infantry, 125 men, making an aggregate total of 540 men, hardly enough to do police duty in as vast a country as he has to operate in.

ITALY is to have a jubilee of destruction next year, when 1,800 years will have elapsed since the two cities of Pompeii and Herculaneum were destroyed by eruptions of Mount Vesuvius. APPLETON'S Journal opens a new volume with an American novelette by Albert Rhodes, entitled a "Bit of Nature." All magazine readers are familiar with Mr. Rhodes as an essayist, but as a novelist he comes in a new guise to many of his admirers. "A Bit of Nature" is thoroughly of the soil; it is fresh in character and situation, and will be welcomed specially by readers who are wearied of the stereotyped phases of the English novel. A short story in the number, which is almost long enough to be called a novelette, entitled "Sam," is a tale of mining life from a new hand, who ventures upon a domain supposed to belong peculiarly to Bret Harte, with a success that amply justifies the audacity. "Sam" is given as from the pen of E. A. Revorg. The name is new, but the story is worthy of a veteran hand. The number opens with an illustrated article entitled the "Rose of New England," which is not a paper on Juno's flower as it flourishes in bleak Yankee land, as many will doubtless suppose, but an eminently interesting paper on Norwich, Connecticut, which is dubbed by this handsome title. Dr. Coan takes up Ruskin's "Fors Clavigera," and succeeds in illustrating, by various extracts, accompanied by explanations, just what it is that Ruskin proposes in his reform movement to accomplish—a service which not a few persons who have been greatly confused in this matter will welcome. Edward King has a charming paper from Paris entitled "Paris and May," Julian Hawthorne continues his "Out of London" series and there are various other articles; while the editor thows to the public a topic for discussion in proposing that the next World's Fair be held in New York in 1881, and selects Governor's Island, in the harbor, as a place just fitted by its situation for such an exhibition.

IF the Legislature tried to make this a complex and confusing election, it succeeded admirably. To vote for thirty-two men living in all parts of the State, but few of whom could possibly be known by everybody, is a task calculated to try the discriminative powers of the closest observer of passing events. The great number of candidates voted for renders the old dodge of combination tickets very practical. A great many people to-day gave up the idea of discriminating between the long array of candidates, and voted the straight Non Partisan ticket, taking on trust those whom they did not know. The scratching will doubtless be confined in a great measure to the candidates of each particular district in which the voter resides. But the prospect of an early count of the vote is extremely slim. It will be a long and tedious task to go through the ballots, and we shall not probably know with certainty who has been elected for several days. It is the most mixed election we have ever had in this State.—Los Angeles Express.

BANNACKS BOUNCED.—The San Francisco Chronicle, of the 25th, publishes a Boise City dispatch, dated the day previous, as follows: On Sunday morning, at 9 o'clock, Colonel Bernard overtook the hostiles on Curry Creek, near old Camp Curry, forty-five miles from Camp Harney and sixty miles from Canyon City. He surprised and charged the Indians, and formed and recharged. The Indians rallied and the fighting was going on when the messenger left. General Howard has pressed forward every man with the utmost speed to Bernard's assistance. Major Egbert is in a position to intercept stragglers, and in readiness for rapid marching in any direction. General Howard, with all the troops at Harney, has started to Bernard's relief. Buffalo Horn, the Bannack Chief, was killed in the charge. Only one soldier was reported killed when the messenger left.

THE INYO WAGON ROAD.—It is reported that the Supervisors favor the opening of a road over the mountains to Independence, in Inyo county, and we are informed that an inquiry has been addressed to the Supervisors of that county as to whether that county will build the road from the summit down, provided the people this side construct it to that point. The success of the enterprise would be of great importance to the people of this county. as it would draw off the surplus produce, grain, potatoes, hay, butter, eggs, fruit, horses, hogs, etc. The manufacture and repair of wagons and harness would also count for something. As the road is now built for about half the distance, the expense of the remainder would not be very great for the two counties to bear.—Visalia Delta.

LAUREL DISTRICT.—This is a new district and is situated about four and a half miles from from Murray's hot springs, in a southerly direction. The new Bishop Creek road passes the foot of the grade which goes to the mines. Base as well as free milling ore is found in the district. Assays have been obtained as high as $275, or $175 in gold and $100 in silver. The base ore runs from $110 to $140 in silver and 49 per cent. in lead. As yet very little work has been done toward developing the mines, but so far they look well. There is plenty of wood and water convenient for mills or mines. There are some very promising locations in Laurel district which bid fair to make a good showing.—Bodie Standard.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, JUNE 29.....1878.

A MAGNIFICENT SPECIMEN.—The very handsomest gold, silver, lead and quartz specimen we have ever seen from an Inyo or any other mine is one from Beverage District, near Hughes saloon, now in possession of Assessor Dillon, to whom we are told it was presented by W. R. Johnson of Cerro Gordo. Its total weight is 9¼ pounds, yet, in dimensions, it is scarcely larger than a man's fists doubled together. It would take a scientist to convey in words a correct idea of either its form or composition. It would two or more average scientists to tell precisely how it was made. The body is ragged and recessed to a remarkable degree, and in color a rich dark brown or black, with which the spangles, filaments and lumps of apparently pure gold and silver contrasts most beautifully. These spangles of gold exist in the greatest profusion, not only in the projecting points but in the deepest recesses on all portions of the piece. There is thus scattered over the surface probably a hundred dollars worth of this metal. Some of the pieces that could easily be detached having an individual value of from $1 to $5. A remarkable feature is the fact that portions of this gold is of the brightest or purest golden hue, while other spangles in close proximity is of a silvery or leaden tinge; then again threads of pure wire silver are to be seen, but much less in quantity than the more precious metal. To make the combination as complete as possible a number of the largest projections are pure, shining galena, this metal evidently forming the bulk, and with hard dark colored quartz, the frame work of the whole piece, which, altogether, is so peculiar, rich in appearance if not in fact and handsome withal, it would certainly attract great attention in any cabinet in existence. All we know about where it came from is above given. Beveridge District lies just across the Inyo range, easterly, some thirty miles from this place.

THE EMIGRANT.—Supt. Taylor, of the Emigrant Company mines, at Lee District, gave us a call yesterday. He has been here perfecting the purchase of the old Cerro Gordo water works, erected and at one time owned by a Los Angeles company. The pipes and one of the steam pumps will be used in conducting water directly to the mines, to which point the mill is being removed. To handle the ore now on the dump and in sight, the capacity of the mill will be increased by an additional battery of five stamps, and new pans and settlers to correspond. The principal mines of Lee District, so far as developed—the Cactus and Valentine, belonging to the Emigrant company—are evidently under competent and able management, and when the new works are started up the bullion shipments from that point will tell heavily in the interest of Inyo's silver mines. Quite a number of other mines there show equally well so far as developed, and as capital is being secured for their working, the Lee country has a very bright prospect.

THE FOURTH.—All preparations are going ahead for a good, old-fashioned time on the coming Fourth. There will be a rare treat in store for the audience who may be able to get seats in the Court House in the evening to see the representation of "The Toodles" and "A Quiet Family," by the Dramatic Club. It is suggested that townsfolks stay at home and let our visitors occupy the seats for the first night, and then invite the club to repeat the performance.

THE local newspaper contains a record of all matters which most immediately concern its home readers, and it is a queerly constituted person who prefers sending money away for cheap and worthless "patent" sheets, which are filled with medical and swindling advertisemens. The crisp and neat home paper is not so big and costs more, but it is a hundred to one more interesting.

REX MONTIS.—The new ore strike at the lowest point of working in the Rex Montis is a vein of sixteen inches of ore of an average assay of $400 per ton, selected specimens of the sulphurets and chlorides going as high as $30,000 per ton. Certainly no company could have more incentive to vigorously prosecute work, with such a showing at the bottom.

BACK AGAIN.—A. K. Briggs, looking much better than of old, spent a day in town during the week, on a flying visit from Tuscarora, Nevada, where he is merchandising. Few men have more warm friends in Inyo than Al. Briggs, and all will be glad to learn that he intends returning to stay.

BOOKS.—In our new advertisements will be found notice of an opportunity to purchase a number of excellent books, standard works of history, poetry and fiction, at a price of about one-fourth their original cost. An investment in good books is money well used.

THAT GAME.—The base-ball match game on the Fourth, our local club having completely fitted up the grounds and supplied themselves with everything required, will be an event of great interest.

MONEY ORDERS.—Postmaster Rowley has been instructed by the Postal Department to receive coin for money orders—gold in any amount, and silver in sums of five dollars or less.

POLL TAXES.—To-day is the latest possible date for the payment of the numerous poll taxes without an increase of one dollar on each.

STOCK FOR SALE.—See J. F. Denton's advertisement of improved stock cattle and hogs for sale, at low prices.

STAGES.—A general change takes place in stage matters on the 1st instant, Mr. Allman taking the route from here north, and running but three times a week. Instead of stages, "mud wagons" or "jerkeys" he will run buckboards, each having a covered seat for the driver and but a low and outside seat for any stray passenger. The contractor, however, who has been here during the past week, is making every effort to secure prompt connection with the southern line and quick through time. A petition, signed by every business firm and man in this portion of Inyo is being prepared praying the Department to continue the mail service at six times per week, as of old. There is certainly no earthly reason why the Government should at this time decrease mail service for this section, every interest being increasing in importance and the population and business demanding a daily mail on the northern route quite as much as it ever did. But the ways of the present powers that be are past finding out.

SCHOOL ELECTION.—Elections are to be held here and also in our neighboring school district at the Post to-day, for the purpose of choosing Trustees, as provided by law. In this place two are to be elected vice P. A. Chalfant and Judge Conklin, terms expired, the latter having been appointed to fill a vacancy. In the other district referred to it appears a full board is to be chosen, but how this comes about we don't happen to know. As it is next to impossible to obtain an election board at such elections in this place willing to sit all day, as in political elections, the Trustees decided to keep the polls open but one hour, viz: from 1 to 2 o'clock P. M. Such being the fact, it is to be hoped, first, that a Board can be procured to serve for that brief period; second, that everybody will spare time enough to walk down to the school house and deposit a ballot; thirdly, that they will vote for whomsoever they believe will best perform the responsible duties of Trustees, let the announced candidates be whom they may. Do you sabe?

SWANSEA STARTED UP.—We received a call Tuesday last from M. A. Wheeler, just returned from San Francisco, who informed us that his furnaces at Swensea would be put in operation on the following day—so that by this time there must be a pile of base bullion at that point, to be finally placed to the credit of Inyo's shipments. Mr. Wheeler thinks he will have no trouble in getting an abundance of the different ores required for smelting, and is himself sanguine of success. He has in Mr. Hart an experienced and successful smelter, and as the works propose to make full returns on ore, we would advise mine owners in all districts contiguous to prospect their claims and realize something from doing so.

AN INDIAN WOMAN MURDERED. Near Camp Independence, Monday morning last, was found the body of an Indian woman known as "Mrs. Snelling," who had been probably outraged and murdered. There is a singular scarcity of authentic facts to be obtained concerning the case; no official notice of the affair has been taken whatever, and some of our officers cannot escape blame for their perfect inaction in the matter. One fact is certain, however: whisky was at the bottom of the trouble, and some of these days some of the fiendish brutes engaged in the Indian whisky traffic will hear something drop—and that just about the next time that anything of this kind occurs.

LAKE DISTRICT.—O. I. Mairs and A. W. Eibeshutz, just returned from a trip to Lake District, give very flattering accounts of matters there and future prospects of the whole section. Mammoth, Prescott, Laurel Hill and Minnietta Districts, together comprising what is generally called Lake, have all rich and apparently very large mines. Capital is being launched out with energy by two or three solid companies; the place is bound to come in for the next "rush." We shall next week endeavor to particularize some of their notes and items.

A BIG ENTERPRISE.—Mr. S. G. Sneden passed through town yesterday, en route to Fresno county. He is engaged in the work of building a wagon road through the Sierras from Lake District to Madeira, a railroad station only six hours from San Francisco. The length of the road will be 96 miles, only 20 of which will require very heavy grading. A line of stages and regular freight teams will be put on immediately upon completion of the road. All this Inyo county will wish Mr. Sneden the fullest success.

ASSESSMENT.—The Rex Montis comes to the front again with another assessment of the usual $4 per share, as will be seen by the notice elsewhere. The pluck and energy of the Rex Montis people must be admired, though the management preceding the present will have to bear most of the blame for the necessity of any assessment at present. Had the mine been kept in ship-shape while paying its own way, it is intimated, the stockholders need not have been called upon for "more mud."

TO STEP OUT.—All of the popular young drivers of the Clugage or Northern stage line—Messrs. Kehoe, McNaughton and Burns—will hereafter be missed from the road, to the great regrets of the many who have been most obligingly served by their careful and faithful attention to every little matter of errands all along the line. THE INDEPENDENT wishes the boys luck wherever they may go, and desires to acknowledge its obligations to them for many favors.

WE want all parties indebted to this concern, in amounts large or small, to make a special effort in its behalf and come immediately "to the center," with coin, greenbacks or gold notes.

THE NEW SCHOOL LAW.

Following is the full text of the "Act to provide for the distribution of school moneys in certain counties" refered to last week, and as having been introduced by our Representative, Mr. Moffat, and which was approved of by the Governor, March 30, 1878:

SECTION 1. The School Superintendents of the Counties of Inyo and Mono shall apportion the school moneys as follows: First—He shall apportion five hundred dollars to each school district of not less than ten census children. Second—After apportioning five hundred dollars to each school district of not less than ten census children, the excess of all school moneys unapportioned shall be apportioned pro rata to the number of census children in each district; provided, that if there be an excess of money to a district or districts, such excess shall be redistributed pro rata to the census children of the other districts.

SEC. 2. This Act shall take effect and be in force from and after the first day of July, A. D. eighteen hundred and seventy-eight.

BULLION SHIPMENT.—The Rex Montis yesterday shipped a $700 bar of bullion, the result of tailings worked. For the reason that considerable dead work has to be done before ore can be extracted in sufficient quantities to keep the mill running to advantage, it will be several weeks before the mill will start up.

FOR LAKE.—Charley Stoutenborough, of the Bishop Creek merchandising house of J. H. Stoutenborough, has gone up to Lake with a stock of goods for a branch at that place. He will keep a full stock of miners' and general supplies, and the Lakers will find the house a good one to trade with.

GENERAL NOTES.

The city elections at Rome are over. The Catholics elected but two out of the twelve Municipal Counselors.

A blast containing 432 kegs of powder was exploded in the Deer Creek mine, near Smartsville on the 17th instant.

Eighteen persons were seriously poisoned at Pittston, Pennsylvania, by milk taken from a cow that had been bitten by a rattlesnake.

The Bar at Salt Lake has nearly unanimously petitioned for the removal of Chief Justice Shaeffer, of that Territory.

It turns out that the recent conflict between the Turks and Montenegrins was a simple riot between the Turkish and Montenegrin inhabitants of Karana.

The Oceanic, which sailed from San Francisco June 19, for Hongkong via Yokahama, took $1,455,412 in treasure.

The impression at military headquarters in San Francisco is not very sanguine as to an early successful termination of the Indian war.

Miguel Satello, a noted horsethief and desperado, and formerly a member of the Vasquez gang, was shot and killed near Los Angeles lately while resisting arrest.

A report from Austin, Nevada, says that the Shoshones have left Smoky Valley in a body and gone north to join the Bannocks.

Jomes Doyle, a miner, was suffocated in the Bodie mine June 13, at Bodie, Mono county.

President Hayes has been invited by the President of the California State Agricultural Society to attend its fair this Fall.

During an interview between Gortchakoff and Bismarck, the latter's dog made a ferocious attack on the Russian stateman.

A riot is in progress in Fountain county, Indiana, and the County Judge has telegraphed Gov. Williams for troops.

A schooner left New York recently for the Arctic regions, with a party to search for relics of Sir John Franklin.

Sixty-nine colored emigrants have sailed for Liberia from New York under the auspices of the American Colonization Society.

The centennial anniversary of the evacuation of Valley Forge by the Continental army was celebrated at that June 19, in the presence of 30,000 persons.

The Congress at Berlin has decided to admit Greece, with a consultative voice on questions affecting Greek interests.

The Senate and House of Representatives adjourned on the morning of the 20th inst., at 7 o'clock.

The strike of the grain shovelers at Buffalo is ended, and the men have resumed work.

Hostilities have been resumed between the Cretan insurgents and the Turks.

The Secretary of the Treasury has called in $5,000,000 of the five-twenties of 1865.

The ninth annual meeting of the National Christian Union (anti-secret society) is in session at Chicago.

The dispatch announcing an Indian outbreak in Michigan has been confirmed. The Chippewas have commenced shooting, and the settlers are fleeing for their lives.

Great complaint is made of the vandalism of visitors to the National Park and the commander at Fort Ellis suggests that a guard be placed at each of the three entrances to enforce decency and prevent future depredations.

FOREIGN WINES.—Evidence accumulates that those who use foreign wines are dealing with a very uncertain quality so far as its purity is concerned. We learn from the London Farmer that after spending much time and trouble on the analysis of so-called "Rhine wines," offered for sale by one of the largest houses in Germany, Dr. Tauchert, of Halle, has arrived at the uncomfortable conviction that they contain not a single drop of the natural juice of the grape. They are cleverly compounded of certain salts and aromatic chemical principles, together with acetic and hydrochloric acid in four times as large a proportion as is ever met with in natural wines.

EDISON'S LAST.—In an interview published in the Washington Star Mr. Edison describes a marvelous discovery recently made. He says: "Night before last I found out some additional points about the carbon which I use in my carbon telephone. It may be used as a heat measure. It will detect one fifty-thousandth of a degree Fahrenheit. I don't know but what I can make an arrangement by which the heat of the stars will close a circuit at the proper time automatically and correctly. It is a curious idea that the heat of a star millions of miles away should close a circuit on this miserable little earth, but I do not think it is impossible."

Edison Outdoing Himself.

"The Telescopophone" is the name of Mr. Edison's latest invention. It is simply a marvelous ear trumpet upon the construction of which Mr. Edison has been working several months. Mr. Edison's attention was attracted to the subject by his own deafness. He is enabled to hear only when the speaker enunciates in a loud tone. Mr. Edison is loth to describe the Telescopophone except generally, as it is not completed and is to be patented. The instrument is about five and a half feet long and has an internal arrangement by which sound is concentrated and made louder. A sound which to an unaided ear is inaudible, becomes distinct by the use of the Telescopophone. Concerning it Mr. Edison said:

"The Telescopophone is assuredly successful. I have demonstrated that by its use not only can those partly deaf hear, but persons can talk while a mile or two apart."

"But do not other sounds commingle—sounds intervening between the speaker and the hearer?"

"Certainly they do to a limited extent, and more so if the instruments are not pointed straight."

"How do you remedy that?"

"Why, you must point 'em straight. The same objection could be made to a telescope. If you don't point it straight you see other objects than the one intended. But when the telescopophone is pointed at the distant speaker with telescopic exactness, the voice of the speaker is the chief thing heard."

"Does it increase the volume of sound?"

"I have whispered in one of these things in a very low tone, and the sound in my ear was so loud as to be absolutely painful."

Mr. Edison expressed the fullest confidence that he would perfect the telescopophone so that by its aid partly deaf persons may hear every whisper on the stage of the largest theater.

A gentleman who heard experiments with the telescopophone said that Mr. Edison heard distinctly the ticking of a telegraph instrument a thousand feet away, and even the noise of the chewing and biting of grass by a cow nearly two thousand feet distant.

One of the party then stood 600 feet away, and his whisper was distinctly heard, although Mr. Bachelor standing only fifteen feet from him, without the aid of the telescopophone, could not hear a word.

Then the party tried a more striking experiment. Two of them went at least a mile off, and talked to each other in an ordinary tone of voice. Even at that distance ordinary conversation was distinctly heard without a speaking tube, without any wire or electrical apparatus, but simply by the aid of the new ear trumpet or telescopophone.

But even this was surpassed by the next experiment, which was at a distance estimated at two miles. From that distance the ordinary tone of voice could not be heard, and shouting was necessary, yet the new ear trumpet did its work, and the hearing was repeated as before.

"Now, Mr. Edison, what next?"

"Oh," said Mr. Edison, with one of those hearty bursts of laughter, that he so often indulges in, "I've not got to the end yet."

A BOSTON man has a vest that Fanny Fern made with her own hands. And he will bet a hundred dollars that it never did and never will fit any man in the wide, wide world; that they can't tell by it's shape whether it was originally made for a fat women or a lean man; for a man with a sway back or a man with a hump on his back like a camel. Women, heaven bless her, is the light of our homes, but when she tries to make a vest the angels weep. And when she makes a pair of pantaloons for him, the immortal gods just hold their sides and run away out into the woods and roll on the grass and howl.—Hawkeye.

Lake District.

Mrs. Condon, who returned home on Thursday from Lake District, says that it is a district of great expectations, with everything in its favor to warrant the most sanguine hopes of its 200 inhabitants. Being the first lady who has visited the camp and seen all the leading points of interest, and not knowing anything about mines, she thinks her opinion is entitled to as much consideration as any of the prominent San Francisco mining experts. She feels highly flattered by the miners naming the largest lake there after her bright and handsome little daughter Mamie. There are three towns rapidly assuming dignified proportions—Monumental City, at the foot of the base lode; Mammoth City, in the saddle half way up the grade, containing a grocery store, blacksmith shop, assay office, four or five cabins, and others springing up like mushrooms. Immediately adjoining Mineral Hill on the west, and Lake Mary on the east, are two butcher shops, three saloons, one boarding house and a large hall of hewn logs, 30x50 feet, in process of erection, together with quite a number of cabins for the nucleus of the coming town of the district—Pine City. She was in 250 feet in the Alpha tunnel, where the owners are expecting to strike the main ledge at any moment. She was also present when the sawmill started up and its screaming whistle set the wild echoes flying from the lofty dome of Monumental Peak across the shimmering lakes to the storm swept crags of the Sierras. At Laurel Hill, four miles south but on the same belt, four San Francisco gentleman have a mine bonded to them for $60,000. There is plenty of food for stock between here, but the roads are very dusty.—Esmeralda Herald.

The Road from Visalia to Owens River.

The Bodie Standard says a road from Borden station on the S. P. R. R. to Bodie is but 90 miles, and freight could be delivered at 3½ cents a pound over a road from that point, and it costs now 7½ by either the round about way on the north from Carson City, or from Mojave at the south, whence the distance is 240 miles wagon and stage travel to Bodie.

When newspapers publish these facts it is significant that there is a public want, that lack of enterprise has prevented its being carried out. The geographical location of Tulare county gives it a great or greater advantage for a road across the mountains than any other, from the fact that it is a long way from the markets of San Francisco, and depends entirely upon stock and agriculture, and having no productive means to draw from it must seek an outlet where it can dispose of its surplus products and command the highest price.

In view of the foreign facts it is imperative in the present stagnation and gloomy outlook for business that the citizens should unite and make an effort to relieve this general depression that can only be done by the action and determined support of every one in the county. The additional revenue that can be brought to it in one season by opening up a direct road from Tulare county to Owens River Valley would build the road; it will increase the population, give vitality to all kinds of business and give a value to real estate. The opportunity is with the people, and time has come to act. VINDEX.

NEW PATENTS.—The Mining and Scientific Press Patent Department has received official notice of the issue of the following patents to Pacific Coast inventors, for the week ending June 11, 1878, viz.: Thomas McGlew, San Francisco, machines for crushing and grinding ores; Thomas Newell, Sacramento, middlings separators; Berthold Greenbaum, San Francisco, pockets for garments; John Johnson, Bloomfield, Cal., spark extinguishers; John A. Peer, San Francisco, gear cutting machines; Jacob Price, San Leandro, Cal., hay presses; Philip Hinkle, San Francisco, hatches for street elevators; Lionel Varicas, San Francisco, broom sewing machines; Eugene Moreau, San Francisco, button-hole sewing machines; trademarks—Charles R. Burrage, San Francisco, soda and cream of tartar; M. Ehrmann & Co., San Francisco and New York, coal oil.

CAPT. JOHN T. GUIRE, a sub-marine diver of Cincinnati, has proposed on a wager of $10,000 to walk under water on the bottom of the Ohio river, from Cincinnati to Cairo, in the space of twenty-five days. The distance is something over five hundred miles, requiring him to make over twenty miles a day. He stipulates that he is to have a flat accompany him to supply him with air; to be allowed to come up as often as he likes, but the boat is to stopped whenever he comes up, and that he shall walk every foot of the way. Capt. Guire achieved a good deal of reputation as a diver when the St. Louis bridge was built, working unusual lengths of time in water seventy-five feet deep, and he has backers who will see that money is put up.

RUSTY NAIL WOUNDS.—The Stockton Independent says: Every little while we read of some one who has stuck a rusty nail in his foot or some other part of his person, and lockjaw has resulted therefrom. All such wounds can be healed without any fatal consequences following them. The remedy is simple. It is only to smoke such wound, or any wound that is bruised or inflamed, with burning wool or woolen cloth. Twenty minutes in the smoke of wool will take the pain out of the worst case of inflammation arising from any wound we ever saw.

MEDICAL POSSIBILITIES OF THE PHONOGRAPH.—The phonograph opens up a vista of medical possibilities delightful to contemplate. Who can fail to mark the nice distinctions between every form of bronchial and pulmonary rale, perscussion, succussion and friction sounds, surgical crepitus and arterial aneurismal bruit, when each can be produced at will, amplified to any desired extent; in the study, the amphitheatre, the office and the hospital? The lecturer of the future will teach more effectively with his instrument than by the mouth. The phonograph will record the frequency and characteristics of respiratory and muscular movements, decide as to the age and sex of the fœtus in utero, and differentiate pneumonia from phthisis. It will reproduce the sob of hysteria, the sigh of melancholia, the singultus of collapse. It will interpret for the speechless infant the moans and cries of tubercular meningitis, ear-ache and intestinal colic. It will furnish the ring of whooping cough and the hack of the consumptive. It will be an expert in insanity, distinguishing between the laugh of a maniac and the drivel of an idiot. It will classify dysphasic derangements, such as ataxic, amnesic, parphasic and akataphasic aphasia. It will recount, in the voice and words of of the patient, the agonies of neuralgia and renal calculus, and the horrors of delirium tremens. It will give the burden of the story of the old lady who recounts all the ills of her ancestors before proceeding to the era of her own. More than this, it will accomplish this feat in the ante-room, while the physician is supposed to be busying himself with his last patient. Last, but not least, it will simultaneously furnish to the medical philosopher the grateful praises and promises of him who is convalescent from dangerous illness, together with the chilling accents in which, later, the doctor is told that he must wait for his remuneration until the butcher and baker are have been paid.—Chicago Medical Journal.

AMMONIA IN THE KITCHEN.—The pantry shelves are getting grimy, or finger marks around the door latches and knobs are getting unsightly. For lack of time they are left day after day, for it is hard work to scour all the time and it wears off the paint too. The husband keeps his bottle of oil, or perhaps a large can holds it, for he never stints in that. Now suppose his wife has her bottle of spirits of ammonia to use; she takes her basin of water and a clean cloth, just puts on a few drops of the fluid and wipes of all the dirt; it is worth more than half a day's labor and does not hurt the paint either. She could put a few drops in her dish water and see how easily the dishes could be cleaned; a few drops on a sponge would clean all the windows in the sitting room, making them shine like crystal. It would take the stains off the teaspoons, and a teaspoonful in the mop-pail would do more toward washing up the kitchen floor than ten pounds of elbow grease applied to the mop handle. A housewife has just as much right to make her work easy and expeditious as her husband has. If she does not do it, the fault is her own in a great measure.

PIG LEAD EXPORTS.—It may not have been generally noticed that there is quite an active movement in pig lead in San Francisco. The Eureka Consolidated, K. K. Consolidated, Modoc Consolidated and Tybo Consolidated are largely composed of lead with traces of silver. The bars are shipped to the smelting works at San Francisco and Alameda, and the silver removed. The lead is then shipped to New York and Hongkong. The last Panama steamer took over 1,000,000 pounds of this lead, valued at $61,000, some of the bars in the shipment probably being inported. The China steamer also took over 500,000 pounds of lead, valued at $18,000. Similar shipments have been going forward to the same destination for several months. There is also a large consumption of lead in San Francisco.—Eureka Sentinel.

AT the performance of "Norma," at the Cork Theater, in which Cruvelli played the heroine, the little daughters of the carpenter were pressed into service to represent the children of the priestess. As the curtain drew up on the second act, they were seen lying on Norma's couch, quietly enough, for they were frightened nearly to death by the glare of light, the noise in front and their unaccustomed surroundings. Their fright increased as Norma vented her rage in recitative, and when, dagger in hand she rushed toward them, they gave a shriek, tumbled off the couch and ran off the stage as fast as their legs could carry them, while the theater rang with laughter, and Norma herself was fain to sit down until she had recovered from the effect of the unexpected episode.

GEN. FREMONT expresses himself as extremely gratified at this mark of favor on the part of the President. He says that his has been a checkered career, and filled with much honor and misfortune, but that he is convinced that the only course left for him to pursue is to begin life anew, and he could choose no better field than in the Territories, where he will be away from the associations and constant remembrance of his more prosperous days, and standing on a plane with his newly acquired friends, he can move on with them in matters of politics and enterprise. Mrs. Fremont, it is stated, fully sympathizes with her husband's new ambition, and will share with him the honors and responsibilities of his new field of action.

THE RETURNS CANVASSED.

The Board of Supervisors of this county met on Monday as as a Board of Canvassers, and after due examination and record of the returns, ordered sent to the Secretary of State the usual tabulated statement. It transpires that but two sets of candidates were voted for—the Non-Partisan and the Workingmen's, with a vote of 10 for J. C. Shorb on the Democratic. There is but a slight variation between the votes received by the candidates on the respective tickets, the Non-Partisans having received an average of 303 and the Workingmen 5—a clear majority of 298. As to Joint Delegate for Mono and Inyo, the former county certifies to this that F. K. Bechtel received 221 votes and P. Reddy 57. In Inyo, Mr. Bechtel received 28 and Mr. Reddy 279—giving the election to Mr. Reddy by a majority of 87. The precinct of Big Pine, with a solid vote of 20 for Mr. Reddy and the Non-Partisans, was thrown out entirely, the returns not being certified to.

THE Workingmen lost 232 votes in Inyo county by a stupid mistake. The printer in printing the tickets added the name of the candidate for county delegate to the thirty-two at large, making thirty-three at large on each ballot. As this was one more than the law allowed, and it was impossible to tell whose name should be discarded, it become necessary to throw out all the erroneous ballots.—S. F. Chronicle, June 30.

Allow us to gently but firmly intimate the fact that the Chronicle is "off." In the entire county there were but five votes cast for the Workingmen's ticket—all of them from the one precinct of Lone Pine, and all of which were duly counted. For Joint (or "county") delegate there was no Workingmen's candidate in the field—Messrs. Reddy and Bechtel being Non-Partisans. The last named gentleman—with the regular Non-Partisans—lost eight votes in this county for the reason given by the Chronicle. That's how "the Workingmen lost 232 votes in Inyo."

THE TRAINING SHIP.—From pamphlets designed for the information of the Boards of Supervisors of the several counties of the State, and a copy of which we have received, we learn that each county is entitled to send one or more boys to learn the science of navigation aboard the training ship Jamestown, according to the proportion of population. Under this rule Inyo county can send one boy. The conditions of admission are that the boy must be of sound constitution and health, not less than 14 years of age or over 18, and willing to sign an agreement to stay aboard said ship for a period of two years. Parents or guardians will make application to the Board of Supervisors of the county in which they reside, that Board then applying to the State Advisory Board at San Francisco. The pamphlet contains much of interest relating to the line of studies, food, etc., aboard the Jamestown, as well as full directions how to gain admission. Parties wishing to gain further information on these points can do so by applying to the Board of Supervisors or to this office for a copy of the pamphlet.

FORGOT to announce the fact, most generally known among our home readers by this time, that our old Inyo lawyer, V. A. Gregg, Esq., is Delegate elect from Kern county. In matters affecting our peculiar mining interests as to taxation, etc., Reddy and Gregg can be depended upon as possessing a thorough knowledge of the subject.

THE Bay papers have been publishing tables of the votes of the several counties in which for some reason Inyo and Mono are always made to figure as having given the Workingmen a considerable majority. In the two counties there was but a dozen votes for the Workingmen's ticket to 570 for the Non-Partisan.

THE INDIANS.—Col. Bernard's command defeated the Indians at Stein's Mountain, killing about 40, with a loss of but two men. The Klamaths are about to take the war path, and the settlers on Link river are greatly alarmed.

A REVENUE agent of the Treasury Department has unearthed numerous defalcations and crooked transactions in the Internal Revenue Collector's office at Omaha.

Ex-Gov HENDRICKS, who is in Washington, speaks in unfavorable terms of the Potter investigation, and predicts Gen. Grant's nomination in 1880.

The rifle clubs of South Carolina are again in the field, prepared for the coming Congressional election.

INYO STATISTICS.

From the Assessor's report for the past fiscal year we take the following statistical items, showing the totals of various kinds of Inyo property:

The total number of acres of land enclosed foots up to 11,178, of which, in 1877, but 4,245 acres were in cultivation. This is a much smaller acreage devoted to crops than is generally supposed, and affords a basis for valuable deductions with reference to the needs and capacities, as we may say, of those proposed irrigating canals: if the vast volume of water now in use is equal to the irrigation of less than 5,000 acres it is pretty plain 10,000 acres and such amounts are too many for any of those canals to wet down with reliable regularity. Of wheat, 20,466 bushels were raised upon 1,078 acres; barley, 18'708 bushels, 714 acres; oats, 13,125 bushels from 406 acres; corn, 48,178 bushels from 2,207 acres; beans, 442 bushels from 17¼ acres; potatoes, 362 tons from 113 acres; sweet potatoes, 4½ tons from 3 acres; onions, 464 bushels from 6 acres; from 3,974 acres 6,248 tons of hay were cut, all of which tends to prove that a comparatively small number of acres in this valley turns out a good deal of truck of one kind and another. Of butter, we have 29,081 pounds, and 2,700 pounds wool, but the number of acres planted in these two articles does not appear; of lager beer, it appears we had only 29,850 gallons, which indicates the prevalence of a great deal of soberness for so sparse a population. Of live stock, we have 1,968 horses, 507 mules, 7,429 cattle with horns, 500 Cashmere and Angora goats, 21,309 sheep, and 1,536 hogs (of the four-legged kind merely).

No irrigating ditches are returned, consequently no land as irrigated—an abstract fact liable to convey a wrong impression to rank strangers as to our method of farming in this country. In the line of improvements, we have of flour made 4,960 barrels, some of which didn't "raise" very well if the women report facts truly, and 14,200 bushels of corn ground into meal, all of which seems to have given satisfaction, though the report makes no reference to matters of that kind. We have 3 grist mills, 4 saw mills and 4 quartz mills, besides gin mills too numerous to mention in this report; 3,278,000 feet of lumber were sawed, 75,000 shingles were made and 87,000 tons of quartz "crushed." This last, no doubt, includes all ores reduced in furnaces, for which no separate mention is provided in the blanks.

The foregoing all relates to last year, the full report for which could not of course be made up till after the crops, etc., were harvested and returned on this year's lists for use in the Surveyor General's report. To this we now add a statement of certain classes of property assessed this year: 8 thoroughbred horses, $220 average value; 240 ditto, American, $66; 4,968 ditto, Spanish and half-breed, $14, and 257 colts at $8 average. Of cattle, there are but 2 thoroughbreds, cows, worth $100 each for an average, 2,217 American, and 78 Spanish, of the average value of $20 and $15 respectively; calves, 1,134, $7, stock cattle, 5,202, $9; 20,215 sheep, $1 50; 607 mules, $52, and 1,517 hogs at $3 50.

In the total valuation of all classes of property, we find a lamentable falling off for this year as compared with last. The total then was $2,102,994; this year it is but $1,372,271, showing a falling off of $630,723, mostly due to depreciation in mining property values, both actual and nominal since that class of property was assumed to have been greatly over assessed last year. By reason of the lower valuation superinduced from the contests on that point there would have been an apparent material falling off in values this year, even had the conditions of the mines remained identically as they then were. Nevertheless, that fact does not help the financial prospects of the county government for the coming year.

ALL the plans devised by the Treasury Department for putting the new silver dollars into general circulation have failed, and the Treasury vaults are filled almost to their full capacity. The total amount of silver dollars coined up to date is $8,070,747, and of this amount there has been issued $1,050,416, leaving the amount on hand $7,020,011.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

An Eastern exchange suggests that Edison's latest marvel, the microphone, be called the kosmophone, for the reason that, with his imperfect instruments, Mr. Edison has already listened to the sounds of molecular vibration, and is thus the first mortal who has removed the veil of Isis from one of the innermost shrines of nature's temple.

ON the day that Barnum's circus performed at Meriden, Conn., six monkeys escaped from his menagerie and only one of them has been caught. A malicious paragraphist says that the other five are starting greenback newspapers up and down the country.

Mr. Beecher, according to the New York Sun, doesn't propose to let his military outfit grow mildewed in a closet or his spurs rust in peaceful inaction. He will lead the Thirteenth Regiment into Canada on May 24th, 1879—not as Fenian invaders, but to celebrate the Queen's birthday.

The latest news from Chief Moses is that he has 1,500 well armed and desperate warriors, and in case of trouble the number would be increased from the reservations to 4,000 or 5,000.

THE BIG RACE.—The driver of the Northern Stage, which arrived here this morning, reports that, as he learned from passengers from Aurora, that a telegram received at that point announced the victory of Mollie McCarthy over Ten Broeck at the great Louisville contest on the 4th. The amount of betting all over the State, if it was in proportion to the sums staked here, was simply huge.

ONE of the curiosities at the Paris Exposition is to be the smallest book that was ever printed in any language—a marvel of typography. It is a microscopic copy of Dante's "Divinia Comedia," printed in Padua, bound in red velvet and silver, and so small that it may be worn as a charm hanging from the watch chain. A microscope is needed to read it.

THE other evening, when four or five young rosebuds, which gallop o'er the hearthstone of a Cass avenue family, became too uproarious, the mother called out, "If I have to speak to you again, I shall punish some of you." The youngest of the lot slid off the lounge, reflected for a moment, and then soberly remarked: "Well, then, I'd advise you to hold in your speak." She did.

A ST. LOUIS woman has the odd fancy that her daughter would instantly die if exposed to the sun or the open air, and therefore keeps her in a close room heavily swathed in flannels, and most of the time in bed. The daughter is as insane on the subject as her mother. She has been secluded since her ninth year and is now seventeen. Her health is really as good as could be expected under the circumstances.—*N. INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, JULY 6.....1878.

THE PIC NIC.—It is gratifying to be able to say that all who attended the pic nic at the Post grounds express themselves themselves greatly pleased at the unusually agreeable manner in which the whole affair passed off. The attendance was somewhat larger than was anticipated, since it was expected that many would feel it incumbent to avoid the fatigues of a day's picnicking to be better able to withstand those to follow from the theatical and dancing entertainments of the evening. Nevertheless, a majority of the people of the town and vicinity, as well as quite a number from other localities, were there, and seem surprised how pleasantly the day passed. The day was cool and as agreeable as anyone could reasonably desire. No finer locality for an out door spread can be found than this, amongst the umbrageousness of the verandas and beautiful grounds at Camp Independence. While a few choose to pic nic in family groups, by far the greater number gathered at the long table, literally loaded from end to end with the greatest abundance of good things, and had the jolliest kind of a pic nic in grand hotel style. The committee are deserving of great credit for their individual and joint labors and liberality displayed on this occasion. So, too, are thanks due to many private families and individuals for their well filled baskets, whose contents did so much to make profusion still more profuse. Also, in equal, if not greater, degree are thanks due Mr. and Mrs. Gelatt, of the Post, for the pleasant and hospitable manner in which they did the honors pertaining to their position, as it were, of host and hostess. During the afternoon quite a large number amused themselves in dancing in the company quarters building, the largest dancing hall in the county. Still many others spent the most of the afternoon watching with untiring interest the progress of the earnestly contested base ball match game, the scene of which was a grassy meadow about a quarter of a mile east of the Post. Did time and space permit we could fill a column or two in details of the sayings and doings of the day and occasion, but all that will of necessity have to be passed for this time. But we hope it will not always be thus—some day we will have a bigger paper, a better reporter, and consequently more time, then we'll do these things up a la Chronicle.

THAT KILLING.—It now seems pretty conclusive, from the statements of intelligent Indians and corroborating evidence, that the recent murder of the Indian woman near Camp Independence was committed by a couple of Mexicans, superinduced by some white villain's whisky. What would the result have been had the case been reversed, and the Indians killed some white woman? But as it is no official notice whatever has been taken of the matter, and the Indians must have an exalted idea of the workings of white man's law. Let our citizens, independent of the officers if necessary, organize a Protective Association, whose duty it shall be to see that this infernal Indian whisky traffic is stopped.

STABBING AFFRAY.—W. G. Watson is again laid up with serious injuries, received, as usual, at the old Tom Volkert place. A band of horses belonging to a man named Ganno, who resides at the Volkert place, were running at large and trespassing upon Watson's crop. Watson went over and requested Mrs. Ganno to have the stock cared for. A hired man named Stivers, employed by Ganno, came forward and began an altercation, and after a few words suddenly drew a knife and slashed Watson across the left arm, on the forehead and several other places. The attack was a murderous one, and the matter is one requiring the fullest examination by the Grand Jury, which meets next Monday.

THERE is an abominable general fix-up in the matter of mail-days into this place under the new contracts, as to the time and days of departure and arrivals, inconveniencing all kinds of business. The contractors, however, state that such arrangements are necessary on account of making connection with the railroads. The remedy lies in our business men, mine-owners and citizens generally making a demand upon the authorities to restore our daily mail on the Northern route and to establish the same service upon the Southern.

THE NORTHERN LINE.—Mr. John Allman, proprietor of the new mail route between Aurora and Independence, is in town. His arrangements are perfected for a service of three times a week, as follows: Leave Independence on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, at 2 o'clock A. M., arriving at Aurora on the third day at 3 P. M. The return trip is made exactly the same, only that our northern mail may be expected here every other day at 12 M.

PROBABLE POISINING.—A few days ago a Mrs. L. A. James, residing at Bishop Creek, died suddenly under circumstances indicating death by poison. Medical aid only reached the sufferer when she was too far gone to tell the facts, but a close examination led to the belief that she had taken strychnine through mistake.

THE FOURTH AT DARWIN.—Ferd. Frost, acting editor-in-chief of the Darwin News, in the last issue of that paper, says "the programme for the celebration in Darwin will be found in another column." Inasmuch as there wasn't a line on the subject elsewhere, the News perpetrated a very neat "sarkasm."

CERRO GORDO MAIL.—Under the new arrangement, Cerro Gordo has but three mail days per week. The contractors, Rub. Speers and Frank Eames, run a pony from Lone Pine on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

A New District—Organization and Laws of the Sierra Nevada Mining District.

At a meeting held at Little Meadows, in the county of Inyo, State of California, on the 2d day of July, A. D. 1878, for the purpose of forming a new mining district and enacting laws for the government of the same, on motion, J. M. Custer was elected Chairman and J. B. White Secretary. Whereupon the following laws were duly voted upon and passed:

1. This District to be known as the Sierra Nevada District.

2. THE BASE BALL MATCH GAME.—Unusual interest centered in that match game of base ball between the Lone Pine and Independence Base Ball Clubs, played on the afternoon of the Fourth near the pic nic grounds at the Post. As the Independence nine had practiced together but little, in short, were a sort of a jumped up nine for the occasion, it was thought the Lone Pine nine would get away with them quite easily. But it turned out that the Lone Pine nine were got together under pretty nearly the same conditions, and had no marked advantage as a practiced club. It also turned out that the composition of the Independence nine, individually considered, was just about the best that could be got together in this place. Leastways, they each and all did some excellent playing, and, one with another, made a remarkable average, whereas there was quite a marked difference between the playing of the best and poorest of the Lone Pine nine, or Olympics, as that club is styled. The catchers and pitchers of the two clubs were well matched. All were young and active to a noticable degree; both sides played "for all that was out," but with great good nature all through. Below the score in detail, but we notice that such reports, though perfectly correct in results, convey a rather imperfect idea of the actual abilities or movements of the different players, which have to be seen to be fairly appreciated. But we shall not undertake to particularize as to the work of the respective players.

KERN & INYO STAGE LINE.—J. P. Taylor, Division Superintendent of the Kern & Inyo Stage Line, was in town during the week perfecting arrangements for carrying out the new mail contract. Stages will run three-and-a-half times a week, or every alternate day, thus making it a matter of impossibility for THE INDEPENDENT to regularly catch the southern mail upon the usual publication day. The schedule time to Mojave is thirty-five hours, starting from this point at 3 o'clock in the morning. However, we were shown a letter from Hamilton, the proprietor, stating that in about sixty days the road would be stocked for a daily line and run as such.

MINING DISCOVERIES.—There is quite an excitement springing up over some discoveries just made in a mineral belt of the Sierras, near the summit, and extending from Bishop to Big Pine. A district has been organized, the laws of which will be found elsewhere. It is impossible to give this week anything like a report of the new mines.

The Theatrical Entertainment.

There was but one drawback to universal enjoyment on the occasion of this, the first entertainment of the Inyo Dramatic Club, and that was that the hall was filled with interested spectators almost to the last available inch, so as to make it rather uncomfortable. The stage appointments were excellent; so, too, was the general management during the plays, for which thanks in a large measure are due Judge Conklin. There was no hitch in curtain arrangements, no semblance of a breakdown on the part of any of the performers, no dead stops for promptings, as is so often the case in amateur theatricals, to detract from the pleasantness of the straight-along progress of any part of the programme. The entire company were each and all well up in their parts, proving a most creditable individual interest and pride in trying to do well their parts, individually and jointly.

Were we inclined to find fault in any particular, it would be limited to the one fact that some of the make-ups were much out of character. A jauntily dressed, very young looking man or youth, in looks and dress, is not a good representation of a middle-aged, grief stricken and, presumably, haggard and prematurely gray-haired "farmer man," receiving and giving consolation to and from a full grown daughter. But in truth, while we say the make up in this character was not good, the rendering of the character, both in enunciation and general manner, was very good indeed. This was B. H. Yaney's "Farmer Acorn."

Mrs. A. R. Conklin's make up and playing, both as "Mrs. Toodles" and as the termagant "Mrs. Bibbs," in the "Quiet Family," were just as good and appropriate as is often seen on any stage anywhere. First-rate in both particulars.

George Gill's "Toodles" drunk, and as the inebriated hen-pecked "Barnaby Bibbs," in the "Quiet Family," were super-excellent—nobody, so everybody said, could do either character any better, or so well, and George got lots of well earned applause.

Mrs. May, as "Snarley," was particularly pleasing, as her playing always is. In that line she is quite a star.

John Langer's "Grumpy," in the same piece, was first-class. In that line John is way up.

Wm. F. Matlack, as the domineering husband, was good, while his song and make-up of "Old Uncle Dan" was superb.

Miss. Annie Eudey's meek but handsome "Mrs. Benjamin Bibbs," was most appropriately and pleasantly done. Her song "Don't Tie to a Man You Don't Know" was beautifully rendered and highly applauded.

Mrs. Rose Matlack's "Miss Selina Summers" was quite good indeed.

Ed. Sheppard made an excellent "professional man, compelled to do his duty," and a ten-strike as a clog dancer.

This, in brief, is our view of the salient parts in each one's acting. In parts not referred to the playing generally was just as good, if not so striking, separately considered. Taken as a whole, the playing was never excelled in any amateur or other entertainment in kind in this place, though we have had plays here before that left a higher or more pleasing impression of success, perhaps, upon the audience than did either of these.

The troupe, however, may well feel quite proud of their success. As there were quite a large number of persons who could not gain admittance for lack of room, at all, on Thursday night, a repetition of the entire programme will be given to-night, by special request. It is worth a dollar of any one's cash to see that tipsy, but desperately courageous, Toodles, also Bibbs, saying nothing about the music in both cases, the songs, dancing and all the rest.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.—This body, all the members present, met in special session on Monday, July 1, 1878, for the purpose of canvassing the vote of the late election, to take action on bids for plans and specifications for fire-proof vault, to consider the bill of County Surveyor for running the Inyo-San Bernardino boundary line, and as a Board of Equalization. Bill by County Surveyor Jos. Seeley for running boundary line, $1,302 75, allowed on Expense Fund. Assessor Dillon's statistical report duly approved. Assessment Roll and plans submitted for fire proof vault yet under consideration.

ACCIDENTS.—From Dr. Wainwright, in town to-day from Bishop, we learn of a couple of casualties at that place as follows: A few days ago John Modie had his left leg broken just above the ankle, from the fall of a horse and getting entangled in the stirrups and ropes. On the evening of the 30th ultimo, a man known as "Oregon," had his hip dislocated and received other severe injuries from being dragged by a horse which he was leading, the animal getting frightened and dragging him some distance. Both men received prompt attention, and are reported as doing well.

SOME TIMOTHY.—Al. Johnson sends us some specimen stalks of timothy grown on his place a couple of miles south of Lone Pine. As cut and dried for hay these stalks have an average length of three and a half feet, with heads averaging 10 inches in length, the longest being full twelve inches. It occurs to us that in this latter particular, at least, this is an extraordinary growth for this splendid hay grass.

THE RETURNS.—Telegrams by mail from Mojave, this morning, order the immediate forwarding of duplicate election returns to the Secretary of State. They were all sent by County Clerk Crough in due time, and the query is, "What's the matter now?"

WHOSE IS IT.—The owner of a small shawl found in the Court Room after the play, July 4, can have it by applying to any member of the company.

DIED.—Mrs. P. Reddy and Judge Conklin have received intelligence from Mr. Reddy, in San Francisco, that the venerable Michael Reddy, father of P. and E. A. Reddy, had died at his home in Woonsocket, Rhode Island, and that in all probability Mr. P. Reddy would immediately start across the continent for that point.

ANOTHER MATCH GAME.—At the conclusion of the base ball game on the Fourth, the Olympics challenged the Independence Nine to play another match game, to take place at Lone Pine two weeks from to-day. The challenge was accepted, so the match is to come off as stated, and perhaps will be followed by a third.

THANKS.—The Olympics of Lone Pine request us to tender their warm thanks to the people generally of this place, and to the Fourth of July Committee, the Independence Nine and the Dramatic Club particularly for various favors received from all during their late visit to this place.

DEFIANCE.—Mr. Reddy has effected arrangements whereby the Defiance shaft is to be sunk an additional 500 feet. Good.

REX MONTIS and Independence Tunnel reports, of a very favorable nature, deferred until next week.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, JULY 6.....1878.

A ST. LOUIS woman has the odd fancy that her daughter would instantly die if exposed to the sun or the open air, and therefore keeps her in a close room heavily swathed in flannels, and most of the time in bed. The daughter is as insane on the subject as her mother. She has been secluded since her ninth year and is now seventeen. Her health is really as good as could be expected under the circumstances.—N. Y. Sun.

AN American who recently visited the studio of Meissonier, accidentally sat down upon the artist's palette, which had been carelessly left upon a chair. The great painter was profuse in his apologies, but the American is said to have utilized the circumstance by having the seat of his pantaloons framed, and offers it as "Meissonier's last work, price only twenty thousand dollars."—Commercial Bulletin.

WE understand the Southern Pacific Railroad Company have discharged all firemen on trains crossing the desert west of Yuma. The water is put in the boilers and the sun generates the necessary heat and steam. Instead of wood, the tender is loaded with ice, to counteract the broiling double concentrated rays of the desert sun. This is only rumor, we don't give it for fact.—Arizona Citizen.

THE King of Dahomey has got hold of the "National" idea, and thinks it is a great discovery. He owes England 300 puncheons of oil and proposes to pay her with 300 pieces of paper, each marked, "This is a puncheon of oil." All that is needed on the part of England is confidence. If she will only believe that paper to be oil she will be just as well satisfied.—Providence Press.

THE heat in the Con. Virginia and California mines is so intense that the consumption of ice is at the rate of 96 pounds per day to each man. The heat is greater at this time than heretofore in the history of the mines.

How Mounted Infantry Repulsed Longstreet at Chicamauga.

After the battle of Stone river was fought, and Bragg had taken position at Tullahoma, in the reorganization of the army Gen. Rosecrans found that he was sadly deficient in cavalry. The cavalry of the Confederates, under Forrest, Wheeler, Roddy and others, were not only superior in their mount, but in dash and numbers. After appealing in vain for more cavalry, Rosecrans began to mount his infantry. Among the Brigades thus mounted was Wilder's (First Brigade, Fourth Division, Fourteenth Army Corps), who were armed with Spencer rifles. A correspondent thus speaks of it:

The new brigade received its baptism of fire at Hoover's Gap, and after a brisk engagement gave evidence that it would do to "tie to." During the different movements that caused Bragg to evacuate his line and fall back to his stronghold at Chattanooga, the new brigade was in the saddle almost constantly and seemed to be ubiquitous. Always fighting on foot, they soon had a name and notoriety among the army that few brigades could boast, and from the baptism at Hoover's Gap until the last charge on the works at Selma they were true to their trust. It used to be a saying of Col. Wilder's: "Cover my flanks, and I will take that brigade and nothing will stop me or reverse it, and I will stop anything."

The first place where he had a chance to fully demonstrate this, and to show the effectiveness of the Spencer rifle, was at Chicamauga. Bragg had early in the day crushed our right, and for a time we had only five organized divisions in line against his entire army. Then it was that "Old Pap" Thomas came out strong. Our brigade had been engaged during the day but not heavily. The infantry had been assaulted time after time, but had after Thomas reorganized his lines held them. In Bragg's army was Longstreet's corps from Virginia, the flower of the Southern army. In the afternoon they sought to complete the work begun so auspiciously in the morning. In front of us was a forty-acre cottonfield, back of us woods where our horses were under cover.

We were placed behind a rail fence, and scattered out to cover as much ground as possible. Running diagonally across the field was a ditch about four feet deep and six wide. This ran out in the woods just below our brigade. While lying here, Col. Wilder rode up and down the line (fence) and said: "Boys, you will use the cartridges on the ground first (ammunition had been brought up and scattered on the ground behind each man). Don't fire until you hear a shot from the battery; then go in, and show them that you have 'brought your knitting,' and will stay all day." We could hear the roar of battle on the other parts of the field, but in front of us all was still—so still that it was oppressive. The suspense was fearful.

However, we did not wait long, for out of the woods, across the field, came a division of troops. The lines were dressed perfectly. Their arms were carried at a right shoulder shift. On they came like a piece of machinery—steady, steady, so steady. Just back of these was another division for reserve. As they came, remembering the scenes of the morning, the terrific onslaught that scattered division after division of infantry, the men began to be slightly nervous. The scene was one that baffles description. They came as one man. The sun as it sank down the western sky shone on the bright gun barrels, and reflected a thousand different hues. The sight was magnificent. Not a shot was fired as they swept across the field.

As they neared the ditch they were startled by a gun from the battery. This was followed by a volley, which was answered by a yell as they came for us on the double quick, determined to give us as few shots as possible before closing on and completely crushing us. Fortunately for us, we had six loads left, and the leaden hail never ceased until they were halted, thrown into confusion and took refuge in the ditch. Instantly a section of the battery was run to the head of the ditch, and the entire length of it swept with grape and canister. A lieutenent of the battery begged of his captain not to fire into the ditch again declaring that it was murder.

We captured a number of prisoners, among them a colonel, who expressed his disgust in language more forcible than elegant, on the division being repulsed by a "little brigade of cavalry." "But," said he, "after that first volley what surprised us was that you did not wait to reload, but kept up that infernal din. We thought that we had struck seventeen lines of battle, more or less." With this division repulsed, we we were at liberty to move in other directions. The repulse of the division at that time contributed materially in saving the army. The action of the Western men here, as on many other fields, showed that Gen. Rosecrans was correct in his selections. That afternoon was worth a lifetime of ordinary soldiering.

One of the Most Curious Cases Ever Before a Court.

The contest over the will of J. A. Mason, deceased ex-Supervisor, and for many years a prominent carriage manufacturer in this city, has just been concluded in the Probate Court of this county, and Judge Clark has decided the case in favor of Daniel Mason and John A. Mason, Jr., sons of the deceased. The facts in the case are in brief as follows:

John A. Mason, Sr., died on the 11th of July, 1876, leaving a wife and two adult sons, and appointing David Mason executor. In the course of the administration of the estate a lady and her two daughters arrived from Illinois, claiming that they were entitled to the property, claiming that were respectively the wife and daughters of the deceased John A. Mason. The case came to trial. On the part of the contestants Mrs. Mary C. Mason swore that she was married to one John A. Mason at Buffalo, New York, on September 27, 1841, and had by him two daughters. They moved to Rushville, Illinois, and afterward to Pittsfield, in the same State. On May 1, 1850, Mason started alone for California, and since then she had not seen him, but had received retters dated "Tuolumne County," "Big Bar" and "Middle Yuba" up to June 1853. In one of them her husband directed her to address her letters to J. A. "S." Mason, as he had missed some of them, there being so many in the State. Her husband was a wagonmaker by profession, and when she arrived in this city in July, 1876, and saw a picture of Supervisor Mason, she was immediately forced to the conviction that it was her husband. The handwriting of the Supervisor and the other Mason were compared and found to be very similar.

The next witness swore that he met the contestant's husband in Illinois before he crossed the plains, at Dayton, in 1850, Sacramento in 1850, and still again in this city in 1873. Mason was then engaged in blacksmithing and wagon making, and they recognized each other. Witness was shown a picture of Supervisor Mason, and recognized it as the man to whom he had reference.

James K. Freeman and J. C. Hoy both testified that they knew J. A. Mason in this city; that he told them that he had a wife in Illinois; that he was in the wagon making business; that he kept in 1852 on Third between I and J; both recognized the picture of the Supervisor as that of the man to whom they referred.

Other witnesses swore in the same manner, being perfectly sure that the Supervisor and the Illinois Mason were one and the same man, thus presenting, at first glance, a remarkably strong case.

But, on behalf of the sons of the Supervisor, comes the mother of the deceased and swears that her son was born in Boston, married there on January 24, 1844; he had three sons, one dead; his first wife died in September, 1853; Mason went from home in 1848 and left for California by steamer in 1852; he never resided in New York; could not have been married in Buffalo at the time mentioned, as he lived continuously with her in Boston until he married the woman mentioned.

A step-sister of the deceased Supervisor swore that he was born 1822; could not have been married in Buffalo in 1841, because he did not get away from Boston until 1848. (Besides in 1841 he could only have been 19 years of age.)

E. F. White, formerly Sheriff of this county, testified that he knew Supervisor Mason first in Boston in 1838; and knew him continuously until his death in 1876; they were both in Boston from 1838 to 1847, and worked in the same shop the greater portion of that time; went together out west in 1847; witness arrived in California in 1852, and Mason was then in Kentucky. He married in Boston in 1844, and arrived in California in 1854; knew him continuously as a resident of Sacramento county from then till he died.

Various other parties swore to the same fact, and three witnessess swore that there was no carriage shop on Third street between I and J in 1853.

Judge Clark said he did not doubt but what the claimant married John A. Mason, and lived with him between 1841 and 1850 in Illinois, and that he came to California in 1850, and became lost to her, and perhaps to everybody, in 1853. He, however, in deciding the case in favor of the Mason boys said he could not for a moment doubt that Supervisor Mason was a different person from the person she wedded. The petition was therefore denied.—Sacramento Bee.

PRACTICAL COMMUNISM.—Yesterday afternoon Cherokee Bob was squirting tobacco juice over the floor of a saloon and telling how capital oppressed labor, when Bill Eullington inquired:

"Are you one of them Communists."

"I hold, sir," said Bob, "that we must have an even distribution of property—yes, sir, or we'll fight, sir."

"Lend me a chew of tobacco," asked Bill.

A box full of fine cut was handed him. He put it in his pocket, and was walking away, when Cherokee called out:

"Beg your pardon, but you are taking off my tobacco!"

"S'll right—s'll right," Bill replied, "I was out and you had plenty. We've got to even this business up, you know, and you keep the box and I'll keep the tobacco."

He was too big to lick, and Cherokee put the empty box in his pocket and refused to laugh with the crowd. —Cheyenne Leader.

AN ARIZONA SHOE.—When a burro or saddle animal gets tender-footed and hoof worn, at a distance from blacksmiths and horse shoes, a durable protection for its feet can be made from lime and liver. The liver of any animal is to be bruised; one application is to be made to the hoof; another part is to be beaten into a paste with common lime, and applied to the hoof; then more liver is to be smeared over all. This paste hardens into a tough cement that wears like stone. This is no new thing but not every modern prospector and traveler knows about it. The bones of a deer can be quickly burned into a lime that answers every purpose, and his liver will smear many a hoof. If this receipt does any of our readers some good, let him subscribe for the Sentinel when he gets back from the mountains.—Arizona Sentinel.

THERE is a very general conviction now that the State Central Committees of the two old parties made was in failing to come to a fair, open and unmistakable understanding at their conference at the Palace Hotel. They ought to have acted with less reserve than they did, and to have unitedly advised their parties to coalesce throughout the State for the purpose of making Non-Partisan nominations. Had they done this, the elections never would have been for a single moment in doubt. But even the half way manner in which they did act was better than for each separately to have taken the field. Had they done this, they would have been routed by the Workingmen's organization horse, foot and dragoons. The returns prove this beyond the reach of contradiction. —Los Angeles Express.

THE Chinese have a habit of carrying material for alcoholic drinks about with them in the form of a powder called Kin-tsu, for the preparation of which certain manufacturers have obtained great celebrity. The powder is made from wheat or barley, with or without certain aromatic herbs, which has been subjected to fermentation and then pulverized. Rice is also used to make a liquor after a similar process. A spoonful of the powder mixed with water gives a drink which is greatly in request in the Flowery land. Good brandy in this form would be invaluable in a campaign, or to eat in church.

SOME of the Western journals are denouncing Prof. Hayden as a humbug. They charge that he has been guilty of surveying the same "hitherto unknown fields" year after year, and of "discovering" the same highest mountains half a dozen times. These and other similar charges, coming as they do from those on the spot, are not altogether unworthy of attention. Seventy-five thousand dollars a year is a great deal of money to spend in the resurveying of fields and the discovery of mountain peaks which have long been known.

THE HOSTILES.

The indications now are that nearly all the Indians in Eastern Oregon are going on the war path. The greatest alarm exists among the settlers throughout all that country, and also in portions of Nevada lying southerly of Idaho, where the first outbreak occurred. Outrages, occurring almost simultaneously, are reported from different points in all that vast area, showing that there is a concert of action among many tribes. As the main body of the Bannacks seem determined to cross the Columbia into Washington Territory, it is clear that they expect to greatly recruit their forces from different tribes on that side of the river. Otherwise it would be suicidal for them to leave their fastnesses in the Blue Mountain region, where in effect one Indian is equal to half a dozen soldiers, and expose themselves to pursuit and final attack in the comparatively open and level country on the north side of the Columbia. They are surely forfeiting their vantage ground in going there, unless assured of the co-operation of the Washington Territory tribes.

A short time since the hostiles stole stock from Surprise Valley, in Nevada. About the same time Col. Bernard attacked the main body at Stein mountains. Directly after and up to date numerous murders are committed by them in the mountains from the mouth of John Day river up to the Walla Walla, and several engagements by squads of volunteers have taken place so near the Columbia river towns that the citizens are prepared to leave their homes at a moment's warning, steamboats being kept at hand to aid them to escape. Oregon dispatches of the 7th instant state that Col. Bernard had had another fight with the Bannocks, lasting two hours, at the end of which the troops drew off with three killed and several wounded; thirty-five dead Indians were found in the field the next morning. The Indians were said to number 800, and had at least 4,000 horses. This fight occurred north of Stein's mountain. Dates of the following day state that the hostiles were approaching the Columbia river in three divisions, and that Howard and Bernard having joined forces were right at their heels. Also, that a patrol steamboat had prevented one of these bands from crossing, having driven them back and destroyed all their canoes. Such being the case we may expect news of a big fight soon.

SUTRO STRIKES THE COMSTOCK. After all these years of hard work, after all these years of abuse received, Sutro's "great bore" strikes the Comstock at last. The connection was made on the 8th instant, eight years and over since the great enterprise was begun. Sutro himself was the first to crawl through the hole from the tunnel into the 1640-foot level of rhe Savage, "and then," says the dispatch, "there was much hilarity and beer drinking." These mine men were mighty glad to see Mr. Sutro, no doubt—time was, "not so very long ago," when, had he poked his head into one of the Comstock mines through a hole from his tunnel, they would have had a hilarious time in kicking him back again—in fact did have the bier all fixed for him. But here he is, "a moighty foine man," crawling through a hole at the end of his 21,000 foot tunnel right into the old Comstock, with much beer and hilarity to make him welcome. Sutro's a brick.

A REPORT on the Visalia desert land entries has been proposed by one of Commissioner Williamson's Head of Division, for his consideration and he expects to make his decision concerning this long pending controversy at an early date. Prominent officials of the Interior Department expressed their opinion that the Department's efforts to procure a return of patents issued to the Central Pacific Railroad Company for lands entered within the limits of the rejected Manuel Diaz grant will never be successful. This opinion is based upon the reason, among others, that the railroad company has probably long ago sold these lands to third parties, and the title of recent purchasers in good faith cannot be disturbed.

THE Weekly INDEPENDENT, a sprightly little paper published at Independence, Inyo county, began its ninth volume with its last issue. We wish it the same success in the future that it has enjoyed in the past.—Visalia Delta.

GOV. PACHECO is strongly recommended for the position of Minister to Bolivia.

THE expense of the recent election in San Francisco was $52,680 64, some $27,000 less than it was estimated it would have cost.

OF COURSE.

Gen. Howard, it seems, has not yet, after some four weeks' trial, brought the great Indian uprising in Idaho to a close. It is well known, however, that during these four weeks the General, while his troops were resting a few moments during a wearisome march, prayed—yes, prayed openly, much as if he was a soldier of the Cross, not as one of the Grand Republic. That was enough. No better evidence of his incompetence could be adduced than those two facts, viz: that he had stopped to pray, and had not in four weeks time brought the combined tribes of desperate savages, outnumbering his forces four to one, and operating in their own country, to bloody graves or unconditional terms of surrender. From a pretty thorough knowledge of the country generally in which the scenes of past and present hostilities lie, and knowing the tremendous disadvantage under which troops, no matter what their numbers, labor, we feel constrained to say that these newspaper scribblers who predicate their senseless abuse of Howard on the fact that he prays and that the Indians are yet roaming and murdering here and there, talk and adjudge like fools. Gen. Howard may or may not be a soldier equal to the duties of his present command, but, speaking from our own knowledge of the country in which he is operating, we will undertake to say that it does not lie in the power of any officer living to take a small command like Howard's and at once bring such a foe to a stand, much less defeat.

The San Francisco Chronicle publishes a map of the country through which Howard is pursuing the Bannocks. We find trails, roads, towns and villages nicely laid off on this map. According to that, also, the rules of strategy and newspaper critics, Howard while at Stein's mountain ought by all manner of means be at John Day's river the moment a Bannock is heard of there. In fact, he ought to anticipate his arrival and be there first, and be ready to knock him on the head without a moment's loss of time. Also, if he was the General he ought to be, according to these newspaper strategists, he would likewise be ready to knock the Bannack's head at the Des Chutes, at the mouth of the Walla Walla, at the debouchement of the Grande Ronde, at Mooney's Ferry on Snake river, and at the same time see that he did not turn back and get into the fastnessess on the upper Owyhee. According to this map, all the General has to do is to take one of the nicely laid out roads, right across a level looking country, and be at any or all of these places in two days travel. That isn't all: if he was the General he ought to be, he would intuitively know at which of these widely divergent points Mr. Bannack would appear; he would be right there on time, himself and all of his "immense" army of less than 500 men, ready to clean out the red devils on sight.

But the trouble is that this map lies inferentially, same as these newspaper strategists do in conclusions. A more impracticable country for army operations is not to be found on this coast than that lying between Stein's mountain and the Columbia river—high table lands, densely timbered in places, and cut up in tremendous gulches, and, at this season of the year, foaming, impassable streams, and miry mountain flats, it is hardly possible for troops to traverse it at all, save with what they carry on their own backs, and long delays in preparing rafts and canoes to cross these rivers. Yet with respect to the places named the Bannacks on the head of the Malheur or John Day rivers occupy a position the same as a hub of wheel does to any point on its rim. They can in a few hours, or less than three days' travel, at most, strike any point on this rim, east, north, west or south; while the troops, from the nature of the country, must traverse the rim to meet him, and by the same route receive the first intelligence of the enemy's line of operations. In short, Gen. McDowell at San Francisco is really nearer at hand to the foe, striking anywhere on the north or west slope of the Blue mountains, than is Howard in any position on or near the Owyhee or Stein's mountain, where he must be to prevent the Indians from raiding all through that country south even to the railroad. He would have to be ubiquitous, indeed, to be at hand ready to meet the savage at every point of emergence open to the latter, and also have a command able to travel ten times more rapidly than the foe. Yet it seems Howard has not only made two successful attacks upon the main body of the Indians, but by some means has managed to traverse his long outside lines and be up with the foe at his entrance on the Columbia, directly on the opposite side of the great circle upon which both parties were reported but a few days ago. It looks to us like Howard is displaying excellent generalship thus far.

SUBSCRIPTIONS to the four per cent. loan to date are $1,910,550.

Resting Springs.

Two hundred and thirty bars of base bullion from J. B. Osborne, Resting Springs, were shipped by Messrs. Lyon & Rosenthal, last Tuesday.—Colton (San Bernardino) Semi-Tropic.

Good; and we trust that Resting Springs may flourish to ship bars by the hundred thousand. We are reminded, however, that the new camp has recently been surveyed into this county, and that Inyo dosen't particularly hanker after taking that remote country under its protecting wings in the matter of county legislation, judicial affairs or even collection of taxes. In the next Legislature, if San Bernardino wants to take that section in and do for it, there ought not to be much trouble about arranging a new boundary line--for a consideration.

PROF. BAIRD reports that the work going on at the headquarters of the United States Fish Commission at Havre de Grace, Md., is the most extensive and important undertaken during the history of the service. At the beginning of June they were taking over a million shad eggs a day, hatching them promptly, and sending them out to the headwaters of the principal streams of the south and southwest. It is expected that from twelve to fifteen million young fish will be secured. Toward the end of July, salmon hatching will begin, and the Commission hope to make a successful solution of the problem of stocking the streams of the Mississippi valley with California salmon.

THE Interior Department desires the publication of the following verbatim extract from the instructions issued by Secretary Schurz to the Sioux Commissioner on the 28th ultimo: "If there be any difference of opinion as to choice of location, you will keep in mind that the Indian choice is to be respected, and that it is most important to keep perfect faith with them in the performance of all promises made to them, and that this will be the invariable rule of the Government in its treatment of the Indian tribes."

THE printing of the patent specifications by the Patent Office, which for some time past has been suspended owing to the lack of funds, has now been resumed. Congress prior to adjourning having made the necessary appropriation. Further consideration of the amendments to the patent law proposed in the Wadleigh bill has been postponed until next season. Indeed, all the projects for the amendment of the law were suspended, and no changes were made.

SHERIFF BOWER, of Kern county, learned on the 4th instant that an organized band of 125 men would make an attempt that night to take the Yoakum brothers from jail and lynch them. He summoned twenty men to guard the jail during the night, and sent word to the lynchers that he had learned their plans and was ready for them. They concluded to disband. Apprehensions were entertained of serious trouble, but the night passed quietly.

IT is estimated that of the $157,250,000 appropriated by the last Congress, more than $16,000,000 were to meet deficiencies created by the sham economies of the previous House. There will be more of this sort of thing in the supplies of the next Congress. Democratic economy would thus seem to be the biggest "fraud" the Fraud party can show if it explores for a century.

FRANK PIXLEY, in the Argonaut, says: "There is not a newspaper proprietor in San Francisco who would not rejoice to see every one of his rivals hanged, quartered and burned—and the sentiment does us all credit." To which Bro. Owen, of the San Jose Mercury, retorts: "What a precious lot of cutthroats and scoundrels you all must be, to be sure."

THE largest farmer in this State is Dr. Glenn, of Colusa county. He farms 20,000 acres. He sold his last year's wheat crop for more than $600,000. His farms are constantly being improved by fencing, the erection of good, permanent buildings, etc., and his stock of farming machinery is extensive and complete.

GOV. IRWIN has received a request from the people of Cedarville, in Surprise Valley, for arms to protect themselves against Indians. He has telegraphed to the Government at Washington for an order for 250 stand of arms from the U. S. armory in California.

A DISPATCH from Washington says there is good authority for saying that Secretary Sherman contemplates resumption before the next meeting of Congress, and certainly before December.

THE aggregate appropriations made by the last Congress amount to $157,203,933.

DECREASE of imports this year $40,500,000.

THE GREAT RACE.—It seems our advanced news, "per driver," of the great Louisville race as given in our last issue, lacked some of the essential parts of exact correctness, inasmuch as it turned out that Mollie McCarthy didn't come out forty feet ahead by something near a quarter of a mile. Except in that little matter the item was quite correct. It seems that Mollie broke down utterly before the third mile was half finished, owing, it is said, to the extreme sultryness of the atmosphere and heavy condition of the track, both caused by a heavy shower that morning. But no matter what the trouble was, Ten Broeck, though sorely distressed himself, got away with this race that was expected to be the greatest on record, consequently California wails and moans from "eend to eend," and won't be comforted even in the certain knowledge that Ten Broeck himself could not by any possibility have made the second heat, had the necessity occurred. Miserable weather they have in that country.

THE schooner Eöthen sailed from New York on June 19 with an exploring party on board, which proposes to make a protracted search in the Arctic regions for the relics of Sir John Franklin and his expedition. The party is under the command of Lieut. Schwalka, U. S. A., and numbers in all seven persons, including the guide, Esquimaux Joe. Interest in Sir John Franklin's fate has been revived of late by reports that an unvisited tribe of Esquimaux has relics of those of his crew who were the last to perish. The present expedition, which has been fitted up by voluntary contributions, is intended to reach that tribe. The Eöthen is to proceed as rapidly as possible to Whale Point, Hudson Bay, where a number of Esquimaux will be engaged. It is expected the vessel will Winter in Repulse Bay, and after the expeditionary party starts in the Spring she will be used as a whaler until the party returns.

THE International Monetary Conference, proposed by the United States to consider the double standard of silver and gold, promises to be quite a respectable gathering. The United States, France, Russia, Italy, the Netherlands. Hungary and Switzerland insure the meeting of the Conference, and doubtless Great Britain, Germany, Austria and Belgium will now see the desirability of being represented. The Conference is to adopt a current ratio between gold and silver for the purpose of establishing, internationally, the use of bi-metallic money, and securing fixity of relative values between these metals.

THE official canvass shows that the entire Non-Partisan ticket at large has been elected by majorities ranging from 2,500 to 6,000. The convention will be composed of 87 Non-Partisans, 50 Workingmen, 8 Democrats and 7 Republicans—total, 152. A working majority of the convention is 77. It is thus shown that the Non-Partisans will be able to control things and have votes to spare.

THERE are few positions more enviable than that of the English judge. A salary of $25,000 a year, with a pension of $15,000 on retirement, are pickings for which a French or a German judge, who does much the same work for about $2,500 or $3,000 a year, must long with all the strength of his judicial mind.

THE telephone has lately been successfully used in France to communicate between a vessel being towed and one towing. The wire was carried along one of the hawsers, and circuit was completed through the copper on the bottoms of the ships and the water. Conversation was carried on very distinctly.

THE attention of exhibitors is called to the rule adopted by the State Agricultural Society, that no entries will be received, either at the Park or the Pavilion, after five o'clock P. M., on Monday, September 16, for the Fair of 1878. This rule will be rigidly adhered to.

THE Carson Valley News, published by A. C. Pratt, at Genoa, has been discontinued. The material on which it was printed will be taken to Markleville, Alpine county, California, where arrangements have been made to start a paper.

THE Twenty-fifth Annual Fair of the Strte Agricultural Society of California, will be held at Sacramento in September next, commencing on Monday the 16th, and continuing to and including Saturday, September 21.

THE INYO INDEPENDENT has entered upon its ninth volume. It is a splendid little weekly, one of the best on the coast in fact, and deserves well of the people whose interests it so ably advocates. We wish it the most unbounded success in the future.—Eureka Sentinel.

GEN. FREMONT'S salary as Governor of Arizona will be $2,500 a year. An Eastern journal remarks that this is $2,400 a year more than he has been making for some time.

The Earth Not a True Globe.

Our planet is not a true globe because of its former plastic condition before the formation and cooling of the surface. When the globe was soft it was more or less yielding, and then the rotation of the earth to which I have referred tended to drive off, as it were, the matter in the equatorial regions; so that the distance through the center of the earth between the two surfaces as far as possible removed from the poles of rotation, or those parts of the earth which the imaginary axis comes through, is greater than the distance between the two points where the axis comes to the surface. The reason of that fact, and that it must have been so, has been beautifully established by several experiments. That the earth was once hotter than it now is, is therefore proved both by the irregularities of its surface and by its shape as a whole. We must not imagine, however, that there has been but one change. The minor irregularities are all gradually changing by inner energies and the action of air and water, and it may be that even the largest ones are youug compared with the age of the planet's surface. Nor does the change end here; the equatorial protuberance itself may but after all mark a point in a great cycle of change, which has compelled the earth to rotate now about one axis and now about another. Mathematicians consider it highly probable that the axis of the earth may have been in ancient times very differently situated from what it is at present, and, indeed, that "it might have gradually shifted through ten, twenty, thirty, forty or more degrees without at any time any perceptible sudden disturbance of either land or water." Thus it appears that nature prevents catastrophes by the very hugeness of the scale on which she works.

THE SLEEPLESS EDISON.—One of Edison's strange ideas is that a man doesn't need to sleep. Probably he hasn't enjoyed a proper amount of sleep at any one time for three years. His brain goes like a saw mill all the time, and he says he has no time to sleep. He experiments and works day and night, without cessation. When bedtime comes Edison is as oblivious of the fact as one side of the present Potter Congress is of the existence of Mr. Cronin, from Oregon. The great inventor digs away at his work until nature is completely exhausted, and then he tumbles into bed for two or three hours sleep. This may be at morning, noon or night, just as the fit of weariness seizes him. Not one man in ten could do it and live. But Edison has a constitution like the "one-hoss shay," of popular legend, and he don't break down. He is wonderfully tenacious, alike of health and ideas. A friend who knows him intimately tells me that when Edison once gets into his head that a certain thing can be done, he is going to demonstrate the fact, though the heavens fall. If he had made a failure in life, we should have said this was mere mulishness. But as he is a success we may as well call it great perseverance. There is a vast difference between tweedle-dum and tweedle-dee.—Chicago Tribune.

CAPT. BOYTON has written to a French paper a most amusing account of his swim across the Straits of Gibraltar. He says that the feat was far more difficult than swimming across the Straits of Dover, for the currents carried him so far that he traversed fifty miles in doing the journey. He adds: "I saw several sharks, but none of them made a meal of me, and I owe them my best acknowledgements. I suffered much from the sun and the salt water which came into my eyes, and I was almost blind when I landed. As I was not expected at Tangiers, I blew my horn as I approached the town. Some Moorish guards came down to know what the noise was about, and seeing me emerge from the sea, they ran back to arouse the town, declaring that the devil had just come ashore. I left them the same day by steamer."

A LAWYER'S REPLY.—To some pungent remarks of a professional brother, a Western lawyer began his reply as follows: "May it please the Court: Resting on the couch of republican equality, as I do, covered by the blanket of constitutional panoply, as I am, and protected by the ægis of American liberty, as I feel myself to be, I despise the buzzing of the professional insect who has just sat down, and defy his futile attempts to penetrate with his puny sting the interstices of my impervious covering."

A CORRESPONDENT of the Winnemucca Silver State says that Chief Natches is almost idolized by the settlers, who are showering presents on him for saving their lives. Devine & Todhunter gave him a fine horse, Con. Ryan gave him a bridle and saddle, John Dixon presented him with a rifle worth $60, J. S. Brown has given him a horse, and Frank Burns and others have promised him more horses. He is the happiest Indian in the United States, and feels that his services have been appreciated by the whites.

"YES," said Mr. Hayes to the delighted applicant for office, "I am a devoted Sunday School man and a follower of the tea-cup, so that I cannot in my individual capacity as President tell a lie. I will not promise you an office, but I will turn you over to one of the Cabinet, whom I have selected for that worldly purpose. Amen."

YOUNG Jessie Grant says the ridiculous stories published pretending to give a conversation between himself and Queen Victoria were concocted by a person connected with the Herald. "A person connected with the Herald" one time and another for the past twenty-five years has been responsible for a great deal of incorrectness.

DR. JAMES C. AYER, the celebrated patent medicine proprietor, died at a private asylum, July 3, of softening of the brain. His age was about sixty. His estate is said to be worth from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000.

THE Chico Enterprise, a most excellent paper, comes out under a new editorial management.

THERE would seem to have been some defective or uncertain engineering in the laying out of the Sutro tunnel. At any rate, it has not yet connected with the Savage mine, as was anticipated, the headers of the tunnel having been within sound of the Savage drifters for some days, and apparently so near that a connection was anticipated two or three days ago. But now the headers appear to have passed the Savage workers, and are driving ahead straight for the western wall, leaving the Savage drifters to the east some ten or fifteen feet, on the 1640 foot level. If this be the case, it is thought that some weeks will elapse before a connection will be made with the mines. When that shall have been accomplished doubtless a large batch of lawsuits will be commenced against the various companies along the Comstock lode, unless a compromise shall have been agreed to, or the companies conclude to comply with the terms of their former contracts and the rights of the Sutro Tunnel Company, as conferred by Act of Congress, whatever they may be. P. S.—As will be seen elsewhere, the connection has been made.

CONVICTS FOR THE TRAINING SHIP. The three young men recently convicted at Auburn of arson in the second degree—Richard Wilson, alias Crisman, Adolph Domay, alias Caseman, and George Harris, the first two being about 18 years of age and the latter 17—were brought down from Auburn last Sunday by Truant Officer Hutton of this city, to be put on board the training ship Jamestown, Judge Fitch, of Placer county, having authorized such disposition to be made of them. Respectable people having sons on board the Jamestown will be pleased, delighted we may say, to learn the character of Placer county's delegation. Send along a few murderers, bigamists, thieves and other criminals, gentlemen of the interior. There is nothing like variety, you know.—Stock Report.

The probabilities are that these nice young men will not be admitted, Judge Fitch to the contrary notwithstanding. The act establishing the training ship Jamestown specially provides that "no person shall be received on board said ship as a punishment or in commutation of punishment for crime."

NEW VOLUME.—THE INYO INDEPENDENT—our near neighbor and co-laborer in the grand work of developing this county—entered upon its ninth volume on the 29th ultimo. The proprietors, in their issue of that date, speak of things they intended to have accomplish—such as enlargement, etc.—had their patronage been sufficient to have warranted them in doing so. THE INDEPENDENT is a good paper and should receive the support of the people. We hope ere the new volume expires the owners will be able to accomplish the ends they have in view.—Darwin News.

Notice is hereby given, that at a meeting of the Board of Directors, held on the first day of July, 1878, an assessment (No 1) of One Dollar and Twenty-five cents ($1 25) per share was levied upon the capital stock of the corporation, payable immediately in United States gold coin, to the Secretary, at the office of the Company, Room 2, 402 Front Street, San Francisco, California.

NOTICE.

TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: THE undersigned hereby gives notice that one Jesse Bunday, who has held one third interest in the Darwin Brewery, by renting same of Dick Crator, made no returns to his partner of moneys collected by him, and on the 27th day of June last, at 8 o'clock A. M., concluded to withdraw from the said firm, with the understanding that Mr. Davis was to collect all outstanding bills due the said firm. Later of the same day said Jesse Bunday went over to Lookout, where money was due the late firm, collected it and left for parts unknown. I want to publish the underhanded advantage Jesse Bunday took of me, and take this method of so doing. The business will continue to be carried on by me.

JOE. DAVIS.

June 6th, 1878.
—Coso Mining News.
P. S.—I have later learned that the said Jesse Bunday has gone to Independence, and probably northward. Let my friends look out for him.

DISSOLUTION OF CO-PARTNERSHIP.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE CO-PARTNERSHIP heretofore existing between Wm. F. The business will be continued by Wm. F. Matlack, who will collect all debts due the late firm and pay all outstanding accounts.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, JULY 13.....1878.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.—The following, in addition to that reported last week, comprises the accomplished labors of the Board of Supervisors dur- the term beginning on the 1st and ending on the 9th: Ordered that the Auditor draw warrants as below stated in payment of fire insurance on the Court House for the year ending July 27, 1879: Migratory stock account, $136 02; Bridge Fund, $205 17, and to reissue Expense warrant No. 271 for $101 50, "and warrant on Sinking Fund for balance payable in Inyo county." The above all happened on the 8th. On the following day the Board met and went at it again, with this result: Harris & Rhine, as fire insurance agents, having submitted a supplementary document that they were willing to reduce policy rates from 3.45 per cent. to 2.95 per cent., ordered that the proposition be accepted, and that the minutes of the previous day's action in the matter be amended accordingly. Ordered that the consideration of the plans and specifications on file for the fire-proof vault be postponed till the next regular meeting. The important business next transacted was the allowance of Expense Fund warrants for mileage and per diem as follows: J. L. Garretson, $78 80; J. R. Westerville, $56 00; C. Meysan, $54 40. Whereupon the Hon. Board adjourned until the regular meeting next month.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.—The Board of Supervisors, sitting as a Board of Equalization, transacted business as follows: Harris & Rhine made application for a reduction of their assessment on goods, wares and merchandise from $30,000 to $15,000. Ordered, that a reduction to $22,000 be allowed. Albert Halverson asked a reduction on improvements from $1,540 to $800. So ordered. No other changes in the assessment roll made or asked for. It appearing that certain assessment statements had not been returned to the Assessor in time for entry and return upon the accepted assessment roll, ordered that the said statements be entered and returned as a supplementary assessment roll. The Board met and adjourned first as a Board of Supervisors, next as a Board of Equalization, each day from Monday July 1, to Tuesday the 9th, when they quit for the term, partially worn out, it is said, from the labor of so many adjournments and re-assemblies.

THE SECOND ENTERTAINMENT.—The Dramatic Club, by request, gave a second entertainment last Saturday evening to quite a fair attendance, but of course not equal in numbers to the crowd on the previous occasion. As it was inconvenient for Mrs. May to take part this time, Miss Annie Eudey took her place as "Mary Acorn," and Miss M. Conklin that as "Snarley," both of these young ladies getting through with the respective parts thus imposed upon them with but a few hours notice, like old stagers, and in a very pleasing manner. With these exceptions, and song or two, the programme was precisely the same as on the first evening, but was better played by several, if not all. Another similar entertainment, with entirely new plays and programme generally, and likely with several additions to the troupe, is to be put on at an early day, but just when is not yet settled.

PASSED THROUGH. — Capt. Messic, with several men, arrived here Thursday from Panamint, from which place he brings the last of the small movable articles, leaving only buildings and machinery as standing witnesses of Panamint's former high estate. He went on next day, bound for the vicinity of Belleville to further prospect a large ledge of rather low grade ore belonging, as we understand it, to Senator Jones and others. Should developments warrant, the company's splendid mill at Panamint is to be removed to this new location. Meantime Panamint, shorn of her glories, is consigned to the exclusive possession of the bats, owls, Piutes and other original residents.

DAILY MAIL.—Yesterday the Southern Stage Line to Mojave commenced running as a daily. The stages arrive here at 10 P. M., and leave about two hours afterward. The thanks of the whole community are due to Hamilton and his managers, and it is certainly to be hoped that he may get an increase of pay due for daily instead of tri-weekly service. But the obligations due him from the business men here would be greatly increased could he fix the hour of arrival here at say 6 o'clock, so as to give time to answer correspondence by the return mail.

REX MONTIS.—On the 4th the Rex Montis company had about 75 feet to run to tap the ore body in the lower winze, now unapproachable on account of water and foul air. The work will be completed early next month, when the mill will resume operations. An opening on the surface, on a newly discovered ledge, shows a 16-inch vein of ore assaying $200 per ton.

DISSOLVED. — Messrs. Matlack & McInnis, our blacksmith and wagon-making firm, have dissolved partnership. Billy Matlack will continue business at the old stand. See his advertisement.

WARNING.—Joe Davis, of the Darwin Brewery, calls public attention to the fact that one Jesse Bunday, lately interested in the concern, has failed to make an accounting and got up and got. Pass him around.

BULLION.—The Swansea works have shipped ten tons of rich base bullion, and are at present temporarily shut down.

LODGE NIGHT.—The Masonic Lodge will hold a stated meeting to-night, for work in the several degrees.

COUNTY COURT.

Hon. John A. Hannah, Judge.

Convened in regular session Monday, July 8th.

In response to call for Grand Jurors, the following citizens answered to their names: Thos. W. Hill, E. M. Goodale, T. F. Bouse, C. H. Powers, Wm. McLaren, S. W. Huckaby, S. J. McMurry, Thos. Webb, L. Fromm, Benigno Aguirre, F. Schabbell, A. W. Robinson, W. H. Huff, August Walker, R. C. Speer, William Low, I. P. Rittgers, H. C. Rittgers and T. J. Goodale.

Thos. Webb's application to be excused for reasons given was denied. T. W. Hill and R. C. Spear submitted valid reasons and were excused. As only eighteen remained, a venire for six talesmen ordered to issue forthwith, returnable at 3 P. M. Under this the following appeared: A. McKenzie, J. McDermott, J. G. Hitchcock, G. H. Hardy, C. S. Swan and A. Stecker.

A Grand Jury, composed as follows, was accepted and empaneled: C. H. Powers, A. W. Robinson, J. A. McKenzie, A. Stecker, August Walker, Thos. Webb, L. Fromm, C. S. Swan, S. A. McMurry, Benigno Aguirre, Wm. McLaren, F. Schabbell, J. McDermott, H. C. Rittgers, G. H. Hardy, J. G Hitchcock, W. H. Huff, T. F. Bouse and G. W. Huckaby.

S. P. Moffat, Esq., excepted to the panel, on the ground that it had not been filled as the law directs. Counsel afterwards withdrew his exceptions, and the Jury was accepted, Geo. H. Hardy being appointed Foreman.

José Lopez and Ramon Antone, prisoners under commitment for grand larceny, brought into Court. S. P. Moffat appeared as counsel for Antone, Lopez being without counsel; the Court then appointed Mr. Moffat counsel for the said Lopez, also.

At 7 o'clock P. M. the two prisoners were duly arraigned and plead "not guilty." Thereupon the Court ordered a venire for thirty trial jurors, returnable at 10 o'clock A. M. yesterday, the day set for trial.

L. Gill, a witness before the Grand Jury, having refused to testify, was instructed by the Court that if he longer refused to give testimony he would be held for contempt.

On Wednesday the Grand Jury submitted its report, together with an indictment against C. A. Walters for misdemeanor.

Grand Jury Report.

To the Hon. John A. Hannah, County Judge, Inyo Co.: The Grand Jury for the July term, having completed its labors, beg leave to submit the following report, to-wit:

We have found true [bills] against José Lopez and Ramone Otone, for the crime of grand larceny. Also, a true bill against C. A. Walters for selling liquors to Indians.

Several complaints were ignored by us, the evidence being insufficient in our judgment to secure conviction.

We therefore pray your honor that we be discharged.

GEO. H. HARDY,
Foreman.

H. C. RITTGERS, Clerk.

AN OFF YEAR.—This year is proving something of a disappointment to farmers quite generally throughout the State, not for the lack of moisture or an indifferent growth but other causes, such as late frosts, rust, grasshoppers, various kinds of worms, bugs and all manner of vermin that live at the expense of the husbandman. We hear no complaints of rust, grasshoppers or crickets in this valley, but all the rest in the above list of plagues are or have been here to do what they each can to deepen the furrows of worriment on ye anxious granger's brow. As yet, though, the whole destroying bands combined have not effected quite as much as Sheridan when he "cleaned out the valley," nevertheless, they have sadly devastated many acres of fields and garden patches here, there and everywhere in this valley, much as they are reported to be doing elsewhere all over the State. And it is as plain as a pike staff that, like liberty, the price of even an average crop this year is eternal vigilance against bugs, worms, and all similar pestiferous creatures that come to counterbalance expected advantages to arise from the great abundance of water for irrigating purposes.

A DICKER IN JACKASSES.—Last year when Superintendent Messic decided to abandon Panamint, he found it necessary to leave, together with other personal property, quite a large number of jacks and jennies pertaining to the company's outfit. These he turned over to an Indian, whom we will call Jake for convenience, to take care, of, Jake to have one-third of the number in payment for his trouble. The other day A. O. Thoms purchased those animals for use in building his proposed Madeira-Lake District road and went to Panamint to get them. Jake, pursuant to orders, rodeoed his band, a fair count and division was had, and honest Jacob found himself the proprietor of no less than thirty-nine jackasses. But to enhance his happiness still further, he immediately began trading them for mahalas, "one jack one mahala; bery good." Before sundown Jake glorified himself in the ownership of two additional wives, and if some red poker sharp don't clean him out of jacks too rapidly, he hopes to have one of the completest harems in that section of the country. Thoms, it seems, brought all of his share of the jacks away, not being inclined to speculate, like Jake.

THE era of deep mining is near at hand in Inyo, and we doubt not a time of unexampled success. The Union Con. Company of Cerro Gordo should not hesitate about sinking their new shaft a further depth of 500 feet. The mine has been enormous near the surface, but experience in the same class of mines elsewhere demonstrate that the great bonanzas lie in the depths.

THE June product of the Modoc Consolidated mine was $77,432.

Watson vs. Stivers.

VOLKERT'S RANCH,
July 10, 1878.

MESSRS. EDS.—I wish to correct the published version of the stabbing affair, which was falsely reported to you from beginning to end.

Mr. Watson came to my house (in the absence of my husband) between 9 and 10 o'clock at night; addressed me in a very angry manner in these words: "What do you mean by turning your horses out to run at large in this kind of a manner?" I answered him that "I did not know the horses were loose; that they were put into the pasture between sundown and dark, as usual." Just then Stivers came up, and Watson accosted him in the same rough manner, telling him positively that he had turned the horses loose on him. Then the altercation commenced, the details of which would occupy too much space in your worthy columns. Watson followed Stivers to the ditch and struck him with his fist just as he was in the act of dipping up a basin of water; then drew his knife and inflicted a wound in his (Stivers') hand; then Stivers drew his knife in self-defense.

And this is the substance of that "murderous assault." The truth of this statement will be clearly proven if occasion offers. MRS. S. L. GANON.

SCHOOL CLOSED. — Three months since, at the solicitation of friends, Mrs Jonathan Brown opened a private school in this place, its term ending yesterday. As evidenced by the closing exercises and general advancement of the children, Mrs. Brown has demonstrated the fact that she is a most capable and popular teacher, notwithstanding her own misgivings at the outset, and the fact that this is her first experience in an undertaking of this kind.

PERSONAL. — J. S. Rothschild, the big boss of our local merchandising firm, Rothschild & Co., is paying our place one of his semi-occasional visits.

ROMAN NEWSPAPERS. — The newspapers of Rome are more numerous than we thought when alluding to them in a foreign letter. There are over twenty daily papers now published here, representing every shade of opinion, and have perfect freedom. Twenty years ago there was but one paper, published three times a week, which contained nothing but official bulletins and church notices. At an early hour in the morning the Roman citizen can be seen every where sitting at his door reading his paper, and the newsboys are shouting, only as Italian boys can shout, the inducements to purchase. I notice a pictorial paper with a cartoon representing Bismarck sitting in a chair rocking a cradle with either hand, with squalling babies in them, one representing England and the other Russia.—Corr. Baltimore American.

TULARE county will raise a large fruit crop this year. Several kinds have ripened here in advance of other places, and the orchards in all parts of the valley and in the foothills are reported to be heavily loaded. There are few climates better for fruits than ours. All kinds, both temperate and semi-tropical, can be raised here successfully and with profit.—Visalia Delta.

FROM all parts of the San Joaquin and Tulare valleys comes reports of rust in wheat. This will cause a great shrinkage in the crop, which would otherwise have been unusully large this year. It is much worse in Tulare county than was at first supposed, but not so bad as in other counties.—Delta.

BISMARCK never will part with a manuscript without carefully revising it. Once, being rallied on his caution, he remarked that it was no credit to be right where it would be inexcusable to be wrong.

IN practical effect, five new ocean cables have been laid across the Atlantic within the last few days, but it has been done so noiselessly that the newspapers have scarcely noticed it.

An Editor's Work.

There is to be a vacancy on the staff of one of the city dailies for an assistant editor, and as we have got hold of some of the qualifications required, we print them for the benefit of young men from the country who may be intending to become connected with the press. We can assure all such that it is a most fascinating employment, does not require any previous education or preparation, and pays enormously. The principal occupation of leading editors is to receive enormous bribes for leading articles, to attend theatres, concerts and other places of public resort, occupying the best places, of course, and to inform political leaders how they should regulate affairs. Assistant editors and reporters, who are scarce at $365 a week, generally work four hours a day when they are not away on vacations; have free passes everywhere, and the pleasure of their company is contended for by the elite of the city. Among the leading requirements are the following: He must be able to cook up leading articles from previous day's papers into special telegraphic dispatches. He must be familiar with the use of encyclopedias and guide books, in order to write special correspondence from London, Paris and Berlin. He must be able to expand a ten line accident into a half column disaster, with headings to match. He must be sharp enough if the paper gets a little dry, in his description of public men and their doings to fix his reports of them so as to tempt the said p. m. into print, and offer spicy editorial comment on their communications. He must be shrewd enough to credit especially bright things which he has to copy "Ex.," or "a contemporaty," or "daily paper," instead of the real title of the sheet selected from. He must be on hand for paragraphs about Kate Claxton, Barnum's caravans and Kate Field; ready to reduce half column puffs of dry goods and clothing advertisements to two stickfuls, and write out interviews with men who refuse to be pumped. He must be patient under the request of a three dollar advertiser for a ten dollar puff of a sparring exhibition, traveling lecturer or new invention. He is expected to be up all night and wide awake all day; to catch people at meal times, and therefore give up his own; be thoroughly posted in fires, theatricals, city and Congressional affairs, mechanics, physics, astronomy, algebra, politics, geography, Latin, the classics, dancing, French, patter the flash, science, zöology, the Beecher trial, the Tilton confessions and the election frauds. He must be ready at all times to sing a song with Moody and Sankey, accept an invitation to step in and see a man with a political candidate at Parker's, make a speech at the Papyrus, crack a joke with a circus clown, discuss divinity with a divine or acting with an actor; criticise with a Councilman; argue with an Alderman, rant with a Representative, maneuver with the Mayor and gossip with a Governor. No man who denominates an establishment "a store," a carnival of crime "a fight in a bar-room," a terrific conflagration "a serious fire," a temple of fashion "a millinery shop," an eloquent orator "a stump speaker," a distinguished member of the bar "a lawyer," an eminent artist "a stock actor," an auction sale of works of art "a sale of oil paintings," a cantatrice "an opera singer," or a tonsorial artist "a barber" will stand any chance of obtaining the place. Our brethern of the press will observe that we have only indicated a few of the requisites of the position referred to; the great bulk of the others will readily suggest themselves to every thinking mind. — Boston Commercial Bulletin.

DURING the late session of Congress there were introduced no less than 629 bills and 243 joint resolutions. Of this number 340 became laws, and of these 340 only 140 were of a truly public nature.

A FLY IN THE GRAVY.—Mrs. Jennie Miller, of Burkeville, Virginia, is a woman of great spirit and nerve. Her neighbors even say she has a high temper, which made storms in Miller's house. She had been married to Anderson Miller about two years, and during this time her husband had been trying to still the storms with calm kindness. He seldom talked back and never got angry, and this angelic disposition irritated the high-spirited woman dreadfully. It made woman's favorite weapon of no use whatever to her. Her's was so sharp, too, it was a pity. The other morning the two sat at breakfast together. They had a guest in the house but he had not yet come down stairs. Miller mildly remarked: "Wife, here's a fly in the gravy." Mrs. Miller screamed: "That's the way with you. You are all the time finding fault." Miller melodiously: "Oh, no, I just happened to see a fly, and I thought I would tell you." Mrs. Miller, rising majestically: "You're a liar, liar, liar, liar!" and her spunk rose with every repetition of the sharp little word. She bounced and waltzed around, and upset things generally, while the mild mannered Miller ate his bread and gravy around the fly. At length he told that she had better step out and cool off. She bounced out, seized an axe, and came back and knocked Miller on the head, while he still sat at the table busy with his bread and gravy, thankful for his food, his flies and other household joys. After the first blow Miller tried to get up, but the high spirited woman gave him another and another, and in a moment Miller fell to the floor and was no mere. To make a very sure thing of it, Mrs. Miller chopped off Miller's head, and when the guest came down the stairs to see what the row was, the triumphant woman, with the bloody axe in one hand, held up the bloody, reeking head of her husband with the other, shook it at the horrified guest, and shrieking "liar" once more, fell swooning to floor in a pool of blood. The guest did not want any breakfast that morning. Poor Miller has gone where he will get his gravy without flies, and Mrs. Miller was put under the restraining influences of lock and key, where she will have time to tone down her high temper and snub her passionate spirit.

A PRETTY INCIDENT.—The New York Evening Post had recently an incident proving that cats and dogs are not always antagonistic, which called forth a companion case from one of its correspondents. The writer says: "I am reminded of something of the sort that came beneath my observation some years ago. A small, curly black dog that we called 'Jip,' became wonderfully attached to a miserable black and white kitten—the least of the litter—and so great was their regard for each other that where one was there the other was sure to be. We gave the kitten to a neighbor, whereupon Jip refused food for days, and actually moped until she became a mere shadow To save her life I went after the kitten, which I found in the same ghostly condition, and never, never, shall that scene of meeting be effaced fiom the memory of those who witnessed it. They rushed—or rather crawled—into each other's embrace and gave many signs of joy. A good square meal and a long nap followed this reunion. In after years, however, as the kitten grew this mutual affection was lessened to a great extent, although they always treated each other with the greatest respect."

LARGEST SHAFT ON THE COMSTOCK. Experience in mining on the Comstock has demonstrated the great utility of larger shafts. The extra cost of sinking is comparatively trivial, while the conveniences are much greater. The shaft is the thoroughfare of the mine, and like the principal street of a city should be of ample dimensions. The largest shaft on the Comstock is the new one of the Yellow Jacket. Its three working compartments are each 5 feet by 6½, and the pump compartment is 6½ by 7½. Its has been carried down to the depth of 1560 feet, is vertical as a plumb line and well timbered. It is being constructed for business and to stay. The entire cost of the shaft, machinery, buildings, etc., up to the present time amounts to $672,858 08. The company owes on the machinery $65,000, which it has the coin on hand to pay. In convenience of arrangement the works are second to none on the lode.—Gold Hill News.

THE printers in the State printing office, last session, worked about half time, and, when employed, were paid at the rate of $4 50 per day of eight hours. In the interval between the passage of one steal and another, the Senate proposed to investigate the office. The same economical body appointed a messenger to carry bills to the State Printer—a distance of 150 yards, and ten minutes work a day—at a salary of $8 per diem. The last Legislature has so much to answer for that this little episode may redeem it somewhat.—Santa Barbara Press.

WE hold that the accumulation of large landed estates in the hands of the few is one of the evils of the times, and our legislation should be so shaped as to have a tendency to gradually and imperceptibly, but for all that not the less effectually, correct this evil, and the best way to accomplish this end is to raise no revenue except by direct taxation of property, and better, perhaps, of land alone.—Mendocino Beacon.

A BARBER in Lockport became dumb. He is now immensely wealthy.

MOTTO for a beautiful woman asleep: Handsome is as handsome doze.

THE FISHERMAN'S STORY. — Five bodies lay on the sands of Knott End, on the English coast, a fortnight ago, and a child's face and curls were hidden somewhere under the waves, when Fisherman John wiped his eyes, and with a husky voice told what had happened: "We were crossing the Sunderland, on the Lune," he said, "and I had charge of the sails. All went well for about two miles, and the boat had not taken a drop of water. We were just lighting our pipes when a mighty sea came, such as I have never seen in my life before, and it swamped the boat. I got hold of an oar and a mast to hold myself up. The rest all seemed to go from the boat except my sister Harriet, who threw her arms around my neck. She said, 'Oh, brother, don't cast me off!' I said: 'I never will.'' She held on for some time, and kissed me and said her prayers; but soon we became exhausted, and then she let go her hold and sank. I could not recover her, and I could not strike out or swim to the shore while she held me by the neck. We should be quite twenty minutes on the mast, and about a mile from the shore. No one came to our rescue. I saw the others sink very shortly after the boat was swamped. I saw my little boy, six years old, floating on his back, and I think he must have gone out to sea. After my sister had let go, I swam ashore." There is pathos in that simple fisherman's tale.

NEW VOLCANO IN PERU.—A Peruvian newspaper, the Bolsa, says that extraordinary phenomena have been observed in connection with the "Corpuna" volcano in the Province of Castilla, which have caused great alarm among the population. The immense banks of snow that have crowned its summit from time immemorial have suddenly melted away with such rapidity as to cause torrents to rush down the sides of the mountain, washing out immense quantities of stones and earth. The river below, being unable to contain the great body of water so suddenly added to it, overflowed its banks, causing great damage and distress. A great chasm or lateral crater next opened on one side, throwing out volumes of smoke and steam as well as tongues of flame, which were distinctly visible at night, accompanied with loud subterranean rumblings. It had never been supposed that Corpuna was or could be a volcano, and there is no tradition that it was ever in a state of eruption. Nor within the memory of man has its crown of snow ever been absent.

THE so-called Republic of Ecuador, in South America, has a Dictator—not one who has fought his way to that position by force and arms, but one elected by a traitorous and cowardly Constitutional Convention. The Convention had been at work for several months, and one of its measures was a provision denying religious liberty within the bounds of Ecuador. Finally, on the last day of the session, a creature of President Veintemilla moved that Veintemilla be declared Dictator for an unlimited period, that the work of the Convention be considered null and void for the present, and that the Convention adjourn. The law-givers, some of whom were in the secret, and others too craven to protest, agreed to the proposition, and Veintemilla is now the despot of Ecuador.

NOTWITHSTANDING we have passed through a very trying year, whereby property has depreciated and capital forced to seek other fields of investment, yet the Tax Assessor's returns show an increase of taxable property in the county of something like near $500,000 over last year. This demonstrates the steady growth of our county in material prosperity, in spite of the great drawbacks that have existed; in spite of the hard times. This fact and these figures should inspire great confidence in our f uture.—Los Angeles Star.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, JULY 20.....1878.

THE INDIANS.—Gen. Howard and his subordinate commands have had several severe fights with the Bannacks, beating them every time. The Indians after a number of futile attempts to cross the Columbia, and these fights in the mountains, struck back into the Blue Mountain fastnessess, and in scattering bands were making for Snake River at the mouth of the Grande Ronde, hoping to cross it. Howard and a portion of his command went immediately to Lewiston, to be in position to cut them off, Gen. Miles, including Egbert's command, following up the enemy. The Umatilla Indians have joined the whites, and on the 15th near Meacham's Station, in the Blue Mountains, had a fight with the Bannacks, in which the latter lost 22 scalps. Soon after Col. Forsythe with seven companies of cavalry struck them again at Umatilla Agency, killing quite a number, with but two men wounded and none killed. The Snake Chief Egan was reported killed at the time the Umatillas had their fight. On that occasion the Umatillas captured some 300 horses from the Bannacks, besides the scalps mentioned above. It looks now as if the Bannacks must begin to see they have undertaken a bad contract.

THE OFFICIAL CANVASS.—Gov. Irwin, Controller Brown and the Deputy Secretary of State had a most laborious job in canvassing the vote of the late election. The work began on the 9th and was finished, all except footing up some of the figures, at 1 o'clock on the morning of the 11th, the session having been almost continuous. A good deal of fault was found at the way some of the County Clerks made out their returns, the worst being those from San Mateo county. No fault was found with the Inyo returns, however. There were over one thousand names of candidates on the tally sheets, so that the work of footing up the figures is alone no trifling matter. The general result has been known for some time past, so that figures in detail have lost interest. The following, however, shows the vote for the lowest Non-Partisan and the highest Workingman in the respective Congressional Districts: First District—Barnes, 38,143; Sharpstein, 36,107; Non-Partisan majority, 2,036. Second District — Edgerton, 41,321; Williams, 36,473; Non-Partisan majority, 4,848. Third District—Shafter, 38,686; Boyle, 36,408; Non-Partisan majority, 2,278. Fourth District—Graves, 39,811; Pilkington, 36,359; Non-Partisan majority, 3,452.

AT the close of the great Napoleonic struggle Great Britain had but 9 per cent. of the population of five first class powers of Europe; now she has 13 per cent. Her accumulations of wealth have far exceeded the growth of population. The savings of her poor in 1830 amounted to £13,508,000; in 1876 they amounted to £70,280,000. Pauperism since 1841 has decreased from 8 per cent. to 3 per cent. Crime has greatly diminished, judging by the committals. Her foreign commerce has doubled since 1860. Her banking capital is eight times greater than that of Russia, and she pays 3½ per cent. interest against 6½ paid by Russia. The moral of all this is clear—let her keep out of war for another quarter of a century. Otherwise, the gathering trouble with her operatives shows how easily the burdens and fearful losses of war will turn the tide the other way, and undo all she has been gaining as per above.

A LAKE of medicine has been discovered in Stevens county, Washington Territory. Boys bathe their chapped feet in it and are speedily cured. It cures scratches on horses and every kind of skin disease. The lake is half a mile wide and a mile long.—Ex.

That isn't a circumstance to the actual curative properties of the waters of Owens Lake. The Indians find in them a certain remedy for disorders of —well, ask the Reese River Reveille what the dusky maidens are most afflicted with. But at one time there was about a hundred Indians went into the lake and got cured of all further desire to fight the whites.

THE San Francisco Pacific Life, one of the best sporting journals in the Union, has entered upon its third year and in an improved form.

A GREAT CATALOGUE.

The Surgeon-General of the United States army is now busily engaged in preparing a catalogue of the books in the Medical Library at Washington, reputed to be the largest in the world. The great work in hand is intended as an encyclopædia of medical knowledge useful to all the world. When finished this great catalogue will be a complete descriptive index to nearly everything which has ever been written upon any subject, in any language, which has a professional interest to medical men—in short, it is to be a universal index of medical literature. The magnitude of the undertaking will be appreciated from the fact that the catalogue will consist of not less than seven or eight volumes, each about the size of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary. In its compilation a force of seven or eight clerks, under the direction of Army Surgeon J. S. Billings, has been engaged for several years, and are not yet through. Ninety thousand volumes have each to be minutely scanned.

As an illustration of the contents and style of the great catalogue, it may be mentioned that the single heading, "abscess," covers about seven hundred references, occupying eight pages of the work, the notations being like this: "Barlow, W. H., two cases of deep abscess treated with carbolic acid. Manchester Medical and Surgical Report, 1870 (1) pp. 37 (40)."

Should Congress authorize the publication of the work, it is proposed to distribute sets to the medical and circulating libraries in all the large cities of the country, where they can be consulted by any physician, who, having a special and uncommon case, may wish to know what others may have written upon and tried in similar cases, and where such writings may be found. At the last session Congress was asked for an appropriation of $200,000 to pay for the publication of 10,000 copies for the above purpose, and that physicians may have a chance to obtain the invaluable work at a price just to cover cost of printing.

TERRIBLE times were expected in Montreal on the 12th between the Orangemen and Catholics, but fortunately expectations were disappointed, all owing to the preparations of the civic authorities under Mayor Beaudry and the military to prevent or suppress it. Vast numbers of troops were ready to take a hand at a moment's notice. A great riot would have occurred nevertheless had not the Orangemen reconsidered their resolution to parade at all hazards. After meeting at their hall and talking the matter over, their leaders having been previously arrested, they decided not to march. Some of them while going peacefully to their homes were set upon and shamefully beaten. It's a pity the military had not been ordered to play upon that mob until not a man of it was left in sight. The United States is not the only weak Government in the world, when it comes to killing off riotous voters who need killing.

IN consigning Benjamin Noyes to eighteen months' imprisonment, remarks the New York Tribune, Jersey justice has not secured so heavy a sentence as has been inflicted by New York courts in several insurance cases. But the law seems to have hedged the matter of meting out full justice to those insurance scoundrels about with so many difficulties, we may be thankful that one now and then gets as much as this Noyes.

NEW SONG.—Sherman, Hyde & Co. have sent us "When the Twilight Soft is Falling," song and chorus by D. S. Hakes. A perfect musical gem and a rare combination of sentiment, music and art. With illumined title page and beautiful print. A production replete with the tenderest emotion, and whose merit demands no recommendation other than an introduction. Price 35 cents.

GEN. L. E. BONNEVILLE, the soldier and explorer, died at his home in Arkansas a few days since at the advanced age of ninety-six years. He was a graduate of West Point, and the officer in charge of the Western Exploring Expedition, whose history is so interestingly told in Washington Irving's "Adventures of Captain Bonneville."

ON the 29th of this month there will be an eclipse of the sun, which will be total at Denver, Colorado, therefore no doubt, more or less noticable in this region. Prof. Langtry, of the Alleghany Observatory, and a number of other scientists have gone to Pike's Peak, Colorado, to observe the eclipse, that being also in the line of totality.

MAJOR T. W. HARDWICK, Delegate elect to the Constitutional Convention from the Assembly district of Merced and Mariposa counties, died July 10, at his residence near Quartzburg.

THE INYO INDEPENDENT has entered on its ninth volume. It has always been noted as a very well conducted paper.—S. F. Alta.

A report from Anaheim, Los Angeles county, says the cut and wire worms have entirely disappeared. The corn crops are looking splendid. The barley crop has been entirely exaggerated; it will not yield five sacks to the acre. The rye crop will prove most remunerative of all.

10 smells make one snifter.
10 snifters make one whoop-'em-up.
10 whoop-'em-ups make one stone blind.
100 stone blinds make one jim-jam.

Indian Thievery.

A New York dispatch of July 15 has the following in relation to the recently developed Indian frauds:

Commmissioner Hoyt has unearthed great frauds at the Crow Creek agency. Dr. Livingstone began his robbery in 1870, when first appointed. Since then he has accumulated a fortune. Besides his large landed interests, he is part owner in three silver mines in Nevada. Livingston and his "pards" own two cattle ranches with stock, rations, etc., regularly supplied from the Crow Creek and Cheyenne Agencies. They were both seized by the Government. They conducted a hotel supplied regularly with beef, milk and potatoes from the Agency, and forced their employés to board there. They used the Agency blacksmith shop and material for private gains. All their private stock was fed at Government cribs. Livingstone sold Agency wood to the steamboats and hay to the Black Hills wagon trains. Crow Creek is the stopping place on the Fort Pierre route to Deadwood. The Indian annuities and rations were stolen and sold. Two steamboat loads of Indian goods, intended for the Lower Brule Agency, were unloaded at Crow Creek, under a protest of the steamboat captain, who insisted that they belong to the Brules. The Indians put up large quantities of hay and wood, and were paid in their own rations and annuities. The ring would charge the Government for this hay and wood, get paid for them and then sell the same to the steamboats, military posts and bushwhackers, and then get paid a second time. The crops raised on the Agency were sold and the proceeds not accounted for. The trader would sell an Indian his own potatoes, and the trader's warehouse was outside the stockade and ten feet from the Government warehouse. The former was stocked from the latter. Of course all the stolen property was reported issued to the Indians. Whole bands a dozen times a year had their rations cut off for alleged offenses, the rations, however, not being accounted for. There were rations and annuities drawn for three hundred more Indians than there were on the Agency. The false vouchers already number one hundred and fifty, ranging from $50 to $1,500 each. The instances of perjury are too numerous to mention.

COAL MINE.—Judge McClinton informs our reporter that he was down in Coal Valley last week, and that a coal mine has been discovered there which promises to become very valuable. Veins of coal were found in this valley eighteen years ago, and considerable work was done on them. The coal, however, was of so poor a quality—being more of a bituminous shale than coal—that it was not deemed profitable, and it was discontinued. The vein which was discovered recently was of a far better character, and Judge McClinton says he tried specimens in the forge which burned as freely as the best article of Cumberland coal, the only objection being that it left considerable slag. The specimens which he tried were from near the surface, and he thinks that at a depth the coal will become better. If this expectation should be realized, the mine would be of great value to its owners and to the surrounding country. It is also probable that other mines would be discovered.—Bodie Standard.

THE new silver dollar has become a bugbear to the Government. The coinage is now going on at the rate of two millions a month, but every attempt to force them into circulation has at yet failed. There have been coined up to the present time nearly 9,000,000 of these dollars, the great bulk of which are stored in the Treasury at Washington and in the Sub-Treasury building here. So great has been the accumulation of these coins that the Government has found it necessary to make additional accommodation for their storage in view of their increasing bulk. As long as the people will not use them they must be kept away from marauders, and therefore additional vaults are now constructing at the Sub-Treasury for their especial storage.—New York Indicator.

THE Enquirer publishes an interview with Gen. Carey, late Greenback candidate for the Presidency, in which he predicts that the National party will elect 16 to 20 Congressmen in the coming elections, and hold the balance of power in Congress, and that they will elect five Congressmen in Michigan, and the remainder in New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Wisconsin, Missouri, Arkansas, Iowa and Texas, and hold sufficient power in the State Legislatures to defeat Conkling, Cameron and Howe. He is also sure that the Nationals will elect the next President.

THE Chinese have met with another defeat in their effort to tackle naturalization. At New York a Chinaman made application to Judge Choate of the United States District Court, to become a citizen. The Judge denied the application, under a decision of Judge Sawyer, of the United States Circuit Court of California, in the case of Ah Youn.

THE INYO INDEPENDENT has begun its ninth volume. It improves if it does not enlarge with age, and is a credit to the southern part of the State. It has the good wishes of all its exchanges, and we are pleased to be reckoned among the number.—Bakersfield Courier.

IF the President keeps on modifying his order to office holders, it will soon mean merely that any fellow who contributes to the fund of the opposition party will be fired.

THE Jesuit Fathers of San Francisco propose to build a magnificent cathedral on Van Ness avenue. Fifteen million bricks will be required in its construction.

THE Attorney-General has decided that the construction of the eight-hour law heretofore adopted by the Government is all wrong, and that the statute must be so interpreted as to compel the public authorities to give ten hours' wages for eight hours' work, or, in other words, to pay their laborers 25 per cent. more than is paid by private employers for the same service. This opinion will be an unpleasant surprise to tax-payers, and to persons generally who like to see statutes construed by plain rules of common sense. Mr. Devens may be right in assuming that Congress meant to do a foolish thing; but the public would have confidence in his judgment if he had not on other occasions yielded to the failing, not uncommon in a certain class of legal minds, to strain a doubtful law for the purpose of getting out of it the most foolish meaning for which it is capable. He ruled some time ago that the law with respect to advertising would not allow the departments to pay more than a small fraction of the minumum rates of the cheapest decent periodicals, and, as a consequence, the Government announcements were thrown out by every journal which had the slightest claim to be considered a newspaper. Practically, the United States was not able to advertise at all until this absurd and pedantic ruling was upset the other day.—N. Y. Tribune.

GONE FROM OUR GAZE.—The stage for Benton carried from our city Wednesday morning a precious load. Among the distinguished departures was Col. Putney, well known in financial circles on the Pacific Coast. The Colonel intends opening a game of faro at Benton, with a capital of $5,000, and says if he plays lucky he intends to quit sporting and turn his attention to farming. As he is satisfied that Frank Shaw will follow him and endeavor to break his game, we may therefore, in all probability, in a short time see the Colonel acting as the genial host of the Adobe Meadows.—Aurora Herald.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, JULY 20.....1878.

HOME MANUFACTURE.—Some time ago T. F. A. Connelly concluded to have a wagon built for his own use, and accordingly went below and selected the very best timber for the purpose to be found in the San Francisco market, and brought the material here for one of our home mechanics to put together. The job was performed by Mr. M. H. White, of Bishop Creek. After looking at the manner in which both the iron and wood work is put together, and noting various little improvements which have been added, we feel safe in saying a better wagon or more creditable a piece of work in its line has not been turned out in the State. One very great advantage in having the work put together here, comes from the thorough drying of the wood in a climate which is so ruinous to imported wagons, no matter how well built originally. Another advantage is that the total cost of the finished vehicle is something near $100 less on one of this capacity (8,000 pounds) built here at home than if from some Stockton or San Francisco shop. It is a matter worthy of investigation by parties who wish to obtain a first-class wagon for their own use. It will certainly pay to patronize home manufactures when you can get a better and cheaper article.

FIRE ALARM.—Tuesday last volumes of smoke were seen issuing from Paul Bennett's stable, and soon thereafter the entire town was there with buckets, determination in the eye and other things with which to do or die. In a little while the conflagration, found to be located in the litter of one of the stalls, was entirely squelched, with no further damage than to char the adjoining wood work and cause quite a general and well founded alarm, yet to leave its origin entirely unaccountable. The favorite theory as to that, however, is that some Piute gentlemen had been having a quiet game of pipes there in the stable, and while trying to light their cards had dropped their poker into the litter, which then took fire spontaneously, or somehow that way, and then immediately pulled up stakes and left without saying anything more.

COUNTY COURT.—The People vs. Jose Lopez and Ramon Ontone, indicted for grand larceny, case was given to the jury last Saturday, but failing to agree, they were discharged on Sunday morning. A new venire was issued for 30 persons to act as jurors, returnable Monday the 22d. In the case of Levy vs. Robinson, appeal from Justice Court, Second Township, the appeal was dismissed for the reason that no notice of appeal had been served upon plaintiff.

NORTHERN STAGES. — Phil. Kehoe, formerly employed on the Northern Stage Line under the Clugage management, has been made Division Agent for this end of the Allman line between Independence and Aurora. He states that the "Dolly Varden wagons" will leave here every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 3 o'clock A. M., and mails and passengers arrive at Aurora the next day at 3 P. M. The northern mail arrives on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, at 11 o'clock A. M.

PREACHING.—Rev. J. W. Bell will preach in the school house at this place at 11 o'clock A. M., on Sunday, August 4, and at Georges Creek at 4 o'clock the same day. Mr. Bell has established quite a reputation as a preacher in the upper part of the valley, where he has been laboring for some months past, and no doubt people generally would find it an agreeable change in their regular Sunday routine to spend a half hour in listening to him on these occasions.

KEARSARGE.—Supt. Gray is making progress at the rate of three feet per day, now working two shifts. He has yet 150 feet to run to reach a point below the bottom of the Cliff shaft, where a large body of the best ore ever found in the Kearsarge mines is known to exist. Mr. Gray is entitled to the utmost credit for his steady, plucky and persevering efforts to develop at great depth one of the most noted of our Inyo mining properties.

BISHOP CREEK AND PINE CITY.—J. H. Stoutenborough, besides his main mercantile establishment at Bishop Creek, has now in operation a branch at Pine City, in Mono. Mr. S. has just left Bishop Creek, having made his first visit to our country lately. We judge that he was pleased with the general outlook, having made arrangements for increasing his already heavy business.

BUG REMEDY.—Air slacked lime sprinkled over potatoe vines has been found an effectual remedy against the potatoe bug, and such being the case it might prove a good remedy for vermin of other kinds upon plants of other descriptions—cabbage for instance. The lime is also said to be a good fertilizer, thus applied.

DEAD.—"Ebony," Tom May's old well known black trotting horse, died in pasture a day or two ago. His valorous and faithful work in the past made him a local reputation and many friends who will wish the old fellow an earnest "peace to his manes."

APPOINTMENT. — Surveyor-General Wagner, in his list of Deputies for the State, announces the appointment of S. A. Hanson for Independence. By-the-way, who is S. A. Hanson?

INTERPRETER.—We are authorized by Sheriff Dad Moore to state that Oliver Roberts, of Darwin, is the boss interpreter of the Spanish language for that region.

ST. VINCENT'S COLLEGE.—Studies are to be resumed at this long established college at Los Angeles on the 1st proximo. See advertisement.

FOR STEALING A WATCH.—In Justice Gardner's court now comes the People of the State of California against one D. M. Markley, charging the said Markley with having feloniously burglarized a large American silver watch, Waltham make, attached to a heavy bullion chain, the property of Ben Williams, a driver on the Northern Stage Line. The complaint alleges, among other things, that the said Markley entered the stage barn in this place, where Ben and his watch were peacefully passing the night, grabbed the ticker, chain and all, and cleared out, going southward. When Ben on the following morning, which was Sunday last, realized what had happened, a search warrant was sworn out and placed in the hands of Special Deputy Sheriff Nate Mount, to serve on the recreant and suspected Markley. Nate overhauled his man at Walker's place at the foot of the lake, and brought him and the watch, minus the chain, back together. Mr. Markley, though, at first denied all knowledge of the watch, and could hardly believe his own eyes when Nate found it on his person. Then, recovering his memory somewhat, he explained to Nate that he had got that very watch from a mahala, having traded a bottle of whisky for it. This was at dinner when on the way back. Nate thought it was a pity that a man like Markley should lie that way for a $60 watch, but brought him along all the same and turned him over to the Sheriff and the tender mercies of the law. Besides the watch and chain, this here Markley also took some $6 in silver that Ben happened to have in his pockets that night. But what became of that $6 and the watch chain is still a mystery. The case will probably be concluded to-day.

WOULD IT WORK?—A firm from the other side of the Sierras has written us for facts bearing upon the establishment of a soap factory somewhere in the valley, as to the amount of that article consumed, price of tallow, etc. In a general way the cost of transportation to and from the different points is the main thing militating against the enterprise, but the query suggests itself—could not the alkaline waters of the Big Lake be used advantageously in such an enterprise? The powerful detersive and cleansing properties of the lake waters, its boracic and alkaline qualities, it is barely possible, might be used to an advantage. In this water a hide is bereft of hair in just no time at all, a greasy blanket is purified in a moment, and the washing of a sheep but the work of an instant. Barrels of the fluid have been shipped to Los Angeles for shampooning purposes, as it obviates the necessity of any soap at all, and we stand pat on the proposition that if there was a railroad to the lake some great industries would spring up on its shores, the basis thereof the water itself. It being of great depth, eight miles wide and about twenty long, the steamers Bessie Brady and Mollie Stevens would be able to float for some time yet, notwithstanding the consumption of water.

FOR THE MOUNTAINS.—Quite a large number of persons, including women and children, are off or intend soon to be off on a mountain excursion to fish, hunt, fight gnats, mosquitoes, snakes, etc., and have a splendid time generally away up 10,000 or 12,000 feet, where it's cool and frosty. Some of these excursionists look for these delights on Kern river, but the majority are heading for a lake some ten miles west of the Kearsarge mill just beyond the summit. This lake is said to abound in trout of the largest size, every one the result of a plant from King's river, just beyond, made by the Kitchen party some three years ago. Al. Robinson starts to-day with material for a pleasure boat for the lake. In view of these things, and with the kind permission of duties and creditors, we propose to send an INDEPENDENT family delegation over there ere long, not on account of the trout but to verify facts and benefits of travel.

THE TUNNEL.— The Independence Tunnel and Mining Company is getting the details of its work into perfect shape for rapid and advantageous progress of the enterprise. Some 40 feet of distance has been made, the open cut to the face, very deep and wide, having been substantially walled up and fixed to stay fixed. Supt Caldwell informs us that the tunnel will soon be under contract for running 1,000 feet. Its dimensions are six by seven feet, and is to be substantially timbered wherever the nature of the ground in any way requires it. In the distance of 1,200 feet six distinct veins will be crossed, all of which show ore of a very high grade in the shafts and cross drifts. The tunnel will control the whole series of mines on this belt, opening them at a very great depth. The enterprise is backed up by some solid capitalists, and its progress is watched by a number of the best mining men on the Coast.

SCHOOL MATTERS. — Mr. Daniel Crough, a brother of our worthy County Clerk, has been engaged to teach the Independence school for the ensuing term. Mr. C., though a young man, is a thorough graduate and a teacher of some five years' experience, much of the time in Sonora, Tuolumne county. He will begin this school one week from next Monday.... Mrs. A. Lowe will continue teaching in Milton district for the first three months of this year's term. Mr. Crough, it is presumed, will then take that school for the remainder of its term. The arrangements are that these schools are equally free for the attendance of the children of the two districts alike, at least when both schools are not in session at the same time, as they will be for some two months after this one here begins.

DOING WELL.—The branch store of J. S. Rothschild & Co., under charge of Billy Lake, at Lake District, is reported as flourishing.

DON'T GO—The Independence Nine to-day to get flaxed at Lone Pine.

THE Brooklyn Union-Argus feels as proud as if it were Edison. It has discovered the difference between the weather and a baby: "One never rains but it pours; the other never pains but it roars."

THE LATE MICHAEL REDDY.—In the Woonsocket (Rhode Island) Patriot of the 4th instant, we find an extended obituary notice of one of the oldest and most prominent citizens of that city, Mr. Michael Reddy, father to our own citizens, P. and E. A., and the late John Reddy, on whose account the highly complimentary notice in question becomes a matter of local interest. The great length of the article precludes its publication here in full, but these two extracts are well worth attention:

Michael Reddy was born in the town of Bagnal, County Carlow, Ireland, in the beginning of the present century, and when O'Connell and Sheil were making a terrible struggle for the emancipation of the Irish Catholics from the Penal Laws in 1823, deceased emigrated to the free and independent United States of America, landing in Boston in October of that year. Mr. Richardson, in his history of Woonsocket, referring to that event, says: "No bells were rung or cannon fired to his honor when the ship on which he stood approached the wharf; and so, unlike those in whose honor bells are rung and cannon fired, our hero was free to go where he pleased." * * He was one of that class referred to by an American orator in these words: "The Irish who settle in America are creatures of their own antecedents. The Atlantic works no miracle in them. They come to these shores the production of British power. Disfranchised in their native land, the suffrage is a novelty to them; disarmed, the use of arms is a possession not understood; ruled by a class, they abhor the very semblance of class legislation; untrained to freedom, they make but a poor figure at first as freemen." Such was the deceased; but he grew fast with the laws, and always identified himself with the law, and in indoctrinating of his own people into the country's institutions, became their champion.

MR. LAWRENCE'S "HIGH JINKS." The following from a late San Francisco Chronicle, refers to Mr. Maurice Levin, once a well known resident of this place:

Morris Lawrence for some six days past has been gazing haughtily down upon less fortunate beggars from an elevated perch in the Palace Hotel. Last evening he was transferred to less commodious quarters in the City Prison. His offense was obtaining goods under false pretenses. It is said that he allowed people to gather the idea that he was immensely wealthy, and instead of instantly correcting the rather extravagant impression, he illegally and with malice aforethought revelled in it. The dark visaged servants, who treat everybody lower than a millionaire with frigid politeness, accorded Mr. Lawrence the most distinguished consideration. It is said that the floor of his room was littered with wine bottles, and his excesses in other directions were pleasantly marked by the hotel people and encouraged. It transpired that Mr. Lawrence's wealth was a chimera, and his fall was very sudden.

DARWIN ITEMS. — The outlook for Inyo may not appear very bright for many who have been long and anxiously hoping for better times, but if we can guess correctly we think we are safe in saying we shall soon have a healthier business and on a more extensive scale than ever before. With the Defiance, New Coso, Coso Consolidated, Hidalgo and, perhaps, Cuervo, all in full blast at Darwin, together with the Modoc and Minnietta Belle at Lookout, and the Union Consolidated at Cerro Gordo, everything in Southern Inyo must soon begin to assume a very lively prospect.—Editorial Correspondence.

T. S. Harris, our chief, who is in San Francisco, writes us that he met Mr. Hamilton, proprietor of the Kern and Inyo Stage Line, and that on the 1st of August stages will commence running six days out of seven. This is good news and will be gladly received by our readers. They were to have started in on the 1st instant with the new mail service, but is has been postponed four weeks. Better late than never.

T. S. writes us that Mr. Reddy will return in a few days to resume operations in the old Defiance. Martin Mee has improved wonderfully, and will soon be able to take his place as foreman of the Defiance again. It is also reported that the New Coso will start up work at the Lucky Jim mine in a week or two.—Darwin News.

A SAN FRANCISCO dispatch of the 11th says: The death of Mr. Friedlander was very unexpected. He was yesterday in unusually good health and spirits, ate a hearty dinner, after which he smoked in the best of humor, but suddenly complained of a severe pain in the region of the heart, and remarked that it was probably a return of the old trouble, from which he had suffered some years ago. The pain continued to increase until death closed his sufferings. To-day the offices of the deceased operator are closed, but R. E. Doyle, the managing clerk of the concern, states to the correspondent that no serious embarrassment will result from the death of his principal. The business was conducted mostly on a cash basis, and a settlement will be reached with but little trouble. Some inconvenience of a temporary character will arise from the necessary delay while proper legal steps are being taken for the disposition of affairs, but the estate is fully solvent and in a good condition for the prompt satisfaction of all demands.

THE Masonic Monthly for July is at hand. It is a most able and well-edited periodical, devoted exclusively to Masonry, and should secure the earnest support of the craft.

THE English aristocracy are looking for lands in the United States. Lord Scully just purchased a large farm in Illinois, and is negotiating for the purchase of 70,000 acres more.

WHAT is the only pain of which every one makes light? A window pane.

SATURDAY, JULY 20.....1878.

A NEW SILVER VAULT.—A new vault is in course of construction in the basement of the Sub-Treasury building, New York. The vault will be directly under the "gold room." and is to be used for the safe keeping of silver. When finished it will have a capacity sufficient to hold nearly $9,000,000 in silver coin. The room will be forty-seven feet long by twenty-eight feet wide inside and will be twelve feet in height. It will be, when completed. the largest burglar proof safe in the world. The metallic lining of the vault will be constructed of welded iron and steel, in alternate layers, the whole enclosed by granite walls six feet thick. Iron plates for the floor will be laid directly on a stone flagging, supported by a bed of concrete six feet thick, while the roof of the vault will be sustained by rolled iron beams or girders let into granite columns. Internally there will be attice partitions of iron, dividing the vault into twelve stalls, arranged on either side of an aisle extending back from the door, which forms a single entrance from a point opposite to an elevator and staircase communicating with the coin room on the floor above. Openings in the floor and ceiling, secured by strong gratings, will serve as ventilators. The work will first be set up by the manufacturers, for inspection and testing by Government officers, and then be taken apart and removed to the Sub Treasury vault. The entire cost of the vault will be $22,000. Workman are now engaged in cutting out an arched brick floor, and the spaces formerly used as doors and windows in the basement of the Sub-Treasury are being filled up by inserting single blocks of granite about one foot in thickness, with a concrete backing.—Ex.

A MORTGAGE.—In the whole range of sacred and profane literature perhaps there is nothing recorded which has such staying qualities as a good healthy mortgage. A mortgage can be depended upon to stick closer than a brother. It has a mission to perform which never lets up. Day after day it is right there, nor does the slightest tendency to slumber impair its vigor in the night. Night and day, on the Sabbath and at holiday times, without a moment's time for rest or recreation, the biting offspring of its existence, interest, goes on. The seasons may change, days run into weeks, weeks into months, and months may be swallowed up into the gray man of advancing years, but that mortgage stands up in sleepless vigilance, with the interest, a perennial stream, ceaselessly running on. Like a huge nightmare eating out the sleep of some restless slumberer, the unpaid mortgage rears up its gaunt front in perpetual torment to the miserable weight who is held within its pitiless clutch. It holds the poor victims with the relentless grasp of a giant; not one hour of recreation, not a moment's evasion of its hideous presence. A genial savage of modifying aspect while the interest is paid; a very devil of hopeless destruction when the payments fail.

WE are glad to learn, by telegraph from San Bernardino, that the Temescal tin mine has been bonded to German capitalists for $1,500,000, and that active work will be commenced soon on the mine.—Los Angeles Express.

NOTICE.

TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: THE undersigned hereby gives notice that one Jesse Bunday, who has held one third interest in the Darwin Brewery, by renting same of Dick Crator, made no returns to his partner of moneys collected by him, and on the 27th day of June last, at 8 o'clock A. M., concluded to withdraw from the said firm, with the understanding that Mr. Davis was to collect all outstanding bills due the said firm. Later of the same day said Jesse Bunday went over to Lookout, where money was due the late firm, collected it and left for parts unknown. I want to publish the underhanded advantage Jesse Bunday took of me, and take this method of so doing. The business will continue to be carried on by me.

JOE. DAVIS.

Mennonites.

As another large party of Mennonites has recently reached our shores our readers may be interested in knowing exactly what sort of people they are. They are quiet, peaceful and industrious, and the most of them have means sufficient to begin life anew in the west without assistance. The most of those who have their homes on this side of the Mississippi, like those who are now coming, are Russians, and their sobriety, thrift and industry make them desirable citizens. As they are opposed to war, they would be of no service as soldiers in a time of danger, but they give the Government substantial support in creating taxable property wherever they go, and in honestly meeting all their obligations. A writer in the New York Times says they are a sort of Quaker-Baptists, agreeing in the main with the Baptist denominations, though they believe usually in sprinkling instead of immersion. They are wholly opposed, with the Society of Friends, to taking an oath, holding an office, capital punishment and employing force, all of which they regard as inconsistent with the teachings of Christianity. They believe that the New Testament is the sole rule of faith; that the terms Person and Trinity should not be applied to the Father, Son and Holy Ghost; that infants should not be baptized, and that there is no original sin. Their first organization was by Menno Simonis, in Holland, in the sixteenth century, and they settled in this country (in and about Germantown, Pennsylvania) as early as 1683. They have since spread over Pennsylvania; are found in New York, Maryland, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and particularly in Kansas, Nebraska, Minnesota and Dakota. They have been much persecuted in the past, resulting in materially reducing their numbers. Toward the end of the eighteenth century several thousand German Mennonites took refage in Southern Russia, and it is their descendants who are making their homes in the West. The Emperor Paul granted them freedom forever from military service, and their number has since largely increased from continuous immigration. It is estimated that there are now over 200,000 in the United States, and they are steadily multiplying. Not the least acceptable feature in their creed is their refusal to hold office. In this respect they differ so radically from other Old World immigrants that their presence here may be regarded as an unmixed blessing.—Virginia Enterprise.

THE Marysville (Cal.) Appeal learns from several Sutter county farmers, who have threshed their crops, that the yield per acre is much less than was estimated, it averaging from ten to twelve bushels per acre. Whether the fields fail to yield as much as was expected into ten or twelve bushels, or whether that is the whole amount harvested, we do not know, but either is bad enough. The loss is due to a natural cause, and unless that cause be removed, it will reduce California wheat raisers to beggary. They plant their fields with wheat year after year, until the elements in the soil which produce that grain are becoming exhausted. That is all there is to it. The fields which formerly yielded from thirty to forty bushels to the acre fell down to twenty and thirty, and they will continue to decrease until there will not be crop enough to pay expenses, and then the old crowd will pass out. There is just one remedy in their hands which will save them: When they turn the rivers and prepare their lands so that they can irrigate them, and thus bring around a rotation in crops, or where this not practicable, when they cease to try and raise a crop from the same land oftener than once in three or four years, they will have good crops and not before. The present course is rapidly changing their great valleys into a desert, and the natural result is that the average farmer is growing poorer and poorer every year.—Virginia Enterprise.

THE most firm believers now in the iniquity of the silver dollar law, are Wells, Fargo & Co. They have suffered a heavy blow in the falling off of gold shipments East. For the two weeks ending July 15th the gold shipments East were but $30,375 against $1,526,300 for the same period last year. This falling off is the direct result of the new silver law, in that under the latter the shipments of coin balances are now sent almost exclusively in the new silver certificates, which can be sent by mail, or any other way at but trifling cost. The usual express charge on gold to New York is nearly one-half of one per cent.

The Siamese Twins Outdone.

Eastern exchanges are filled with descriptions and engravings of a pair of twins a la Siamese, which excel their prototypes. The following is a description of them: The St. Benoit twins are two distinct and separate organizations. They have two perfectly formed and natural heads and bodies as far as the last rib. Below that the two bodies are fused into one. Each has two arms but only one leg. When a pin is thrust into the right leg the right girl will cry, while the left girl continues her previous occupation—generally a broad smile. Other experiments show that each of the twins is entirely separated from the other, and one may be sleeping while the other is laughing. They have but one abdomen, but the heart and upper intestines in each are separate and independent.

When taken to the library both began to cry heartily in the same tone, and when one stopped the other stopped, and when one thrusts its chubby fist into its mouth the other did the same. At first they refused to allow the spectators to examine them, notwithstanding the coaxing of the mother, and they cried so much that she was compelled to take them back to a private room, where after awhile they became quiet. When ushered into this room the visitors found one of them fast asleep, while the other was awake and laughing. Shortly the sleeping one woke up and began a plaintive cry, in which the other joined most heartily.

The twins were born at St. Benoit, about 30 miles from Montreal, Canada, where their parents and grandparents, who are descended from the original French settlers of the country, have resided for nearly one hundred years past. They are seven months old, perfectly healthy, handsome, and, judging from appearances, have the same chance of life as ordinary children. The parents have one other child, a girl two years old, entirely free from blemish, and the present twins are the first instance ever known of any "freak" of nature in the family. One of the twins has been christened "Mary" and the other "Rosa," Mary is slightly smaller than her sister and has a darker complexion.

TRAMPS.—"What shall we do with our tramps?" is a question which seems to have prominence east of the mountains. Several of the towns in Iowa have adopted a system that is said to be working very well, and whilst it gives employment at a very small remuneration, it prevents loss of life—on behalf of the tramp—loss of property by fire and larceny on behalf of the citizens. The county authorities have erected a cheap kind of barracks, where tramps are allowed to sleep on benches or on the floor, no beds or clothing being allowed them, and if they choose to work upon the streets they are boarded and paid—if good service is done—25 cents a day in addition. In many instances the labor of these men is leased by the citizens at a nominally higher rate, who put them to work in their yards or gardens, and all who refuse to take lodgings at the tramp barracks are arrested for vagrancy and put upon the streets, made to work out a fine and then given a limited number of hours to get out of the county limits.—Colusa Sun.

W. C. GRAVES, of Pine Flat, sends us the following mode of killing yellow jackets. It will be a cheap way of getting rid of these pests, which do so much harm, especially in fruit drying time: Take an old pan that will hold water, and fill it two thirds full; pour two or three spoonfuls of coal oil on the water and hang a piece of meat—fresh or tainted will do, it makes no difference to the jackets—so that it does not quite touch the liquid. Put the pan near the place infested. They will fly around the meat and drop into the oil, which will kill them in five seconds. By this plan you can kill a bushel in one day, if you have that many to exterminate.—Russian River Flag.

GOOD NEWS.

In the general dealing of the Government departments toward this particular section there comes at last some satisfaction in knowing that we are to have, from August 1st, six mails per week from the Southern Pacific Railroad. The garrison at Camp Independence and the Land Office were removed, and mail service cut down from daily to tri-weekly, when on any ground of public policy there was not the slightest ground for either change.

But in the mail increase on the southern line referred to, through the efforts of Mr. Hamilton, our people are indebted to the perseverance and influence of Senator Sargent and Congressman Page for the establishment of service six times a week from Mojave. It was a just conclusion by the Postal Department, but only obtained through strenuous exertions and after one or two reverses. Let us now suggest that in all reason the main mail line connecting Nevada with Southern California—the Central Pacific with the Southern—on the only route east of the Sierras, should be made daily clear through by increasing the service in the gap between this place and Aurora. The distance is but 126 miles, on both ends of which the mails run to the railroad six times a week. Numerously signed petitions have been sent forward to Washington asking this, and where the necessities are so great, the cause so just, there ought to be some power inherent with the people to demand at least a fair consideration of the matter.

In this connection, another item of interest comes in. Mr. Hamilton informs us that himself and Mr. Reddy are making strenuous exertions to secure the establishment, at the hands of the Western Union, of a branch telegraph line from Mojave to Independence. There is the finest prospect of success, and a constructing agent will soon pass over the route for its thorough examination. It is almost unnecessary to refer to the patent fact that its general advantages to our mining and farming communities would be second only to a railroad, and by its direct effect render the advent of the latter a certainty.

DARWIN ITEMS.—We regret to inform our readers that, by letters received from San Francisco, the health of our chief is such that he dare not return to this hot and enervating climate just at present, and consequently we shall be compelled to issue for a week or two only a half sheet of the Coso Mining News.

Since the Emigrant Mining Company determined to remove their mill from its present location to the mines, increase its capacity by the addition of more stamps and bring water to the mines, there is a good deal of inquiry being made by parties who desire to acquire properties in this district. Lee, unlike other districts hereabouts, has none other than free milling silver ores, and the fact that the Emigrant Company has done so well excites the cupidity of ye San Francisco capitalist, who is getting very sick of Comstocks, and has at last concluded there is a chance to make some money in outside stocks.

We regret to learn that Robert Paul, who has filled the very responsible position of messenger for Wells, Fargo & Co. for the past nineteen months, from Mohave to this place and on to Lone Pine and Independence, has been withdrawn from this route and will go upon that on the C. P. R. R. from Coltax to Humboldt station. Mr. Paul will no doubt be glad of the change, but his many friends here and all along this route will be sorry to miss his genial countenance. We wish him success and safe trips wherever he may go.—Darwin News.

LAKE DISTRICT.—D. Lowery and others, who bonded the Alpha mine in Lake District until the 29th of this month for $20,000, we understand will take it. Recent rich developments have had much to do with this decision. Ben. F. Butler, who returned from Lake Sunday, has had some assays made from five samples taken from the Alpha tunnel which averaged $46 13 per ton. James Lowery, one of the parties who bonded the Alpha mine, is in from Lake District. He is of the opinion that with the present facilities eighteen dollar rock can be made to pay. He says the Mammoth is an immense ledge, and that their assays are very satisfactory.—Bodie Standard.

SEVERAL of the mines on the Comstock have been doing dead work for some time past, and are now in a position to commence thorough prospecting. Among these are the Belcher, Crown Point, Gould & Curry, Best & Belcher, Savage, Hale & Norcross, Mexican, Bullion and Yellow Jacket. Some of these mines are ready to commence crosscutting, with a fair prospect of making some good developments. Entirely new sections will be opened up, and sanguine expectations are entertained that good deposits of ore will be found, especially in those mines which have yielded largely at previous times.—Virginia Chronicle.

THE army worm is destroying vegetation in Trinity county.

THE LOCAL OUTLOOK.

From outside causes, understood by those familiar with the condition of affairs on the Comstock and other great mining centers, where the continuous centralization of interests is leaving to small capitalists and prospectors the necessity of hunting new fields, there is now more prospectors seeking new mines in Inyo than ever before for a long time. The result of this will be to re-awaken public interest in the fact long known to every one knowing anything at all about the country—that the mines of Inyo are limitless as to number, and comprise every variety of kind and character from which the precious metals are obtained.

But with greatly inadequate capital coming in to develop and work them and with a local business stringency unprecedented, it seems almost a fruitless task to hunt up and investigate all the reports of new mineral discoveries in all this vast region. The returned prospector himself is indifferent as to giving more than mere mention as to the kind of mines he has located. He has perfect confidence that some of his new locations comprise properties of such real value as to reward him for all the toil and danger undergone to find them. He is going back soon to do the work necessary to hold them, but perhaps he doesn't become able or another section of the mineral belt attracts his attention. And so it goes. Within a radius of a hundred miles mines of known richness exist at every point of the compass. Save Panamint, at points where capital has been introduced it has been shown where failure has occurred it was through no fault of the mines, but rather from expensive management and the one great drawback of the country—the lack of telegraphic and railroad communication. Independent from this main fact, a more immediate cause of the present dullness, it is boldly intimated, rests with certain local powers—the Union Con. and the Cerro Gordo Freighting Company. Certainly, if such be the case, a set game of freeze-out on the part of Belshaw toward Union Con. stockholders, and a determination on the part of Nadeau to punish the agricultural interests and valley people for their partial support of opposition teams, could not produce a worse effect than that now obtaining.

GEN. BUTLER solves the labor problem to his own satisfaction in the following platform which he submits to the country: "My proposition is that we should issue four hundred millions in non-interest bearing bonds of the United States to settle the unemployed laboring men of the United States upon the public lands of the United States. No more notes of the United States can be issued than the people choose to take, and if they bear no interest those which are issued involve the country in no debt." It would be a very wise and provident policy, if successfully carried out, to place the unemployed upon lands where their labor would insure them a home and living.

THE eclipse of the sun, which occurs on the afternoon of the 29th, will be only a partial one in this part of the country, beginning about 5 P. M., and lasting about an hour and three quarters. The eclipse will be total over a narrow belt of about 116 miles in the West, and will last about three minutes. It will cross the western end of Montana Territory, the Yellowstone National Park, Wyoming Territory, Denver, Colorado and northern and eastern Texas, entering the Gulf of Mexico between New Orleans and Galveston.

WE find the following remedy for consumption going the rounds of the press: One-half pound finely cut up beefsteak (fresh), one drachm pulverized charcoal; four ounces rye whisky, one pint boiling water. Mix all together, let it stand in a cool place over night, and give from one to two teaspoonsful liquid and meat, before each meal. The dose should be small at first until the stomach becomes used to it, and then gradually increased.

MR. NADEAU continues to haul immense loads of barley from his ranch to the railroad for shipment to Cerro Gordo. Yesterday several of his teams loaded with grain passed our office on their way to the depot.—Los Angeles Star.

When does he begin the shipment of hay into this country, too?

THE Bakersfield Courier says that some catfish were taken to Los Angeles from the slough near Bakersfield, last week, for the purpose of stocking the streams of that county. And this suggests the pertinent inquiry as to what has become of the project for stocking Owens River?

THE Bodie Standard states the new $20,000 Mono road bonds were placed in San Francisco at a premium of two per cent. A considerable portion of the road has been completed.

AND now Bodie wants the county seat of Mono removed to that point from Bridgeport.

Organization and Laws of the Swansea Mining District.

Minutes of a meeting held at Dockweiler's Hotel, Swansea, July 24, 1878, for the purpose of forming a new mining district. Present, Chris. Docweiler, B. H. Brooks, A. D. Snedeker, G. H. Palmer, Thos. Moran, Chas. Phillips, Michael Grimes, Wm. Wischart and Arnold Cordes. The meeting being called to order by G. H. Palmer, B. H. Brooks was elected President, and A. D. Snedeker Secretary. On motion duly seconded it was voted that the name of this mining district be the Swansea Mining District. On motion duly seconded it was voted that the boundaries of said district be as follows, viz: Commencing at the Belshaw wharf on the east shore of Owens Lake; thence easterly along the Belshaw grade to the Yellow grade; thence northeasterly to the summit of the Inyo range of mountains; thence northerly along that summit to Union Cañon; thence westerly down said cañon to Owens River and thence southerly following said river and the easterly shore of Owens Lake to the place of beginning. On motion duly seconded Chris. Docweiler was nominated and unanimously elected Recorder of said District. On motion B. H. Brooks and A. D. Snedeker were appointed a committee to draft and publish the by-laws of said district.

First. The laws and regulations of Swansea District shall in all respects conform to the act of Congress entitled "An Act to promote the development of the mining resources of the United States," approved May 10, 1872.

Second. Locators of claims or lodes shall have thirty days after posting notices in which to define the true course of vein or lode and file with the Recorder.

Third. There shall be a Recorder elected, whose duty it shall be to record in a suitable book kept for that purpose all notices of claims or locations, of veins or lodes.

Fourth. An election shall be held on the Twentieth day of July, A. D. 1878, and every two years thereafter, for the purpose of electing a Recorder of this District, who shall hold his office for the term of two years, or until his successor is elected and qualified.

Fifth. The Recorder may appoint a Deputy to act in his stead during his absence from the district; and the books of the office shall be open to the inspection of any and all who are interested in the district, but on no account whatever are to be taken from the office of the Recorder.

Sixth. The fees of the Recorder shall be as follows: For recording a mining claim, $2 50, and for posting notice upon said claim at the request of the claimant, $2 50 additional.

Seventh. Each and every claim of quartz or metal bearing mineral veins may contain 1,500 linear feet, upon the vein or lode, by an average width of three hundred feet on each side, including all dips, spurs, angles and variations of the same.

Resolved, That a copy of the minutes of this meeting and the adoption of these by-laws be published in THE INYO INDEPENDENT.

No further business appearing the meeting adjourned.

GENERAL ITEMS.

"The squirrels must go" is the burden of the farmer's cry in southern California.

The Assessor of Los Angeles county reports an increase of half a million dollars in taxable property for 1878.

Nearly 5,700,000 emigrants have arrived in this country since 1847, 4,000,000 of them being Germans and Irish.

The heat has become fearful in St. Louis, Mo. On the 15th inst. 150 persons were prostrated by sunstroke, between 40 and 50 of these cases proving fatal. Like casualities have happened in many other Eastern cities.

A new vein of coal has been struck in the Carmelo mine, Monterey, which averages seven a half feet in thickness, and the deeper they go the more the quality of the coal improves.

The Dandola, one of the most powerful ironclads in the world, was successfully launched at Spezzia, Italy. She will be armed with 100-ton Armstrong guns, carrying projectiles of 2,500 pounds weight.

It is probable that the maximum amount of standard silver dollars authorized to be coined by the silver bill, $4,000,000 per month, will be turned at the mints for the next four months.

A valuable diamond has been washed from the gravel at Myrtle Creek, Oregon.

Several deaths in the Eastern States have been reported daily from lightning lately.

A famine is reported in the States of Sonora and Sinola, Mexico. At Mazatlan there is no flour, and people are immigrating.

A great conspiracy against the Sultan is reported discovered in Stamboul, and over fifty persons have been arrested.

The whipping post has been re-established in Delaware and Virginia; stripes to be inflicted for petty larceny and other minor offenses.

Latest advices received from Brazil are that in the province of Ceara, in that Empire, the number of deaths from famine exceed 100 daily.

William Sutcliffe, of New Orleans, who a few weeks ago defeated Frank Pointze in a 24-mile swim, was drowned in the Mississippi since.

The British government has cancelled an order for 40,000,000 cartridges and various other indications point to a stoppage of war preparations.

GOVERNMENT SURVEYING.—There are at present four Government surveys in progress. Two under the direction of the Engineers' Department, one commanded by Lieut. Wheeler, and the other by Lieut. Clarence King; the other two under the auspices of the Department of the Interior, and commanded by Prof. Hayden and by Mr. Powell.

LETTER FROM LONE PINE.

LONE PINE, July 25.

MESSRS. EDITORS—This burg has been very dull, so dull, in fact, that your correspondent has had nothing of interest to write about, for some time, and he only writes now to keep his reputation up.

Quite a number of people have left for Bishop, Bodie and Lake District, and others expecting to follow soon will cause our town to be duller yet. A large crop of hay will be cut around here this year, and unless times improve it will be a question to know what to do with it.

Wm. Hamilton, the stage man, is here. I believe he intends to run his stages daily soon, and lower stage fare all along the line, which will be a blessing to some of us poor folks in case we have to travel.

That irrepressible joker from Cerro Gordo, W. R. Johnson, has just come in on his way to the fishing greunds—not to catch trout, though, but, he says, only to go somewhere higher up, as he is tired of living in such a low altitude as Cerro Gordo. D. H. Williams, accompanied by his friend Sawyer, came over from Darwin and staid with us a couple of days, and then started for the fishing grounds, where they propose to take charge of all the fish, rattlesnakes and bears in that vicinity. Dan is to devote his time to the fishes, while Sawyer will take the snakes and bears in his'n. Their departure from here was viewed with disgust by all the little folks, as Sawyer had made special agreements with nearly all to take them along, and as he failed to do so, I expect he will have to go "broke" against candy when he comes back to appease them for their disappointment. If he don't, he ought to have snakes in his boots, if he don't have them anywhere else.

The members of the Independence Base Ball Club were most heartily cussed for their failure to put in an appearance to play here last Saturday, as they agreed. The members of our Nine levied an assessment upon themselves and a few outside friends and had everything arranged to give them a fitting reception. Their failure to come was a tacit admission that they were afraid they would be beaten. Some of the Lone Pine Club were forced to hire men, at an expense of some $5 apiece, to do their work so they could play, and they think that they were treated very shabbily, as the Independence Nine had not even the courtesy to write a note down to let them know they were not coming. There was one man here though who never expected them to come, as he knows the Independence folks too well, and his name is

INYO INDEPENDENT.

SATURDAY, JULY 27.....1878.

COUNTY COURT.—The case of Jose Lopes and Ramon Outon, indicted for sheep-stealing, came up on Monday last for a second trial, the former jury having failed to agree, as reported last week. The trial was closed the following day, and the jury, after being out but a short time, returned a verdict of not guilty. The property alleged to have been stolen amounted to eight sheep and the wool—worth in all say $90, but the offense, were any committed, came under the head of grand larceny. The prosecuting witnesses, rightly enough, desired to prosecute the accused and by their conviction stop similar operations in the future if possible. The magistrate committed the Mexicans, on slim evidence; the grand jury indicted them, on evidence ex parte; the first set of trial jurors failed to agree and the second jury acquitted the prisoners. Costs and general results as follows: Ninety jurors called away from their homes and work, their fees costing the county—Grand Jury, $283 25; 1st trial jury, $183 75; 2d trial jury, $235 70; total, $703 70. Sheriff and jailor's fees (about) $350; board of prisoners, $125; fees of Clerk and Justice of the Peace, $15. Our readers can figure up the grand total at their leisure, and estimate as to the amount out by the prosecutors. Justice in Inyo may be blind as elsewhere, but she is terrible expensive to tax-payers.

"GONE A FISHING."—That's the report to make of many of our Inyo officials and citizens, especially from Independence southward. About this season a trip on horseback over the rugged Sierras, to the fishing grounds of King's and Kern rivers, to the Big Trees, Yosemite and elsewhere in the mountains, is a matter of almost general occurrence with all of those who can take the time to go, among whom cannot be classed unfortunate printers. We have been ambitious that way for eight years, but the project has never worked yet. Probably within the whole Union no such Summer attractions are presented to the tourist or pleasure seeker as are within the ride of a day or two or two of this valley, and certainly no one can be blamed for enjoying them, although in the Eastern States the climate and surroundings of this valley would be deemed a paradise compared to the deadly heat of the cities. In New York, for instance, to Long Branch or Cape May may be way up; but a trip up the Hudson to the Andirondacks, or to the White Mountains, must be stale and hackneyed compared to an excursion of discovery among the trout streams, lakes, waterfalls; the trees, the mineral and game country of the High Sierras.

EXPLORING.—A distinguished party is now engaged in "doing" Inyo, particularly in to the gold mines in this portion. It consists of Capt. Prescott, a miner and mineralogist of note in Nevada; "Gid." Whiteman, one of the most prominent of the old-time miners of this section in '63 and '4, and a prospector of wide experience. They are accompanied by Mr. Meredith and lastly, but no means the least in importance, Joe Wasson, the well known newspaper man, writer and correspondent. We shall soon see our country written up in the San Francisco Bulletin and Stock Report, which journals "Joe" represents at present. He has a bright and keen style of letting out the truth as to facts and things coming under his observations, and has a wide circle of readers. The party started from here ostensibly for the Alabama district, but may go on over to the new fields of Beveridge. Upon their return they propose a tour of inspection to the mines of Kearsarge.

SULPHUR SPRINGS.—In a recent prospecting tour over the Inyos, Mr. Geo. H. Palmer run across a hot sulphur spring on the other side of Saline valley, and reports concerning it as follows: It is situated some seven miles west of the Panamint range and on the eastern slope of Saline valley, its altitude being about 500 feet above the salt beds. It is about thirty feet in width, of great depth, the water very clear and intensely hot. The stream soon sinks in the sands, but were it practicable in that arid region to cool it the water would be good for drinking.

THE WATCH CASE.—Mr. Markley, the distinguished gentleman who was under examination in Justice Gardner's court for having stolen a watch, under some legal hocus-pocus got the charge changed to that of burglary and then succeeded in getting dismissed on that count. The nice young man has left, but he didn't take the watch; however, he knows best about what became of the chain and the money. He got the watch legitimately, having traded a bottle of whisky for it to a squaw. Bah!

DIDN'T WORK.—JOS. Wasson lugubriously reports a most lamentable failure on the part of Whiteman and Prescott in their prolonged effort to consume all the staff of life which they could find in Benton. They tackled the matter bravely, but somehow the barrels still held out. We shouldn't for the world make any reference to that episode of Joe's at the hotel, though.

BEVERIDGE DISTRICT.—Messrs. Hunter, Hughes, Porter and Brittain, the owners of the main locations of the new Beveridge gold fields, are putting up a couple of arrastras for the working of their ores, the motive power of which is to be steam. We believe that the engine and boiler comes from the old Cerro Gordo water works, once owned and used by the Los Angeles company.

THE BAND.—Our citizens generally ought to stand in, financially, with the boys in their efforts to organize a brass band. The well-known musical talent of the proposed members and their permanency at this point is a sufficient guarantee of success after once started.

SWANSEA DISTRICT.—One of the new mining districts recently organized, the proceedings of the miners' meeting, by-laws, etc. being given elsewhere, is one very like to cut quite a figure in the immediate future of a certain portion of Inyo. Just above Dockweiler's station, near the Swansea furnaces, and but a mile or two south and east of the first lead mine ever opened and worked on the Pacific Coast, lies the "mother vein" of the new district. It is worth while here to refer to the "first lead mine" as being that of Col. Stevens' original workings, on which there was considerable work done, an Indian fight or two had and the pioneer furnace built—the whole, as is well-known, resulting in a failure as a mining operation. In a locality where it is supposable that all its ledges and mineral veins were known, it is a matter at least surprising to learn the fact that an entirely new ledge of argentiferous galena has been struck. It extends the length of three claims of 1,500 feet each, and at the several openings ore has been uncovered assaying 87½ ounces per ton in silver and 50 per cent. lead. The owners are James Hanger, Mark Hand, Thomas Ryan and Arnold Cordes. The ledge is easily accessible by the old Swansea wood road, and seems to be looked upon by the company now owning those works as being exactly the fortunate discovery most needed by them.

YGNACIO.—Messrs. J. S. Rothschild and W. A. Greenly, principal owners of the San Ygnacio silver mine at Cerro Gordo, accompanied by Supt. Hudgin of the Rex Montis, last week paid a visit of inspection to the famous old property. Mr. Greenley has put in some heavy work for nearly a year, developing the ledge, in sinking and drifting. The large and very rich "deposit" of silver ore has led downward to a very regular and strong ledge, showing heavy bodies of rich "metal" on all sides. Some thirteen tons now at Swansea assays at the rate of $289 per ton. We are informed that the owners refused to bond the mine for 60 days at the price of $100,000, preferring to either take cash in hand or keep it. There are 200 tons of $250 ore on the dump, and 1,000 tons in sight in the mine, as per careful estimates.

MISSING. — The following named books have at different times been taken from the Independence School Library by school children and never returned. It is to be hoped both the parents and children will use their best endeavors to find and return them. All told there are over one hundred volumes belonging to the District Library, and all in place save the ones herein named. Hereafter no books will be allowed to be taken out without strict record as the law directs. Missing: Mitchell's Popular Astronomy, Steele's Geology. Young Ben Franklin, Crusoe's Island, 3 volumes of Dolly Dimple set, Orient Boys, Rose Carleton's Reward, Little Robinson and Greek and Eastern Cities, all of the original library. Please return to the school house or this office.

THE WALTERS CASE.—In the County Court, in the matter of the People vs. C. A. Walters, under indictment for selling beer to Indians, Judge Conklin, counsel for defendant, moved to quash the indictment on the grounds that as the offense charged, being simply a misdemeanor, was only triable before a Justice of the Peace and that the County Court had no jurisdiction. District Attorney Snelling urged that the case was one of concurrent jurisdiction, and Judge Hannah still holds the matter under advisement. In the meantime, witnesses Lafe and "Dee" Gill have got up and skipped for Nevada.

GRAIN CROP.—The harvesting of small grain is well under headway, and in some localities completed. The yield generally will not average so well as in previous years, running from 1,000 to 1,200 pounds per acre. The serious falling off is due to the backward Spring and very late melting of the snow, and consequent non-supply of water for irrigation when most needed. Still, as there was a much greater acreage seeded, the total crop may amount to as much if not more than last year.

THE REX MONTIS, ETC.—We paid a visit of inspection this week to this lofty mine, but will have to forego details until next issue. In the same connection we will have some observations to offer concerning Mr. Holt's great tunneling enterprise, which, we may now remark, is the most sensible in design of any ever undertaken on Kearsarge mountain.

THANKS.—Kit Johnson, who is still over in the mountains, has our thanks for an elegant mess of golden trout, brought over by the returning Langer party, to whom in turn, many others besides printer folk are under obligations for similar favors from them direct.

DAILY.—From August 1st the Southern Stage Line will bring through from Mohave a daily mail, arriving here at 8 o'clock P. M., and leaving time enough for replying to letters before starting out again.

EVENTS TO COME.—Preaching by Mr. Bell here at 11 A. M. a week from tomorrow, and on the following day the assemblage of ye County Dads in regular session to consider affairs of state.

BENTON. — Last week the Indian Queen mill shipped four bars of bullion, the first for the present season. The mine has plenty of high grade ore in sight for a six months' run.

NEW FIRM.—Munzinger, Phillippay & Co. is the name of the new firm now owning and running the Bavaria Brewery at Bishop. See their advertisement.

ESTRAYED.—A valuable animal belonging to Rev. M. W. Pratt is advertised for as an estray.

TWO.—There are at present but two patients in the County Hospital, at Camp Independence.

A FEARFUL RIDE.—From the dump of the Rex Montis mine down to a sort of a valley at the head of a branch of Oak Creek, there is a sheer descent of about 1,400 feet. So near straight up and down is this north hill side it makes one almost dizzy to stand up there and look down. Till late in the season the snow lies there to great depths. "A beautiful stretch for a splendid ride, coasting style," thought a gentleman once prominent in the management of the mine. "Besides," he argued to himself, "if I can slide down that far it will save not only time, but both labor and danger in zigzagging with slow and cautious steps down the trail on my way to town." He resolved to slide; knowing there was virtue in one shovel used as a sled to coast down over hard frozen snow, he thought there ought to be nearly twice as much in two. In due form he prepared to slide on the two shovels. From the dump, like a bolt from a cross-bow, shot Mr. H. down that fearful declivity! The men at the mine looked after him with breathless interest. To this day they hardly know whether they saw anything or not, except a narrow cloud of snow spinning high in the air. Some of them did think they saw something like a blue streak at times away down there, but if so, had no time to assign it shape, place or destination. Meantime Mr. H. slid, flew—aye, went as if dropping from the moon. A falling body drops 16 feet the first second, 32 the second, twice as far the third, and so on till it flies to pieces in mid air or reaches the bottom; so with Mr. H. By the time he realized he had started for town on the double shovel line he was, on the above formula, progressing at the rate of 1,000 feet per second and still gaining! Wind-produced tears had utterly closed out sight. Would he never get to the bottom, id est, down to that little valley? A half a second to a man going as did Mr. H. was an age: plenty of time to think, and he thought "suppose this craft misses stays and I am thrown against that projecting crag—won't it be a joke on the old Coroner when he tries to find pieces enough to sit on so as to verify his bill against the county?" And he smiled at the thought, but smiled deep down, for right well he realized the fact that if he opened his lips ever so little he would at once become the worst inflated mining man that ever came down the side of Kearsarge mountain; that he would at once become a living reservoir of compressed air, a man-balloon, and like a comet, minus the tail, fly off into space, a veritable and very buoyant Flying Dutchman. Knowing and appreciating all this, Mr. H. kept his mouth rigidly shut and, as many another has done before him, made money by so doing. Otherwise, and excepting in the contingencies last above contemplated, he would have been blown through, as it were, and fatally killed, in all probability, as many another man has been who failed to keep his mouth shut. But if everything "held," about which there was of course some uncertainty even in his own mind, he would have gone off tangentically into space, as first intimated. Neither of these probabilities looked pleasing to Mr. H. In honest truth there is not a man in our whole circle of acquaintances less given to such ambitions than he. There is not a particle of inflation or desire of inflation about him. Nevertheless, he couldn't help but think, and "suppose." Still, the dreadful whirr of the frosty snow under his shovels was so great that he could hardly hear himself think, or his thoughts were more phantasmagorial fancies than real thought. And, in this way he glorified himself that snow was not coarse emery; otherwise those steel shovels, while they lasted, would have left fire enough behind to have set the mountain afire—also, to have done other damage. There was air above him, air to the right and the left, and even under him, as his shovels ricochetted half a hundred feet at a time, still not a breath to breathe; didn't dare to breathe for the reasons already given, and could not by any possibility have done so if he had tried. So he was in danger of suffocation as well as of inflation or absolute and total disintegration should his shovels fly the track and take one of those rocky crags. But, breathless, with closed eyes and clenched teeth, down, down he flew faster and more fast, till the fancied fire under that shovel became a pretty fair average reality. Across the valley to its lowest point like a meteor and almost as fast as a cannon shot he shoots. Still on he goes up the opposite ascent, but now he fears nothing for he realizes nothing; doesn't apprehend his impetus may be sufficient to drive him to near the top of the opposite mountain, then to cease and let him down again with accelerating force to drive him back very nearly whence he started, and so on indefinitely, "till the machine was worn out." He didn't think about that part at all, when, at last, high up on the opposite ascent, those shovels came to a stand-still and gave Mr. H. a chance to roll off, limp as a dish rag and as white as the surrounding world of snow. Catching his breath, and in heartfelt thankfulness for his wonderful escape, Mr. H. vowed a vow. We need not say what that vow was. But the principal incident occurred precisely as here stated, and a most fearful ride it was.

A NEW "phone" has been discovered in Amador county. On the 4th of July, several gentleman walking near the deep cut of Pioneer mine, five miles above Volcano, heard a brass band, including the taps of the drum. The nearest band was at San Andreas, 25 miles distant, and this must have been the one that was heard. The sound was probably reflected, as in the case of echoes; or it might have been refracted or bent out of its course by the density of the air. Or the gentlemen may have been beered up too much, and imagined it all. Or may be they lied.—Sacramento Bee.

THE candidates on the Democratic State ticket in Indiana have to "come down with the stamps." The nominee for State Treasurer, which office pays about $18,000 a year, has been assessed $5,000, and others in the same proportion.

THE KEARSARGE.—The other evening, accompanied by Manager Gray, we paid a visit to the old Kearsarge mine, or rather the new tunnel in course of construction. At the further end of this, 570 feet from the entrance, we find Mike Stinson, hammering away alone, his "pard" having become disabled by an accident. He and three other miners are driving this tunnel on contract, and have yet about 140 feet to go to cut the Kearsarge ledge, the objective point. Up to date the "ground," as the rock is technically called, has been so hard that one foot ahead per day to the shift was good average progress—rather more, in fact, since at times scarcely more than three inches to the shift could be made. In consequence of this difficulty one or two sets of contractors had to throw up. Just now, however, the rock is softening and so changing in character as to permit better progress, and also to quite certainly indicate the close proximity of a ledge—a small one that crops just below the main one—so Mike and his pards, Mr. Gray also, feel much encouraged. When driven this 140 feet further the head of the tunnel will then be in the ledge, (Kearsarge) and 148 feet vertically below the bottom of the shaft from the upper tunnel, or, in all, very nearly 300 feet from the surface. In the bottom of the shaft referred to and for a height of about 40 feet there is from one to two and a half feet of ore, the most of it as high a grade as Kearsarge mountain has hitherto produced. No doubt is entertained but that this ore chimney continues downward, not only to the level of the new tunnel, but for hundreds of feet below, allowing, of course, for barren spots such as are found at times in all mines. At all events, enough ore will be uncovered by this tunnel to give the mill a steady supply for a long and profitable run, and, at the same time, make it a comparatively easy matter for the company to determine what next to do—whether to suspend in toto, or begin a new tunnel hundreds of feet lower down to open this mine in true miner style. It is comparatively a small matter to tap this mine full five hundred feet below the point to be reached by the present tunnel. We feel confident that the developments of this tunnel will be of such an encouraging character as to at once warrant the opening of a new one a long distance below. When that is completed, but not till then, will it be known that the Kearsarge is a mine in fact, though no doubt whatever need be entertained but great quantities of good ore will be taken out through this present tunnel, and that the permanency or lack of permanency of this celebrated old mine will thereby be quite satisfactorily established one way or the other. It will take at least two months yet to reach the ledge, and then some time longer to get ready to mine it out. As a matter of course the developments of this tunnel will be looked for with unusual interest, for upon them depends in a great measure not only the fortunes or future of the Kearsarge itself, but those of numerous other mines on that mountain. We think Mr. Gray's present plan of operations on this mine just exactly the thing, all the circumstances considered.

WILL COMMENCE.—Monday next Mr. Daniel Crough begins his school here.

CHINESE MASONS.—A display of bunting attracted our attention in Chinatown yesterday. In many cases the American flag was displayed, and always above the banner of the "heathen Chinee." Courteous, ain't it? Our curiosity being aroused, it devolved upon us to investigate, so we entered the Joss house, and, having found an intelligent son of the Flowery Kingdom, proceeded to interview him as follows:

Reporter—What for this flag business?

Almond-eyed Scoundrel—To-mollow, Chinaman alle same white man—Mason picnic. Mabbe white man come see Chinaman brother alle same. You telle alle white man come.

Now, what does this mean? Is it possible that in the Oriental kingdom, long prior to the time that Christian Masonry existed, an order of the same character flourished? We have heard that the North American Indian has indicated by signs to some distressed white man that he was a brother, but this Chinese business is too thick. If any of the brothers desire to attend the Chinese Masonic picnic a cordial invitation is extended.—Eureka Sentinel.

SATURDAY, JULY 27.....1878.

A Great Murder Case.

Philadelphia—or rather Camden, New Jersey, right opposite—has just got through with a great murder case. The papers have filled columns with it day after day, and the Eastern press generally agree that no murder trial since the days of the Parkman-Webster trial, in Boston, has excited so much attention or been invested with so much interest. Benjamin Hunter was a stove range manufacturer in Philadelphia, good personal repute and of high business character. He was was supposed to be wealthy and at ease with all the world. Mr. Hunter had a partner in some outside business matters named John M. Armstrong. Armstrong was industrious but poor, and had met with certain misfortunes. When this came upon him he owed Mr. Hunter some $7,000. Hunter was, or pretended to be alarmed about this heavy unsecured debt, and wanted some security. He asked Armstrong to have his life insured for his benefit as security. Armstrong consented, and named $10,000 as all he could afford to pay premiums on. Hunter said, "No, make it more than that, and I will pay the excess of premiums myself." Hunter said make it $20,000. Armstrong agreed, and Hunter went off and got policies for $20,000 on Armstrong's life. In less than a month from that date Armstrong was enticed over to Camden, New Jersey, by a decoy letter, was waylaid at night and brutally murdered with a hatchet and knife in the hands of some assassin. The knife and hatchet were found near the place, and were found to contain freshly cut the initials of the name of a man who was known to have had a difficulty with Armstrong. This led to the man's arrest, but he quickly proved his innocence. Then it was found that there was a deep and hidden mystery, and it was not long before it began to be suspected that the murder was the result of a conspiracy of which Hunter was the head and front. His early effort to collect the life insurance confirmed this, and in a little while he was arrested and in due time indicted. We have not space here to relate how little by little the coil was wound around him, suffice it to say that in spite of a most vigorous and costly defense, conducted by no less a personage than Ex-Secretary Robeson, in spite of the high character of the accused, and of the excellent proof furnished by him of an alibi, the jury, without even the formality of a ballot, have found him guilty of murder in the first degree, and Jersey justice will be satisfied with no less a penalty than the gallows. The prosecution proved beyond a possibility of a doubt—proved by the confession of his accomplice well corroborated—that Hunter had hired a man named Graham to do the deed, had himself decoyed Armstrong to the spot, had stood at a convenient distance while the crime was being perpetrated and had then taken his accomplice away in a carriage. The result of the trial is regarded in Philadelphia as a triumph of justice that ought to have an impressive effect from one end of the land to the other.—Stock Report.

BEING interviewed by the Lyon County Times as to when it might be expected that the tunnel might be used to drain the mines with which it is connected, Mr. Sutro said:

It is likely we shall let them pump into the tunnel as soon as we shall be prepared to receive their hot water. This will require very considerable preparation, as we must cut out in hard rock a drain three feet square and four miles in length. In this drain we will put a box made of three inch redwood plank, covered over tightly, and cold water will be permitted to flow over the top, so as to carry off what little radiating heat will escape through the plank. It will take us five or six months to do all this, and in that time our lateral drifts will be in as far as Ophir on the north and Gold Hill on the south.

Benjamin Kelsey, the discoverer of Kelsey's Dry Diggings in El Dorado county, is a very remarkable character. He is now sixty-four years old, but does not look a day over fifty. He came to California overland in 1841, crossing the Sierra Nevadas at the head of the Stanislaus river, in the cañon of which the party were detained twenty-three days, and only made their exit after the utmost exertion and untold sufferings. For seven years he and his brother were engaged in hunting and trapping, and during that time performed only seven days of manual labor, which was in whip-sawing lumber for Capt. Sutter. He spent nearly all of his time camping out, and long before the discovery of gold was familiar with the rivers, gulches, mountains and valleys of California. The animals most sought for fur were the otter and beaver, and the grizzly bear was hunted for his skin and oil. The latter animal was in those days very abundant north of the Bay of San Francisco. Mr. Kelsey has counted upwards of twenty large ones feeding at once at what he calls the Warm Springs at the head of Napa valley, where Calistoga now stands, and he says that Mr. Yount informed him that he had seen upwards of thirty of these animals at one time on the same ground. Mr. Kelsey and his brother used to kill, on an average, 225 of these animals a year. Their oil was marketed in kegs obtained from the trading vessels that visited the harbor of San Francisco, and their skins often brought a high price. One enormously large one brought $34. The otter and beaver pelts were sold by the pound to the Hudson Bay Company, and they used to average $125 a month each from their business. The otter was very tame and was very easily shot from their canoe at short range, while the beaver was taken in traps. The Indians were at that time very numerous in the Coast Range, and were much inclined to be hostile. The brother was finally killed by them at Clear Lake where the two had settled. Mrs. Kelsey, wife of Benjamin Kelsey, assisted in making the Bear Flag, which was probably suggested by her husband's experience with that ferocious animal. The Kelseys are now living in Los Angelos.

A PRINCESS.—Sarah Winnemucca, the heroic Indian woman who has served the army of Gen. Howard as guide and scout, is a member of the royal family of a Piute chief. Her influence is said to be very great among her tribe and the friendly Indians. Her great courage, her faithfulness to the whites and her valuable services, deserve more than a passing notice. her history will be a romantic episode in savage warfare.

The above is from the Chicago Inter-Ocean, and is a good sample of the gush and romance the Eastern press wrap around the Indians. The truth about Sarah Winnemucca is that she is a drunken strumpet; her royal father is a dirty old beggar, whose royal dignity would permit him to accept cold grub or any petty charity from the whites. Sarah was caught trying to smuggle arms and ammunition to the Bannocks, she being in company with a squaw man at the time, and Gen. Howard utilized her as a spy. There is about as much heroism in Sarah as there is in a coyote, and about as much romance as in a game of seven-up for fun. —Austin Reveille.

A DANBURY man who went to a drug store to have a prescription prepared, seeing nobody but a clerk present said: "Young man are you keeping company with a girl?" "Yes, sir," answered the clerk with a blush. "Do you think the world of her?" "I do," said the clerk firmly, although blushing considerably. "Is she in town," pursued the customer anxiously. "No, sir; she is a away on a visit." "That will do," said the man decisively. "You can't fool around any prescriptions for me." And he went away.

"I see that your people do not keep Sunday," remarked an American abroad to a lady resident in Paris, recently. "Ah, no, monsieur," replied the Parisian, with a charming accent to her English, "we does not keep um—we let's um go loose." The American believed her.

A Tribune reporter asked Thurlow Weed: "Whom do you regard as the greatest men of your time?" The old man blushed modestly and said he could name a great many. He didn't do it, however, but finally hedged on Henry Clay, Abraham Lincoln and Horace Greeley, showing where all made mistakes.

Four Duchesses endeavored to crown the statue of Joan of Arc, at Paris, in spite of the Government warning not to make a demonstration on the 30th of May, and the ladies were walked off to a police commissioners.

A Buffalo Alderman astonished the Board, in a meeting for consideration as to the building of a new jail, by remarking: "I makes de motion as de new jail be build on de same spot as de old jail what's now standing; dat saves de money for the land, und I makes de motion dat de old jail be not pulled down till the new jail is built, so we will not be miteout a jail."

The St. Albans (Vt.) Messenger tells this story of an incident which occurred in the Bennington County Court: A prisoner was arraigned to plead to an indictment for burglary. He said he wasn't ready to plead, and didn't care to plead either way, adding, "I'll tell you, Judge, just how the matter stands, if I don't get bail to-morrow morning I'm going to plead guilty, and if I do I ain't. See."

When the Princess Reuss, wife of the late German Ambassador, saw the Sultan on her departure from Constantinople, she congratulated him on having acquired the love and esteem of his people, and hinted gently that he should reward their devotion by showing himself in public more frequently. The Commander of the Faithful listened in surprise, and when the Princess had gone remarked, "Now, I'd like to know what interest that woman has in getting me assassinated."

THE largest cask in the world is that at Konigstein which was finished in 1725 after three years' work. This cask, as soon as finished, was filled with 6,000 quintals of good Meissen wine, which cost £6,000 sterling. It holds 649 hogsheads more than the famous tun of Heidelberg. The top is railed in and affords room for fifteen or twenty persons to stand while drinking to the health of the builder.

THE New York World explains Mrs. Jenks as follows: "Mrs. Jenks disremembers all that she remembers and remembers all that she disremembers, and there is no more evidence of design in her than there was in Dr. Ware's watch, which had a beautiful face but no works at all."

A NUMBER OF WHYS.—On my way from Hudson I fell to wondering. I don't often wonder. Sometimes when I see a strange man walking rapidly towards me, I wonder which one of my business acquaintances has employed a new business collector, and then I wonder what I'll say to him, but as a general thing I don't wonder at anything. But after the train left Toledo, it was too hot to think or talk or sleep. So I just wondered:

Why it is right to steal from the Government?

Why Jim Anderson should get off so much easier than Ananias?

Why a man should always get mad if a man frankly and for his own good tells him he is making an ass of himself?

Why people always discuss European politics, as though they understood them?

Why a man always wishes he had chosen some other profession?

Why people should consider it disgraceful to be sent to Congress?

Why a man thinks every year that he won't be as big a fool this year as he was last?

And why he is, though, all the same?

Why a man never tries to beat down the price of a railroad ticket?

Why men always lie about the size of the fish they catch and the number of ducks they shoot?

What a girl ever sees in a great selfish, deceitful, hulking animal of a man to marry him for, anyhow?

Why so many foreigners should speak German or French when it is so much easier to speak English?

Why it takes five grown people to take one sleeping infant to a circus "to see the animals?"

Have pronounced the name of the Shoe-wae-cae-mette Boat Club?

SALISBURY AND BEACONSFIELD.—Some of the English papers comment sharply on Beaconsfield's great policy and settlement and policy.

The secret arrangement with Russia and another with Turkey, they pronounce to be diplomacy guided by a consideration for Turkish bondholders, not by a spirit of the whole people, which demanded a compliance with Salisbury's circular.

This circular, as will be remembered, demanded, almost in so many words the maintenance of the territorial integrity of Turkey, and that the deliberations of Congress should pivot on the provisions of the Treaty of Paris.

Beaconsfield, however, took another line entirely, and, by a secret understanding with Russia, accomplished his ends by sacrificing Turkey as to her "territorial integrity," and giving her hardly more than a protectorate in the place of her own Government, since everything that Turkey does hereafter must be by and with the consent of England.

The Pall Mall Gazette said, at the first indication of Beaconsfield's designs: "English policy has quitted the straight path; it has deserted the safe and honorable principle of collective European action for the dangerous and vicious principle of separate understandings and back stairs bargaining; and Russia, in overcoming English objections to the plan of private traffic, and inducing England to help her in packing a Congress, has gained a victory for her diplomacy, and future sanction for pernicious diplomatic methods, which would be ill compensated by any material advantages which the Congress is like to have in store for ourselves."

The amount of it all, however, is a grand victory of diplomatic trickery, instead of a warlike one; and it must be a strong prejudice for honesty for honesty that can fail to appreciate the grandeur of the great Premier's work.

IN the penitentiary at Auburn, New York, there are twenty-seven clergymen, forty-two lawyers, thirteen doctors and three printers. Whereupon the Elko Post speaks encouragingly: "We are at the bottom of the list, brethern, but do not despair, pluck and perseverance will yet win."

"Dr." Davenport is called a fraud. Granted. But wherein does he differ from other mediums?

A NOTABLE BLUNDER.

It appears now that the attorneys for the prosecution in the More murder case made a fatal blunder in the trial of defendant Sprague. Like a similar case which occurred in our own District Court, the indictment was not read to the jury at all. Sprague was found guilty of murder in the first degree and the time fixed for passing sentence of death upon him before the omission was noticed. Whether this omission will, as claimed by defendant's counsel, result in his virtual acquittal remains to be seen; but it is conceded another trial must be had. The county must be the sufferer in that event, for the expense in getting a jury in such a notorious case must be very great, and will probably involve the attendance of nearly every citizen in the county before a panel can be filled; and such a panel must be the screenings of the whole. The chances are that Sprague will yet one way or the other escape the penalty of his most atrocious deed, in which case there will be much more than the mere expenditure of money to regret. It may be a comfort to lawyers of small note known to have made just such a blunder to know that no less than five very capable attorneys are responsible for this stupid oversight; among them are Col. J. G. Howard and Frank Ganahl, both of Los Angeles. The former of these is not unkown in our local Courts. We are inclined to think this blunder of his is a partial retribution upon him for not paying his subscription to this paper. Little great men like the Col. have eccentricities so bad sometimes as to reduce them to little else than bilks.

THE Cosmopolitan Hotel will not be used for hotel purposes after August 1st, as Senator Sharon intends closing the dining room at that time. The lower portion of the building will be used for business purposes. The billiard hall will be turned into a restaurant. The upper stories as far as possible, will be turned into business offices. Belcher, Crown Point, Ophir and other mining companies will be provided with accommodatioos in the building. Rooms unsuitable for offices will be rented to lodgers. Mr. Sharon will assume the management of the building. Henry H. Pearson, the present landlord, will become the manager of the Palace Hotel. The object of this movement is to increase the patronage of the Palace, and the majority of the Cosmopolitan's boarders will be transferred there.

BAD.—Thomas Holloway writes us all the way from London that some wretch or other has been perpetrating a fraud on his pills. Now, we are truly sorry that anybody should be mean enough to make a fraudulent pill, and we don't want anything to do with such a fellow. Thomas H. and everybody that likes his pills must know that such things always did excite our bowels of compassion. And we sympathize muchly with the papers which have been duped into advertising for Thomas' New York imitator.

AN obliging editor publishes this: If any subscriber finds a line in his paper that he does not like and cannot agree with, if he will bring his paper to the office and point out the offending line, the editor will take his scissors and cut it out for him.

THERE are 2,500 houses reported to be vacant in this city. If we add the number of apartments and lodgings to let these figures will probably need doubling. There are patent causes for this. The presence of the Chinese is the chief one. Their absorption of all the small occupations depletes the pockets of the poor and struggling. The small store-keeper and house owner feel this in the loss of business and occupancy. People herd because they are unable to live otherwise. Another cause is the locking up of money, its retention for speculative uses or in idleness only. Its owners are making a mistake. They should employ it. Work kills discontent; idleness breeds it.—S. F. Post.

THE SURVEYOR-GENERAL'S CIRCULAR.

United States Surveyor-General Wagner has issued a circular of instructions to all his deputy surveyors. It directs that when reference is made in the field notes to mineral lands, the deputies must describe distinctly, in the general description of the township, the section or parts thereof that should be classed as mineral land. He should be particularly careful not to class lands as mineral upon a mere possibility that they may contain minerals, but if there are reasonable and perceptive indications, even if slight, they should be clearly and particularly described. In a general description of the township, deputies must describe the productions of the soil, so far as they are able to ascertain from observation and careful, diligent inquiry; also, the character, kind and quality of the trees, bushes and other growth; the character of the land; the usual mode or manner of cultivating the land, whether by means of irrigation or by any other artificial or special means of cultivation.

Desert lands are defined by law to be lands which will not without irrigation produce any agricultural crop. In classing lands under these various heads the deputy will state precisely what are the productions of the soil, both natural and by means of cultivation. If the land produces any species of grass naturally, during either the whole or a portion of the year, that fact should be stated. Deputy surveyors are prohibited from giving information to any person regarding surveys made by them or from charging or receiving money or valuables from settlers or others for work included in their contracts.

United States Deputy Surveyors are prohibited from acting as attorneys for settlers or claimants for lands, and they must never commence work under their contracts until they are notified by the Surveyor-General's office that their bonds have been approved by the Commissioner of the General Land Office.

THE Bodie Standard of the 1st says: "George C. Gorham, Jr., has been recommended for the position of Receiver of the Land Office."

Why, we thought Father Briggs didn't want any such help to run that little private institution of his. There are two howevers, however, viz: This junior George C. has a partnership interest in Father B's law sign, so it isn't like taking in a stranger. Next, George C., pere, the Hon. Aaron, the ex-Hon. Stewart and the rest that helped lie to Hon. Schurz, had a motive in doing so, and of course will be satisfied to accord the required help. Now, the way that gang shapes things, as in the case of this Land Office steal, it's plain our goody-goody President and his over wise Schurz are en rapport with them and believe part of what they swear to. Such being the fact, how appropriate it would be, now that he is in the soap trade, to give Josiah a contract to clean up the whole crowd, his Excellency included.

THE Sacramento Bee advocates upon the approaching Constitutional Convention the propriety of inserting a clause in the new constitution making the punishment for peculation in office a life term in the penitentiary without the power of pardon. We are decidedly in favor of this proposition. The frequent embezzlements in public office at the present day are a disgrace to our civilization. Honest people don't care how tight the conditions are made for public officials, and the rascals should be either held in check or severely punished.

KANSAS claims to be the banner State for grain this year, good judges estimating that it will send fully 45,000,000 bushels of wheat to market, or about fifty per cent. above the largest yield heretofore in any one State, California having had the honor so far, with a crop of 30,000,000 bushels.

ACCORDING to late telegraphic advices serious apprehensions are felt in the East that another great strike among the workingmen is about to be inaugurated. Pennsylvania seems to be the hotbed of dissatisfied laborers.

The More Murder.

The conviction of Sprague, the first tried of the alleged murderers of More in San Buenaventura, of murder in the first degree, indicates that the evidence was regarded by the jury as completely convincing. Had there been any possibility of doubt as to the guilt of the prisoner it may be fairly assumed that he would have had the benefit of it, for there can be no question that the murdered man was extremely unpopular, and that he had contrived to excite against himself a very general sentiment of lively hatred. It has been shown in the course of this trial that he had been for years keeping the region all around him in hot water, by his unceasing attempts to get possession of lands which were not only held by actual settlers, but which he claimed under a forged grant. There were also serious causes of controversy between him and his neighbors regarding water rights. He had threatened to cut off a certain stream which supplied them with water for their stock and irrigation, and the deprivation of which would have gone far toward ruining them. In fact it is evident that More was by no means a pleasant neighbor, and how deeply he was disliked may be realized from the fact that men who had heard of the conspiracy to assassinate him deliberately abstained from giving him any kind of warning. But whatever the victim may have been there appears to have been no doubt in the minds of the jury as to what his slayers were. His offenses could not be alleged as a set-off against a cold-blooded and carefully planned midnight murder, and it is a relief to find that the jury were in no way confused as to their duty in the premises. It is very unlikely that any of them liked More when he was alive, if they knew him. But they were not led away by their prejudices. They recognize a clear case of murder when its brought before them, and they have so much respect for law and justice as to return the verdict which the evidence requires. Sprague has been found guilty, and upon irrefragable evidence. If the remaining prisoners cannot put up a stronger defense than was practicable in his case, they must expect the same judgment. Of course in these days of new trials granted upon frivolous technicalities it would be very rash to assume that anything will come of this trial beyond the verdict of the jury, the sentence of the Court and the payment of the heavy bill by the county. But it is encouraging to note that so far the people of the county, as represented by the jury, have shown themselves above prejudice, and determined upon doing even-handed justice.—Record-Union.

A GOOD PUN.—Mrs. Green, a colored lady, was not allowed to enter the genteel cars of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, as it was about to move toward Scranton from Wilkesbarre, but was ordered to move forward to the next or smoking car. Mr. Green, also colored, protested, but of no avail. He subsequently brought an action against the railroad company to recover the penalty of $500 affixed by the Pennsylvania statute as a punishment against any common carrying company for excluding a person from any of its cars on account of his or her color. Green proved his case in the court below, and recovered accordingly. The railway company appealed to the Supreme Court. On the argument of the case last week, one of the Judges of that tribunal, who probably did not sympathize much with the plaintiff's case, asked Gen. McCartney, the counsel, "what the result would have been if the company had denied the woman admittance to their genteel car on account of her odor instead of her color?" The counsel replied. "Why, in that case the company would have owed her less, that's all." The house was brought down, and even great merriment was visible on the woolsack itself; but the counsel was not questioned any more.—Wilkesbarre Record.

We notice that the Emigrant Mining Company, whose works are situated in Lee District, ten miles north from this place, has placed its stock on sale in the stock boards. It was started at $2 25 and closed at $2 50. As this company is entirely out of debt, and will soon have their mill running at the mines, instead of hauling their ore, as heretofore, nine miles and paying $14 per ton therefore, we may expect to see Emigrant stock appreciate to quite a respectable figure soon.—*Darwin News. AND now Fresno talks of securing the trade of Inyo and Mono counties. J. L. C. Sherwin, of Mono county, has filed with the County Clerk of Fresno county a map of a new route from the Lumber Flume Co.'s mills, near Fresno Flats, to Pine City, Mono county, connecting on the way with various roads. At present, freight from San Francisco for either of these counties has to be taken south to Mohave on the cars, and then hauled 150 miles in wagons, or east to Carson on the cars, and from there 160 miles on wagons. By going by way of Fresno there would be less than 100 miles of freighting. Unless Visalians exert themselves, their Fresno friends may get ahead of them. They who get the first road through will secure the trade.—Visalia Delta.

HOW TO LEARN TO SWIM.—When I was a boy I learned to swim by means of a swimming board. This is the safeest method possible. If corks are used they may slip from around the breast down beneath the body, throwing the head below the surface, and putting the wearer in danger of drowning. Some boys get two bladders and tie them together with a short cord, and use them for supporters. They are most dangerous things for a boy to have. The board is perfectly safe, and one may learn to swim in a very short time by using one. It should be over four feet long, over a foot wide and two inches thick, white pine or cedar. To use it a boys wades in the water up to his shoulders, and then taking hold of the board he pushes it before him—towards the bank, and not into deeper water—springs forward with his feet and throws himself flat upon the water. This movement carries him along a few feet. He then draws up both his legs at the same time, keeping the knees as far apart as possible, and then strikes out with both feet, not straight backward but sideways just as a frog does; the stroke is made slowly and is repeated again, drawing the legs up slowly and steadily. The board keeps the head above the water. When the leg stroke has been learned, one hand is taken from the board and the stroke learned, or the chin may be rested on the board while the stroke is taken with both hands. This is a very good plan as it compels the swimmer to keep his hands under water, which he should always do. By-and-by the board may be pushed ahead, and the young swimmer may swim after it, always keeping within reach. When a number of boys go to swim they should always have two or three of these boards with them for use in case of any accident.

A PETITION has been circulated and received signatures of many prominent citizens, praying the Board of Supervisors of this county to provide for the viewing and laying out of a wagon road from Visalia to Independence, and requesting the Board of Supervisors to act in concert with them. It is thought the road can be layed out for $200. A road from here to Independence would be of immense benefit to Visalia in securing the trade of Inyo county, and would assist in developing the timber and other resources of the Sierras. —Visalia Delta.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 3.....1878.

THE EMIGRANT.—As mentioned heretofore the Emigrant Company, Lee District, have purchased the pipes and machinery of the Cerro Gordo Water Works, now to be used in conveying water from a spring also recently purchased, to the company's mill now being erected directly at the mines, the Cactus and Valentine. The pumping engines were placed in a deep cañon, so that the work of getting the heavy boilers to the top of the mountain so that they could be loaded on wagons for their new location is a task of no trifling proportions. This is being done by placing the boilers on cradles, running on a temporary track up the steep mountain side. These cradles are drawn up by means of a three-fall tackle, operated by a strong team of mules. In this labor the heavy rope became stranded, owing to which fact Superintendent Taylor paid our place a visit this week to procure a new one. From him we learn that the whole length of piping to be laid down for the new works is very nearly nine miles. The water at the head will have to be forced to hight of 400 feet, where it will then have a clean run to the mine. In the course from the spring the pipes will come within four or five miles of the Belmont mines, which can be supplied therefrom. By the construction of a mile or so of wagon road the ores of that district can all easily be taken to the Emigrant mill, which stands ready to undertake their reduction at such rates as to give high hopes for the renewal of general and active mining in all the Belmont mines, consequently of lively times there once again. It will take about three months yet to get the water works and new mill ready for operations. The Emigrant has been the most complete mining success of any we know of, and its future is as bright as any reasonable man could wish.

BEARS.—The Sierra Nevada fishing grounds have some little attractions and sensations aside from the pastime of angling. In going down the other slope toward Kings river, County Clerk Crough and Judge Gardner found themselves in plain sight and very near to a couple of bears. It was at a point on the trail impracticable to either back out or get around. Neither of them got scared, but they were afraid that the horses would be. Johnny singled out the nearest tree, and notified Gardner that, while he wasn't at all frightened, he was immediately going to the top branches—merely for exercise and for sake of his health. Gardner confessed to being impelled by a similar impulse (though he wasn't at all scared, merely fearing for the safety of his dog Fun), but regretted his physical inability to climb. Meanwhile the bears—a large cinnamon and a small black one—had deliberately walked off, and report hath it that Johnny, from his perch in the tree, could see them going into Visalia.

STRUCK THE LEDGE.—John Schulte, after months of hard labor in running a tunnel 105 feet long, has tapped a very rich gold ledge in a mine called the Orion, located in Alabama District, between this place and Lone Pine. The vein is opened at a depth of 65 feet, has an average width of 20 inches and shows every favorable indication for a permanent mine. The ore is spangled with free, fine gold. With the backing of Taylor, of the Emigrant Company, Mr. Schulte is now putting in works for reducing the ore. There will yet be a large amount of gold taken out from the many small but extremely rich gold veins of Alabama. Schulte has many old Cerro Gordo and Lone Pine friends to rejoice in his success.

BELL'S FLOUR.—"Housekeeper," elsewhere in this issue, pays quite a compliment to the quality of flour manufactured of late at Bell's mill. We will take occasion to remark that for several months past we have used flour from this mill almost exclusively, and never a sack in the whole number but we actually thought to be as good as any ever brought from San Francisco. Since last Winter Mr. Bell has introduced the most approved method of manufacture, and since that time never turns out anything but a first-class article.

DEEP SPRING.—M. J. Byrnes has just returned from San Francisco and gone over the Inyo range to his mines at Deep Springs. He is accompanied by a party who will examine the property with a view of purchase. The ledges are rich, the ore assaying from $200 to $800 per ton. Prospector Byrnes thinks that among his late discoveries he has a bonanza, but wouldn't it be a just reward if he should get rich out of the gold mine at which, in pioneer days, he fought Indians from the bottom of a shaft?

TO ARRIVE AND DEPART.—Mr. Holt, of the Independence Tunnel Company, is expected here within a few days to take charge of that great enterprise. Mr. Caldwell, one of the leading stockholders and managers, who has been looking after the work on the tunnel for two months past, will then go below.

CHOICE EATING.—There is a plump, green and spotted worm, measuring from two to three inches in length, which is ravaging the tomato and other plants in the gardens about town. The Indians catch these worms, string them up by dozens, slightly roast and then eat them.

THE Hidalgo Mining Company, of Darwin, last week filed in the County Clerk's office its certificate of incorporation.

TO MEET.—An important regular session of the Board of Supervisors begins next Monday.

PREACHING.—Rev. Mr. Bell will hold divine services at the school house tomorrow, at 11 o'clock A. M.

The Rex Montis Mine and Mill.

It would require a column or more to record all the observations noted during our visit last week to the Rex Montis. But as some of them relate to matters of more concern to the company than the public, we will, for the present, at leass, confine our remarks wholly to the present condition of the mine and mill. The latter is as complete and as neat and well constructed a little 5-stamper as we have ever seen anywhere. It is already for business and has been for some time past, but is compelled to stand idle a little while longer till the winze from No 3 tunnel is tapped by the new tunnel, No. 4.

It can be but a few days at most before this connection is made. The bottom of this winze is on the same level as that of this new tunnel; vertically it is 120 feet thence to tunnel No. 3. This winze is in good ore almost, if not quite, all the way from No. 3 down to No. 4. When the latter is completed the work of extracting this known large body of ore can be carried on rapidly and to the best possible advantage. No. 4 was commenced last November by Mr. Hutchings, the predecessor of Mr. Hudgin, who in turn took charge last May. For some unaccountable reason Mr. Hutchings ran his tunnel some fifty feet almost directly away from the line of the ledge, so that to get back to the lode at last it has been made to describe almost a complete semicircle—if we remember rightly over 300 feet in all through the hardest kind of rock, in which the original contractors (working but one man on a shift, by right of contract stipulation) made but about a foot per diem. The rate since Mr. Hudgin took charge, with Harry Ashley as foreman, has been and is now about three feet per day, the original contractors having been induced to quit. This error of judgment has no doubt cost the company some thousands of dollars, besides causing the mill to stand idle the whole time when not running upon tailings. No. 4 cuts the ledge something near 400 feet below the surface or upper opening.

While there is no question whatever but that No. 4 will render available a large quantity of good ore, the conditions are such it will take still another tunnel lower down the mountain to determine anything very satisfactory as to the permanency of the mine. This company like nearly every other in this county, has been doing an "up hill" work, as regards profits and progress, by commencing on top of the hill and working downward, instead of the reverse. Mr. Holt's idea of getting into and determining the permanency and value of all those promising ledges, the Rex Montis included, is unquestionably the right one—that is, for any real (not a picayune) mining company. Such work costs money, but less in the aggregate than to keep pecking away at croppings, as it were, year after year, uncertain whether to quit or go ahead. On that mountain side a foot of tunnel is fully equivalent to a foot vertical on the ledge, let the tunnel be 500 or 2,000 feet in length.

Sooner or later every mine that is a mine on both sides of Kearsarge mountain will have to be worked on Mr. Holt's plan, or worked at a loss or abandoned. We truly believe there are millions of money that can be profitably mined out of Kearsarge mountain, a good share out of this very ledge in question.

THE BIG TUNNEL AND ADJACENT MINES.—A leading motive for going to Kearsarge mountain last week was to see the Independence tunnel and adjacent mines. By an accident, not necessary to detail here, we were unable to do so. Nevertheless, while standing at the dump of the Rex Montis the whole situation could be taken in at a glance, that dump being in plain view and about 1,400 feet above the mouth of the tunnel. The intervening declivity appears, looking from above, to be on an angle of less than 45 degrees. From the dump to the tunnel mouth there is an unobstructed view; one would apprehend danger to the tunnel buildings from rolling rocks started from any of the dumps above, and especially from snow-slides. A cut some 46 feet in length and about half as deep had to be opened through heavy boulders and debris to reach the face of the perpendicular cliff in which the tunnel proper begins. The tunnel will cut several fine ledges within the first 400 feet, and so on at short intervals clear to the Rex Montis series, less than 2,000 feet distant and at a depth at that point of about 1,400 feet. A number of these ledges, known to be rich from surface prospects, belong to the Tunnel company. Several adjoining claims, particularly two belonging to McDermott and others, are highly valued, one of them showing a rich ore vein three feet in width. As it is an established fact that the Potosi series, to be cut by this tunnel, yield ore of a very high grade, and that even back to the Mountain View, which crosses the very summit, the mines are at present almost inaccessible, the wisdom and necessity of the tunnel is too manifest to be gainsaid. No one who has ever had an opportunity of investigating the facts bearing upon the enterprise but must realize its enormous advantage to the mines. Mr. Holt's prospectus of the project is no exaggeration of either existing facts or probabilities, and it is a matter of pleasure to add that the company is solid and determined to carry the work through.

LOST.—The Prescott and Wasson crowd of mining sharps and explorers will have to be advertised for if they don't report pretty soon, having been out a week over time already. Wasson thinks the great wondrousness of this country lies in its length. From above Round Valley to Resting Springs the distance by air line is 350 miles. The mountains also appear to have a very great length, perpendicularly speaking. But it becomes our sad duty to correct Joe's idea of the lengthiness of the town of Independence; there is not a continuous street between here and Lone Pine, though he may have thought it that long while trying to get through. Seriously, though, we would like to have the crowd report itself.

Sunday School Pic-Nic.

MESSRS. EDITORS—Allow me through your columns to make the following announcement:

On the farm of Mr. Watson, between Bishop Creek and Big Pine, on the fifteenth day of August, 1878, the Bishop Creek and Big Pine Sunday Schools will meet to hold a pic-nic.

A cordial invitation is hereby given to all the children and people throughout the valley, from one end to the other, that can possibly attend. They are to meet at 10 A. M., and break up at 4 P. M.

The ground will be furnished with tables and seats, and every attention will be paid to the comfort and enjoyment of all. Sacred songs, swings, games, etc., will form part of the day. Candies, ice-cream, lemonade, refreshments, etc., will be sold on the ground by the Sunday Schools.

Horses fed at 25 cents per head for the day. All horses to feed will be given in charge of the hostler at Mr. Watson's house. It is requested that no horses be tied to the trees.

Families will bring provisions and give the same in charge of table committee. Dinner at noon, and free to all.

The order of the pic-nic will be in strict accordance with the spirit of the Sunday Schools. Proceeds of the pic-nic to be devoted to the purchase of Sunday School libraries.

Remember the invitation—come all.

Signed on behalf of the Committees.

REV. J. W. BELL.

Bishop Creek, August 1, 1878.

Bell's Flour.

MESSRS. EDITORS—In justice to our local grist mill and its proprietor, I desire to express my commendation of the excellence of Bell's No. 1 flour. I have within a short time tried all other brands of flour in this market, and give Bell's the preference. I am led to these remarks because a few years ago I was amongst the foremost growlers about our home flour. But Mr. Bell has, since last season, so much improved the quality of his flour that it will now be preferred by all who are fond of good bread. It is a matter of regret that the present stock on hand of Bell's flour will soon be exhausted by the increased demand for it; this, however, may soon be remedied by the new crop of wheat now being harvested.

HOUSEKEEPER.

PERSONAL MENTION.—Hon. P. Reddy (how does that look in print?), old Defiance himself and Delegate elect, accompanied by Supt. Gorman, is in town....P. W. Bennett, Esq., is down from Aurora, arranging business affairs. He proposes locating at Bridgeport, the county seat of Mono, where he says business of all kinds is lively, especially in the line of law. In a recent visit to San Francisco he met many old Inyoites, of whom he reports as follows: John Lentell is running a family grocery on San Pablo avenue, Oakland, and doing well; J. P. M. Perham and neice are still in San Francisco; J. Earl is traveling agent for a soap manufactory, and G. H. McCallum and wife are living somewhere in the suburbs....Col. Alexander and John Blair, of Bishop Creek, visited Independence — the latter gentleman taking the management of the eclipse of the sun during his stay....E. Pyzer, formerly of Cerro Gordo and lately from San Francisco, together with Messrs. M. Cohn and L. Lasky, the Lone Pine merchants, passed through to Bishop Creek, where one or two of the party talk of putting up a store....Ex-Sheriff A. B. Elder passed through en route to the Black Hills, having on a huge disgust for lead countries....Geo. Burckhardt, the Lone Pine jeweler and mechanic, was here looking up a location for a shop.

THE ECLIPSE.—We refer to the eclipse of the sun last Monday, not to the Eclipse mine as usual under the same caption. The said eclipse was more of a success than we had been led to expect from being so far from the line of totality. At the greatest phase old Sol's face was reduced to almost a perfect crescent, causing everything around to look sensibly shady or hazy, of a yellowish earthquaky cast. The first contact was at 20 minutes past 1, and the last at 40 minutes past 3, so the show lasted two hours and 20 minutes and was highly appreciated by an attentive and highly interested audience, Indians and Chinamen included. The former seemed to be fully apprised before hand of what was to take place, and weren't scared a bit.

SOLD FOR TAXES.—At the sale of property for the non-payment of delinquent taxes, as re-advertised under the special law, fifty-eight different pieces of property were sold. Of this number the State purchased thirty-nine. In this purchase by the State we find some mining properties, namely: the New Coso, Coso Con., Cerro Gordo Con. and Cuervo. Now the question arises, of what eartly benefit will the purchase of these mines or other mere possessory claims be to the State? That whole system of settling unpaid taxes is practically a broad farce, an expense to the State, county and officers to no purpose whatever.

FOR THE CONFERENCE.—Rev. M. W. Pratt has started for Truckee to attend the annual conference of the M. E. Church, to take place the present month. This has not proved a very profitable field in any sense for preachers in charge, and it is a question whether the Conference will deem it worth while to send another for this coming year.

DIED.—At the County Hospital, yesterday, E. Harkins, a man about 38 years of age, died from typhoid fever and lead. He was sent in from Darwin but a few days ago, being almost dead at the time from the disease and having been many times "leaded" while pursuing his occupation of smelter.

ANOTHER STORE AT BISHOP.—It is stated that S. G. Sneden, Esq., is now in San Francisco selecting a stock of goods for the re-establishment of a mercantile business at Bishop Creek.

Keeping Cool on Kern River—Gossip from the Fishing Grounds.

CAMP AT SODA SPRINGS, July 31.

MESSRS. EDITORS—On the 25th a party consisting of Wm. Crapo, Ed. Shone and your correspondent in one gang, and J. T. Belshaw, Sam. Cowles and Judge Bowen in another, started for Cerro Gordo for a month's rest in the Sierras. After reaching Lone Pine (in a good ginable way) and getting all the favors asked from friend Macarter, we started for Rittgers' ranch, where the good people did all in their power to make us at home. Oh, we shall never forget those nice roasting ears! In the morning we started, and soon found ourselves in the mountains. We had a splendid trip, and reached our destination the following day. You may rest assured we were well pleased to first meet A. C. Harvey and family. Mrs. A. C. is enjoying herself splendidly, and is the life of the camp, while their two children are the picture of health. I was never more surprised than to see our old friend Dan Williams camped a short distance below us on the river, in Rattlesnake Pass. After a shake hands, he told us he had a partner, who would soon be in camp. He soon came, and I have been glad ever since that D. H. made such a good choice in selecting such an agreeable companion—none other than Mr. Sawyer, of Darwin. Now we proceeded to biz. Dan was seated under a big pine tree, fighting gnats and musquitoes with the little strength he had left, but he had strength enough left to ask us if we carried a bottle. We told him we were Good Templars, when he made all necessary excuses, and I am glad to say prevented a great destruction of benzine. Dan (or old "Pud") turned around with an angry look, and said, "Sawyer, what did you drink all that whisky up on the road for?" Sawyer replied, "What are you kicking about? We only had two gallons of whisky and a bottle of pepper sauce, and you carried the whisky and I had to tackle the pepper sauce. Here is some of it if you want it." Dan laughed, and drank the last the bottle contained, it being about half full, and threw the empty bottle into the river.

Our next call was at the camp of K. C. Johnson and Uncle Davey, two old mountaineers as well as explorers and hunters. We found their camp well supplied with trout, suckers, alligators, snakes and horned toads, with plenty of small game, such as bears of all kinds, mountain lions, deer and greybacks. Kit is looking well and is in good spirits, but is somewhat worried about his high forehead, and such a sudden change in his mode of living has caused his feet to grow out of his friends' recollection. Our old friend Dave is enjoying himself as usual, and deals out two drops of pain-killer in a little soda water to the boys every morning for a cocktail. Here we meet that Bill Johnson, who everybody knows, and if they don't we will refer them to Johnny Briscoe or Bill Grant. He is well now, but was sick, his stock of drugs having given out.

We have now the pleasure of seeing every day one of the best lot of tourists that have ever been in the mountains. The party consists of the following named persons: R. C. Redd, wife and two sons, Masters Geo. and Robt. Redd, Miss. Annie A. Mills, Miss Hope Broughton, Miss Mattie Martine, M. B. Martine and H. C. Ford. They hail from Portersville, Tulare county; have been on the road for six days, and they certainly do great credit to their county. Every evening we have an entertainment; their musical education has not been neglected. Miss Mills has been their teacher both of music, drawing and painting. She is highly educated, a good talker and altogether one of the best companions it has ever been my lot to meet, either at home or in the mountains. As with Mrs. Redd, the mother and protector of this jolly band, no need fear but they will be safe under her protection. To-morrow (August 1st) they leave us, of which we are truly sorry. They start for Mount Whitney; the trip is a hard one but they are determined and say they will make the ascent, and Sam Cowles says he will bet a big apple that they will make it. The expedition will be guided by Prof. Crapo and the illustrious Kit Johnson, known by the party as Kit Arkansaw Traveler; the party will all go away singing. The guides will return in a week (very weak). The party contemplate taking in Kernville on their way back, where they will arrive about August 15, and can then say they were the first ladies ever on Mount Whitney proper. We all wish them God-speed and a safe return.

SEVEN-UP.

SILVER PEAK.—Mr. T. F. A. Connelly, just returned from a trip to the old-time camp of Silver Peak, Nevada, reports some interesting items concerning the work going on by the New York company. The "leaching" process is used at the mill, giving surprising results as to close working of ore and fineness of bullion—it being claimed that the ore is worked up to 96 per cent. and the bullion comes out 98 fine. The process is claimed to be a success as to great cheapness and effectiveness, but there is no saving of any gold which may be in the ore. About $12,000 in bullion is being shipped per month.

THE PIC-NIC.—We invite attention to Rev. Mr. Bell's communication on this page giving notice of a proposed Sunday School pic-nic to be held at Watson's place on the 15th inst. The object is a most praiseworthy one, for particulars of which see his communication.

J. S. R. & Co.—The new column advertisement of the well-known firm of J. S. Rothschild & Co. will be noted elsewhere this issue. They carry a large stock, and are ready to fill all requirements for anything in the line of general merchandise.

SCHOOL.—Mr. A. E. Janvier has been engaged to again take charge of the George's Creek school for the ensuing term. He is acknowledged to be one of our very best teachers.

MONTEZUMA.—John Howell, having obtained a controlling interest in all the property of this old district, near Silver Peak and the Log Springs country, will this season build reduction works and start up active operations. Mr. Howell is the boss metallurgist of this coast, and it is not likely he would start in for himself without a certainty of success; and he says that he proposes to stay with it.

THE undersigned desires to give notice that he will receive at his warehouse at Bishop Creek, grain or other marketable produce, allowing the highest current price for the same, in settlement of old accounts or in exchange for goods. J. H. STOUTENBOROUGH.

Bishop Creek, July 3, 1878.

MUSIC HATH CHARMS, ETC.—The Independence boys have effected the purchase of some fine instruments for the brass band organization. One of the Hoskins boys is to take the position of instructor and leader.

ECLIPSE.—A very large and fine specimen of ore from the old Eclipse mine has been on exhibition at Harris & Rhine's office during the week.

YUM, YUM.—Well, yes, who's going to bring us the first ripe watermelon?

THE weather delightfully cool and breezy for this time of the year.

RECENTLY a tornado in Iowa blew away horses and cattle in a mass, and it wasn't an equine-ox-tial gale by two months at least.—Lowell Courier.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, AUGUST 3.....1878.

Lunar Nonsense.

If we accepted literally every lunar prejudice, the moon would rule many things beside the weather. Madmen and lunatics would be subject to her power. There are veterinary surgeons who say that the sight of certain horses becomes dim or clear according to the phases of the moon. Woodmen insist that if trees are felled with a waning moon the wood will speedily decay. Housewives declare that if you kill your pig, as you ought, with a crescent moon, the bacon will swell nicely in the boiling; if, on the contrary, when she is in the wane, it will, shrivel, shrink and be hard and good for nothing. Finally, all sailors in a mass, except the most highly educated officers, attribute every change of weather to the moon. Why? Nobody knows. Such like prejudices must be accepted and the truth taken for granted, without discussion. There is no want of instances. It is exactly because prejudices are beyond the reach of discussion that it is so difficult to bring them to reason. Natural philosophers have perfectly explained the phenomena attributed to La Lune Rousse, the Red Moon, which are really caused by the state of the atmosphere. Gardeners, nevertheless, persist in making the Red Moon (the lunation between the Paschal and Pentecostal moons) responsible for the morning frosts which frequently occur at that season. But the ancients never entertained the idea that the moon's phases were the cause of changes in the weather; it was Jupiter's privilege to assemble the clouds and to dart the thunder-bolts. The lucky and unlucky days of the lunar month belong to astrology and not meteorology. Bouvard, Arago and many others have proved by long series of observations, that the moon does not affect the weather. Labor in vain! The majority of sailors interpret the moon's age, each according to his own private rule or belief. The only effectual refutation would be to strike at the root of the evil in early youth, and make school children repeatedly recite and copy truthful sentences, such as, "It is ridiculous to believe in sorcerers, witches, were-wolves and red moons;" "It is not true that the new moon changes the weather, that the full moon eats up the clouds, that thunder bolts are made of stone;" and other items of the vulgar creed. Accurate knowledge of facts might thus be promoted by a catechism of things not to be believed.

It is now a well established fact that the cat-fish planted in the slough near town, some three years ago, are doing well and multiplying rapidly. Only seventeen were put in and now they can be caught by the hundred. A few evenings since a party of three went out and caught about fifty in an hour or two. On another occasion a party of three went out and caught about eighty in two hours. We believe none of the cat fish have been put in Buena Vista slough or any of the lakes, where they would unquestionably do well. They will probably find their way there, but it would be a good idea if some of our sport lovers would go to the trouble of making plants in the waters of the slough and the different lakes. The fish are very hardy, and of a fine flavor. They find plenty to eat, their food being principally the chub and other useless fish that abound in the waters here. One person was heard to say that the cats have not the same flavor here that they have in the East but this was probably a freak of the imagination, as the same party also made the assertion that an egg doesn't have the same flavor here as it does in the East. The fish are of fine quality, and the slough can now furnish plants for other streams in the southern part of the State.—Bakersfield Californian.

All the newspapers in Southern California concede that this State will ultimately be divided; but some of them think such a movement will be far in the future. We believe the time for division is in the near future, if current events are properly shaped with a view to bringing about the result. Of course the thing most needed is an increased population. The large land-owners can manage that, if they will. As to the expenses of running a State government, they can be made very moderate. The principle cost is in getting a start. This would be met by a liberal bid for the location of the capital; then we would get paid for our share in the public institutions, none of which would fall within the limits of the new southern State. To begin, the public buildings should be modest in their style and proportions, and the representation should be small. Every State and county officer should be salaried at a minimum rate. The difference between the cost of running the county governments at present and what they ought to be, would go far toward defraying the expenses of the new State administration.—Santa Monica Outlook.

There is a class of men in every community who go about with vinegar faces because they are not appreciated as they ought to be; and who have a constant quarrel with their destiny. These men, usually, have made a very grave mistake in the estimate of their abilities. Wherever fault-finding with one's condition or position occurs there is always a want of self-respect. If people despise you do not tell it all over town. If you are smart show it. Do something and keep doing. Society never estimates a man at what he imagines himself to be. He must show himself possessed of self-respect, independence, energy to will and to do, and a good sound heart. These qualities and possessions insure him position and respect.

San Bernardino county has an area of nearly 23,000 square miles, and a permanent population of only about 12,000 souls.

The collections of internal revenue in San Francisco, since January 1st, have been $1,055,902.

From present appearances Los Angeles will soon be the great silver producing county in California. The great silver ledge on the south slope of the Santa Ana mountains appears to be a bonanza of great extent and richness. This immense deposit of silver ore is about forty-five miles southeast of Los Angeles, and fifteen miles from the Southern Pacific Railroad at Santa Ana, and twenty miles from Newport Landing. The ledge is six feet thick, of solid ore, remarkably uniform, and assaying from $100 to over $300 per ton. It has been prospected for more than four thousand feet in extent. * * The peculiar situation of the mine is most remarkable. It is placed only three and a half miles from a bed of coal peculiaaly adapted to working this kind of ore. It is right alongside of one of the finest agricultural regions of the world, where the cost of supplies will be but a fourth of the average price of such goods at other silver mines. It is within one day's teaming of the railroad or the McFadden steamer landing, and in a country where no weather will interfere with a steady prosecution of the work. So many advantages to reduce the cost of mining have never been equaled, and must result in a great profit to the fortunate owners of the mines. The rock is favorable for blasting and a single blast sometimes detaches five tons of ore. The outlook is full of promise for this section of the country.—Santa Monica Outlook.

It appears as if Southern California is now coming to the front on account of its mines. San Diego, San Bernardino, Inyo and Los Angeles counties are all looming up as yielders of bullion.—Santa Monica Outlook.

Simon Short's Sorrow.

Shrewd Simon Short sewed shoes. Seventeen Summers' speeding storms saw Simon's small, shabby shop standing staunch; saw Simon's self-same squeaking sign still swinging, sniftly specifying, "Simon Short, Smithfield's sole surviving shoemaker. Shoes soled, sewed superfinely." Simon's sedulous spouse, Sally Short, sewed shirts, stiched sheets, stuffed sofas. Simon's six stout, sturdy sons, Seth, Samuel, Stephen, Saul, Silas, Shadrach, sold sundries. Sober Seth sold saddles, stirrups; sagacious Stephen sold silks, satins, shawls; sceptical Saul sold silver salvers; selfish Shadrach sold salves, shoe-strings, soaps, saws, skates; slack Silas sold Sally Short's stuffed sofas.

Some seven Summers since, Simon's second son Samuel saw Sophia Sophronia Spriggs somewhere—sweet, sensible, smart Sophronia Spriggs. Sam soon showed strange symptoms. Sam seldom stood selling saddles. Sam sighed sorrowfully, sought Sophia Sophronia Sprigg's society, sung several serenades slyly. Simon stormed, scowled severely, said Sam seemed so silly singing such senseless songs, strutting spendthrift, scatter-brained simpleton. "Softly, sire," said sweet Sally, "Sam's smitten—Sam's spied some sweetheart." "Sentimental, silly schoolboy," snarled Simon. "Smitten! stop such stuff." Simon sent Sally's snuff-box spinning, seized Sally's scissors, smashed Sally's spectacles, scattered several spools. "Sneaking scoundrel!" Simon stopped speaking, started shopward swiftly.

Sally sighed sadly, summoning Sam, she spoke sympathizingly. "Sam," said she, "Sire seems singularly snappish, so, sonny, stop strolling streets, stop smoking, stop spending specie superfluously, stop singing serenades slyly, stop short, sell saddles sensibly; see Sophia Sophronia Spriggs speedily, Sam." "So soon?" said Sam, standing still. "So soon, surely," said Sally smiling, "specially since sire shows such spirits." So Sam, somewhat scared, sauntered slowly, shaking stupendously. Sam soliloquizes: "Sophia Sophronia Short, Sam Short's spouse, sounds splendid. Suppose she should say she shan't?" Sam soon spied Sophia starching shirts, singing softly; seeing Sam she stopped, saluting Sam smilingly. Sam stammered shockingly—"Sp—sp—splendid Summer season, Sophia?" "Somewhat sultry," suggested Sophia. "Sar—sartain," said Sam (silence seventeen seconds). "Selling saddles still, Sam?" "Sar—sartain," said Sam, starting suddenly. "Sire shot sixty snipe Saturday." "Sho!" said Sam (silence seventy-seven seconds). "See sister Sue's sunflowers," said Sophia, socially silencing such stiff silence. Such sprightly sauciness stimulated Sam strangely; so suddenly speaking sentimentally Samuel said: "Sophia, Susan's sunflowers seem saying 'Samuel Short, Sophronia Spriggs, stroll serenely, seek some sequestered spot, some sylvan shade—sparkling streams shall sing some soul-stirring strains, sweet songsters silence secret sighings, sylphs shall"—Sophia snickered, so Sam stopped. "Sophia," said Sam solemnly, "Sam," said she. "Sophia, stop smiling, Sam Short's sincere. Sam's seeking some sweet spouse." She stood silently. "Speak, Sophia, speak! Such silence speculates sorry." "Seek Sue, Sam," said Sophia. So Sam sought Sue Spriggs. Sue Spriggs said "Sartain."

THERE is no estimating the power of printer's ink. Kearney to-day is nationally notorious. Suppose the Chronicle and Call had ignored his sand-lot speeches from the start, who outside of his immediate neighborhood would know there was such a man as Dennis Kearney on the whole face of the earth? Kearney abuses the thieving papers, when really it was the press that made him.—Eureka Sentinel.

THE GREENBACK AND LABOR MEN. The New York Graphic publishes the following: The confusion of opinion between the Greenback and Labor men is quite remarkable. It shows, however, that the break from the old parties is due to the lack of any definite programme with either the Democrats or Republicans. A vital party organization must have an idea and a creed. The old Democratic and the old Whig parties had these, and the Republican party in its war on slavery and its reconstruction of opinion was animated by great moral ideas. Now, the new party has an idea, namely: The bettering of the condition of the working classes. Some of the schemes proposed by the originators are fearfully absurd, and others are positively wicked, but there is reason to hope that as time passes the mischievous propositions will be eliminated, that the party will rally under better leaders than it now has and do some good. But the old parties are dead! dead! dead! They are organizations but they lack the breath of life. The Labor-Greenback party will be eventually a really Democratic party, but will teach a very different kind of Democracy from that promulgated by Jefferson. Its methods will involve using the forces of the Government for the benefit of the great mass of the community. But in the meantime there will be a great deal of squabbling and fighting among the fellows who will try to lead the new party.

JOHN C. HAMILTON, a son of Alexander Hamilton, gives to a correspondent of the Philadelphia Times this pathetic incident of his father:

The day before the duel I was sitting in a room, when at a slight noise I turned around and saw my father in the doorway, standing silently there and looking at me with a most sweet and and beautiful expression of countenance. It was full of tenderness, and without any of the business preoccupation he sometimes had. "John," he said, when I had discovered him, "won't you come and sleep with me to-night?" His voice was frank, as if he had been my brother instead of my father. That night I want to his bed, and in the morning very early he awakened me, and taking my hands in his palms, all four hands extended, he said and told me to repeat the Lord's Prayer. Seventy-five years have passed over my head, and I have forgotten many things, but not that tender expression when he stood looking at me in the door, nor the prayer we made together the morning before the duel.

"COME, doctor," said a gentlemen to his minister, "I can give you a treat—a bottle of claret forty years old." The doctor was in raptures, and eagerly accepted the invitation, when to his dismay the expected quart proved to be only a pint bottle. "Waes me," said he, taking it up in his hand, "but it's unco wee of its age."

A CORRESPONDENT sends us a poem, "Night's Silver Moon," and asks us what we will pay for it. We can only say that we know nothing about the night rate of silver.—Boston Journal. Oh, don't you, then? Well, about two dimes out of every quarter of it goes for beer. That's the night rate of silver.—Hawkeye.

THE following memorandum of articles offered in the advertising columns of a well known and officially published journal for circulation among brewers, may suggest to hop growers one reason why their crops have of late proved more and more unprofitable: Bavarian bitter, 1 pound equals 64 pounds of hops; for adding to copper, or when racked. Bisulphate of lime, for the preventation of acetous fermentation of beer. Double humulin (aroma), for flavoring mild like pale ales, 1 pound equal to 32 pounds of hops. Burton water crystals, especially recommended to brewers for rendering ales more preservative, improving attenuation, dropping clearer, paler in color more sparkling." This evidence of the mysterious art of "blending" may help the habitual imbiber of beer to account for his chronic headache, stomach ache and blue nose.

BECOMING SERIOUS.

The tramp nuisance in the Western States is beginning to assume an alarming shape. In Iowa and other States the tramps have learned the power of organization. They no longer travel singly, but in gangs of fifty and a hundred. The gangs are far too strong to be dealt with by the railroad officials, and the result is that they literally capture the trains, and use them at their pleasure. More than this they do not scruple to break open freight en route, and to help themselves to whatever they fancy. The railroads are in a serious dilemma. The local authorities cannot be induced to relieve them, for they themselves fear the irruption of the tramps, and are glad enough to have the ruffians transported beyond their jurisdiction. It is useless to arm the train hands, for unless a regiment accompanied every train they would be unable to cope with the tramps. The outcome is that the tramps are growing bolder and more reckless all the time, and if suffered to go on as they are now doing, they will before long become a source of grave danger to the whole Northwest. They are not unemployed workingmen but hopeless tramps, refusing stubbornly to accept work and preferring to live a roving and predatory life. These large gangs are already very dangerous. They are capable of capturing isolated farm houses, and there is no outrage or excess too monstrous for them to perpetrate. They are rapidly becoming converted into distinct bands of brigands, and as such they will have to be dealt with, if the authorities in the threatened regions continue to evade their duty.

BEFORE the Congressional Committee on Labor, in New York, August 3, one George W. Maddox, of the Congress of Humanity, wanted the Government to issue $14,000,000,000 or so to New York, to build docks, etc., and comparatively similar sums to other cities, to be expended on public works, and when these works would have made sufficient returns, then let the Government be paid back and the notes destroyed, as canceled bonds are. They must have bigger idiots in that country than Kearney.

THE following resolution has passed the British Columbia Parliament unanimously: That this House is of the opinion that the Chinese should not be employed on the public works of the province, and that a clause should be inserted in the specifications of all contracts awarded to the effect that contractors will not be permitted to employ Chinese labor upon work, and that in the event of their doing so the Government will not be responsible for the payment of contracts.

IOWA tramps, who formerly traveled through the country singly or in squads, have combined in companies of 50 and 100 this season. Railroad companies find it impossible to protect their property from them, not only stealing a ride, but robbing the cars of whatever they want. They will not work; they prefer the board and shelter of a jail, and some people insist that the lash is the only thing that will have any influence upon them.

THE Land Agent of the Union Pacific Railroad at Omaha has issued an official circular letter giving notice that the road will not accept as final the decision of Secretary Schurz as to the right of citizens to settle on and remain in undisturbed possession of lands granted to the Union Pacific by the Government. Any such settlers will be dealt with as trespassers.

A MODERN writer declares than American men are gradually decreasing in stature, and that two or three generations hence the women will be the taller. He attributes it to the use of liquor and tobacco, stunting the growth of boys. It not only shortens the hight but also the length of life.

PRESIDENT DIAZ, of Mexico, is about to strike from the national pay-rolls the names of two or three thousand office-holders drawing pay for doing nothing. There is no danger of our country being Mexicanized in any such way as that.

ALF. CHARTZ, the Eureka, Nev., newspaper man who killed Rickar, has been found guilty of murder in the second degree.

THE Victoria, B. C., Parliament, proposes to impose a tax of $60 per annum on every Chinese person in the Province.

THE Chicago Tribune says: "Mrs. Jenks will lecture—her husband."

WAR AGAINST MACHINERY.

We see now that, in the estimation of the tramping Kearneyites, labor-saving machinery and John Chinaman are to be esteemed and treated as equally inimical and obnoxious to Kearney rights. "The Chinese must go"—so, too, must the reapers, especially the self-binders, the threshing machines, and everything of that sort. Like the Johns the machines must be exterminated because both are taking bread from the poor man's mouth. That, in substance, is what we are told. That is the casus belli upon which labor agitators of the Kearney school have recently declared war to the knife against not only those who employ Chinamen but all who try to keep up with the world by using labor-saving machinery, particularly the kind above mentioned. That's in this State, where, alone, do both grievances, Chinamen and machinery, stand in the Kearney track. In Ohio and other Eastern States where whole fields of grain as well as the machines in their midst are being ruthlessly destroyed by believers in Kearney, no Johns exist. The labor agitation is as virulent there as here, however, where he does exist in damnable proportions. We and everybody earnestly desire John to go, to go in a body at once and forever; but if he was to go and leave not the faintest sign of the curse of his visitation, a glance at and comparison of events transpiring in this State and elsewhere shows convincingly that even the California original simon pure Kearneyite would be just as unhappy, just as miserable, just as dangerous—in short, just as much of an agitator as he is today with John Chinaman's name and doings to give the body to his song of woe. Remove that cause for the present phase of Kearneyism in this State, how much less dangerous would Kearneyism become? Not a whit, we fancy, seeing what we see of their doings in other States not cursed with the obvious curse of our own fair State, the hordes of underbidding Asiatics. Their coming was a blow at progress, their stay must ever be a source of constant irritation to all classes alike, so send them hence. But don't look to that to calm and assauge the Kearney spirit. Its moving impulse is the most senseless war against progress ever inaugurated since the English flailers flailed the first threshing machine to pieces. Or rather this new war is exactly of the same nature and with the same object as that. While the Kearney agitation was at its hight some of his followers in Santa Clara and other valleys gave notice that employing farmers should not only not employ Chinamen but no improved machinery in harvesting their crops. This last appeared so absurd no one thought it would be done. But they are firing fields of grain and machines in this State and in Ohio; have even murdered men and cut levees on the Sacramento in fulfillment of those threats and teachings. Surprising, isn't it, that men live in this enlightened country and age who strive to get bread by acts to make it absolutely unattainable? These same incendiaries would call the unemployed miners on the Comstock worse than fools were the latter to join and tumble all the hoisting machinery to the depths below in the hope of employment in packing the ore on their backs up those interminable ladder ways, as they do it in Peru. It is clear if that plan was adopted thousands of workingmen would find constant employment if they kept the mills fairly supplied—also, that the conditions of such employment must be worse than Peruvian miners' wages and peonage, else the cost of production of such silver must bar it from every market in the world. Yet, absurd as this method of enlarging the field of employment for miners might be it is no more so than those fellows are aiming at in these efforts to force the re-adoption of primitive methods of farming and manufacturing. Time was when mining could be profitably prosecuted without machinery; so could farming with a wooden crotch for a plow, sickle and flail, and might be again in a small way if the whole world would adopt the old plans. Ridiculous as it may seem, that is the precise tendency of this war against the machinery by which alone is one part of the world able to hold its own with the other, and provide employment and bread for its people.

THE starving, poverty-stricken Central and Union Pacific railroads—in order simply that the directors may obtain the bare necessaries of life—have had to increase the rates on first-class through freights from six to twelve cents per pound. Let's pass around the hat for their further relief.

MOUNTED POLICE dispersed a labor riot in Washington city, a few days ago, during which two persons were shot and several policemen injured. The rioters have given notice that any one working for less than $1 50 per day shall be stoned to death.

YELLOW FEVER is spreading in the Southern States, and the larger cities, both inland and sea-board, are enforcing the most rigid quarantine regulations.

The Eclipse at Denver.

The sky was entirely clear until 1 P. M., when a few masses of cumulus clouds showed themselves over the mountains toward the north and west. With these exceptions the sky was perfect and the atmospheric conditions were of the most favorable character for the successful observation of the eclipse. The house-tops were thronged with people, the higher buildings being especially in demand, as from them the approach of the dark shadow of the totality could be seen as it swept across the plain. The time of the first contact was 2:20, and ten minutes later the presence of the moon at the edge of the sun's disc was plainly visible to ordinary observers with smoked glass. By 3 o'clock the sunlight had moderated in a marked degree, showing a pale yellow color. Later on a lurid glare overspread the earth. The heat of the sun was no longer oppressive, and a light similar to twilight was shown in the horizon, and the light flecks of clouds began slowly to dissolve, owing to the change in the temperature. As the period of totality came on, the sight from an elevated station was grand in the extreme. A dark shadow fell on Long's Peak, 75 miles distant, and sweeping rapidly to the southeastward covered the plain like a gray pall. To the northeastward the clouds could be seen bathed in sun-light and presenting the view of a beautiful sunset. During the period of observation the moon appeared like a huge black ball, surrounded by a beautiful circle of light, and as the sunlight suddenly broke forth again chickens crowed as though morning had dawned.

The astronomical parties as far as heard from, failed to discover the planet Vulcan, though able to discover stars of the sixth magnitude. Prof. Young reported that he discovered no ultra red or violet lines, but that at the moment of totality all of Frauenshofler's lines were beautifully reversed, and this was the most important result of his observations made in Siam. Both the "H" lines were also reversed, and very bright lines were seen near the large "B," which confirms Prof. Pogson's observations. He also saw the bright lines "F" and 1474. Edison's tasimeter failed to work satisfactorily, and he used a thermopyle, which caused an unsteady motion in the galvanometer. Prof. Colbert reports that his observations tends to show that the moon's path in the heavens lays a little further southward than was indicated by the lunar tables, or else that the estimate of the moon's diameter is too large, perhaps both. The measures made by Mr. Easterday indicated that the corona extended out in an average of about 26 minutes of an arc, corresponding to a distance of about seven hundred thousand miles, all around the sun and it was strongly stirated, and in the direction of the ecliptic the rays were very nearly straight, while above and below that line they were markedly spiral in their character, and some of the lines at the base formed an angle of not less than thirty degrees, with a prolongation of the sun's rays. The chromosphere was distinctly seen by Prof. Hough, indicating a thickness of some thousand miles. The protuberances were much less prominent than at most of the recent eclipses. Two rather pale ones were seen on the western side of the moon. Mr. Thomas also saw the lines 1474, but did not discover any new lines. —Denver Dispatch.

IOWA has never had a more sensational affair than the shooting of Miss Sherwood at Independence, and the suicide of her murderer, Shaw. The tragedy opened with an assault last Fall upon Toman, while buggy riding with Miss Sherwood. Two men, Strohl and Rourke, were arrested for this assault, and one of them was sent to the Penitentiary. Since Shaw killed himself and the girl it is developed that she was engaged to young Toman, but loved Shaw, and made each of her lovers believe she was persecuted by the other. She decoyed Toman into the buggy ride, and arranged for Shaw to assault and kill him, and after Rourke had been sent to the Penitentiary for the crime, it came to her knowledge that she and Shaw were suspected and were to be arrested, whereupon they agreed to die together, and she willingly became his victim. There was nothing to prevent her breaking with Toman and marrying Shaw, had she so chosen. It is a case of the worst morbid sentimentalism we ever knew. The girl who would plot to decoy one lover within killing distance of the other and then join in sending an innocent man to a long penal servitude for another's crime, probably put herself where she would do the most good when she let herself be shot. —Iowa City Press.

ENDED.—From Idaho dispatches of the 6th it appears that the hostiles are scattering in small bands in all directions, and that the Idaho Indian war is now virtually at end. Several large bands have surrendered, and others are expected to do so. The Indians, however, continue to murder and rob up to the last moment, and it would not be very improper to hang a few of them by way of example.

BEACONSFIELD has publicly pronounced Gladstone "a sophistical rhetorician inebriated with the exuberance of his own verbosity and egotistical imagination." Just so. Will somebody please send those old duffers some soothing syrup?

NEWS has been received in San Francisco of the death of Michael Reese, at Walleinstein, in Germany. His will has been overhauled, and fights over the division of his ten millions in property are now in order. His bequests to charities are uniform and liberal.

A. M. TULLIS, a wealthy farmer living on Grand Island, Sacramento county, was murdered, on the 5th instant, it is supposed by members of some labor organization.

A Railroad on Paper.

The Virginia Enterprise, the well-known leading paper of Nevada, as well as one of the most influential on the Coast, in the following article gets its work in exactly at the right time and place. It has long been a conviction with us that the railroad for this county is to come from the north, through the enterprise of an independent company. Indeed, it is a question whether or not a railroad through this great route to the ocean, if owned by the Central Pacific cormorants, would not be a curse. But a road run in view of developing the country and of giving a fair return on the outlay, would in two years become an enormously valuable property. In the following article the Enterprise barely touches upon about a half of the mining districts and general resources which would support the road, but the facts given as to its cost are valuable:

Most of the railroads of the country are first built on paper by individuals who have more imagination than cash, and after all the facts and figures are made, the men with means, if they can find no fault with the figures, invest their money, get it back every two years, and are called shrewd and far-sighted business men. The Eureka and Palisade Railroad was built first in the Sentinel office, and to-day we propose to build another road on paper, which we expect to see materialized on land within the next two years. The freights paid on goods which are shipped south from Wadsworth amount daily to $2,000—some say much more. There is no travel and no return freight, save now and then a load of ore and occasionally a small shipment of bullion. A road running from Wadsworth or from the Mound House for 150 miles would command the trade of Aurora, Bodie, Marietta, Belleville, Silver Peak, Columbus, Benton, Alida, Lewis District, Bishop Creek, Independence, Cerro Gordo, and half-a-dozen districts south and east of Belleville. For the first hundred miles the grading would not cost to exceed $1,000 per mile for a narrow-gauge road. Steel rails of forty-five pounds per yard could be laid down in Reno or Wadsworth for $6,400 per mile; six locomotives would cost $54,000 and the cars as much more. The ties would cost $600 per mile, and the culverts, bridges and depots would probably cost $1,000 per mile. The telegraph might cost $1,000 per mile more. To recapitulate, we have for rails, $6,400 per mile, ties $600, grading $1,000, rolling stock $1,000, depots, culverts and bridges, $1,000, and the telegraph $1,000, or a total of $11,000 per mile. This is a fair estimate, and for 100 miles the total cost would be $1,100,000. The fifty additional miles would cost something more for grading, but not more than $4,000 per mile more, which would leave the road for 150 miles completed and amply stocked for $1,850,000. The interest on this sum, at fifteen per cent. per annum—ten per cent. for interest and five per cent. for working expenses and repairs—would be $277,500. By charging one-third the freights now charged from Wadsworth, the returns without any increase in business would from freights alone amount to $244,333. But it is plain enough that the outgoing freights would be doubled. The passenger fare would be something enormous. The freights and fares now being paid at Carson and at points on the Southern Pacific would all come to this road. Half-a-dozen districts, the ores of which are low grade and are not being worked at present, would spring into life. There would be constant back freights in the shape of bullion, salt and soda; so that at lower rates than were ever known on any road in Nevada the receipts would return all the money that the road would cost within two years. It would pass through a comparatively virgin country, and a country as rich in mines as ever was seen on earth. After the 150 miles were completed, if the owners pleased to continue it 80 miles further they would connect with the Southern Pacific, and thus place Los Angeles, with her cheap fruits and grain, within twenty-four hours' transportation of Virginia. The narrow road would be just as good for all purposes as the Central Pacific or the Virginia and Truckee road. It would grow more and more valuable with the years, and never could have any opposition. Its building would give a good many men employment; its working would always furnish employment for as many more; it would open new and old districts which would give hundreds and thousands of men work; it would add to the State's taxable property materially, and would pay tremendously. The above is a preliminary survey, but it is correct.

NOTICE TO THE PRESS.—We feel gratified to announce that through the courtesy of the Pioneer Association of Sacramento, their elegant hall in Pioneer Building on east side of Seventh street, between J and K streets, will be thrown open during Fair week for the especial accommodation of the bona fide editors of the State, or their duly accredited representatives. The Hall is a very handsome one, comfortably and conveniently arranged, and every appliance will be supplied whereby the members of the fraternity may write, arrange and dispatch their correspondence. Pioneer Hall will also be the headquarters of the "California Press Association" during Fair week. This whole arrangement is most satisfactory and will be thoroughly appreciated by members of the press in whose interests it has been accomplished. Newspapers throughout the State and Nevada are respectfully requested to give publicity to the above announcement.—S. F Spirit of the Times.

A CULTURED Boston paper says that when the Tallapoosa arrived in Newport with Secretary Thompson on board that distinguished mariner gave these orders: "Avast there! Reef yer windlass! Lower away yer poop deck! Now bring me another brandy and soda." This mean intimation that the bold buccaneer of the Wabash does not understand his business should be severely rebuked.

IT appears that the Legislature has not provided enough money to pay the probable expenses of the Constitutional Convention. The sum of $150,000 is appropriated, but $152,000 will be required to pay the $10 per diem for 100 days of the 52 delegates, leaving nothing for the clerks, pages and door-keeper, whose aggregate compensation will probably be about $5,000, leaving a deficiency of $7,000. This deficiency might be met by closing the session on the 95th day, for the salaries of the delegates will amount to $1,520 a day. If they sit through the 100 days there will be a deficit of about $45 in the pay of each delegate, to be paid by an appropriation to be made by the next Legislature, which will not meet until December. 1879, and the warrant would probably not be paid until March, 1880.—Alta California.

ALMOST INCREDIBLE.—The Syndicate mill is probably making the most remarkable run on Bodie ore in the history of mining. Contrary to the opinions of many, instead of running to its full capacity of twenty stamps, never more than fifteen have been used, and for the past two days an average of ten has been used, and yet during these two days the bullion run out each day has reached nearly $20,000. After running seven days without a clean up of battery or pans, there was shipped seven bars valued at $93,168 42, nearly $100,000 in a week! The value per ounce has rapidly increased since the first bar was run, and from $7 04 cents it is now $10 75. The market is firm at $20 per share, and when this large run of gold bars reach the Bay it is more than probable that considerable stir will be created.—Bodie Standard, Aug. 3.

KILLING AT COLUMBUS.—From a letter written to H. W. Barton, of this place, we are are apprised of a killing which took place at Columbus last Tuesday afternoon. E. P. Hull, commonly known as "Chips," and Uncle Dave Holland became involved in a difficulty about an old bill. They were in John Hunnel's stable at the time and three or four other parties were also present. They had a little wordy wrangle, when Holland struck Hull two or three times. Hull then drew a small revolver and fired at Holland, the bullet striking him in the abdomen about two inches below the navel, cutting all the small intestines so badly that death ensued next day about noon. Both men were perfectly sober at the time. Holland has a son somewhere on Bishop Creek. —Esmeralda Herald, Aug. 3.

THE chief of the Chinese Embassy is wag as well as a diplomatist. A well known resident of this city, who called to see him, asked him what he thought of the Chinese immigration. He replied that it was evidently a bad thing, and no doubt the Chinese would have to leave the coast. "How will they get to China?" the gentleman asked. "Oh, they won't return there," Chun Lan Pin said. "They will go to Ireland, for that seems to be the only country Irishmen don't rule."—San Francisco Post.

MODOC CON.—We are informed that the present assessment on the Modoc Consolidated is for the purpose of removing the works down the hill to near the mouth of the 1,000-foot tunnel. The work will be commenced immediately after the delinquent sale day, and as it will lessen the expenses of the Modoc $10,000 to $15,000 per month we may soon hope to see her stock appreciate to a figure commensurate with the actual value of this great mine. —Darwin News.

SAM CARY, the Ohio blatherskite, will open the National campaign in this State at Terre Haute on the 26th, and Kearney, the California communist, is expected to visit this city a little later. What has Indiana done that she should be afflicted with two such demagogues in one season?—Indianapolis Journal.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, AUGUST 10 ..... 1878.

SETTLED.—For a long time it has been a vexatious question with all the original subscribers what to do with their Darwin and Owens Lake Toll Road. To none has this been at all times more serious and important than to Mr. John Shepherd, upon whom nearly all the personal trouble and responsibility of the management has fallen. Besides that, it has been the source of no little expense to him at all times, without any chance for reimbursement whatever under existing circumstances. As shown by his sworn statement, now on file in the Clerk's office, the road was indebted to him in a sum exceeding $600, cash outlay, saying nothing of his original subscription of just half as much more. Well, after due consideration it was decided to accept the proposition of the Supervisors, and sell the road to the county for the "munificent" sum of $1,000, and it was so done. But to relieve any existing anxiety of other stockholders as to their pro rata of the proceeds of the sale, we will state that one-half of the above sum goes to pay attorney's fees, the other half as part payment of the balance mentioned above as due Mr. Shepherd. For the information and satisfaction of all concerned we would like to publish the itemized statement in full, and may do so yet. We will only remark in addition that we are particularly glad the county has become the owner of the road and at such reasonable cost, as we have always contended a through thoroughfare like this ought in its whole length be public property, therefore a free road. It thereby puts a quietus on those people who complain that to pay both tolls and a road tax, the latter for the benefit of distant localities, was not the most equitable way of doing business in the world. It's worth all it cost to stop that racket, so we are told. But the stockholders are not out of the woods yet, exactly—they still own that portion of the road through Shepherd's cañon to Panamint. Maybe an assessment will be levied to pay somebody to get somebody to buy that remaining portion—that is, as things look out beyond Darwin the road, if put on the market, wouldn't bring enough to pay anybody to spend time in trying to sell it. Still, that's the part that cost much the most money in the first place.

MINING MEN.—Mr. Treat, President of the Independence Tunnel Co., and other prominent officers and stockholders are expected here in a few days. They come on a tour of inspection, and after they acquaint themselves in that manner with facts as they are, we feel well assured something good to this section will come of this visit. Mr. Holt, of the same company, will not be of the number, business having called him to New York. Col. Talcott, a large stockholder and managing Trustee of the Rex Montis company, is here and will remain for a few weeks. Mr. Hudgin retires from the Superintendency, intending to turn his attention at once to the development of a mine in the Inyo range opposite this place. And he is a man worthy of the highest success, for which he has our very best wishes. John M. Clugston, of the Rex Montis stockholders, and a resident of Topeka, Kansas, is also paying the property a visit.

FOUND DEAD.—On Thursday last some parties discovered the remains of a man lying in the willows on Oak Creek, above the County Hospital. The body was undoubtedly that of an aged Mexican named Stephen ———, who came to the hospital from Cerro Gordo some five or six months since, partially paralyzed. About four weeks ago he left the hospital and went to Huff's ranch, where he was given dinner. He seemed partially deranged and very feeble, and upon attempting to reach the hospital again must have wandered off to the spot where he died. Mr. Huff, learning of his disappearance, made several unsuccessful efforts to find him. The remains were taken up and decently buried by the county authorities.

SALE OF STOCK.—We would call attention to the fact that some sixty head of horses, including one thoroughbred stallion, a number of graded mares and colts besides common stock, all the property of P. W. Bennett, Esq., are to be sold at public auction on the 17th day of this month. The place of sale will be at Mairs' stables in this place. As these animals are to be sold without reserve, no doubt prices will rule so low as to make it well worth the attendance of all desirous of good bargains.

BY SURVEY.—At the instance of Col. Talcott, one of the managing Trustees now here, Surveyor Seeley last Saturday made a survey on the Rex Montis mine to find out what distance remained to be cut from the heading of tunnel No. 4 to the bottom of the winze from No. 3, the objective point. By this survey the distance was shown to be 39 feet—just about two weeks' work to cut through.

THE UNION CON.—Reliable Lone Pine parties report the striking of the San Felipe silver ledge at the 900-foot level of the new Union Con. shaft, Cerro Gordo. The ore is said to be very rich and quite extensive, but the trouble is that the company cannot work it without the finding of more lead.

ELECTION ORDERED.—Next week will appear a proclamation by the Board of Supervisors for the holding of an election in Supervisor District No. 3, on Wednesday, September 4, at which time a Supervisor is to be chosen, vice Meysan, term expired.

IN that watermelon business Tommy Kehoe is entitled to the first honors, having brought in some excellent ones.

LODGE.—There will be a stated meeting of Inyo Lodge, F. & A. M., at the hall to-night.

BONDSMEN TO ANSWER.—Until quite recently we were not aware that John Pattie, while acting as Deputy Sheriff under the late Thomas Passmore, Sheriff, had betrayed his trust. Such is the fact, however, as appears in more than one instance. We shall now refer to but one of these: This was in a case where Pattie, having a number of horses under attachment, kept them in Hatch's stable at Darwin, from which they were finally taken without a settlement of the bill. Pattie soon after left. Passmore, armed with a warrant for his arrest, followed him to San Francisco (being his last trip to that place) with the intention of bringing him back. The Sheriff soon found his defaulter, and, without exhibiting the warrant, endeavored to induce him to return here to "finish up some unsettled business," began by Pattie. The latter assured the Sheriff that he fully intended to start back anyhow in a day or two, and that he would come around on the following day and start back with the Sheriff at once. On this assurance Passmore allowed him to go about his business; but he never saw him afterwards, for Mr. Pattie did not come around, neither did he start back for Inyo as promised. In due time the Sheriff returned home. Nothing was publically said about Pattie's rascalities, probably for the reason that as the amounts involved were small, and in the hope that he might voluntarily return and try to set matters right; but for the lamented Sheriff's untimely death, it is probable he never would have permitted the shortcomings of his deputy to have become public. It comes about now, however, through Mr. Hatch's endeavor, through his attorneys Reddy & Conklin, to recover the amount of the unpaid bill, $151, from the Sheriff's bondsmen, notice having last week been served upon each that he, as one of the Sheriff's bondsmen, was responsible for the amount, and the account must be settled or suit would be entered. While all admit that it would be cheaper to pay, pro rata, at once than to go to law about it, there are some who don't feel in the least disposed to pay a cent of the amount until compelled to do so by the courts, simply because no effort has been made to collect the amount, or acquaint any of them of the existence of the liability, until the legal time had elapsed during which they in turn might have indemnified themselves by submitting the bill to the Administrator. That is, the four months time fixed by public notice to creditors in which bills might be filed against the estate, expired the middle of last month, and the debt itself was contracted last November, ten months nearly before notice of this claim is given. In addition to that it appears that Pattie as Deputy Sheriff contracted other similar liabilities, so that if the one is acknowledged and paid without question, a similar course may have to be adopted with some if not all of the others, else be subjected to judicial scrutiny at last. No one, however, questions the correctness of Mr. Hatch's bill in any particular, except as to the equity of the claim against the particular parties who now, at this late day, are asked to pay it. It looks to us precisely as if the contraction of that bill was simply the personal obligation of the Sheriff or his Deputy, even though it was an incident in an official transaction, therefore no more a just claim against his bondsmen than any other of his personal liabilities.

DEEP SPRING.—It is stated that the mine recently discovered by Byrnes, Payson and others near Antelope Springs, in the old Deep Spring district, has been bonded in the sum of $40,000. The ore is chloride, and the average of one hundred assays made in San Francisco was $129 per ton. Parties from here have gone over, and if their reports confirm statements made as to the size and length of the main ledge there will be a small stampede for that region.

MINING ON KING'S RIVER.—A company of five men, whose names we do not recall, are busily engaged in taking out and shipping gold and copper ores from well defined ledges situated on King's river, some thirty miles across the summit from this place. These parties are "well fixed," and have won high esteem from all the fishing parties from this section who called on them for their unusually hospitable and accommodating spirit.

SWANSEA BELLE.—Such is the name of the principal mine, so far as opened, of the Moran and Cordes locations, situated about a mile above the Swansea furnace. Considerable interest is being excited over the matter at Lone Pine, from which point several parties have been to visit the mines and from whom we are promised a full report for next week.

COMPLAINT.—On last Monday Baron Keppler, of George's Creek, appeared before Justice Gardner and swore out a complaint against a couple of German boys recently employed by John Kispert, charging them with assault and disturbing the peace. A warrant of arrest was issued, but so far the Sheriff has not been able to find them.

GOOD PROGRESS.—Last week soft ground was struck in Mr. Gray's Kearsarge tunnel so that the contractors have since been able to make about five feet a day, instead of but from six inches to a foot and a half per day, as has been the case at times heretofore. At the present rate the ledge will be tapped in four or five weeks more.

LAW CARDS.—The advertisements of P. W. Bennett and S. P. Moffat, Esqrs., practicing law at Bridgeport and Independence, will be found elsewhere this week. They are a strong and well-known legal team.

PRETTY GOOD.—The Bodie Standard says four samples of ore taken from the Alpha tunnel, Lake District, assayed respectively, $92 35, $82 60, $170 87 and $87 67.

GONE EAST.—Judge A. R. Conklin and his sister, Mrs. P. Reddy, started to the East during the week, designing to sojourn for a season in Rhode Island.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

This body met in regular session Monday August 5, 1878. Full board present.

Bill of Big Pine Election Board rejected for the reason that the returns were returned to County Clerk without signatures or certification.

Bill of Hans Feihmann for $3 20 for notifying Sheriff of the death of Jacob Dentz rejected.

In the matter of the proposition of John Shepherd, for the sale of the Coso and Darwin Toll Road to Inyo county, it is ordered, That the proposition of the said Shepherd to sell the road be accepted, and he having tendered a deed, executed by him, for the sum of $1,000, and also a deed executed by P. Reddy and I. Harris for the sum of $1,000, conveying said toll road, it is ordered that warrants upon the Expense Fund in the sum of $1,000, in full payment for said road be drawn. And the sum was accepted in full payment for said road by said Shepherd, Reddy and Harris, and the said deed ordered to be placed on record.

Bill of C. C. Wainright for medical attendance upon P. W. Organ, laid over until next term.

NEED ATTENTION.—There are some gentry circulating around this place who would confer quite a general favor if they would pack their duds and quit us forever. These are hombres who make a precarious living by supplying the Indians with whisky. It would be quite the thing, too, if certain other parties were snatched up for selling liquor to common drunkards, as provided for just such people in the amended codes. These common drunkards have been known to purchase half a dozen bottles of whisky from one establishment one after another, at intervals of scarce twenty minutes between. Last evening, and nearly every evening this week, the Indians had a glorious old time, drinking, fighting and howling. It is a disgrace to any community to permit such things.

BIG TREE BARK.—Robinson, Baxter, Jerry Mairs and party have returned from their fishing excursion and visit to the celebrated Fresno grove of big trees. They brought back a section of bark three and a half feet long by two wide, sixteen inches thick. The whole party reports itself much pleased with mountaineering.

MARRIAGE.—In San Francisco, tomorrow, Mr. Louis L. Cohen and Miss Hannah Morris will be united in marriage. Mr. Cohen will be remembered as an old-time partner of L. Wood of this place, while the young lady is a neice of Mr. Wood.

THE funeral services of the late Mrs. Robert Arnold will take place from Camp Independence to-morrow, at 11 o'clock A. M. The deceased was a most estimable lady, for whose long sufferings and sad demise there is much sorrow.

Bell's Flour.

BELL'S MILL, Aug. 10.

MESSRS. EDITORS—I am much obliged for the complimentary notice of my flour made by you and "Housekeeper" in your issue of the 3d instant, and shall keep up the high standard I have now attained, and shall make an article so superior that the community will have no other. And as the thresher will be in this neighborhood soon, I ask that each farmer looks well after his threshing, and sees that no sand or gravel is shoveled in at the cleaning up of the stack—as more than one half the wheat brought to this mill has more or less sand and gravel in it, a part of which it is impossible to clean out—that which is the size of a wheat grain. Respectfully yours,

A. N. BELL.

THE undersigned desires to give notice that he will receive at his warehouse at Bishop Creek, grain or other marketable produce, allowing the highest current price for the same, in settlement of old accounts or in exchange for goods. J. H. STOUTENBOROUGH.

Real del Monte.

The drift on the 300 level is now in 315 feet, its face showing ledge matter of the most kindly description. It is expected that the ore vein will be cut in a further distance of 30 or 50 feet. Considerable water is now making in the face of the drift, but not sufficient to cause any serious inconvenience. This is considered a sure indication of close proximity to the vein. There is a great improvement in the air of the drift, rendering it possible to make much better headway than formerly. This has been brought about by closely lining one compartment of the shaft, thus causing a downcast in that compartment and an upcast in the other two. This current of air goes far towards drawing the foul air from the drift. A large fan has also been put in, which materially assists in the work of ventilation. Splendid headway is being made with the mason work for the pump engine foundation, and in a few days portions of the machinery will be placed in position and then rapid progress will be made with the remainder. The first tank station is being cut out 220 feet from the surface, and when this is completed the tank pump column and rods will be put in place all ready to connect with the surface machinery, when that shall have been set up. All work is being pushed ahead with commendable vigor, and is also being done in a masterly manner. The machinery will probably be ready to start up about the 10th of September. The engine bed and cylinder arrived at the mine yesterday, and is the biggest thing ever seen this side of the mountains.—Esmeralda Herald, Aug. 3.

THE politicians who bundled Gen. Grant out of the country and planned for his triumphal return just before the Presidential Conventions meet, must have done so on the principle that a rolling stone catches the worm.

PROSPECTING

One of Joe Wasson's Letters to the Stock Report.

INDEPENDENCE, Inyo Co., Aug. 1.

Since my last letter to the Stock Report, our party has passed through an agricultural section more inspiring than any other portion of the State at this season of the year. The great valley, chiefly confined to Inyo county, depends altogether upon irrigation, for which the numerous and pure streams from the Sierras afford a very great supply. Half a dozen miles south of the Mono county line, are the rich and extensive settlements of Bishop Creek, a large branch of Owens river, which puts into a lake of the same name without any visible outlet sixty miles further south or about twenty-five miles south of this town. In all, the Owens river settlements are over sixty miles in length, varying in width from one to five miles, almost connectedly. The land tilled is largely devoted to alfalfa for hay, which is being cut and stacked in large quantities. Wheat, barley and corn are extensively grown, and nowhere in the State is there such a showing of corn. All the leading vegetables flourish there, and many fruit orchards in successful operation. Altogether it is an interesting tour outside of the prospects for gold and silver, the objective of all things earthly. It requires no stretch of fancy on the part of the average Californian to enjoy the contrasts existing between these long stretches of living green, with perpetual snow on either hand, and the burned up plains of the Sacramento and San Joaquin. This is a wonderful section of country, however, from a geological point of view, and one can never tire in trying to solve certain great problems as to the origin of its formation. Whether the Sierras were an upheaval more recent than the outlying range forming the eastern wall of this valley; whether the two great parallel ranges were of the same age and this valley was formed by an enormous split through the center of the huge backbone or bulge—there are certain indications which incline to either theory, but possibly just now the average reader of the Stock Report cares more for

POINTS ON STOCKS OR PROSPECTS FOR THE PRECIOUS METALS

Contained in these everlasting hills; but be that as it may, the person must be stupid or selfish indeed who could go over the ground I have during the past week without seeing something more than dollars and cents therein.

After refreshing ourselves with beer to the manner born one warm day last week, our little party proceeded about twelve miles south to camp in front of the highest point in the Sierra Nevada range. Here we left the buckboard and with saddles and pack animals we attempted to cross the great divide. After two days of laborious effort it was found impracticable in the short time we had set aside for that purpose, and it was resolved to return and face the music on foot. Finally, after more or less investigation, it was resolved to leave a member or two of the party behind to make as thorough work of it as could be done at present, the rest of us returning north at once. It impossible with words to convey an impression of the vastness, but more especially the extremely jagged and generally impassable character of the summit or high dividing ridges of the Sierras at this point. There miles upon miles in length of regular palisade cliffs, perpendicular and overhanging high above the timber line, their stony fingers holding perpetual snow. One of our would-be trails took us up through the old Kearsarge mining district, the whole of which is about as rugged and impenetrable as nature could fashion in the way of mountain heights and declivities. The ruins of the old town of Kearsarge, consisting of two dozen bowlder built cabins and several more pretentious foundations, are what was left after an avalanche swept over the place a dozen years ago, killing a woman and wounding some other people, as the story goes. Above this is Onion Valley, a favorite camping place before and after our failure to find a southwest passage.

WAY UP.

By the Great Horn Spoon! we got our horses up there among the fallen timber, loose granite bowlders and belts of snow, where the crest of the impassable palisade were fashioned like the hooked beaks of eagles, and the conundrum of how to get down again without everlasting ruin to both man and beast became really alarming. In all the world it would be hard to find more awe-inspiring, even infernal grandeur, than is to be seen every where round about the base of Mount Whitney, in plain view from all these strong, snowy summits. An occasional sound of a blast issuing from the Kearsarge mines added to the impressiveness of the scene like a signal gun at sea in distress. There is a general look of bad management, first and last, as well as of decay with respect to the mining interests hereabouts. Originally Independence was the center of what promised to be a permanent, important mining community, there being three districts in plain sight—Kearsarge, six miles west, Alabama, twelve miles south, in an isolated small crossrange of mountains, and the district in the main range east, made conspicuous for awhile by the Eclipse mine, the mill of which (a 30 stamp) is run by a turbine wheel on the eastern bank of Owens river. At least half a million dollars were spent or squandered on that side of the river but to little purpose. A great steam boiler, 6 feet in diameter and 80 feet long, with machinery to match, are reported as lying idle on the river side, the wild operation of English capitalists. In Kearsarge there are two ten stamp mills standing painfully idle, the upper one being used as a horse stable, hay mow and the like. However, there is at least an awakening from the sleep of years, but whether for the better, as at Bodie, remains to be seen. There seems yet so very much to learn on the part of our great mining community regarding the reduction of ore, however rich. It is to be hoped that the mines about here will yet arise and shine, and afford a market of value for these thrifty people, as well as homes for additional thousands, for surely agriculture, climate and mining interests could hardly be more harmoniously blended. The Alabama district is only disturbed by a single arastra run by water power.

WONDERFUL ORES.

The ores are almost wonderful as to their richness in free gold of the purest character, but the ledges are accordingly narrow. In one sense the Blind Springs (Benton) district and the Alabama district ore and ledges are alike—rich, narrow and pockety; both districts being sort of islands in this long valley; the Benton ores are more or less base. But it is evident that great mineral bodies are yet to be found, and in the two main ranges forming this valley, the field for the prospector being practically unlimited as well as fresh. It is not safe to say that Cerro Gordo has had its day any more than Eureka or Richmond Consolidated.

There is so much to write about on a trip of this kind, and of things that seem of general interest, that it is both hard to get started and stopped. I could give you a fresh and perhaps vivid chapter on earthquakes, just from listening to old settlers relate their impressions of the affairs of 1872, to say nothing of an affair wherein our flea-bitten pack horse just more than kicked the stuffing out of our entire kitchen one morning recently, immediately after we got him nicely rigged for a big day's march over hard roads.

SOME TROUBLE.

One of our cooking utensils originally consisted of a very long handled skillet or frying-pan. We had just baked up a lot of bread and in packing it up it was left between the gold pan (also used for mixing dough) and the aforementioned, and all tied on top of the horse, who heard something rattle. The devil was in him on general principles, however, and in the language of "Little Breeches," he went over the prairie "hell to split," the long handled pan giving him the appearance of belonging to a banjo player in a wandering band of minstrels. After kicking the handle off, he used the two pans for a kind of cymbals, on which he more than played hell in the highest of keys. Our nice baking of bread was churned into flinders, and our bed and board generally ripped and smashed into smithereens on top a thermometer standing at 105° in the shade. Immediately after this scene we foolishly camped where the Indians sometime previously had been gathering pine nuts, and the result was a plentiful supply of insects, possibly best described in the history of Pharoah's trials and troubles. The only sure way to get rid of them is to boil your clothes. Prospecting has both its serious and humorous sides, and the end is not yet. We left part of the command back at the base of the great range with a view of penetrating that majestic structure for certain purposes, while the rest of us return to Indian and Lake districts. I shall leave the expedition at Bishop Creek and make a detour to Lake district, from where I shall try and get you an item or two worthy of publication. After this I shall rejoin our party at Indian, near Benton, where we have more promising locations which we purpose digging into and "working up" in the best way we can. Then we will return to Aurora and Bodie—possibly Virginia and San Francisco, to take a new start. Such is the way of the prospector. As Mark Twain said after doing the Holy Land on horseback, mercury 110°, "it's fun, of course; fun of a mild type."

JOS. WASSON.

A PARTY were enjoying the evening breeze on board a yacht. "The wind has made my moustache taste quite salt," remarked a young man who had been for some time occupied in biting the hair that fell over his upper lip. "I know it," innocently said a pretty girl. And she wondered why all her friends laughed.

A POLITICAL speaker accused a rival of "unfathomable meanness," and then rising to the occasion said, "I warn him not to persist in his disgraceful course, or he'll find that two of us can play at that game."

SCIENCE may put on his seven-league boots and astonish mankind with a rapid succession of startling inventions, but it can never produce a contrivance that will successfully close a rat hole.

"GIVE me a kiss, dear girl," said a young gallant to his love a few days ago. "I can't," she whispered. "I don't mind lending you one, but I must have it returned to-morrow."

THE fact that George Washington's wife never asked him where he had been when he came home late at night goes a great ways towards accounting for his extreme truthfulness.

"HE was milking the river and fell in," is the explanation of the death by drowning of a milkman a few days since. See the pint?

"WILL I not make a fine angel?" said a conceited fellow with very large ears. "No," replied the lady, "I think your wings are too high."

RED is used for danger signals on the railroads, and always means "stop." On a man's nose it ought to give the same warning.

FELT gray is a popular color for ladies' suits. Felt blue is the popular color for the husbands who have to pay the bills.

IT is rumored that Mrs. Tilton has challenged Jim Anderson to a joint confession for the American championship.

MINING.

In the mountains around the central portions of the valley in all directions there is now a greater inquiry for mining prospects and more new discoveries are weekly reported than at any time for years past. Old districts are being re-examined after so many years of idleness that their show of value had been forgotten, and in some instances new ledges of immense prospective value have been found. This is notably the case at Deep Springs, to which point there is quite a rush setting in from Big Pine and elsewhere on account of the new Byrnes discovery. Capt. Eudey is steadily working up the old Eclipse property, and doing what might have been done to advantage long ago—taking out rich gold ore from new openings on the ledge. The old Waucoba mines have by this time passed into new hands through re-location, and from a personal knowledge of them we have no hesitation in asserting that some of the ledges are equal to the best of our silver mines. We have it from the best authority that Swansea will be under strong headway at an early date, on the strength of the old mines and recent discoveries near that point. Everything on Kearsarge hill and in Alabama is on a more solid basis than ever before. The conclusion is that Inyo has yet an outcome to it—a future prosperity that cannot longer be held back by a certain sneering monopolist who, having made his million or so in the county, has never failed to misrepresent it and so discourage capital from coming into it. We hope that forthcoming investigations into the Union Con. management will enable us to be more explicit upon this point after while.

A BILL was passed at the last session of Congress compelling the Central and Union Pacific railroads to establish sinking funds to meet their liabilities to the Government. Why was there not some one there, from this coast in particular, with independence and brains and honesty enough to rise in his place and at least make the attempt to incorporate a clause regulating freights and fares? The Government has made provision for obtaining its dues, and the railroads proceed to dive into the pockets of consumers and extract the amount through the medium of a double freight tariff! We wonder if the people will continue evermore to be humbugged by shallow frauds—by weak pliant tools, ever ready, as shown by the record of the last session, to do the bidding of their masters, the railroad autocrats.

Two tramps stopped at a farmer's house near Trenton, Henry county, Iowa, and after getting a good dinner from the farmer's wife, and learning that her husband would not be at home till evening, suddenly seized her, outraged her person and left her insensible. They had stopped the cries of the farmer's little daughter by wrapping her up in a blanket. When unrolled the child was nearly suffocated, and died in an hour. The neighbors are scouring the country for the fiends, but at last accounts had not found them.

INDIAN INSPECTOR HAMMOND has completed his Standing Rock Indian Agency investigation, and another Agent (Hughes, of Chicago) has come to grief. He was permitted to resign. Hughes is the Agent the Indians wanted to drown a few weeks ago. Hughes is the fifth who has succumbed to Hammond since he was made Inspector last Winter. Every Agency inspection has resulted in somebody's decapitation.

A DISPATCH from Washington says that all matters pertaining to public lands are greatly delayed by the short-sightedness of Congress in refusing to appropriate enough to maintain the already scant force in the General Land Office. Seventy-five clerks must be discharged next month. The reduced force will be utterly inadequate to do the daily work of the office, and it must continually grow and accumulate.

ALLUDING to the delay in Turkey ratifying the treaty of Berlin, a Vienna correspondent mentions a telegram from Constantinople saying that intrigues have been discovered aiming at the overthrow of Safvet Pasha, and a return to the St. Stefano treaty and a Russian protectorate. The dispatch says the Sultan was at one time inclined to shield the project.

"THE LEAD MARKET."—An interesting article under the above caption on the outside of this issue was copied from the Eureka Sentinel, to which journal credit for its introduction should have been given.

THAT SHEEP CASE.

HAIWAI MEADOWS, Aug. 7, 1878.

MESSRS. EDITORS.—In your issue of July 27 an article appears excusing Lopez and Antone, and accusing H. Bellows of putting the county to the enormous expense of $1,063 75 cents in wanting to have his rights protected to about ninety dollars worth of sheep. Now, Mr. Editor, we did not prosecute those parties for the pecuniary benefits to be derived, but to get rid of a public nuisance; and, Mr. Editor, we did think you would tell the truth, and use your influence to protect law and order, not advocate law by the rifle as of old. If Independence juries want any stronger proof to convict a pair of notorious thieves then there will never be a conviction in the county, and we must protect our property in a different way. The facts of the case were fully proven before all the juries from the Justice's Court up—that Mr Bellows lost from his usual range nine male sheep, valued at $90; that he made due inquiry for them; that defendants denied having seen them; that, at that time, the said sheep were in defendants' corral with hobbles on; that defendants refused to give them up when Bellows found them the next day, they had disposed of one of the sheep, and shorn the balance and disposed of the wool. These facts were never denied by any evidence produced; their lawyer dared not introduce a test of character of these noble men, although he has had a great deal to say about it since the trial. One thing is sure: the Mexicans stole the sheep, or Messrs. Bellows and Brown are a couple of purjured witnesses, and should be prosecuted as such; but we of this section know they are not. And we are determined in all future time to protect our our property without calling on Independence, and will cost you nothing, but pay our taxes as if nothing had happened.

We have waited long and patiently for what we deemed a clear case before, any Court, but we failed. Since branding calves a year ago Mr. Silver has lost twenty head of fat ones; Mr. Bellows, ten head; Mr. Pruett told me yesterday that he is out forty head of cattle; the Passmore ranch, six head of horses have mysteriously disappeared. We know where they have all gone to, but had not proof positive until this sheep case; that we hoped to make a sure go.

We think we can understand why the jury failed to convict, and appreciate the gushing emotions of their attorney on their acquittal. But the editor of a paper advocating law and justice on the conclusion of such a case is dumbfounding, to say the least. Coso.

In the foregoing our correspondent has allowed the heat of his feelings to convey rather unjust inferences. THE INDEPENDENT never tried to "excuse" any act whatever of the defendants; neither did it in any manner "accuse" Mr. Bellows of a wrong intent in prosecuting the thieves. On the contrary, these identical words were used, viz: "The prosecuting witnesses, rightfully enough, desired to prosecute the accused and by their conviction [if proven guilty, of course] stop similar operations in the future if possible." Then followed this remark: "The magistrate committed these men on slim evidence." The reason for that assumption should have been apparent from the conclusion of the same sentence, the true meaning of the whole of which might be thus rendered: "As two juries, each composed of as good average men and citizens as the county contains, have each, after hearing all the evidence that could be or was adduced, refused a verdict of guilty, it is a fair inference that the accused were committed on insufficient testimony." Then, as showing how tax payers suffer in just such efforts to bring petty offenders to justice, the facts as to the value involved and total cost of the trials were set forth. That reference in its connection is probably the ground upon which our correspondent bases his conclusions as to our sentiments upon the "law and order" question. More than one verdict has been rendered here that fell miserably short of justice if public estimate of the true merits of the cases on trial was to be relied upon. The frequency of such results has certainly brought "justice" into contempt. Knowing that, we are not at all surprised that "Coso" and his neighbors should feel great aggravation at the result of this laudable effort to protect themselves by the law from lawless scoundrels. It would seem as if the evidence against the accused in this case was all sufficient to bring conviction. Nevertheless, it failed to do so when sifted under ordinary restrictions of law by two good juries, each time under conditions more than ordinarily favorable for conviction; able and earnest prosecution; defendants without money, without personal, class, social or national standing at all calculated to induce undue sympathy, and especially with juries so constituted by reason of callings that the interests of nearly every member of both would tend to make him the natural enemy of all such alleged stock thieves. Besides that, some of these very jurymen were of those who have had the most to say about how justice has been prostituted here; about how, and for what reasons, this paper has endeavored to maintain the action of bench, bar and juries in certain cases where it was claimed both law and justice, especially the latter, had been trampled under foot. Such jurymen were not, of course, predisposed to let justice go unavenged if they could prevent it, and thereby lay themselves liable to exactly the same charges they have made against others for similar actions. But we see when the test comes that they, too, find a vast difference between street and court-room testimony; that a due regard to the sanctity of their oaths may compel them in turn to say "not guilty" when public opinion would say the contrary. This don't prove that justice is not cheated in very many cases; but it does tend to show that verdicts counter to public opinion and justice, too, in reality, may be, and generally are honestly and truly rendered according to "law and evidence;" that, in that view, it is the duty of a "law and order" newspaper and community to sustain every such jury and verdict, however we may carp at the apparently unseemly legal restraints by which justice is so often thwarted—among the latter, the too common inability of the prosecution—a condition not complained of in the present instance, however.

Let final verdicts be what they may, we hold it to be of the first importance to the welfare of society that every magistrate and grand jury subject every reasonable case of guilt to test of trial, let the cost to the county be what it may. That's our law and order platform, which, however, is not complete till we say that people have a perfect right to protect themselves and property someway.

Coso is wrong in his conclusion as to defendants' counsel saying or doing anything whatever as he alleges, wrong in assuming an Independence jury having decided the case, for there was not a single Independence man on the last jury, and but two on the first, and not an exceptionable man on either; wrong in his deductions generally, save probably that stock down his way would be full as safe if Messrs. Lopez and Antone lived a long way off.

JUST WHAT IS NEEDED.—As the Constitutional Convention approaches it is the duty of every man to be prepared to decide intelligently upon the question of adopting a new Constitution. To meet this want a work has just been published which contains what everybody needs, put up in vest pocket size to be always handy for immediate reference. It contains names of Delegates, specifying political party, history of the Convention, Constitution of California, Constitution of the United States, with amendments, history of California, from its discovery, names of Spanish, Mexican and American Governors; Presidential Elections; Vigilance Committees; Climate Tables; Rainfall; Gold Product; Description of Towns and Counties, with the population, and various other matters, which will enable every person to fully understand the debates and doings of the Convention. Price only 50 cents, postage free. Send to Jas. F. White & Co., publishers, 728 Montgomery street, San Francisco.

A CANDIDATE.—In the last issue of the Darwin News, after quoting an article from the Sacramento Bee stating the fact, Mr. T. S. Harris announces his candidature before the Constitutional Convention for the position of Minute Clerk, or rather Assistant Secretary, which in this instance involves the same responsible duties as that of Minute Clerk to one of the Houses of the Legislature. Mr. Harris held such office in the 20th Assembly and got away with the work as rapidly and accurately as any of distinguished predecessors ever did. THE INDEPENDENT indorses him unanimously, and we submit that the silver region of California, or this side of the mountains, ought to be accorded a representation among the important places to be filled by the Convention.

A DISPATCH from Bismarck, Dakota, says: A party of explorers, with military escort, and headed by Gen. Rosser, Chief Engineer of the Northern Pacific Railroad, left this morning for Fort Keogh. The object of the expedition is to ascertain the value of the Northern Pacific land grant between the Missouri and Yellowstone rivers. Drillus Morrison, of Minnesota, accompanying the party, will report on his return to certain New York capitalists, who think of bringing the road to the Yellowstone and accepting from the Northern Pacific Company five million acres of land as their consideration.

MR. BODIE Standard, one of these days we hope to clear up the ambiguities of the remarks you quote and deem so incomprehensible. Thereby hangs a tale you could plainly see if you were an old sage-brusher, properly versed in certain things of local fame. Just now it is of no consequence, however.

THE Standard of the 13th says the Bodie mill is turning out from $15,000 to $20,000 per day. That mine and the Standard declare $3 and $1 dividends. The camp booms. Seven new saloons since the last report—34 in all, and all declaring dividends.

The American Minister to Turkey has sent the gunboat Dispatch to investigate the case of the American lady who founded a missionary school in Thessaly, and who is said to have been seriously molested by Greeks.

THE New York Sun is nothing if not sensational. A Washington special to that paper, of the 7th, referring to the possible renomination of Grant by the Republicans, says:

The scheme requires delicate political engineering. Money alone can furnish the driving power, and that money, knowing ones aver, is to be forthcoming. They point with pride to Mackay's oriental reception of Grant in Paris. They say the silver and railroad kings of Nevada and California are alarmed. They fancy the labor reformers will despoil them of their wealth. Mackay makes no secret of his fears, and Stanford, Crocker, Hayward, Jones, Sharon and others are prepared to follow his footsteps. With Grant in the chair at the White House they think their accumulations would be secure, that no constitutional barriers would stand in his way when his friends were in danger. He has frequently used the army without authority, and would not scruple to do so again. In a conversation in Virginia City last Spring, Mackay is reported to have said: "I will give $1,000,000 to secure Grant the nomination, and another $1,000,000 to compass his election, and once in the White House, I will give $1,000,000 to keep him there for life." He added that this might seem strange talk, but he would put up the money believing it to be a good investment; that a man ought to insure his house against fire. Grant is the insurance company for Pacific railroad robbers, land grabbers and manipulators of mineral lands, and they are prepared to take large blocks of stock in him.

SOMETHING OF INTEREST TO MINERS. In the District Court yesterday morning a ruling was made by Judge Cole in which every miner is directly interested, but to make the matter plain it is necessary for us to state the case: On March 7, 1878, J. C. Powell and M. D. Foley made application through the United States Land Office for a patent to the Barton mine, situated on Adams' Hill in this county. The application was made on the part of J. C. Powell and M. D. Foley, and opposed by James Slain on the ground that the applicants were on his ground, the Eagle mine. The case coming on to be heard in the District Court upon its merits, the defendant Slain obtained judgment, when his counsel, John T. Baker, filed his cost bill in the case, enumerating among other items the amount paid to the Surveyor for surveying the ground and for making a plot of the same, as well as witness fees, which had not been expected at time of service by those upon whom served. The counsel for the applicants, Crit. Thornton, opposed the bill, contending the survey and map of the ground should not be taxed as costs, and that as the witnesses at the time of service did not exact their fees, they should not be allowed. Judge Cole decided that the plaintiffs having been forced into court, and being the prevailing party, were entitled to the costs for all the expenditures made by them in the case. This ruling, we believe, establishes a precedent in the matter, and one which may be of great interest to the owners of mines when an application may be made for a patent. —Eureka Sentinel, Aug. 4.

HOW BILLS OF EXCHANGE SHOULD BE ACCEPTED.—A remarkable case comes to us from the English courts, in which it is held that the signature of the drawee across the face of a bill of exchange without the placing above the signature of the word "accepted," or some word or words equivalent, does not constitute an acceptance for which the drawee is legally liable. This decision was considered of great importance to the mercantile and banking interests of Great Britain, and appears to be at variance with the opinions of many eminent writers on commercial law. It is reported here as a matter of interest to California drawers and payees of British bills of exchange, and is or was in accordance with the mercantile law of Great Britain. We are told, however, that in consequence of that decision the law relating to bills of exchange in that country has been, or is to be amended so far as to render the signature of the drawee across the face of the bill a valid acceptance. In this respect the law is, or will be, like our own Civil Code, which provides (Section 3193) that acceptance of a bill of exchange "may be made by the acceptor writing his name across the face of the bill, with or without further words."

LIKE OLD TIMES.—It looked like old times in Aurora at Wells, Fargo & Co.'s office last Thursday night. There were ten leathern sacks—five from the Bodie and five from Benton—lying on the floor of the office, while three messengers, armed with shot-guns and self-cocking revolvers, sat behind the counter. As the stage for Carson drove up everything was hurry and bustle. While the express agent was loading the passengers and their baggage on the stage the messengers handled the precious metals and safely stowed it on board also. Two of the messengers got on the outside with the driver while a third occupied a seat inside. At the Five Mile House where the Belleville intersects the Carson road, another messenger with four bars of bullion from the Northern Belle mine was added to the cargo. This made a pretty valuable load. Armed and equipped as these four messengers were it looked as though a company of soldiers could not capture the bullion, and surely it would be a desperate gang of robbers that would make the attempt.—Esmeralda Herald.

A FABLE for Democrats is furnished by the Boston Herald: Once in the reign of the Caliph Alexander, a good, gray-headed old Democrat pitched his tent for a night and a day at Worcester. While he was meditating in his tent, a huge camel named Benbutler, put his nose through the tent door, and then asked leave to introduce his head. The good natured old Democrat consented, but to his surprise when Benbutler had got his shoulders inside he continued to come in, till at last the good old Democrat had to get out of the tent altogether.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 17.....1878.

ON THE BIG MOUNTAIN.—Kit Johnson, just in from his fishing and mountaineering trip, is chock full of interesting anecdote concerning the several parties over there, their operations and about things generally. The prominent event noted, however, was the ascent of a party of twelve to the summit of Mount Whitney, August 3d. As stated in our correspondence last week the party consisted of Judge R. C. and Mrs. Nellie Redd, George and Robt. Redd; Miss Annie Mills, Miss Mattie Martin, Miss Hope Broughton, Luther Anderson, H. A. Ford, T. A. Martin, Kit Johnson and Wm. Crapo, Esq., the latter gentleman acting as guide. It is three days' riding from Soda Springs to where climbing by foot begins, from which point the first of the party managed to reach the summit in three and a half hours, the others coming up in an hour or so more. The twelve were altogether on the peak for two hours, during which the accomplished ladies of the company gave several songs—among them, "Nearer, My God, to Thee." The ladies are entitled to the honor of being the first to have stood upon the summit of the highest mountain in the United States, which may somewhat compensate for the hardihood and toil required to get there. They were brave in having accomplished what Prof. Brewer, in a letter published in these columns a few weeks, admits that he could not do. There is but one possible route to the summit, the southeast, east and northeast sides being a sheer descent of three thousand feet. At the bottom of these cliffs lie frozen lakes, indicating what the average climate must be on top. Kit thinks that that this county hasn't more than six feet interest on top of that mountain, the rest of Inyo's territorial claims standing perpendicular.

FIRE AT CERRO GORDO.—About 10 or 11 o'clock on the night of the 7th instant quite a large frame building at Cerro Gordo, situated between the Beaudry furnace and house and nearly opposite Belshaw & Co.'s store, took fire and was destroyed. It was unquestionably the work of incendiaries, whose only object could have been to destroy the furnace, the buildings mentioned and the large quantity of wood and coal surrounding the works. During the blaze an attempt was made to fire the company's new iron hoisting works, a quarter of a mile further up the hill. The engineer in charge, Wm. Hoskins, got sight of the man and sent a bullet after him. His fire was returned with a couple of shots, but with no effect on either side. There was considerable excitement on the hill for a time and the whole matter is said to have grown out of the hatred entertained toward the company's management by some former employés or the Mexicans, more immediately provoked by a late, and the third, reduction of wages. Nevertheless, the great regret is that Bill Hoskins didn't do better shooting, for it's a black-hearted villain who would attempt to right wrongs by the incendiary's torch.

HOW IT COMES.—The reason why Mr. Hatch has delayed bringing his claims against the Passmore bondsmen as mentioned last week, is this: Some six months since the claim was submitted to and acknowledged by Under Sheriff Gregg as also Deputy Sheriff Moore. They proposed to satisfy it out of certain collections then pending. It turned out that these collections could not be made. This fact was not finally settled satisfactorily until within the past three or four weeks, hence the apparent negligence complained of by the bondsmen. In the reasonable expectation of settlement of the claim through these expected collections, the delay in the demand upon the bondsmen was not only excusable but commendable, and we deem it due Mr. Hatch to so state the facts, as we now find them to be.

BILL AND DAN.—Bill Johnson and Dan Williams, laying off over at Soda Springs, are in a bad way. Having run entirely out of "drugs," they are too weak to get home. But probably the most disastrous effect upon Bill's constitution was brought about by a four days' absence of the school-marm, after the Porterville party had enlivened the camp so long.

MELONS.—On account of a bountiful supply of melons kindly sent to this office, which were muchly enjoyed, the Baron Keppler, of George's Creek, is ordered to stand up for promotion. He shall hereafter be known as the Markgraf. Next time we'll raise him to be Gross Hertzog, or the Grand Duke himself.

NEW ESTABLISHMENT.—Louis Fromm, the well-known restauranteur, is now located in his new building. It is a really complete institution, and when finished according to the proprietor's plans will prove a popular stopping place. The public will do well to give him a call.

A ROW.—Another sociable row took place the other day in the lava beds, which somehow got into the Justice Court for full ventilation and the gratification of prurient public curiosity. If all the participants knew what public opinion of the outfit was they'd quit.

PAPERS MISSING.—Complaint comes from Benton that certain papers from this office are not regularly delivered by the Postmaster. And we do not believe that our mailing machine has ever failed to get all the papers into the package. Where is the trouble?

FIRE.—A China wash house at Lone Pine, opposite Burkhardt's building, was burned last Tuesday. Everything in the place was destroyed, and the boys down there had a lively time of it to keep the flames from spreading.

Cruelty.

MESSRS. EDITORS—There is much of unnecessary cruelty practiced on the rodeo grounds that should be suppressed if not by law at least by an appeal to the law of kindness in the human heart. A case of this kind was recently enacted in Long Valley, which I was told of, as follows: In the herd which the men were driving was a cow which had a young calf, and she became furious from her instincts of self-preservation and protection of her young, and being goaded on by the vaqueros, she finally turned upon them and came near goring a horse of one of the men. This was an insult that those men of the lasso seldom let go unpunished. She was soon brought down by the whirling lariat, a knife run through the cartilage of her nose and rope thrust through and made fast to the saddle horns of two vaqueros; but the cow maddened by the pain, refused to be led in this manner, and turned upon her tormentors and came near unhorsing one of them. This was a signal that war had began. The most fearless of the men then began the process of subduing or breaking her in. He first vaulted upon her back, driving his long, sharp spurs deep into her sides, while with his drawn knife he prodded her head and neck. Trying in vain to dislodge her cruel rider, she fought desperately all who dared to approach within reach of her horns. This not serving to tame (?) her, they threw her down and cut the cords of her knees, when finding herself helpless, the poor beast floundered into a pool of mud and water near by, and held her head under the water, and refused to lift it up and was drowned. This may be called sport by some, but it is bad enough at best, this marking and branding of cattle as is done in California without unnecessary cruelty, which should be avoided; since it is the animals that suffer wrongs imposed on them by men who claim to be above the savage and civilized. I feel in duty bound to call attention to these abuses, being a member of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

THE REX MONTIS.—We are in receipt from the company's office in San Francisco of a copy of statement presented to the stockholders of the Rex Montis, at the annual meeting on the 5th instant, showing a full account of receipts and disbursements. From August 1st, 1877, to August 1st, 1878, 366.76 tons of ore were mined and milled, which yielded $25,015.16 in bullion, or $21,953.50 in coin after deducting discount, expressage and assaying; 132 tons of tailings worked gave a coin return of $8,703.17, making a total of $30,656.67. Six hundred and six tons of ore, the total product to date, yielded in bullion $63,591.29, an average of $104.27. The amount of assessments collected during the year was $47,997.48, and the disbursements were $90,553.64. Some of the expense items in the report show as follows: Cost of mill, $19,086.17; cost of mining, $28,885.19; notes payable, $15,270.77; interest, $1,956.54; paid J. S. Rothschild & Co., $5,945.25; labor on the Boomerang, $1,968.02; freight, $1,299.35; office expenses, $1,272.69; traveling, $1,222.50, etc. The company's grand total of expenditures amounts to $143,641.50. We may here remark that, having paid all debts outstanding, incurred in getting ready to work and through some miserable mismanagement, the Rex Montis has now a sure success before it. An increase of capital stock from 3,200 to 32,000 shares has been determined upon. Next week a connection will be made with known bodies of ore, the mill started up and regular bullion shipments begun. Soon will follow quotations of Rex Montis in the San Francisco stock boards.

INCENDIARY.—About half past 11 o'clock on the night of the 14th instant a dastardly attempt was made by some incendiary to destroy the store of J. H. Stoutenborough, at Bishop Creek. The establishment is a low wooden building, filled with a very heavy stock of goods. In the rear is built on a shed, forming a corner on the southwest side. In this place coal oil boxes had been piled up against the house and a match applied to the bottom. The flames were running high up in the air when discovered by Wm. B. Hutchings, at the saloon on the opposite side of the street. Pistol shots were fired as an alarm; a crowd soon collected and the blaze extinguished without damage. A person attempting the crime of arson, to get his just deserts, should be put out of harm's way. In this case the perpetrator is known, and doubtless proof will be found to send him below for a few years.

PERSONAL MENTION.—We are indebted to Mr. C. F. O'Brion and Supt. J. J. Williams, from Darwin, for a friendly visit during the week. Mr. Williams states that he is about starting up the New Coso works for a long and, we hope, a profitable run. Mr. O'Brion, the popular merchant, evinces much faith in the final outcome of that portion of Inyo.... Messrs. Guptil and Barber, of the Modoc, were in town for a day or two; the latter gentleman supercedes the former in the superintendency and management of the Modoc property.... Messrs. J. S. Gorman and E. A. Reddy are sloshing over the country, looking up and examining new mines.... Uncle Abe Parker got home last Saturday, looking thin as ever.... Dr. Wainright and J. B. Swearingen, of Bishop, paid our town a short visit. .... John Allman, of the Northern stage line, has been around arranging matters pertaining to his "biz."

A CHANGE.—H. T. Walker, late Foreman of the Independence tunnel, takes the foremanship of the Rex Montis mine to-day, vice Harry Ashley. There remains 18½ feet to run to tap the ore winze, which is now full of water.

IT is unlawful to take trout at any time except by means of hook and line, a fact that certain wholesale fish murderers and vandals are liable to find out to their cost at any moment.

IN THE FIELD.—By the political announcements given this week will be found that Chas. Meysan, the present incumbent, and William Walker, Esq., have consented to become candidates for Supervisor for the Third District. Mr. Walker is probably the most popular man of the two and would make a good Supervisor, while Mr. Meysan has always been the hardest working member of the Board and undoubtedly a conscientious one. There is a no more important place in the county to fill, yet the position is so thankless a one that but few will take it. However, as either of the gentlemen will fill the bill, and as this portion of the county has no voice in the selection, the matter give us no occasion for expressing a preference, even if we had one.

THE undersigned desires to give notice that he will receive at his warehouse at Bishop Creek, grain or other marketable produce, allowing the highest current price for the same, in settlement of old accounts or in exchange for goods. J. H. STOUTENBOROUGH.
Bishop Creek, July 3, 1878. *

A Lost Mine.

Late last Fall a party of miners while prospecting came across what was evidently the camp of some early pioneers. It was situated near Bald Mountain on an open piece of ground, in the center of which partially imbedded in the ground, were quite a quantity of cinders, probably the remnants of a camp fire. Close to this and on the right were four wooden picket pins, which had evidently held the guy ropes of a small tent. Near by was found about sixty pounds of moss-covered quartz, which upon being broken open was found to be fabulously rich in free gold, large pieces of the yellow metal being plentifully sprinkled through almost every piece of this rock. Near the pile of ore was a crude mortar made by hollowing out the surface of a large granite bowlder, and also an old weather beaten pestle, the lower or striking end of which was bound around with a piece of strap iron. The mortar was partially filled with pulverized rock, which upon being panned yielded in fine and coarse gold $1 78. Near by was also found thirteen hewn staves, which had most likely been gotten out for quartz buckets. One of these was only partially finished. Commencing at a tree immediately back of where the tent evidently stood, was a series of blazes. These the prospectors followed and found a tree blazed every hundred feet for over four miles. The blazes, which in some cases were almost entirely overgrown, ran in a northwesterly direction toward Spearfish, and ended on a high hill with Spearfish Valley in plain view. Both where the blazes end and the entire country in the vicinity of the old camp was thoroughly prospected by the discoverers, but no rock of the same character could be found. That a very rich mine was struck in that vicinity years ago there can be no doubt, and a party left here several days since to again prospect that vicinity. The partially overgrown condition of the blazes point to the fact that they were cut in the trees years ago, as also does the weather beaten condition of the picket pins and the bucket staves. The miners who are now prospecting in the vicinity think the blazes were either cut into the trees to guide the early pioneers to the mine or were placed there as the party were escaping from the country, as a means of finding the old camp on their return. The above is reliable, as we are personally acquainted with the party giving this information, and have now in our possession a piece of rich quartz which he found at the old camp.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, AUGUST 17 .....1878.

The Lead Market.

The New York Engineering and Mining Journal of the 27th is on our table. The lead market is exhaustively reviewed. We quote as follows: There have been sales of 70 tons of Selby lead, at 3.20c, and about 200 tons of Newark at, it is said, a little higher price. The market price to day is 3¼ cents. The exportations of lead from this port since January 1st have been as follows:

To	Lbs.
Havre	242,500
London	660,6 2
Glasgow	21,000
Shanghai	67,200
Total	991 964

Our special correspondent, writing under the head of "Phantom Lead," thinks that the decline in the price of lead is owing to an imaginary over-production. There is no question that corroders, dealers and producers have held a much larger aggregate stock than they do now, and that were there to be a sharp revival in business all the lead in the market would be taken up very quickly, and prices would advance. But still our correspondent must admit that consumers have not suffered from lack of supplies, nor are they likely to for any great length of time. Although stocks may not be very heavy now, yet there is every indication that production, under the most adverse circumstances, will more than equal our requirements, and, such being the case, there must be, in an industry where there are so many interests involved, a competition injurious to the stability of prices. From this standpoint buyers have been justified in buying only in a hand-to-mouth manner, in expectation that every new purchase would be at a lower figure. There is, however, a bottom to the price of all commodities, and the important question now is what is the bottom price of lead? Taking the statistics furnished by Mr. E. A. Caswell, we see that in 1873—the year in which our financial troubles overcame us—we produced but 37,983 tons, and imported 22,114 tons, while in 1877 we produced 73,125 tons (nearly 100 per cent. increase in four years), and imported but 6,224 tons. This year we shall export several thousand tons. It must be remembered that this enormous increase (hardly equaled by any other industry during the same period) is almost entirely an incidental product to silver, and occurred in one of the most difficult times in the history of the country in which to induce capital to launch into mining enterprises. The low price of lead has, for the present at least, checked the development of silver-lead mines producing but a small percentage of silver. But there is so much room for economy in the far West that what may be a losing business to-day may prove a profitable one in the near future. The figures of cost cited by our correspondent will certainly be considerably reduced when the country becomes more settled, and active competition in transportation, fuel, etc., sets in.

That the price of lead can continue so low as it has been is another question. Our correspondent says: "Lead mines in Europe are feeling not less pinched than ours. Private correspondence from well informed parties assures me that a continuation of the present low prices for two months more will break up some of the largest concerns in Germany and England, and reduce the already temperate fare of the Spanish miners from chesnuts to peanuts." There is probably considerable truth in this statement, and it now becomes a serious question as to what price foreign producers can offer the world in competition with us in disposing of our growing surplus. There are so many interests in the lead business that it would be folly to attempt the formation of a combination, and without it the production can only be limited by the inability of some of the producers to carry it on at a loss, and, as a consequence, the price of lead must approximate the export price, advancing slightly when there is lack of pressure to sell in foreign countries. The San Francisco Commercial Herald of July 18th furnishes the following: Our shipments by sea of pig lead for the six months ending June 30, 1878, are as follows:

To	Tons.	Value.
New York	6,164	$577.500
China	3,402	296,787
Japan	240	11,600
Victoria	10	844
Totals	9,716	$886,731

WHY is a kiss like a sewing machine? Because it seems so good.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 9.

MESSRS. EDITORS—A day's ride from Washington will take a visitor to places such as Northern, Western and Eastern people only know of in dreams or history. Yorktown for instance, where pleasure excursions go three or four times a week during the hot weather. So old and dilapidated, evidently not a step of advancement since the Revolution, signs of which are evident throughout the town, in Lord Nelson's house, the old churchyard and the National Cemetery. The house in which Washington and Cornwallis arranged for the surrender of the British forces and in which the papers of capitulation were signed, is still standing, and although nothing but a flagstaff marks the site of the surrender, it is a spot visited by all who go that way. The principal buildings, put up when the town was founded, are standing yet, having been built decidedly upon honor, of small red bricks which were brought from England. All the other and smaller houses are little more than cabins, built with outside chimneys running from the ground in the old, old fashion. But more interesting to most visitors of to-day are the embrasures and earthworks that were thrown up during the war. They are perfectly distinct now and it is hard to see what is ever to destroy them, for the earth in all that region is hard and clayed, without a rock and utterly barren—not worth ten cents an acre, as a gentlemen said as we were walking over the old battle-ground the other day. No attempt is made to cultivate that land—great flocks of geese and herds of swine wander over them, barely gaining a living. They are real Virginia hogs, long-legged, long-bodied, sharp-nosed, so poor their ribs and back-bones show, and with long straight tails, like cows, with a switch on the end.

The severest storm of thunder, lightning, wind, hail and rain that this vicinity has seen this year passed over the District on Monday afternoon, doing a vast amount of damage, resulting in many accidents and the loss of one life. Basements, cellars and many ground floors were flooded with water, sewers were burst, pavings washed away, roofs blown off, buildings in process of erection were rased to the ground and several frame houses completely demolished. Lamps, fences and trees were thrown down and uprooted all about town and in some of the lower parts of the city the streets were several feet under water. Self-recording instruments at the Signal Office showed the wind to have blown at one time in gusts 78 miles per hour, giving a pressure of 30 pounds to the square foot, the rainfall being 2.15 inches. The storm lasted but an hour. The plants and ornamental shrubbery in the Agricultural and other public grounds suffered severely. One of the large urns in front of the White House was over turned and broken, a large tree in the grounds uprooted and a good deal of glass in the Conservatory broken. One thousand dollars damage was done to "Castle Stewart" (or "Stewart's Folly," as the mansion is more commonly called) by the raising of the ball-room roof and flooding of some of the rooms. This beautiful dwelling is the one in which Ex-Senator Stewart sunk his fortune. Its furnishings were originally the finest in Washington, but it has scarcely been occupied since the expiration of Stewart's term, years ago, and stands now an exemplification of that which "moth and rust doth corrupt." The lovely frescoed walls are stained with mildew, the rich tapestry, laces and damasks are moth-eaten—rusted and rusting out with no one to enjoy its splendor. It is a type of Washington life—gay, bright, loved, flattered, praised for a day—then dropped from the Capital's giddy world, forgotten and left to live or die unnoticed and unremembered. MARTHA.

The Women Clerks at Washington.

Among the clerkships at Washington, the poorly paid drudging places are filled by women, the lighter, better paid offices by men. That is because the women cannot vote. Copying and figuring is the work mostly done by women. In the Department of the Interior 500 girls and women are employed. Their wages range from $50 a month to $1,400 a year. Few get the latter price. One young lady, Miss Cook, a stenographer in the Indian office, gets $1,600 a year, the highest price to a woman official in Washington. But lest all the bright young lady shorthand writers who read this should at once start off in a body to get $1,600 a year at the Capital, it may be as well to state that there are only places for about six stenographers in the whole Interior Department. These six places are filled, and the occupants are healthy. They do not intend to marry. They are afraid every man wouln't be worth $1,600 a year to them. Women clerks are more troublesome to manage than men. This is the verdict in most of the departments. They are more regular and and faithful in their duties than the men; at the same time they are more quarrelsome among one another. A standing cause of war among them, ridiculous enough, is the opening and shutting of windows. This one wants ventilation, while the one next to her is dead sure to be afraid of a draft. This one slaps the window up, this one runs after and slams it down, while the ladies' eyes dart fire and their little throats choke up too full for speech. This cattish quarreling went so far in the Postoffice Department that at last the United States authorities had to interfere and make a rule that the windows should not be raised until a certain time of day, so that now the windows of the United States General Postoffice are opened and shut according to Government orders. A more contemptible thing about women kind it has never been my painful duty to record. Many unjust stories have been published in the newspapers about the women clerks at Washington by correspondents who were not half or quarter as good as they. The simple fact is that a great majority of them are modest, faithful hard-working women. They are quite as good and intelligent as the same number of women anywhere else in the world. Most of them have families or relatives to support. The stories that have been told about them are not only wicked lies, but under the circumstances are extremely cruel. At the same time the conduct of a few incompetent women, who get their places through political favoritism, really has been such to give color to the newspaper stories. They do their work indifferently or not at all, come together and gossip by the hour in the dressing rooms, squabble and raise petty rows in the departments, until it is even wished they were dead. Such women are kept in their places because they have masculine relations at home that can vote, and the men who keep them there are honorable Senators and Representatives who declare that civil service reform is a humbug.—Corr. Cincinnati Commercial.

The Introduction of Steam Wagons.

Steam wagons seem to be gaining entrance on this coast. One of English manufacture is being used for threshing by H. C. Copeland, of Tehama county. It drives the separator, and at time of moving it draws all its wagons and machines and other appurtenances any distance at a speed of about three miles an hour, its weight being about six and one half tons. Its work seems to be generally satisfactory.

Another enterprise, of more strictly local moment, is being pushed by Gaskill Bros., of Campo, San Diego county. From an account in the Arizona Sentinel we learn that the contract for carrying the daily mail between Yuma and San Diego has been intrusted to the Gaskill Bros. About 100 miles of the road lies across the California desert. Across this stretch mail and passengers are soon to be carried by steam. Messrs. Gaskill are industrious inventors, and have obtained a number of patents. One of their last inventions is a steam wagon, designed more particularly for level and sandy roads. A working model has been made which fully demonstrates the practical value of the invention. One of the brothers has just purchased a suitable engine and boiler in San Francisco, of about two horse power. The wagon will be made in their shop at Campo. It will have two driving wheels of seven feet diameter and 12 inches width of tire. The whole apparatus will weigh about 2,000 pounds when supplied with fuel and water and ready for business. It is intended to make an average speed of eight or ten miles per hour, carrying five or six persons and a moderate weight of baggage and mails. It will consume about 10 gallons of water per hour. There is plenty of fuel in the mesquit groves on the desert and among the willows and cottonwoods on New river and the Colorada. One man can manage the whole thing. Messrs. Gaskill propose to have the new machine making regular trips across the desert by October 1.

STEEL RAIL.—In 1872 the first steel rails were made in this country. In that year the product was 94,000 tons; in 1873, 129,000 tons; in 1874, 300,000 tons; in 1877, 420,000 tons. This year the product is expected to reach 500,000 tons. The average price of steel rails in 1872 was $115 per ton; now the average value is $42. Labor-saving machinery has so reduced the cost of production that America can compete with England in neutral markets, and a large export trade in steel rails is expected to be developed.

How so Many Got Rich.

We met an intelligent gentleman a few days ago, an "old 49-er," who was thoroughly conversant with the mode of transfer of large ranches, especially in Los Angeles county. He gave it as his deliberate conviction that nine-tenths of all the large ranches now owned by Americans had been stolen. He did not apply this sweeping charge of thieving to the present owners, as these lands have frequently changed hands and are now in the possession of innocent purchasers. As the Workingmen's party has pronounced in favor of some kind of compulsory sales and the dividing of these large estates into small tracts, it may not be amiss to give from time to time a more deliberate account of these ranch steals. We do not use the word steal merely for effect, nor through any hasty expression of indignation, but write it deliberately as the right word in the right place—the only one properly characterizing the act.

We have already alluded to the Rosecrans swindle, but really only alluded to its enormities. We may have occasion to give attention to it again. What is odd in the matter is that such things could be done right here in the presence of the whole people, with daily newspapers circulating at almost every house, and this perpetrated too right in the face and eyes of the courts and civil authorities, and yet no one be arrested for stealing or preying, but the whole matter be allowed to pass as quietly as if it had been a legitimate transaction. There must have been perjury and subornation of perjury by the wholesale; such as, if the law had been faithfully executed, a whole crop of criminals would have gone to the State's prison.

But we commenced this article intending to speak of another steal so iniquitous in its methods and ends as to make, in comparison, even the Rosecrans transaction loom up into respectability. A lawyer at the time, but not now, citizen of Los Angeles, was attorney for a Mexican owner of ranch. The Mexican, who was living alone, was taken sick and died. His honorable attorney learned of the event, took witnesses whom he had informed of his iniquitous purposes, and by promises of dividing the spoils, prepared for the infamous part they were to play. Arriving at the house, one of the men went under the dead man's bed, in order to speak for, and answer questions in behalf the dead Mexican. The others were witnesses. The honorable attorney put a pen in the dead man's hand and with it signed a pretended will. This will had been previously prepared by the faithless attorney, and, as might be expected conveyed all the valuable ranch to himself. Now reader, could be lower and meaner? If that other place we sometimes read of could be dredged to the very bottom, should we expect to see brought up a more iniquitous load of pure loathsomeness? We often hear it said that there is honor among thieves. But this case seems to have been an exception; as the honorable attorney refused to divide with his co-conspirators. Here was robbery and perjury all in one, and yet the criminals never had their free locomotion or their right to do as they pleased in any way interfered with. The iniquity of the business did not prevent the master spirit of the conspiracy from filling an important State office afterwards. Incidentally we ask again if the reform movement was started too soon? * *

The seller of this ranch possessed not one cent's worth of title in it, and not one cent's worth, therefore, passed to the purchaser. The land belongs still, both in right and in law, to the heirs of the dead Mexican, if there are any, if not, then it escheats to the State of California.—Los Angeles Star.

THE MICROPHONE AND INSECT VOICES. A writer in the Entomologist's Monthly Magazine suggests that, as the microscope reveals to the eye of man all the most insignificant of nature's works, why may not the microphone disclose to our hearing the most inaudible sound. Through Prof. Hughes discovery we may hope, he says, to have great light thrown upon the somewhat obscure subject of stridulation in insects. We do not see why the microphone may not be applied to detecting the high-pitched sounds produced by the grasshoppers and crickets, and the now inaudible stridulation noises made by moths and other insects. It could possibly be applied to studying and detecting the noises produced by fish and marine invertebrate animals. It could also be applied, perhaps, to detecting the gnawing of museum pests in collections of stuffed mammals and birds and entomological collections. Particularly valuable would its use be in detecting the present of white ants in the tropics, in the inside of articles of house furniture, which this insect ruins before its work is usually detected.

A VOLCANO IN THE MOON.—Dr. Hermann J. Klein, of Koln, with his five and a half inch dialyte, by Ploesel, discovered, some time ago, on the moon's surface, a great black crater on the Mare Vaporum, and a little to the northwest of the well known crater Hyginus. He describes the crater as being nearly as large as Hyginus, or about three miles in diameter, being deep and full of shadow, and as forming a conspicuous object on the dark gray Mare Vaporum. So far the English observations of the new crater have been perfectly in accord with those of Dr. Klein, and if the existence of the new crater be confirmed, it will form the strongest possible evidence of a real change on the surface of the moon; a change, moreover, of a volcanic nature.

A VESSEL is called she because there is so much bustle aboard.

"VENTILATION" AT LAST.

Among our people best informed it has long amounted to a settled conviction that the controlling managers of the Union Con., at Cerro Gordo, were, through a continual and systematic effort, playing a heavy game of "freeze-out" toward the stockholders who held a minority ownership in the company by virtue of the Union-San Felipe compromise and consolidation. That Mr. Belshaw, the President and Managing Trustee, holds no good will toward them and the most of the people of Inyo is manifest enough, if his expressions as to making "the grass grow in the streets of Lone Pine and Independence" are to be taken in their true meaning.

However, we are apprised that an action will be begun in the proper courts to set aside the assessment of $1 25 per share on the ground that it was unjustified by the actual condition of the mine at the time of its levy and collection; that known ore bodies were purposely avoided after being discovered, which, had such been worked, would have rendered such assessment unnecessary. It is further said that the managers will be called to strict account for an alleged fraudulent system of making contracts and payments therefor, and that discriminations against the stockholders on the part of inside interests, such as the freighting and water companies, will be fully investigated. Messrs. Reddy, Brooks and Bennett have taken the matter in hand, and it is hardly necessary to add that developments will be watched with the most absorbing interest.

MOUNTAIN FLOODS.—Why, in the arid and mountain regions of the great basin, most of the pluvial contributions from Heaven to Earth should come in the shape of floods and cloud-bursts, has not so far been satisfactorily explained by scientists or any one else. But such is the case, and when, as almost without exception, mining towns and cities are built in cañons or on mountain sides, their periodical flooding has come to be considered a certainty. For the second or third time in the history of each, the cities of Austin and Eureka, Nevada, have had their principal streets devastated by such a calamity. The strongest buildings were swept away as before a torrent of the Nile. In Austin, on the 15th, the damages were not less than $100,000, the main thoroughfare of the town suffering the most. The Reveille office and material was completely ruined. At Eureka the total loss by the water, as summed up by the Sentinel, amounts to $63,000. A second and smaller flood swept down upon the wrecked towns, adding more damage and almost disheartening the sufferers.

FROM all parts of the West come complaints that farmers are unable to obtain help enough to gather their harvests. In Wisconsin $2 50 a day is offered, but even there there are not laborers enough to fill the demand, and the same thing is true of Iowa and Minnesota. This is a significant comment upon the clamor of demagogues that millions of workingmen are seeking employment and cannot find it.

THE Record-Union says of the debris case: Several prominent witnesses who testified in the Bear river mining debris case passed through from Marysville yesterday for below. The testimony in the case will be printed, and it will be continued for argument until late in September, to give counsel ample time to digest the mass of evidence and arrange it conveniently.

NOT less than twenty-eight railroads have been sold under foreclosure since the 1st of January, most of which are in the West and Southwest. The aggregate length of these lines is 2,164 miles, having bonds and debts amounting to $114,674,000, and a capital stock of $115,156,900. Fourteen other roads have passed into the hands of receivers.

THAT story of a lecturer committing suicide in an Illinois town, and that ditto of a handsome young married woman of Boston being abducted on a railroad train by a couple of men who claimed that she was insane, and under their charge, are canards, nothing of the kind having occurred. How this world is given to lying!

THE Burlington Hawkeye says Bob Ingersoll has gone to Europe thoroughly disgusted with politics and there is nothing left him now but the consolations of religion.

THE editor of the Fresno Expositor has received a watermelon weighing 46 pounds, raised on the Emigrant ditch.

A TERRIBLE CRIME.

The Record-Union, of the 17th, devotes some nine or ten of its long columns in giving the confessions of two of the Tullis murderers. All the facts considered, the story of this murder is as replete with cool-blooded diabolism as any we have ever read. Briefly, it is as follows;

Troy Dye, the Public Administrator of Sacramento county, became dissatisfied with the smallness of his official emoluments. In fact something of this seemed to trouble his anticipations even when but a candidate for the office, for he amused the voters by telling them from the stump it would hardly pay him to take the office unless he should adopt the policy of sending out "killers" after rich but heirless old bachelors, so that he could get to administer on their estates. This was accepted, and possibly intended, as a joke then, but was so suggestive to this model Administrator that he has made it a most astounding reality, and now confesses to a deliberately planned and executed murder with apparently no more realizing sense of its heinousness than if it had been the destruction of a cayote killed for the value of his pelt.

A. M. Tullis was a rich old bachelor living a lonely sort of a life below the city on Grand Island. He had a precious sort of a nephew named Clark, who also happened to be a partner in the saloon business with Administrator Dye. It would seem that the two had counseled together, and concluded it would be of great pecuniary advantage to both, one as an heir at law the other as Administrator, to have the old man knocked on the head immediately. Accordingly Dye spent time in reconnoitering about the Tullis place, and in inquiries among the neighbors as to his intended victim's property values. His partner, the nephew, meantime carried on the joint business without charge for the lost time, showing that he could appreciate an intended favor. This shows that the nephew had at least one human attribute, and just that much the advantage of his partner. Dye had two excellent "killers" in his employ; was probably better fitted out in that respect than any other regular Administrator in the State. One of these, a Swede known as Anderson, was not only willing to "croak" anybody to help his employer to business but would do it at the remarkably low rate of $100 each. The other, named Tom Lawton, was even more of a "daisy," as Dye expresses it, than the Swede. According to Dye's orders and instructions the "Daisy" (Lawton) went down to make the acquaintance of the old man, ostensibly to get work, but to kill him outright if the opportunity occurred, and if not to present him a poisoned cocktail. He went prepared with two bottles of cocktails, which Dye helped fix up, one without poison for the Daisy's own use, the other well poisoned for presentation to the victim. Dye, while aiding in this preparation, remarked that his partner, the nephew, wouldn't mind the expense of the liquor, proving the Administrator to be a very thoughtful business man. Lawton went and had a social time with the old man, but could not with safety get him to drink out of the "right" bottle, nor a chance to knock him on the head. He left the poisoned bottle as a present to Tullis, and went back and reported to Dye. The latter, ever alert for business, made long and frequent drives down to the Tullis neighborhood, so as to be officially at hand in case anything melancholy came of the cocktails. Two weeks passed when it became evident to Dye that he would have to adopt more heroic treatment before he could get to administer on the Tullis estate. The two killers were then sent down, properly armed, in a small boat to the Island. This expedition likewise failed of its object on account of the absence of the old man, a fact quietly ascertained through the China cook. Some weeks later the final effort to secure work for the office was made. Lumber was purchased by Lawton for a small boat, which they put together in Dye's cellar. The lumberman figured up the number of feet in the boards on one of them, finding the amount to be 64 feet. This number, in red chalk, furnished the clue by which the murderers will reach the gallows. The figures remained there to name them notwithstanding the boards subsequently passed through a planing mill, then, after subserving their purpose as a boat, were broken into bits and sent adrift down the river. But the piece bearing the number 64 remained intact: a single hair has caused men to be hung. Proceeding to the Island in this frail and leaky craft, Anderson and Lawton, just at dusk on the 2d of August, deliberately pounded and shot the old man to death in his own orchard. Dye had driven down to meet and convey them back to town in his own buggy. He was so well pleased at their success, he said, "Boys, I must stand the oysters on this." And he did on their arrival in the city after midnight. A day or two later the official Thug had the estate appraised at $50,000, its real value being about twice as much. The difference was to be his perquisites, so he was on the high road to fortune. He broke up the concealed boat on this trip to the Island. Two weeks later the floating fragment bearing the figure 64 proved his guideboard on the straight road to the gallows. The details cannot be given here. Lawton is still at large. The other two acting Thugs are snivling in jail. So business-like were the efforts of this Public Administrator to get work for his office in this way out of the estates of heirless bachelors people believe it is not human but the blood of a crocodile that fills his veins. Tullis was his second victim, it seems, and he had five others with good estates marked down for slaughter. But for this accidental check in the career of this model Administrator, it is conceded there would have been an most alarming mortality among the wealthier bachelors of Sacramento county. This is no joke; we speak of it in this strain to convey an idea of the astounding sang froid with which these ghouls contemplated their work. The Bender story sinks into insignificance.

IMPORTANT LAND SUIT.

The case of the State of California vs. John Center and about 100 other defendants, now on trial before the 12th District Court, San Francisco, is one of the most important suits that has ever come up in this State. It is an action to recover 89,120 acres of swamp land in the counties of Fresno and Kern, known as the Montgomery grant. Under an act to provide for the construction of canals, and for the drainage and reclamation of swamp and overflowed lands in Tulare valley, passed in 1857, the defendants received a patent for the land described, on condition that certain works of reclamation should be carried out. It is claimed by the plaintiff that the land was never reclaimed by the grantees under the legislative act, and that therefore the patent was improperly granted, and should be declared void. The attorneys for the State are Jo Hamilton, Attorney-General, H. H. Haight, W. M. Stewart and C. R. Greathouse; for the defendants, Warren Olney, R. E. Houghton, P. G. Galpin, A. C. Freeman, S. L. Cutter and Geo. A. Nourse.

AN unpleasant little rumor to the effect that the Cincinnati Communists were having hand grenades made by the thousand, and that one Haynes was filling a large contract for them, caused a small scare in the Mayor's office one day lately. The manufacturer admitted that he had the ammunition in stock, but denied that any Communist had ordered any of it. It was a war implement—a sphere within a sphere—about the size of a baseball—made in two pieces—a perfect thing of the kind—warranted to do fearful execution, and so on. A Californian named Wilson had ordered 20,000 of these hand grenades. What Haynes is anxious to do is to sell as many as he can. He says he is no Communist and hates that sort of thing, but unless the Government buys him out or issues a restraining order against their manufacture, he will make these grenades for anybody that wants to pay for them.

AMONG the relics of Gen. Washington recently purchased by act of Congress from Major Lewis, of Virginia, was the ledger or account book in which Washington used to place all items, no matter how trifling, of his financial affairs. He kept a full record of his losings and winnings at play. One peculiar fact in connection with his gambling, as shown by this ledger, is that he always lost at Fredericksburg, Va. The record of his continual losses at that city grew so monotonous that in brackets at the last entry of losses at that place he wrote the words "as usual."

IN Washington it is thought the imprisoned revenue officials in South Carolina were surrendered to the Federal authorities in pursuance of an understanding between the President and Wade Hampton, whereby the Government agrees not to prosecute those distillers in South Carolina who surrender themselves and promise to strictly observe the revenue laws in the future. The President seems to have a very tender regard for violators of the United States laws in the Southern States.

THE Postmaster General has decided to extend the privilege of registry to all third class mail matter. That is, any package of mailable merchandise may be registered by the payment of ten cents in addition to the postage. The new law will go into effect about the first of October. It will prove a great convenience.

ACCORDING to Gen. Crook, the policy of our Government is as thoroughly adapted to the production of Indian wars as if it had been framed with that express end in view. The Indians are cooped up on reservations about which the white settlers gather more and more closely. The game, upon which they rely for subsistence, is killed or driven off. They are thus deprived of the means of maintaining themselves. The Government says that they must learn agriculture, but it does not supply them with enough to live upon while they are in the transition state. At stated intervals it pretermits their supplies altogether, and then, being placed, as the old saying has it, "between the devil and the deep sea," they go upon the war-path. As the General observes, "he must be a very contemptible being who would not fight for his life," and as the Indians are not altogether contemptible they fight for theirs, and with what desperation we know to our cost.

IN these days of defaulters it is refreshing to once in a while find some traces of old-fashioned, high-toned honesty. One of these ought not too soon be permitted to sink into oblivion. The corner-stone of a grand Washington monument was laid with imposing ceremonies in Washington square, Philadelphia, in 1832. A large amount ($40,000 or $50,000) was contributed. But, as usual, the monument was never built. It was commonly supposed that the money raised had been appropriated to private uses, when William Purves, of Philadelphia, applied to one of the courts for instructions under the circumstances. He was treasurer of the monument fund, had all its money out at interest, and as no monument was ever likely to be built he wished to know what to do with the funds.

WE can recall to mind no word that has been spelled in more ways than the name of a station in Kern county, on the line of the Southern Pacific railroad. Dr. Falls, now in this place, who is a resident of that vicinity, has the correct orthography from an old intelligent settler of the Tejon country. It should be Te-hi-chi-pa. It is an Indian word. To pronounce it correctly, accent the second syllable and make the i long. Let our brethren of the press make a note of this.—Santa Monica Outlook.

Just so; but upon what authority do other learned old settlers spell the final syllable in similar Indian names with an ai—for instance: Haiw*ai*, Wallap*ai*, Tehachep*ai*, Helltop*ai*, Yavap*ai* and others Yum*ai* find in the Indian nomenclature of California and Arizonia.

NEW PATENTS. — The Mining and Scientific Press Patent Department has received official notice of the issue of the following patents to Pacific coast inventors for the week ending July 16, 1878, viz.: Amos Bowman, S. Trade-marks: Burnell & Simpkins, S. F., ale and porter.

ACCORDING to the Yuma Expositor there is imminent danger of an outbreak of starving Mojave, Yuma and Cocopah Indians, now that all the troops are away from Fort Yuma. Gen. McDowell has been strongly urged to send a company of troops there to check the hostile demonstrations and to protect the post and arms therein, now guarded by but one or two men, and entirely at the mercy of the savages, should they fulfill their threats of war.

RELIGIOUS.—Bishop Whittaker, after leaving this place, continued his visitation through the southern portion of the county. He went through to Columbus, but on account of limited time was unable to hold service there. He spent a few hours, however, and visited nearly all the families. On Saturday evening, the 10th, he preached in Rhodes' Hall, in Candelaria, to a large and attentive audience. The thronging multitude were summoned by the musical cadences of a crowbar touched by the flat side of a hammer, under the skillful manipulation of Parson Kelly, and was an excellent substitute for a bell. On Sunday evening the Bishop preached in Belleville, where the congregation filled the school house. The Bishop expressed himself greatly pleased with his visit, and wherever he has been the people have been favored with excellent discourses. He left on Monday for Virginia, and hereafter will include Esmeralda in his yearly visitations.—Esmeralda Herald.

THREE thousand years ago Ninevah contained 216 square miles; its walls, 100 feet high, with towers twice that hight, took 140,000 men eight years to build. Babylon was yet larger. This city, founded by Nimrod 2233 B. C., had its hanging gardens, a series of terraces raised one above the other on piers about forty feet high till they overtopped the walls of the city. Each terrace comprised about three acres and a half, planted with trees and shrubs. The government was despotic, but tempered by a curious check. The King had absolute power, but could not rescind his decrees. Eagles were trained to accompany the warriors in their battles to pluck out the eyes of the enemy or to feast upon the conquered. Very great cruelties were practiced upon the captives. In one of the rural scenes the King, who quaffs the goblet in an arbor, is gratified by the sight of the head of an enemy hanging upon one of the trees. The royal quarry was the lion. Parks were kept entirely for the King to enjoy the lion hunt.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 24.....1878.

SHOOTING AFFAIR.—At the peaceful hour of 7 on Sunday evening last, while the porches about the stores and saloons were occupied with heavy sitters-around languidly remarking that there hadn't been a killing in Inyo for the unprecedented period of two months, a couple of cheerful pistol cracks broke upon the air, and most of the sitters broke for the inside. The Indians broke rapidly for the sage-brush. In a few seconds four or five more shots were heard, when Sheriff Moore and Constable Brady, who had rushed across the street to near Harris & Rhine's store, took under arrest John Welch and John McDonald. There had been bad blood between them for a year or more, it is said on account of some Indian-squaw misunderstanding, and as Welch was passing, McDonald drew a self-cocking Colt's six-shooter. After giving some uncomplimentary remarks concerning Welch's maternal ancestor, McDonald blazed away, firing six shots altogether, one of which passed through Welch's right leg between the knee and ankle, without striking the bone. Welch, with an old-fashioned navy, got in but one shot, which landed in McDonald's right thigh—a severe and dangerous wound. Welch entered complaint before Justice Gardner against McDonald for assault with a deadly weapon to commit murder, which matter is to receive attention as soon as Mac gets out of the hospital. Dr. Bicknell reports him as likely to recover, but that the bullet is lodged in the thigh or leg in such a manner as to render its extraction too difficult to undertake now.

THE PIC NIC.—Contrary to the rule usually governing in this region in all similar undertakings, the Sunday school pic-nic at Watson's on the 15th was a most gratifying success in every particular. The people of Big Pine and Bishop turned out in goodly numbers, and are deserving of credit for their marked spirit of liberality and energy in aid of a most commendable cause. Aside from the advantages of social enjoyment in a way so different from the calls that usually bring neighbors and communities together here in social intercourse, the leading object was to raise a fund for the purchase of books for the respective Sunday schools of the two places named, and to pay off a small indebtedness of each. From the sale of ice-cream and confections, and through donations in cash and various articles, the net receipts applicable for the purchase of books was $70, after paying all expenses and the liabilities of the two schools. Rev. Mr. Bell was the prime mover in this undertaking.

AH, HA!—It strikes us something will have to be done to increase official salaries in this county. Children must eat and have nice clothes, and it takes cash to buy candy. Here, almost simultaneously, is an invoice of new babies—one for the Sheriff's office (not for the boss, he ain't married), one for the Clerk's and one for the Treasurer's, already, and who can say the returns are yet all in? However, if any more should come in for our other officials, save for one Supervisor, they may be thrown out as fraudulent. In the interest of poll tax payers let the Returning Board resolve that this kind of business be stopped right where it is. It has become a legitimate subject for official notice, these things have. Suppose similar inflictions were to befall the head Sheriff, the County Judge, the District Attorney, the Assessor, the Deputy Clerk or either of the hold-over Supervisors! As before remarked, precautionary measures should be taken at once, so as to save extra taxation.

FROM DEEP SPRINGS.—Johnnies Irwin and Cullen returned yesterday from a thorough prospecting trip across the Inyos. The Byrnes mine, of which there has been so many flattering reports, they were refused permission to see until after the sale now on the tapis was either concluded or declared off, but they made a location in the same vicinity, which they think equally as good. The old Waucoba mines passed under examination, but they did not deem them worth taking in. Irwin lost his $250 watch and chain, which is his only regret for the trip.

ON A VISIT.—His Honor, Judge Hannah, is in town on a visit from his camping place in Monache Valley, where he has been reveling in soda water, fish and the cold mountain air—and fast regaining health and flesh. He reports the Broders and their neice as flourishing finely, and the whole matter of mountaineering one of the finest experiences in the world. He is located near a collection of soda springs some seventy in number, the waters of which are delicious and of wonderful medical properties.

THE LATEST.—In addition to our correspondent's report of matters over on Kern river, given elsewhere, we have a later item concerning a couple of the innocents abroad. Sawyer has returned alone, and states that Dan Williams had been safely delivered to the authorities at the Tule Indian reservation, while Bill Johnson was on the trail toward Porterville, bootless and hatless. He was well-nigh exhausted, but his last words were to the effect that he'd get there or die.

THE Postoffice at Taboose has been discontinued, by order of the Postmaster General, for the reason that no one thereabouts will accept the position of Postmaster, with its responsible duties and high official emoluments. Mail for that neighborhood should be addressed to Independence.

OFFICIAL.—In this issue, under the classification of "Born," will be found some official notes pertaining to three of our most prominent county offices, presenting a very favorable showing of affairs at the Court House. Bachelor officers stand aside.

IN TOWN.—E. L. Smith, a gentleman formerly connected with the Bodie Standard, is in town. He contemplates starting a paper in Benton. Messrs. Walker and Meysan, rival candidates for the Supervisorship, District No. 3, are here, each working up to windward, we suspect, before the final clash of bottles causeth ye stout-stomached voter to get a smell. Paul Bennett has returned from a flying visit to the Bay.

PIPING.—Some 3,800 feet more of the Panamint iron piping has arrived at the store of Harris & Rhine. A couple of lines of this, run say half a mile up the creek to a reservoir, would give Independence fine water-works and, with necessary accoutrements, ample protection against fire.

LETTER FROM KERN RIVER.

CAMP AT SODA SPRINGS, Aug. 11.

MESSRS. EDITORS—As I have been sick for the past ten days I have neglected to give you any items, but will now give all we have. As I wrote you before, our Tulare party started on the 1st inst. for Mount Whitney. Another notable person of whom I did not know at the time, accompanied them. It was Mr. Andrews, a sheep man, who has many thousand sheep pasturing close to Mount Whitney. The first day from Soda Springs the party traveled about 25 miles, a rough and hard day's travel, and camped in a good meadow with plenty of wood and water, and the night was warm and beautiful. The second day at 2 P. M. they camped at the base of mountain on Guitar Lake, about two and a half miles from the top. On the 3d they all arose fresh as morning roses, ate a hearty breakfast and at 6:30 A. M. started for the top of the hill of America. In two and a half hours Prof. Crapo had the honor of leading Mrs. Redd and Miss Mattie Martin to the top of this wonderful mountain. The other guide, Mr. Kit Johnson, soon followed, when they made the old hill echo and re-echo with their singing, shouting and laughter. The last party was somewhat concerned because they did not get up as soon as the first, but of course they could not all get there and share the glory together. How nice it would have been had the last guide thought and kissed his fair partner; then he could have well said that he kissed the first lady that ever made the ascent of Mount Whitney (I mean, provided she was willing). But he does not belong to the right Johnson family, I am afraid, and for that reason forgets all these important duties. After remaining on the mountain about two hours they returned to camp, where they stayed that night. On 4th the party in company with Mr. Andrews visited his sheep ranch and partook of a sumptuous dinner, and then came down the river to within eight miles of Soda Springs and camped for the night, the guides, Messrs. Crapo and Johnson, going across the mountains in search of game. On the morning of the 5th our jolly Tulare party joined us at Soda Springs, but I am sorry to say to only stop a short time. They spoke in the highest terms of their guides, and the manner in which they led them through the forests and over the hills, and the assistance they rendered in climbing the mountain. They also speak of the beautiful scenery—Owens River Valley, with the large large lake at its foot, Lone Pine, looking green and delightful, and Independence a beautiful garden. They also saw the cañon where old Cerro Gordo, dry and desolate, but rich in mineral, should be, and wondered how it was that so many good-looking men were at the fishing grounds from that rough looking place. I guess they meant Dan Williams and Judge Bowen (look out for your eye). The party only stayed with us about an hour, when they took their departure, and expected to be in Portersville, their home, on the 8th. They contemplated taking in Kernville and Havilah on their return, but as the trip was a hard one they gave it up, and thought they could not tarry longer on the road. For this we were all sorry, as we enjoyed their company so much, and all we can say is that they have our kindest wishes, and may they always hold the credit they so richly deserve of being the first party of ladies who ever ascended Mount Whitney.

Mr. John Broder passed through our camp on the 5th instant, en route to Visalia and possibly the city. I understand he expects to make a trip to the summit of Whitney in company with his neice, who is now at Monache, upon his return.

Mr. James Shepherd is here with his neices and nephew, and are having a good time. Several of the Lone Pine boys are also here, camping up and down the river and having a good time generally fishing and hunting.

On the 13th Dan Williams, Sawyer, Ed. Shone and Bill Johnson start for the Big Trees, and expect to be gone about a week, and should they find a tree over 900 feet in diameter no doubt they will let you know. One of Sawyer's old boots will be taken along to measure with, its length is one and a half feet; the other standard will be Bill Johnson's boot, which is eighteen inches long, making altogether one yard.

Bill Johnson has been sick with fever for the past ten days, but is O K now. Dan Williams was sick yesterday—he was water-logged. Sawyer was well, but his hammock got to bucking yesterday and tumbled him out on the ground. They were only two ribs broken and they were soon taken out by Dr. Scott, who put two wooden ones in their place, and now the old craft sails along as jolly as ever. Our old friend Dick Runkle is, as in the days of old, always ready and willing to assist his neighbors, and if the traveler don't make himself at home it is his own fault. K. C. Johnson left us a few days ago for Independence, accompanied by Uncle Davie. He was to camp on the road and make a small catch of 703 fish for THE INDEPENDENT and 7 fish for the balance of Independence. Hope they have got them.

We hear that other parties are coming here from Lone Pine and Visalia. The weather is charming, with every prospect of a shower to-day. Fishing is fair; soda water splendid, and it answers the purpose of Hamburg tea. J. T. Belshaw, Sam Cowles and Judge Bowen left us to-day for Cerro Gordo. Nothing has happened within the past week to cause any excitement, only a few of our crack shots shooting at a wild-cat that had been dead for three days, put up by Ed. Stone as a bull-doze. SEVEN-UP.

The Conviction of Chartz.

We notice a strong disposition on the part of many of our contemporaries to sermonize over the conviction of Alf Chartz, and his sentence to imprisonment for life. They seek to "point a moral and adorn a tale" from his fate, and as a rule they treat him with a great deal of severity. We have read the evidence in this case very carefully, and are astonished at the extent of his punishment, and at the tone of the press in the matter. We have no acquaintance with Chartz, and no sympathy for murder or violence; but it appears to us that he has been the victim of a most unfortunate combination of circumstances, and that he does not deserve the full measure of reproach that is heaped upon him by his professional brethern. The item which excited the resentment of Rickar was by no means offensive. There was probably no intention in the mind of the writer to give offense. Chartz was not the writer, and had indeed given orders that nothing of the kind be written. After the publication Rickar wrote a coarse, brutal threat to Chartz, instead of seeking an explanation, as he should have done, if he felt aggrieved. Chartz was compelled to notice the matter in some way. He had been insulted and threatened. When the two men met Rickar offered to fight Chartz, and the latter probably used his pistol too quick—unnecessarily as it proved, for Rickar was unarmed. Chartz was given no chance to explain the item. The most opprobrious epithet was applied to him in the letter, and afterwards he was called on to fight.

We do not believe that Chartz is guilty of the crime of murder. We do not believe that he intended to kill Rickar when he met him, and without the intention the crime does not exist. His trial appears to have been hurried close upon the heels of the tragedy, before the bad blood engendered thereby had become calmed. The sentence was to the extreme limit of the law—for the term of his natural life, and administered the day that his young wife had given birth to her first child.

Chartz has our sympathy. We think he has been unjustly treated by the jury, the court and especially so by the press. We who are in the profession know how many there are who take causeless offense at trivial items that appear in our columns, and that an editor is liable every day to be involved in a quarrel in which he has no interest, and in cases where he had no intention of doing any one an injury. The usual ending of such affairs is that the editor either gets shot or killed. This being the case, if any of the profession do get into trouble we are going to give them the benefit of our sympathy, if the facts will justify it.—Bodie Standard.

THE Carson Appeal says of the Mono County Bank, to be started at once in Bodie: The bank has a capital of $100,000, and numbers among its stockholders Messrs. Robert Graves, Robert Barton, Henry Eppstein, W. S. Hopkins and other substantial capitalists of San Francisco. Howard F. Hastings, for many years cashier of the Merchant's Exchange Bank, of San Francisco, has been elected cashier of the new institution, which starts under the most favorable auspices and with every guarantee of safety and stability that the public can demand.

ACKLIN, whose name was unpleasantly associated with an attempt to outrage a lady at Wormley's in Washington, was renominated for Congress by the Democrats of the Fourth Louisiana District. It is said, however, that Acklin was completely exonerated, inasmuch as the tale itself was entirely baseless.

THE yellow fever is raging fearfully in the South. Up to the 20th over 1,000 cases were reported in New Orleans, full one-third fatal. It is proportionately as virulent throughout that whole region. Great alarm prevails everywhere, and from many places come urgent calls for help, Two cases are reported near New York.

THE Bakersfield merchants propose to suspend business one day out of the seven, and will probably name Sunday as the one most agreeable to their own fancies; but it don't suit over-industrious country people who like to save time by coming into town that day to trade.

THE Kern County Gazette states that a well-known engineer is preparing to give bonds for the construction of a navigable canal from Tulare Lake to the headwaters of Fresno slough for $200,000. The distance is about 23 miles.

THE indications are that many of the Greenback Republicans in Maine will act with the old party. The Greenback Club of Newport has disbanded and its President has gone back to the Republicans.

THE tramp bill which the New Hampshire Legislature proposes to make into a law provides for imprisonment at hard labor for from five to fifteen years, and gives $10 to the person making the arrest.

AFTER holding Varna for 434 years the Turks give up this their strongest fortress and the best harbor on the Black Sea.

DARWIN ITEMS.—The New Coso furnace, which has been undergoing repairs for the past week, started up again on the 15th inst. Work is being carried on at the Lucky Jim mine, and good ore extracted.

Last Wednesday afternoon Darwin experienced a thunder storm; a regular old Eastern storm, with a few extra flashes and claps thrown in. It rains here so seldom that when it does let loose it seems to want to make up for lost time. It poured down for nearly an hour, and during the last of the performance a report greeted us, which was so loud that cattle and horses, as also men, women and children, were frightened thereat. Everybody thought the lightning had struck on the hills close by. It proved to be a cloud-burst which occurred a short distance northwest of town, on the west side of the mountains between Darwin and the road that turns off to the Lucky Jim mine. It tore things generally, and the water in the wash was a running river for two hours afterward.—Darwin News.

THE leaching process has gone into operation at the North Calhoun mine, which is situated in Ormsby county some seven miles above Empire, and back a mile and a half from the river. The company have a fine furnace made of hewn stones and lined with Swansea brick, but expect to do better by the present process. The ore of the lode on which the North Calhoun is situated resembles almost exactly that taken from the Northern Belle. Another company on the same lode recently put 60 ounces into a crucible and got out $31 50 of silver. There will be a clean up made on the 15th, and then the exact measure of the process will be made known. They expect it to go 90 per cent. Their reduction works are situated on the Carson river and run by water.—Virginia Enterprise.

DIDN'T STOP.—Yesterday morning a man who had been taking drinks between drinks found his way into the Oriental saloon, and seating himself in the corner gazed in open-mouthed wonderment at the Pullman carlike appearance of the establishment, then dropped off into a sound slumber, now and then giving voice to a deep grunt, as he doubtless imagined himself being whirled across some bridge or rough part of the road. All at once he jumped to his feet, and seizing Billy Daugherty by the shoulder, exclaimed, "Conductor, where does she stop?"—Eureka Sentinel.

A FOSSIL WALRUS.—A few days ago a workman employed in digging a drain near the Transfer Station, Portland, Me., came upon a collection of bones, which proved upon examination to be the skull, scapulæ, ribs and a few vertebræ of a walrus, lying in the upper clay of the post-pliocene deposits. This is the first discovery of the kind, says the Press, in that vicinity, though similar remains have been found near Montreal in the same geological formation.

ROAD TO INDEPENDENCE.—As a further inducement to build the wagon road over the Kearsarge trail there has been lately some very rich and extensive mines discovered only some eight miles north of the summit where the proposed road would cross, and there is to-day in this valley 100 men who would donate one month's work to the importance of this grand undertaking. It would be the making of this county.—Visalia Times.

A SHERMAN street man, while putting on his good clothes last Sunday, stepped into the kitchen and asked the hired girl for a pin. Her hands were covered with dough, so she just swelled out the bosom of her dress and told him to take one; and this poor awkward man would have been fumbling around for the pin yet if his wife hadn't happened in and bounced the rolling pin off his head.—Deadwood Times.

E. P. RAINS is developing a series of mines in this locality. He is sinking with a view of ascertaining the condition and quantity of water, as surface indications are unreliable. If results are favorable a twenty-stamp mill will be put up. At eight feet he met with a very fine vein of ore, and so much water as to be troublesome. He feels confident of finding plenty of water for his purpose.—Prescott Enterprise.

AS CONVEYING some idea of the force of the flood we may state that a solid iron shaft, three inches in diameter and twelve feet long, was taken up by the torrent at the Eureka foundry and conveyed to a point near the railroad depot, a distance of more than a quarter of a mile. Anvils, crowbars, stoves and quartz wagons were hurled along like so many feathers.—Eureka Sentinel.

UNCLE WILEY WATSON and Jim Hill were the only two of the party that crossed the mountains to Inyo that scaled the lofty cliffs of Mount Whitney. Uncle Wiley and James erected a monument reaching some distance above the highest point on the mountain. They were four hours getting to the top.—Tulare Times.

IT is said that Napoleon the Great had no liking or appreciation for anything humorous. This can hardly be true, for did he not—was not the—well, wasn't Napoleon who — why, who edited the Vendome Column, anyhow?—Hawkeye.

THE Piutes are getting to be as confirmed snobs as the rest of us. They don't treat the passengers on the emigrant cars with half the deference they accord the travelers on the first-class trains.—Reno Gazette.

WE are pleased to state that Andrew Broder, who was badly hurt two or three weeks ago, is able to be around again.—Visalia Delta.

JUDGE R. M. BRIGGS left Wednesday for Jackson, Amador county, where he is called by the serious illness of his son.—Bodie Standard.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 24.....1878.

Edison in Virginia City.

This morning's lightning express was several hours late. It did not arrive till a quarter to two o'clock. When it reached the depot Thomas Edison, the famous inventor, got off, accompanied by Prof. Barker, of the State University of Pennsylvania. Graphy of the Western Union Telegraph Company and a Chronicle reporter were on hand to greet him. Edison did not look at all like the pictures of him in the Popular Science Monthly or Harper's Weekly, as he had grown much fatter since they were taken, having gained eighteen pounds since his trip West. He looks like a green farmer's boy who has come to town to see the sights. He bears his honors modestly, and acts as if he never heard that he was famous.

He is slightly deaf, and when he heard that he was to be interviewed drew a long breath and looked as if the attentions of the past few weeks had wearied him. He consented to talk, however, when the following was elicited from him:

Reporter—I suppose you have just returned from observing the eclipse?

Edison—Yes.

Rep.—How did your tasimeter work?

Edison—Wonderfully. I measured the heat of Vega and Arcturas—that is, comparatively—and both planets deflected the indicator two inches. The corona of the sun, however, deflected it so much that I could not use it. It's the darndest thing to measure heat you ever saw, and astonishes me every time I try it.

Rep.—How far off can you measure the heat of a candle?

Edison—Oh, about 500 feet. If you place a cake of ice a foot thick alongside the instrument, and touch your finger against the further side of the ice, the heat of the finger passing through is measured by the instrument instantly.

Rep.—Do you intend to experiment on the mines?

Edison—Yes, I will see what I can do. I imagine that the resistance of an ore body to an electric current could be utilized to determine the location of the ore and its extent. I am going down in the mines to-day to see how the land lays.

By this time Superintendent Patten had joined the party, and as they stood by the shaft Edison noticed the fact that signals were sounded by ropes and bells, and he remrrked:

"Why don't you use electric signals?"

He was told that they would not work.

"But they must work," he replied positively. "I'll make a drawing to-night, and it's bound to go."

Rep.—Your machine exhibited at the May Festival in San Francisco did not seem to give complete satisfaction.

Edison—It was not my machine, only a crude imitation. The machine in my laboratory talks and sings as well as any human being. You can't tell the imitation from the original voice. The machine exhibited in San Francisco cost about $15 to make and was very imperfect. Mine cost $80 to make and is absolutely perfect.

The operators vouch for the following as a true story on Edison: The morning after he was married a man was passing his office about 4 o'clock, and noticing a light went up. He found Edison in a white vest and claw-hammer coat poring over a new electrical machine. A pair of white kids lay alongside him on the table, and on the floor was a new silk hat. The newcomer touched Edison on the shoulder with, "Tom, I thought you were married last night."

"Married? When? Ah, yes, By Jove, so I was. It must be almost midnight. What'll my wife think if I am not home till 12? I have just discovered what I think is a new and valuable attribute of electricity," and the inventor picked up his hat.

"Tom, it's 4 o'clock."

"Good Gracious! You don't say so." replied Edison, thoroughly startled. "If I start in with such late hours my wife will not expect to see me at all in a few weeks."

And the bewildered inventor then dashed of as fast as his legs could carry him.—Virginia Chronicle.

THERE'S a town in Southern Iowa where the young men are practicing economy, and when there is a dance, and a young lady begins to look hungry, she is rushed off home before she begins to inquire when refreshments will be served. Two objects are thus attained: The young lady does not lose her health by keeping late hours, and the young man has a dollar more to invest in beer.

A LIVELY pupil at a seminary asked the preceptress for permission to drive out with out with a gentleman. "You know the regulations of the institution," was the answer. "Is he your father?" "No." "Are you engaged to him?" "No; but I expect to be before I get back." That answer carried the day.

A Perfect Little Railroad.

If any man thinks it is not wicked to build broad gauge railroads, which cost from $40,000 and upwards per mile, through a sparsely settled country, he ought to go to Tahoe and look at the lumber railroad there. It is nine and a half miles long, three-foot gauge, and has an average grade of 130 feet per mile. The cars carry each an average load of fourteen tons, and twenty-five or thirty per cent. more of the power used is utilized than on the most favorable portion of the mountain sections of the Central Pacific railroad, while the wear of the rolling stock is fifty per cent. less than on the broad gauge road. Despite the grade, and the fact that there are hardly twenty rods of straight track anywhere along the line of the road, the cars dash down at the rate of from twenty to twenty-five miles per hour, and so far there has never been an accident worth mentioning on the road, though this is the third or fourth season that it has been in full operation. It zigzags up the mountain, one track above the other, after the plan first adopted by the engineers of Harry Meiggs in Peru, and the track crosses back on itself, so that in going east you catch the cinders that come from the smoke stack of the locomotive as it was going west a moment before. It looks almost like tempting providence to think of building such a road over such a route, but it is an accomplished fact, and under Superintendent Rodgers' management is as perfect a road as was ever seen. To all the outside districts of this State such a road could be built for from $10,000 to $15,000 per mile, and when completed would, for every purpose of freight or travel, be just as good as the Central Pacific. Such a road can be built for one-third the expense of a broad gauge, and can do the work of the latter at a saving of thirty per cent. in the cost of operating and repairs.—Virginia Enterprise.

COMPENSATION OF POSTMASTERS.—The bill regulating the compensation of Postmasters of the third and fourth class passed the last Congress tacked on to the end of the appropriation bill. On the present plan, which went into effect July 1st, fourth-class Postmasters are to be paid according to the number of postal cards, stamps on periodicals, newspapers, letters and other matter canceled at their office. The Postmasters shall also receive the rental of the boxes entire, and commission on unpaid letter postage collected, on amounts received from waste paper, printed matter and twine sold at the office. The following rate of compensation has been prescribed: On the first $100 or less, per quarter, 60 per cent.; all over $100 and not over $300, per quarter, 50 per cent.; on all over $300 per quarter, 40 per cent. The same to be ascertained and allowed by the Auditor in the settlement of the accounts of such Postmasters upon their sworn quarterly returns. Provided, that when the compensation of a Postmaster shall be $1,000, exclusive of the money order commissions, the Auditor shall report the same to the Postmaster-General, who shall assign him to the proper class, and fix his salary as provided. Finally, Postmasters shall have in this class over $250 per quarter, exclusive of the money order business.

COL. H. H. JONES, editor of the Macon (Ga.) Messenger, was cowhided by a woman, who took offense at some trivial publication. The Colonel did not turn his right cheek, but took the lash from his assailant and severely castigated the husband, who was standing by encouraging his wife on.

THE coin examiner of the Treasury at Washington can detect a counterfeit coin in a heap of money while blindfolded. He runs his fingers through the mass, and in a few minutes each coin is tested. This remarkable power of touch has been perfected only by the practice of many years.

Gold Lace.

Gold lace is not gold lace. It does not deserve this title, for the gold is applied as a surface to silver. It is not even silver lace, for the silver is applied to a foundation of silk. The silken threads for making this material are wound round with gold wire so thickly as to conceal the silk; and the making of this gold wire is one of the most singular mechanical operations imaginable. In the first place the refiner prepares a solid rod of silver about an inch in thickness; he heats this rod, applies upon the surface a sheet of gold leaf; burnishes this down, applies another coating, burnishes this down, and so on until the gold is about one-hundreth part the thickness of the silver. Then the rod is subjected to a train of processes which brings it down to a state of fine wire; it is passed through holes in a steel plate lessening step by step in diameter. The gold never deserts the silver, but adheres closely to it and shares all its mutations; it is one-hundreth part the thickness of the silver at the beginning and it maintains the same ratio to the end. As to the thinness to which the gold-coated rod of silver can be brought, the limit depends on the delicacy of human skill; but the most remarkable example ever known was brought forward by Dr. Wollaston. This was an example of solid gold wire without any silver. He procured a small rod of silver, bored a hole through it from end to end and inserted in this hole the smallest gold wire he could procure; he subjected the silver to the usual wire drawing process, until he had brought it to the finest attainable state—being, in fact, a silver wire as fine as a hair with a gold wire in its center. To isolate this gold wire he subjected it to warm nitrous acid, by which the silver was dissolved leaving a gold wire one thirty-thousandth of an inch in thickness—perhaps the thinnest wire that the hand of man has yet produced. But the wire, though beyond all comparison finer than any employed in manufactories, does not approach in thinness the film of gold on the surface of silver and gold lace. It has been calculatrd that the gold on the very finest silver wire for gold lace is not more than one third of one millionth of an inch in thickness—that is not above one tenth the thickness of ordinary gold leaf.—Coventry Standard.

A STORY is current in Moscow, apropos of Russian official routine, which whether literally true or not, certainly illustrates to perfection the character of the prevailing system. An operatic star of some note, connected with one of the principal Moscow theaters, wishing to make a short excursion into the country, went to get her passport signed by the local authorities. The presiding official received her politely, and having learned her business, inquired for her "written petition." "My written petition!" cried the lady. "I have none; I never knew that anything of the kind was required." "Not required, Madame! on the contrary nothing can be done without it. "What am I to do then?" "Nothing easier; be good enough to take this sheet of paper, and write according to my dictation." The applicant obeyed, and transcribed word for word a formal petition requesting leave of absence from the city for a stated time, which was then duly signed, folded and sealed. "And now," quoth the man in office, "you have only to deliver it." "To whom, pray?" "To whom?" echoed the official, with a slight smile at the absurdity of the question, "to me, of course." The document was accordingly handed across the table. The great man adjusted his spectacles, broke the seal, grimly read over his own composition, folded and docketed it with methodical slowness and then turning to the impatient artiste, said, with an air of official solemnity: "Madam, I have read your petition, and regret to tell you that I am unable to grant it."

Two balloonists, Gilbert and Hayden, have arranged for a balloon race at Cincinnati, $800 being staked, $500 on Hayden's balloon and $300 on Gilbert's. Hayden wagers that with his balloon, which is much smaller, he will rise higher and remain in the air longer than his rival. These gentlemen have omitted what might prove the most interesting part of the programme. After it has been decided who has won the first wager, let them cut their balloon full of holes and see who will beat down. Coming down is by far the most important part of ballooning.

A GIRL in Trenton, N. J., married a Hungarian nobleman, and now she has to take in washing six days a week instead of two, as formerly, in order to support her new title with sufficient style. Promotion in the social scale always brings increased responsibilities with it.

A BOY died recently in London from the effects of a blow on the head with a book inflicted by a teacher in school. This mode of getting knowledge into his cranium appears to have been a total failure, and the teacher is in trouble for trying the experiment.

OF Escobedo, the executioner of Maximilian, the Austin, Texas, Statesman picturesquely remarks: "He will be sent to his home in Mazatlan, and we may never more behold his elongated ears flapping in the sunshine on a Texan prairie."

LITTLE boy—"Mamma. what relation is Auntie's new baby to me?" Mamma—"Your first cousin, dear." Little boy—"Well, ma, who is my last cousin?"

Prescription for Fits.

For a Fit of Passion—Walk out in the open air. You may speak your mind to the winds without hurting anyone or proclaiming yourself to be a simpleton. "Be not too hasty in thy spirit to be angry; for anger resteth in the bosom of fools."

For a Fit of Idleness—Count the tickings of the clock. Do this for one hour, and you will be glad to pull off your coat the next and work like a man. "Slothfulness casteth into a deep sleep, and an idle soul shall suffer hunger."

For a Fit of Extravagance and Folly—Go to the workhouse, or speak with the ragged and wretched inmates of a jail, and you will be convinced "Who makes his bread of briar and thorn Must be content to lie forlorn."

"Wherefore do ye spend money for that which is not bread, and your labor for that which satisfieth not?"

For a Fit of Ambition—Go to the churchyard and read the gravestones. They will tell you the end of man at his best estate. "For what is your life? It is even a vapor that appeareth for a little time and vanisheth away." "Pride goeth before destruction and a haughty spirit before a fall."

For a Fit of Repining—Look about for the halt and blind, and visit the bedridden, the afflicted and deranged, and they will make you ashamed of complaining of your light afflictions. "Wherefore doth a living man complain?"

For a Fit of Envy—Go and see how many who keep their carriages are afflicted with rheumatism, gout and dropsy; how many walk abroad on crutches or stay at home wrapped up in a flannel; and how many are subject to epilepsy and apoplexy. "A sound heart is the life of the flesh. Envy is the rottenness of the bones."

THE New York Tribune says she was only a factory girl, but she had a lead pencil and she had faith. She earned her living in the thread room, and one morning wrote on a clean white spool her name and the words "Wanted, a Husband." When it had been wound with thread it was sent to a South Norwalk shoe factory, where it fell into a man's hands. He opened a correspondence, the girl replied that she was engaged but would find him another as good as she, and a marriage has just taken place as a result of the spool's message. Who says that the age of romance has gone by?

THIRTY Indian convicts from Texas have been sent to the Indiana and Michigan penitentiaries. Among them is Ka-la-lu-la, the Bald-Faced Eagle, charged with killing and scalping two families, ten persons in all. His partner in the crime, Bloody Buffalo, is a tall, well-formed red-skin, with a dark, treacherous eye and teeth as white as snow, which he ground with rage as the chains around his limbs clanked and rattled against the brick floor. So cunning and ferocious were the savages that their guardians did not venture to sleep on the cars while conveying them to St. Louis.

WHILE the pastor of Plymouth Church and his wife were going through the mines at Virginia City the other day, Beecher was provided at the dressing room with a very heavy suit of woolen instead of light clothes. Reaching the lower levels, where the heat is intense, he nearly roasted while the balance of the party were comparatively cool. On arriving at the surface, and after somewhat recovering, he expressed a belief that possibly he might be mistaken about the bottom falling out of hell, but it had evidently slid over into Storey county.

NEW HAMPSHIRE is another of the States wheeling into line on the tramp question. The New Hampshire bill makes begging an offense punishable by hard labor in the State prison not more than 15 months. Entering a dwelling house, carrying fire-arms or threatening an injury subjects one to an imprisonment of two years. Injury to the person or estate of another by a tramp sends him to prison for five years. Any person who prosecutes an offender under this act is entitled to a reward of $10.

"WHAT is the defendant's character for truth and veracity?" asked a Maine lawyer of a witness. "Wall, now, 'squire, she allers used me fust-rate, I'll be blowed ef she didn't. As for voracity, 'squire, why, bless you, that was her big holt. Why, I've seen that air gal eat a whole—" Here the judge asked the witness if he understood the question."

A YOUNG man made his appearance at Deadwood last week in a pair of white trowsers. He was promptly escorted to the cars, put on board them and an injunction placed on him never to revisit the place. "We can stand a biled shirt, you know," a miner exclaimed, "but when it comes to wearin' biled drawers we just make them git up and git."

"YOU'RE drunk, sir!" said the captain to an intoxicated blue jacket fresh from an unlimited absence without leave. "I know I'm drunk," returned the tar, "but I shall get over that. As for you," he went on looking at his commanding officer pityingly, "you're a d—d fool, and you'll never get over that."

ACCORDING to the Revue des Deux Mondes the ostrich hunters of South America, bearing in mind the almost incredible digestive powers of that bird, extract the pepsine from its stomach and sell it for its weight in gold to dyspeptics.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, AUGUST 31.....1878.

COMMISSIONER WILLIAMSON has just made a decision in which the question of pre-emption rights upon school sections of land in California is involved. One Henry Metta, on the 2d of January, 1878, made application under the pre-emption laws for a quarter section of land in one of the townships in Sacramento district. His affidavit, which accompanies the application, shows that he had been on the land 21 years and prior to the survey of the land, and had made expensive improvements upon it. Having deferred making his application beyond the year of survey, within which the law seemed to require it to be filed, the Register and Receiver of the Sacramento Land Office rejected the claim and an appeal was taken to the General Land Office. Commissioner Williamson reviews the facts in the case and laws bearing on the subject, and reaches the following conclusion: "The fact that he deferred making his application for so long a time after settlement and survey can not, in my opinion, affect his present right. The delay was, of course, made at his peril, but in the absence of any intervening right or claim his application must be allowed, provided he has in other respects complied with the law. This, it appears, he has done. You will, therefore reverse your decision and allow the application. The fact that the State has sold the land, if such be the fact, can have no bearing upon the case."

CANDID.—The editor of the Yuma Expositor is a very candid sort of a man to be in the newspaper line of business. His paper appeared on the "half-shell" the other day, and contained this explanation: "We trust the public will accept our apologies for the appearance of this number of the Expositor. The excitement of the election, accompanied by an over-indulgence in mixed whisky, addled our brains and swamped our ideas so that we could not write."

THE Emperor William, of Germany, has received thousands of telegrams, and no less than two hundred addresses since the last attempt upon his life Nevertheless, it has been thought best to immure him in the Castle of Babelsburg, which is surrounded by a park, enclosed with high walls. On these sentinels are placed, with orders to shoot anyone who enters except by the gates.

WE must not drift into monarchical ways. Dr. Fowler, of the Christian Advocate, says so. "Rather than undertake to establish a throne, it would be better for a man to go to sea in a stone boat, with iron oars and leaden sails with the wrath of God for a breeze and hell for the nearest port." Some allowance must be made for the Doctor' He spoke on the Fourth of July.

THE 40-stamp quartz mill of the Gold Mountain Mining Company in Bear Valley, thirty-five miles from San Bernardino, was destroyed by fire a week or two since. The mill was the property of E. J. Baldwin, and has been idle for some time. It was the finest in the county, and cost some $80,000. The fire was doubtless the work of an incendiary. No insurance.

A NEW NEVADA RAILROAD.

A press dispatch from Virginia City, under date of August 25, contains some railroad news quite important to this region, as follows:

"It has been decided to build a railroad south immediately, and to push the work with all speed. It will run from Mound House to Dayton, thence via Sutro to Fort Churchill, cross the Carson there and thence by natural passes to Walker Lake, where steamers will probably be constructed. A branch will be extended to the Nine Mile House, at the foot of the grade up to Aurora. The road will be broad gauge, to connect with the Virginia & Truckee and Central Pacific roads. The distance is 59 miles to the head of Walker Lake. The length of the lake is 30 miles, and from Mason Valley to Aurora by land is 70 miles if run without steamers. This branch is intended to command the trade of Aurora, Benton, Lake District, Bodie and the Great Salt Marsh, and indirectly Marietta, Belleville, Candelaria, Columbus and the new districts toward Belmont, and to help open the country away down to Death Valley."

The road proposed is simply an extensien of the Virginia and Truckee road, owned by D. O. Mills and Wm. Sharon, who are virtually the Bank of California—the institution which within the past two years put all the life into that portion of Nevada's mining country south of the Comstock. It was Mr. Sharon's expressed determination several years ago to extend the road far down this way, and it would now seem that the important work is about to be begun.

Since the ignominious failure of the Los Angeles people to build the Los Angeles and Independence Railroad, under every incentive and favorable circumstance that could possibly exist, it has been evident that if Inyo County ever gets a road at all it must come from northern capital and enterprise—and we may add, northern brains. When Senator Jones succumbed to the apathy of Los Angeles and the power of Stanford & Co., this vast mineral section lost all hopes of development from the southward. The Southern Pacific could control the trade anyhow, and it is not the habit of the anaconda corporation to construct branch roads anywhere. Should they ever want a route connecting the Central and Southern it would probably pass a hundred miles or so to the eastward, though the wealth of this country and its natural passes are well known to them.

But the Nevada road coming this way, so far as can be learned from the rough outline presented in the above-quoted dispatch, will not approach nearer to Independence, about the central point of Inyo, than 135 miles. By stage road to Mojave from here it is 160 miles, or 130 by direct road. It thus appears that the new road will not control the Mono and Inyo trade further south than Benton or Bishop. But from the terminus of the branch, the Nine or the Five Mile House, there is about fifteen miles to the east of Aurora an easy grade over to the table lands on the east side of Mono Lake. And right there will be found inexhaustible supplies of the best description of timber for railroad ties. Thence on to Adobe Meadows, Blind Springs and Owens Valleys, and clear through to the Southern Pacific at Mojave, there is a natural road-bed easier to lay a track upon than an Illinois prairie. Without the plan of ultimately making this grand connection between the two great trunk lines, the road would not be built a broad-gauge. The route is destined at no distant day to become one of the most important arteries of commerce in the Union, connecting southern California, Arizona and New Mexico with the North and opening up the richest and most varied mineral region on the globe. Its entire length from the Mound House to Mojave would be 395 miles.

CHANGED HANDS.—We find the following in the daily Alta, of the 28th:

Frank Kenyon, proprietor of the Bodie Standard, has disposed of his paper to T. S. Harris, of the Coso Mining News, and Fred. Elliott, a well known jorunalist and several times proprietor of a paper. Sickness compelled F. Kenyon to dispose of this valuable property, which is daily growing into importance through the richness of its mines, and we are pleased to see it has fallen into such skilled and industrious hands as Elliott & Harris.

We have no knowledge of Mr. Elliott, but the last remark above applies truly to Mr. Harris, who is just the man to make the Standard a financial success. It is not improbable that this venture will cause either an early change in the proprietorship of the Darwin paper, or, possibly, its suspension and removal of the material to Bodie. Just at present there is but little to sustain a paper at Darwin, but we have faith that things will materially brighten out there ere the snow flies.

OLD ACQUAINTANCES.—Major Egbert's command, comprising companies B, C, D, F and K, Twelfth Infantry—150 men and officers—are en route from Winnemucca, Nevada, to Fort Yuma Arizona. Wonder if Capt. MacGowan wouldn't prefer his old quarters up here at the Post?

THE Leader says that the destruction of property in Eureka by the late flood will not be less than $70,000.

A POLITICAL OPINION.

As Governor Seymour, of New York, has ceased to be regarded as a politician, his ideas on public affairs may no longer be regarded with prejudice on account of his former political associations. The ubiquitous reporter of the New York Herald recently visited the retired statesman at his Deerfield farm, and he talked freely about parties, business, policies, prospects and accomplished results. Mr. Seymour has no fear of a disruption of present party organizations. There is confusion in the ranks of both parties. General distress makes a general discontent. These give birth to various theories about government, labor and finance. Most of these theories are wild and impracticable, but they are useful as they show what thoughts are in the eyes of men. While these theories only show that those who hold them are in trouble, they bring out many facts which may be of value. To cure errors they must be brought to light. Many crude fancies perish when men bring them out and defend them. If really impracticable they fall to pieces under examination. Parties formed on such theories come to ruin before they go into action. The present year will explode many errors, shatter some new parties, and make clear and establish many truths. Mr. Seymour has no fear of the Communists. He regards the prsent agitation as likely to result in good. The Communists may elect some of their nominees, and thus qualify the action of the old parties, bring up new topics for discussion, and and in these ways be of use. He does not think their organization will be long lived. "Not only," he remarks, "are the majority of our people owners of property, but not one poor man in ten would give up his chance of gaining wealth for all the Communists could give him had they full sway. Communism," he concludes, "can only become dangerous in countries where society is so stratified that the laborer has no chance to lift himself above want except by overturning the social and political conditions under which he lives." Mr. Seymour's views on the tariff are quite strongly expressed. "The Communist," he says, "is only a highly developed tariff man, who believes that the Government makes the prosperity of a country, and should interfere with the business of citizens. They both believe the prosperity of one should be given to another to make his business prosperous. The one says this should be done by a division. The other reaches the same end by taxation."

AND here is a paralyzing argument by the Graphic of a recent date: The attention of James Gordon Bennett is respectfully invited to the fact that a fool of a very malignant type has invaded the columns of the Herald. In a leading editorial this morning he twice alludes to the silver dollar of 412½ grains as being "worth only 88 cents." Now, we believe this silver dollar to be worth 100 cents. To test the question, which is right, we will pay 99 cents each for all the new silver dollars Mr. Bennett will deliver at the office of the Graphic. If they are worth only 88 cents, Mr. Bennett will make 11 cents on every dollar; or $11 on every $100; or, $110,000 on every million. Mr. Bennett could effect the transfer of this last amount within a week, and it would be a profitable week's work. Let him either haul off his financial fool or accept our offer; either put up or shut up.

THE National Bankrupt Law, that was enacted in 1867 and has been in full force ever since, expires by repeal on September 1st. The effect of this repeal, which was due in a great measure to the persistent agitation against the law by leading dealers and merchants of New York, will be to revive and give force to the various insolvent laws in existence in different States. Here the insolvent law passed May 4, 1852, and the supplementary Act of March, 1876, will come into force, and jurisdiction over all new cases will be given over to the County Courts. The United States District Courts will continue and finish all cases of bankruptcy commenced before September 1st, but that is all.

THERE are four million dead letters received annually at the Dead Letter Office. Three hundred thousand without stamps; fifty thousand partially addressed; six thousand no address; $1,500,000 of money orders and drafts of money value; forty-five thousand packages containing property; $40,000 in money—nine-tenths of which is returned, the balance remaining in the Treasury, subject to application for four years; fifteen thousand photographs; two hundred and fifty thousand European letters are returned unopened; one-tenth of all letters received contain property; ten thousand applications for letters reported lost, the great proportion being found and delivered.

Gen. Hooker uses strong language about Gen. Grant in speaking of the battle of Lookout Mountain.

Joe Wasson's Travels—Extract From His Latest to the "Stock Report."

In my last letter I predicted that Mono county was destined to lead the State in the production of precious metals. Only those who have been over the ground as to details as well as things in general, of course, can best judge of the soundness of the proposition. Mono county is an open book, as it were, respecting all that is grand and suggestive—wonderful, even, in the way of topographical, geological and mineralogical structure. Mono Lake and its central and outlying hot springs, extinct volcanoes and what not is surrounded by an extensive mass of mountains, separate and distinct as to origin apparently, both from the main Sierra Nevada and the White Mountain ranges. This intermediate range is say thirty miles wide, at most, and sixty in length, the Bodie and Aurora portion to the north looming up to a great hight, as do the mountains to the south of the lake and west of Benton, in which Indian district is located. There is little or no doubt but that the influence which created the mountains on the north also built up those on the south of and adjoining the lake, although there are some mineralogical differences existing. For instance, there is a belt of exceedingly rich silver ore striking through the lower or eastern portion of Indian district, and comparatively little gold and more or less base metal, yet the combination is such as to come within the term of "free milling," as well. The upper or western portion of the district contains a strong belt of large veins of ore, chiefly carrying gold of comparatively easy extraction.

Prof. Wm. P. Blake claims in his report on Bodie, 1863, that the veins here are all built up from a great depth below by hot spring action, and are therefore permanent. Now, if this is the case, the quartz ledges immediately south of the lake must have been created by the same process, and if they are deep in extent as they are wide on the surface, Indian district is destined to overshadow Bodie in genera importance, for the outcroppings of gold and silver-bearing veins in the mountains west of Benton are in many places enormous. Very little depth is yet attained with respect to development, but at all points where sunk upon they increase in richness as at Bodie.

Indian district is an old organization like Bodie, Aurora, etc., dating back to '65, and lay idle and neglected a corresponding length of time. Until two years ago it was quite abandoned, when the Tower mine, of rich "black jack" or zinc, attracted the attention of the Comanche company, owning a mill and operating in the Blind Springs district, pertaining to Benton proper. This company purchased the mine from the discoverers, and are now erecting steam hoisting works thereon. The Tower mine is located in the lower belt of Indian district. In the meantime A. F. Neal and others discovered and laid bare to a depth of 90 feet a very large vein of free milling ore, higher up on the range, which gives promise of developing into one of the leading mines of the coast. The vein has been crosscut at the above depth to a width of 30 feet and it is a question yet whether the full width is reached. The country formation is porphyry and granite, and apparently "in place," so that all the conditions on the surface are very favorable for permanent true fissure veins.

The Neal mine (as it is named) strikes across the country north and south, its croppings at several points being quite bold. The mineral belt in which it is found is at least three miles in length by one or more in width, blending down to the belt of which the Tower is characteristic. Locations have been made in connection, chiefly south, and the prospects for bringing the district into prominence at no distant day are very flattering. Were the Neal mine in the hands of a strong and experienced organization of men instead of comparatively impecunious ones Indian district would soon rival Bodie in importance. The facilities for carrying on mining in Indian district are more favorable than at Bodie, wood being abundant about and water quite as plentiful in the form of springs, besides the weather is much more mild during the Winter season, the fall of snow being insignificant in comparison. The people of Benton have been looking forward to better days as the mining resources in this district, immediately west and south of the town, became known and developed. As a base of supply for Lake district Benton has been convenient, and thereby the place has been relieved from comparative stagnation. The Lake district road passes through Indian district as well, and within a short distance of the Neal and other mines, by an easy grade, so that the question of communication is already solved.

SPIRITUALISTIC CAMPAIGNING.—Spiritualistic campaigning is the chief occupation of some of the idle office-holders about the capital at Carson. Private Secretary Garrard and Judge Leonard of the Supreme Bench are firm believers in spiritualism. Both being rank old politicians they naturally take a deeper interest in politics than anything else. They have a batch of political mediums who dance attendance whenever desired. Gen. Winfield Scott's ghost has been doing the principal part of the business in a national way. Lately, however, Charlie De Long was brought to the front and interviewed in regarding the coming contest in Nevada. When asked if Uncle Broadhorns would go in for a third term he answered "No," with a vigorous kick that sent the table and the Private Secretary to the other end of the room. Mr. Private Secretary Garrard has been sad and down at the heel ever since. The only comfort he has is in the reflection that Charley was not reckoned a first-class political prognosticator in the flesh.—Eureka Sentinel.

....SELECT LIST OF....

Local Newspapers.

MANY PERSONS SUPPOSE THIS LIST TO BE composed of cheap, low priced newspapers. The fact is quite otherwise. The Catalogue states exactly what the papers are. When the name of a paper is printed in full face type it is in every instance the best paper in the place. When printed in Capitals it is the only paper in the place. When printed in Roman letters it is neither the best nor the only paper, but is usually a very good one, notwithstanding. The list gives the population of every town and the circulation of every paper. IT IS NOT A CO-OPERATIVE LIST. IT IS NOT A CHEAP LIST. At the bottom of the catalogue for each State the important towns which are not covered by the list are enumerated. IT IS AN HONEST LIST. The rates charged for advertising are barely one fifth the publishers' schedule. The price for one inch four weeks in the entire list is $635. The regular rates of the papers for the same space and time are $3.136 35. The list includes 970 newspapers, of which 163 are issued DAILY and 807 WEEKLY. They are located in 825 different cities and towns, of which 28 are State capitals, 328 places of over 5,000 population, and 444 County Seats. LISTS SENT ON APPLICATION. Address GEO. P. INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, AUGUST 31.....1878.

MOST ENCOURAGING.—Paul Bennett, Esq., and family returned last evening from a week's visit up the country, Mr. B. himself extending his trip up to Lake district. He reports about 200 people located there, and the outlook for the locality generally most encouraging. The Alpha tunnel, at the distance of over 225 feet, is fairly into the ledge. From the face of the tunnel heading Mr. Bennett broke a piece of ore which he brought to Mr. Curt. Ober, at Big Pine, for assay. The result of two assays gave the highly flattering yield of $259 10, of which $25 11 was in gold. Mr. Bennett considers this, as near as may be, a fair average for the full face of the ore streak, which is no less than five feet in width. The Alpha is certainly a mine of the very finest promise. The Mammoth mill will be ready for operations some time in October. The Mammoth ledge, as we hear from various sources, is what it name indicates—a mammoth in size, but it ore of quite a low grade, perhaps too low to give a certainty of a grand success.

THE BIG TUNNEL.—A San Francisco party consisting of John Neate, Esq., President, and Fred. Homer, one of the Directors, of the Independence Tunnel and Mining Company, accompanied by Capt. F. Williams, arrived in town on Thursday last and started up to the mines yesterday, in charge of Supt. Caldwell. The parties will make a thorough examination of the mines of Kearsarge; possibly go back so far as Cerro Gordo and take a look at properties there and then go northward, taking in Benton, Lake and Bodie. From all we can learn they are the most solid and influential capitalists who have so far ventured a trip from San Francisco into Inyo, and they seem thoroughly convinced of the great mineral wealth of this region. Their opportune visit augurs well for the speedy completion of the most important mining work now going on in the county—the Independence tunnel.

THE COMING ENTERTAINMENT.—As will be seen by the advertisement, our local Dramatic Club offer another entertainment on Friday evening next. Several new members will take parts, while the leading, set piece; the interlude and olio of minstrelsy are entirely new to this region and in some particulars wholly original. Altogether, we feel that this entertainment will be the fullest of fun and generally the most enjoyable of any ever yet put on this stage, and it will be a treat worth coming a long distance to see. The entire proceeds go toward paying for the costly instruments in use by the Independence brass band, which music will add a novel and pleasing feature to the occasion. At the Court House, Friday, September 6.

HOUSEHOLD GOODS.—There is an unwelcome item contained in the announcement elsewhere that Dr. Gelcich, of Lone Pine, is going to leave Inyo, for he has many warm friends to regret his absence. The Doctor offers for sale a lot of valuable household fixtures, as will be noted. Those in need of anything of the sort will do well to see the Doctor.

FREIGHTS FOR LAKE DISTRICT.—Last week two of the C. G. F. Co's. teams passed through here loaded with supplies for the Mammoth company at Lake District. One of these teams (Manley's) had on 25,000 pounds for 18 mules, the other 18,000 for 14 mules. There are 30,000 pounds more for the same company now at Cartago, and a still greater quantity to arrive.

FLOURISHING.—Affairs generally at Bishop and Round Valley are in a very flourishing condition, more so, probably, than at any other period in the history these two farming districts. This change for the better is due to the ready markets found for produce at Benton and Lake district, more particularly the latter as a new one.

FOR LOS ANGELES.—Miss Josie Hughes, step-daughter of J. B. Swearingen, of Bishop, passed through here a day or two since en route for Los Angeles, where she goes for a long term at school. If there is any county in the State that ought to have a high school of its own it's this isolated county of Inyo.

THE ELECTION.—Will the Inspectors of Election at the several precincts forward to THE INDEPENDENT a copy of the returns? The contest comes off on Wednesday next, and it is the duty of every good citizen and tax-payer in the Supervisor district to step up and vote.

HAY PRESS.—The Greenley patent hay press, which is alleged to do the best work of any machine in the State, is being run this season at Bishop, by J. L. Garretson. It is said that hay baled by this press is worth from $1 to $2 more per ton than that by any other.

SALOON.—See advertisement of the old original Bishop Creek saloon elsewhere. Residents thereabouts and parties passing that way will find that John Doyle can dish up spiritual comforts second to none.

THE SILVER SPROUT.—The Rex Montis company have a force at work upon the old Silver Sprout mine. Quite a quantity of good ore is now on the dump, besides some five or six tons that have been packed down to the mill.

JEWELER.—F. Burkhardt, the young jeweler of Lone Pine, has established a workshop in May's building, where he is prepared to promptly execute all work in his line. Give him a call.

WINE.—Our Lokleitems tenders thanks to Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Stewart, of Lone Pine, for a supply of Heidsick, forwarded upon the occasion of their wedding last week. May their honeymoon be never-ending.

COUNTY BOARDER.—One D. Noonan came down from Big Pine under the guidance of Deputy Sheriff Gregg, armed with proper credentials from Justice Campbell, entitling him to board at the county's expense for the period of fifteen days. The distinguished gentleman was a new arrival at Big Pine, and tried to stand off the barkeep for a few drinks. Failing in his effort he went into a laudable business transaction with some Indians, secured the necessary capital and purchased a couple of bottles of the ardent from Harry Burt. Then he proceeded to deliver it to his principals, but Harry caught him in the act, took the whisky, and Mr. Noonan was finally taken into custody by Steve Gregg, with the result stated. The distinguished patron of the hotel de Moore is the gentleman who patronized the barber shop and the Blaney House bar here, a few days ago, and referred to a prominent attorney as the man who would settle for him, on account of a very heavy lawsuit which had been entrusted to him by the distinguished county boarder aforesaid. The attorney mentioned wants to interview him.

KILLED AT LAST.—The mail robber who has manipulated so many stages in northern and southern Arizona, also in New Mexico, was killed by a Sheriff's posse, three and a half miles south of Tucson, last evening about 8 o'clock. His name was Wm Brazleton. He was six feet tall, had blue eyes and weighed 190. A confederate furnished information to the authorities that he would be at a certain place at the time. The mask and other well known disguises, a gold watch and chain and other articles taken from passengers at different times were on his person, but no money. It is supposed the money is hid near town. There is most positive evidence of his guilt in a large number of stage robberies. His betrayer makes a clean breast of the whole affair and gives startling accounts. Great excitement here. He is the man who robbed the stage between Antelope and Wickenburg, and made Ed Peck open the treasure box and Dan Thorne cut the mail bags. Was not concerned in the recent stage robberies near Picacho Station and Maricopa Wells. These latter were committed by four Mexicans. Deputy U. S. Marshal Evans is now is now Sonora in close pursuit of them.—Tucson Star, Aug. 20.

DEVONSHIRE SAVAGES.—There is in the County of Devon, the garden of England, a family at this moment who are rightly described as savages. They have lived for about twenty-five years on their farm of forty acres, worth $200 acre, in a deplorably miserable, tumble-down hovel, consisting of a single room, in which the whole family of eleven persons eat, drink and sleep. No decent looking person can approach the place without being assailed by volleys of filthy abuse, often accompanied by mud, sticks and stones, and they hold no communication with the rest of the parish. They pilfer and rob in all directions, and are the terror of the neighborhood. There have been no fewer than fifty convictions recorded against them, but when they return from jail they recommence operations. All attempts to induce them to sell out have failed.

THE BLESSINGS OF THE RAILROAD. Some weeks ago Messrs. Eckhart & Salkeld, of the Fulton Foundry, submitted the plans of some new machinery to the Ontario mine in Salt Lake. Several other specifications were submitted, but the Fulton Foundry plans were accepted as the best. When the contract was about to be awarded the managers of the mine at Salt Lake discovered that it would cost them $1,600 more on freight to ship the machinery from Virginia City to Salt Lake than from San Francisco to Salt Lake, and as a matter of economy awarded the contract to a San Francisco manufactory. Thus, by reason of a most outrageous discrimination on the part of the Central Pacific Railroad Company, the Fulton Foundry was deprived of a $12,000 job, and thirty men were kept out of employment.—Virginia Chronicle.

A LONG RANGE TALK.—Mr. A. C. Pratt, Superintendent of the Nevada and California Telegraph Company, brought up a pair of telephones with him from Genoa. Saturday morning he attached them to the wires in the office at Bodie, and commenced talking with parties in the former place, nearly a hundred miles away. A Standard reporter was introduced to Mr. Fred. Davis, operator in Genoa, and had some little conversation with him. The reporter also listened to a song by a lady in Genoa—and very excellent singing it was, too. The voices sounded a considerable distance off, but were yet quite distinct, and one voice could easily be distinguished from another.—Bodie Standard.

A GREAT invasion of kangaroos recently occurred in various settled parts of Australia, especially Queensland, the animals being no doubt, driven from the interior by the drought and its effects, in seach of food. They came in thousands, devouring everything in the shape of herbs and grain, so that the sheep and cattle were often reduced to dry leaves for fodder. The colonists met the attack promptly, driving the kangaroos into enclosures and shooting them. In one such battle more than 4,000 kangaroos were killed in four days.

MR. W. J. FLORENCE has been nominated "juror for the United States in Class 75, champagne wine and all fermented liquors," at the Paris Exhibition. The London Hornet says the celebrated actor may be a good judge of wine, but the task he has undertaken is a heavy one. There are, it appears, about ten thousand bottles to be adjudicated upon, and the juror will have to tackle about two hundred and fifty bottles daily in order to get through.

SAID Bishop Foster, of the Methodist Church, in a recent sermon: "There is no evidence that death is an everlasting sleep, but there is evidence — not enough, not fully satisfying — that there is life beyond the grave."

The Lead Market.

The last number of the Engineering and Mining Journal at hand has the following: "We have reported sales of about 400 tons of common lead at 3⅛ cents, which is still the market price. In this number of our paper we publish another letter from our correspondent, who has visited Colorado with the express purpose of studying the production of lead in that State and its bearing upon the lead markets of the United States and, in fact, of the world. He says that for the present the limit has been reached at which "lead can be produced with living wages to the miner," but that in the future the cost of mining and marketing and marketing may be reduced. Such being the case, it is but safe to predict that those who have mines and cannot profitably produce lead at the ruling market price will speedily introduce these economies to enable them to do so. Mines will have to be opened up under the management of good mining engineers, and upon such a scale as to insure every possible economy, and proper pumping and hoisting machinery will have to be erected. If material awaits transportation it can not be long, even in these times, until railroads will be built to transport it. We have heard the cry of "no further economies can be introduced" applied to many industries, and we have steadily seen reductions in cost surpassing the expectations of those who expected the most. The success of the lead industry, like that of some other branches of trade, is dependent in the future upon the employment of brains, and not mere brute force. We have seen evidences of mines and furnaces worked by skilled engineers operated successfully while those about them were losing money. It is being done to-day, and can be continued in the future. There is but one thing that may check the production of lead, and that is the inability to induce capitalists to invest a sufficient amount of money to open up the mines properly, erect suitable reduction works and construct the necessary lines of transportation. When we speak of introducing economies, we do not wish to be understood as meaning that the poor miner shall stand more than his share. Lead, in connection with silver, can be produced largely and profitably in the West. And this will certainly enter as a very important element in the regulation of the lead market of the future.

IT is by no means certain that the trouble with Turkey is over. The obligations placed upon her by the Congress of the Great Powers she declares she cannot fulfill on account of her poverty. Austria has unexpectly encountered serious difficulty in occupying Bosnia, and it is believed that the insurgents are secretly encouraged by the Turkish government. The evacuation of Batoum is delayed. It refuses to surrender territory assigned to Montenegro by the Congress, and the excuse for not carrying out the Berlin treaty is that it has not the means of doing so.

NOTHING is too good for the Earl of Beaconsfield just now. When he went to Osborne the other day to visit the Queen he traveled in one of the royal saloon carriages, the superintendent of the line drove the train, as he does when the Queen travels, and the platforms in Victoria Station were covered with crimson cloth. No wonder Mr. Gladstone is disturbed.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, AUGUST 31.....1878.

THEN AND NOW.—Prof. Du Bois Reymond is writing a notable series of articles for the Popular Science Monthly concerning the uprising of the modern scientific idea. He takes occasion to contrast the present with the past, as follows: "Man, whom we first met as a tool making animal, is now become a rational animal who travels by steam, writes with lightning and paints with the sunbeam. The reconversion into work of the sunlight stored up in "black diamonds" multiplies his energy a million fold. The Seven Wonders of antiquity, the engineering works of the Romans, bear no comparison with the enterprises every day undertaken by our own generation. The periphery of our planet threatens to become too narrow for man's genius. Hardly any secrets do its heights and depths conceal from him. Whithersoever man is powerless to go bodily, his mind penetrates with the aid of the magic key of calculation. In the blackest night, on the stormiest sea, his bark steers the shortest course, she dextrously shuns the track of the destroying typhoon. Geology does all that the divining rod was once supposed to do, giving us a plentiful supply of water, salt, coal and petroleum."

CRUIKSHANK'S FAIRIES.—Cruikshank is famous for his elves and imps, fairies and goblins. No artist has ever surpassed him in this department. From the goat-footed devils in the "Ingoldsby Legends," to the dancing elves in the famous picture in Grimm's "Household Stories," all the aspects of the extra-human world of popular superstition in England are familiar to him, and portrayed with a vivacious reality all his own. A lady says to the writer: "But none of his fairies are pretty." Alas! fairies never were pretty, except in very modern books for children. The genuine fairy, so to speak, was a tricky, capricious, ill conditioned sprite, doing good but rarely, and for definite purposes of its own, doing harm as a rule, and by nature. There is only one Titania and one Oberon. Cobweb and Mustard-seed, Moth and their fellows, were big-headed, prick-eared little scamps, in need of bats' wings for their coats, and kept out of mischief by being stationed on watch around their sleeping queen.

THE MURDERER TOM LAWTON.—The following is an accurate description of the murderer Tom Lawton. It is desired that the press throughout the State and the adjoining States and Territories copy this description, in order that the ends of justice may be reached: Tom Lawton is about 5 feet 7 or 8 inches in hight; slim and trim built; almost black hair and moustache—the moustache is understood to have been shaved off; complexion fair; deep set dark eyes; face inclined to be sharp, particularly the nose; weighs about 140 pounds; age about 26; inclined to be genteel, and generally is well dressed; he sometimes wore a gray suit, and at other times a blueish or brown coat with the corners cut round; he is inclined to drink freely.—Record-Union.

AN unknown rhymer thus tells the story of the first bonanza:

When Sampson sallied forth to smite
The foes that gathered 'round him,
His king spoke out, pale with affright,
"Think you that you can pound him?"

He paused a moment—thought it o'er,
And quickly said, "I can sir."
He then gave them a jack mule's jaw,
Which proved a "big bone answer."

SEVEN-YEAR OLD—"Grandma, Mother Shipton says the world will come to an end in 1881. Is that true?" Grandma—"No, dear, for in the Bible we are told, 'Of that day and hour knoweth no man,' etc." Seven year old—"Ah, but Mother Shipton was a woman."

MENTOR—"Remember Richelieu's words, sir, 'In the bright lexicon of youth there's no such word as fail.'" Incorrigible—"Ain't there? Well it's jolly lucky the word's in the bright lexicon of middle life, then—three failures have made me."

THE three sales in Paris of ex-Queen Isabella's diamonds realized nearly $200,000. The highest price obtained for a single ornement was $64,000, which was paid for a set of ear-rings by a collector of jewels.

THE Mohawks of Canada, like the school-boys of Eton, still celebrate with much enthusiasm the birthday of one of the Georges, George IV being the Indians' patron.

"How greedy you are!" said one little girl to another, who had taken the best apple in the dish; "I was going to take that."

CUSTOMER—"What do I want? I want a revolver." Shopman—"How many barrels?" Customer—"For six persons."

HALSTED is extremely fanatical. He kicked a man out of his office the other day because he had been drinking too much ice-water.

How to Locate a Mining Claim.

The Nevada City Herald extracts the following from the instructions of the Commissioner of the General Land Office. If parties wishing to secure their mineral discoveries would pay strict attention to these directions, they would often be saved much expense in the courts, and much trouble generally.

The claimant should, prior to recording his claim, unless the vein can be traced up on the surface, sink a shaft, or run a tunnel or drift to a sufficient depth therein to discover and develop a mineral bearing vein, lode or crevice; should determine, if possible, the general course of such vein in each direction from the point of discovery, by which direction he will be governed in marking his boundaries on the surface, and should give the course and distance as near as possible from the discovery shaft on the claim to some permanent, well known point or objects, such, for instance, as stone monuments, blazed trees, the confluence of streams, points of intersection of well known gulches, ravines or roads, prominent buttes, hills, etc., which may be in the immediate neighborhood, and which will serve to perpetuate and fix the locus of the claim and render it susceptible of identification from the description thereof given in the record of locations in the district.

In addition to the foregoing data, the claimant should state the names of adjoining claims, or if none adjoin, the relative positions of the nearest claims; should drive a post or erect a monument of stones at each corner of his surface ground, and at the point of discovery or discovery shaft, should fix a post or stake upon which should be designated the name of the lode, the name or names of the locators, the number of feet claimed, and in record, in addition to the foregoing description, should state whether the entire claim of 1,500 feet is taken on one side of the point of discovery, or whether it is partly upon one and partly upon the other side thereof, and in the latter case, how many feet are claimed upon each side of such discovery point.

Within a reasonable time, say twenty days after the location shall have been marked on the ground, notice thereof, accurately describing the claim in the manner aforesaid, should be filed for record with the proper Recorder of the district, who will thereupon issue the usual certificate of location.

FOLLOWING is a rule for measuring a tree or other standing object, which the Journal of Forestry says is correct enough for all practical purposes: Place a small mirror in a level position on the ground at a slight distance from the tree, then step backward until the top of the tree is reflected in the center of the mirror. The height of the tree equals your height, multiplied by the distance of the tree from the mirror, divided by your distance from the mirror.

LIKE all Rome urchins, a Liberty street youth, just ready for his first trowsers, is familiar with Bible history and careful of his playthings. The other day he asked his mother whether David, who killed Goliath, took good care of his playthings. "Oh, certainly," responded the encouraging parent. "Well," said the ambitious youth, "the reason I asked was, I would like to borrow David's sling, if his folks are willing."—Rome Sentinel.

KEARNEY to the Heathen Chinee—"By the heavens above and the stars that are in it; by the sun that shines by day; by the earth and all its inhabitants, and by the hell beneath us, the Chinese must go." Heathen Chinee—"You no Melican man; dustee you sellee."

"WHY does lightning so rarely strike in the same place?" Prof. Wortman asked the new boy in the class in natural philosophy. "Huh," said the new boy, "it never needs to." And it is a little singular that nobody had thought of that reason before.—Hawkeye.

The Coming Railroad.

As the work of really commencing a railroad south is about to be certainly inaugurated, the advantages which will follow are more clearly recognized. Already there is much activity in securing lands contingent to the railroad, and we expect by this time next Summer every drop of Walker river will be diverted for irrigating purposes. There are still many sections of Government land lying unappropriated in Mason's Valley, and it is, too, the very best land in the State. The soil is nine feet deep, and with water (which, as yet, is easy obtainable) will produce anything that grows in this latitude and at this altitude. By probably the first of January next that land will be but three hours removed from Virginia City. Men with small means who are familiar with farming should not let this opportunity pass. There are a good many miners on the Comstock who do not lay up very much money during the year. Suppose any four of them should agree to go and take up 640 acres of that land. Once located one could attend to it while three remained here at work. Of the four dollars which they each receive daily, suppose half was given to the man on the ranch. With that he could in a year get in his water, clear off the brush and be ready so by a year from next April he would have the whole tract subdued and seeded. He would then have a better farm than any on Truckee Meadows (save house, barn and fences), and on Truckee Meadows they hold their farms at $100 per acre. At half that sum this farm would be worth over $30,000. But in this article we wish merely to call attention to the advance in population and taxable property which Esmeralda county will experience by the leading of the iron horse into her fastnesses. A hundred little valleys will blossom with homes, and the mining operations of the county will double in extent within a year. With the road done to within striking distance of Aurora, even Lake District, away down in Mono county, will be but twenty hours' ride from here. With the road finished to Walker Lake, Austin will be but eighteen hours' ride. With the road to the lake, Marietta will be but six hours' ride from here, Downieville but seven hours away, Belleville but ten hours distant, Grantville but fourteen hours distant, and Belmont but twenty hours' ride from Virginia City. But the chief objective points now are Bodie and Aurora. It is to those two points that the chief freight and travel will be drawn at first. Bodie is the modern mining marvel, and if within a year or two Aurora does not expand into a city nearly or quite as populous as Virginia City, then there is nothing in outside indications. With the road done to that point, there will be a call for more great engines and pumps, and the work done on the Comstock will be repeated there. And somewhere on the line of this road will be a distributing depot for Benton, Cerro Gordo and Independence, and the great valley of Owens River will begin to assume new prominence. From some other point there will be quick communication with a salt mountain, and that trade alone will go far toward defraying the running expenses of the road. The road, too, will make a demand for lumber which will start a thousand axes on the Sierras. The little road is going to electrify Southern Nevada as it was never awakened before. — Virginia Enterprise.

THE FORMATION OF QUARTZ.—A San Francisco engineer and metallurgist, J. Mosheimer, writes to the London Mining Journal as follows: A further proof of the formation of quartz from aqueous solutions has presented itself in a steam boiler in use in one of the Nevada mines. A boiler of four feet in diameter and provided with five flues, had been in use for some years, but little attention had been paid to cleaning it or blowing it off, as it is called, and a sediment accumulated until it reached the first two flues. The whole of the interior was heavily incrusted, and as it conducted too little heat the boiler had to be replaced by a new one. After cutting the former to pieces my informant, Mr. E. Watkins, M. E., found a heavy incrustation all around the inside. At the bottom of the boiler a soft sediment was found, which was overlaid by another hard crust. The flues were incrusted on top by silicate of lime, and had at the bottom a coating of solid transparent crystals of quartz; the crystals were of rhomboidal shape, about one half inch in length, and as perfect as any other natural quartz crystals. The formation of quartz crystals of considerable size in boiling water in but a few years leads me to the belief that the large quantities of granulated quartz which were found in early days in the Burning Moscow mine, on the Comstock lode, were of the same origin. As quartz can be decomposed and made soluble by the action of steam in combination with an alkali, and then used as soluble silicate, it establishes in itself the theory of its formation from aqueous solution.

EGG TOAST.—Take and beat up five eggs in a good-sized pan, put a pint of milk in another. Then toast seven or eight slices of bread, dip into the milk and then into the egg, fry in hot lard, put on a plate and sprinkle with sugar. Very nice for breakfast.

A GOOD book and a good woman are excellent things for those who know how to appreciate their value. There are men, however, who judge of both from the beauty of the covering.

SOMEBODY has discovered that whenever the grain is cut and hauled in, the tramp makes his appearance on the stubble and demands work or bread.

A London Newspaper Office.

A correspondent of the Philadelphia Times writes from London an account of his visit to the office of the London Times. He says:

There is a large dining-room and restaurant in the building, where all the men get their meals who wish, at cost, except a trifle above, which goes into a sick fund for the benefit of employés. In the basement is a large machine shop, where I saw at least twenty hands at work, and where a large number of Walter printing machines have been built, besides those employed in the office. In the press-room are eight of these machines in daily use, each one printing 12,000 newspapers in an hour, in all 100,000 every 60 minutes they are in motion. In the paper-room was a considerable store of paper in reels, weighing 800 pounds each, and 40 of these reels are used in every issue of the Times. They go to press about 1 A. M., and get off before 3, and I was told by Mr. MacDonald that within 20 minutes after the last form is locked up the matter is stereotyped and six presses are running. I was shown into a room where there were wires connecting with all parts of the continent, and within arms reach stands a type-setting machine, managed by two boys, to which the telegraphic slips are passed. They can set up and correct as much as six columns of matter in an evening, which is sent down through a pneumatic tube, by which channel all the matter reaches the stone. In another room room are two sets of wires running to Parliament, from which full dispatches are received while the two houses are in session. In a room connected with the machine shop are two type-making machines, which are kept constantly at work, and Mr. MacDonald told me that he found it cheaper to make type than to distribute it. The business room is on the first floor, and then there is an "inquiry room," where information is furnished to those outside who have the right to ask it; several rooms that are devoted to the advertising department, and others for the editorial staff, which is large. The establishment is complete in all its parts, and the employés find beneath the Times' roof every necessary comfort and convenience to be had in a good hotel. The new building is not quite completed.

YELLOW FEVER—ITS SYMPTOMS AND HORRORS.—We find the following in an exchange in regard to the plague now devastating the South:

The first personal intimation that you have of the fever is the same as with all the malignant febrile class of diseases. There is a slight headache, violent pain in the nape of the neck, extending down the spine, accompanied by a slight anguish shivering. You must go to your bed and your medicine at once when you feel these symptoms; and then if you have youth, have lived a temperate life and your parents have given you a good constitution, why, you may thank God; for these will do more to resist the fatal effect of the disease than all the doctor can do. Good, intelligent and careful nursing is even better than the physician and his medicines. Soon you commence to burn. Your head feels quadrupled in size, your pulse mounts up to over a hundred, and the blood courses through its channels hot as lava, and every vein and artery is tingling with the accelerated speed and pressure of the vital fluid. Then after a day or two of this kind of suffering you find forgetfulness in delirium. The problem of life or death is decided by your state when this delirium is over. If you are young and strong you may build up again from a condition of almost pitiable weakness; if not, you awake from temporary oblivion only for a short time before you pass into that state forever. Meantime there is a vile smelling, yellowish exudation from the surface of the body which turns the skin the color of a pumpkin rind, and dyes the bed-linen and clothing the same odious color. The smell is intolerably sickening, but has to be borne, as in many cases physicians insist that the patient shall not be disturbed, and further that he must lie in one position. The convalescent stage is not free from danger. It is at this period that the patient requires the utmost attention of the nurse, particularly if he happens to be sick in the Autumn months. The northers that visit Texas extend their effects, but in a greatly modified degree, to Louisiana, and a sudden cooling of the air may give the convalescent a congestive chill that will snap his life thread in a minute. "El vomito negro," as the Spaniards call it, and as we name it in our vernacular the "black vomit," is, in a great many instances, the last scene that ends the yellow fever victim's life. It is not so often the attendant of the disease in the Southern States as it is in the coast ports of Mexico, and in Cuba and other West Indian cities.

THE RAILROAD.—Work on the railroad from the Mound House to Bodie is soon to be commenced. D. O. Mills (who was in Virginia Wednesday morning) and others interested in the enterprise started out over the line of the proposed road Thursday to take a look at the "lay of the land." Preparations are being made to bring ties and rails to the Mound House, the initial point from which the work will be pressed forward as rapidly as possible.—Esmeralda Herald, Sept. 14.

A LEWISTON pauper living at the city almshouse recently offered up the following prayer: "O, Lord, bless the boss of this house; be with him daily, and with all his'n; but especially, Oh, Lord, we ask Thee to make different arrangements in that cook-room."

ISRAEL PUTNAM'S wolf-den adventure at last has a parallel. Elmarine Bracket, of Texas county, Missouri, a young fellow of sixteen, crawled nearly fifty feet underground, and killed four wolves in their den with a knife and spear; afterward he dragged them forth from the cave one at a time.

A MICHIGAN man by feeding a tramp accidentally found a long lost brother of his wife. We supposed this should be taken as a terrible warning against something or other, because he has had to keep on feeding him ever since.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 21.....1878.

A DOMESTIC TRAGEDY.—At Visalia, about half past 9, on the 15th, occurred another of those terrible domestic tragedies and scandals. William J. White had reasons to suspect the fidelity of his wife, believing that for some time previously she had been holding criminal relations with Dr. A. B. Mehring, County Physician. To satisfy himself, he gave his wife to understand that he should be absent from home till the following day, intending to go to Tipton. Instead of doing so, he got back quietly into his own house about 8 o'clock, and secreted himself under a bed in a room adjoining that occupied by his wife. Soon after Mrs. W. sent two little girls, there on a visit, to this bed to sleep, herself and children also retiring for the night. About 9 she signaled to her paramour by lighting and extinguishing a candle. He came and was received by the woman at the bed-room door, she in night clothing. A few minutes later White slipped into the room, and found the pair on the floor. The woman, seeing her husband, shrieked with affright and astonishment; the doctor, after listening to a brief address from White, such as might be expected under the circumstances, attempted to escape through the door, but was caught by White, who sprang upon him with the ferority of a Bengal tiger. A terrible struggle ensued, both being powerful men, the doctor begging for his life, the husband striking blow after blow with a large pocket knife, which, he says, he had opened with his teeth after he had caught hold of the doctor. The blade of the knife was broken to a stub almost at the first blow, else the struggle would doubtless have ended long before it did. After inflicting over forty wounds, mostly slight, White finally succeeded in cutting the prostrate man's throat from ear to ear, with this stub of a blade, almost severing the head from the body. The affair produced an intense excitement, as well it might. Opinion was about equally divided, there being many strongly in favor of lynching White forthwith. It is admitted the woman made the appointment, having visted the doctor at his office twice that afternoon, and for the purpose. Her subsequent flimsy explanation of the affair up to the moment of the husband's interference, leaves the impression that she is little else than a fool, therefore it would have been enough for her unfortunate husband to have simply told her and her paramour to travel, instead of doing desperate murder to give depth to a life-long shadow, already black enough. The unfortunate husband will be remembered by many in this locality from the fact that he spent a part of last year in this valley, having a band of sheep, and being known as "Big White, the Tulare man." [He made himself more generally known by the active part he took in election matters, more particularly in the Fowler interest for State Senator, and on which account he became a registered voter, though his family had their home then and since at Visalia. Nevertheless, he was well thought of by all who made his acquaintance.

LAST Saturday's issue of the Darwin News contained Harris' farewell to that locality, and the announcement that with that issue the News would cease to exist, as the material would be immediately removed to Bodie, and there merged into the Tri-Weekly Standard office, recently purchased by Harris & Elliott. There was a time prospectively, but never in reality, when the business interests of this county were of volume and stability sufficient to afford a respectable support for two papers—in honest truth, hardly for one, to give its proprietors a reasonable respite from office drudgeries so that they might see for themselves something of immediate surroundings and transactions to enable them to produce what is called a "good and reliable paper." Having had such a long drawn out realization of the truth of the above remark we have no regrets to offer for this withdrawal except for the manifest cause, namely, that the promises of the locality and country generally have not been fulfilled, or anything approaching it, else there would have been no occasion for this suspension. In other words, we feel satisfied this change has more promise of good fortune to our late neighbor than to ourselves, but nothing to the contrary for either, and so good fortune we wish him in his new field.

THE Sargent-Page-Chronicle lipel suit is on again, with the plaintiffs' chances decidedly more promising than before, when politics blinded a blind jury.

THE State tax has been fixed at 55 cents on the $100. Last year it was 69 cents.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS.

As the time is at hand for actual work in framing a new State Constitution, it is well for all classes to give some thought to the important business. It is possible to frame a new fundamental law that will enhance the prosperity of our State very much; it is just as possible for evil to come through some experiment. Society in this State, and throughout the whole country, is just now in a condition to demand and accept almost any change that gives the least promise of ameliorating certain prevailing evils. There is no question but society expects too much of the law or government, both State and National; it is in that condition just now to demand remedies for existing evils most of which are beyond the power of any government that ever existed to provide. So, it does not matter how well this Convention may acquit itself, how grand an instrument it may frame it is sure to fall short of the hopes of all those people who believe the State can do such wonderful things in the way of making good times for everybody—plenty of work at big wages, and all that sort of thing. State Constitutions cannot arrange a schedule of prices for merchandise, nor of labor, nor open or close special lines of labor or trade for or against this or that class of people. Those sand-lot orators will have just as much to howl about after this Convention has exhausted every resource to aid them that they now have.

Those people and others as well seem to have very crude notions, both as to the power and province of this Convention. It is in no sense a legislative body; can neither make or break any law of direct application; can only provide a way by which laws may be made, and yet prohibit enactments of certain kinds, the latter power quite as important as the former. Many who talk about what this body ought to do seem to overlook the difference between its line of duties and those of a State Legislature, and consequently look for laws when only a basis for law is possible. Not bearing that fact in mind, a good many are led to hope for immediate relief at the hands of this Convention, where relief of some of the evils complained of could not come even if this body had full legislative powers, and must be a work of time in any event.

We note a number of propositions offered for the consideration of this Convention upon which no action can be had, as demanded, unless the Convention undertakes purely legislative work. One gentleman proposes, for instance, that salaries of all public officers be limited by Constitutional provision. It strikes us that that should be the business of the Legislature proper. At the same time, it would be a pretty good thing to require the concurrence of two consecutive Legislatures to amend or repeal a salary law as well as many others of like nature; in fact, all such laws as are in any manner subject to enactment or change through mere partisan action. It is possible by some such provision to prevent a good deal of bad legislation, and also to greatly lessen the lobby evils. But, without attempting any deductions or arguments pro or con just now, we will now simply name for public consideration a few of the proposed Constitutional changes.

Non-taxation of intangible property, such as growing crops.

Taxation of mining and other stocks at market values.

Separate assessment of lands by the smallest legal subdivisions, whether the poor man's forty acres or the rich man's forty thousand, each subdivision according to grade and value without reference to improvements.

United States Senators from this State to be elected by direct vote of the people.

All pending decisions in the higher Courts to be rendered within a limited time not exceeding six months.

Defalcation in office to be treated as felony.

Suffrage to be declared a duty of citizenship, and to be enforced by proper legislation.

Railways to be declared public highways, so as to bring questions of fares and freights clearly within legislative jurisdiction.

Provide that the right of eminent domain shall not be abridged so as to prevent legislative control over corporation and individual franchises and property used for public purposes.

Provide absolutely for the maintenance of a liberal public school system, and as absolutely against any division or appropriation of any public moneys for sectarian purposes of any description.

A change in the judiciary system, as suggested by Judge Heydenfelt in a recent pamphlet.

The foregoing contains a few of the more important changes proposed by different parties for our State Constitution. We shall revert to them again.

In and Around Benton—What the Mines and Mills Are Doing—Mining Interests in General.

We present in the following a report (necessarily laid over last week) of late mining and milling operations in and around the steady-going town of Benton, in the southern portion of our neighboring county of Mono. The town itself bears every indication of enjoying a healthful prosperity; business appears to be good, and quite a number of new houses and business establishments attest a steady growth. We shall proceed to speak of the mining interests by first referring to

THE COMANCHE,

Which is now under the superintendency of A. Morgan, the mill being in charge of Robert Burnham. Under the present management the old Comanche mine has been abandoned, at least for the present, and work confined to the Kerrick and the Tower—the latter being a recent purchase of the company's. In the Kerrick a force of some twenty-five miners is employed extracting the rich, black ore so pecular to and found only upon Blind Spring Hill. The mine is being systematically exploited and shows well, though of itself cannot supply ore sufficient to keep the mill running more than half the time. At the Tower mine, which is located at Yellow Jacket, some eight miles south of the town, work is going on under contract. In the shaft a 30-inch vein of $300 ore has been developed; it is continuous, and the amount extracted merely in sinking will figure very largely in the bullion product of the fortheoming run. The ore is entirely different from the Blind Spring rock, and would be readily taken for the richest product of the Comstock, as to appearance and quality. Steam hoisting and pumping works have recently been put in place, so that deep working is practicable and cheap. As is generally known,

THE COMANCHE MILL

Consists of a battery of 10 stamps, using a No. 50 screen and crushing from 10 to 12 tons per day. Its main feature is the Howell's improved White furnace, through which all the ore passes. Four Stevenson pans and four settlers, working independent of each other, a quicksilver pump, etc., complete the works—the whole being driven by a heavy Corliss engine. Several improvements and new modes of handling the ore have been introduced during the past few months, which will be known only to those in charge until the result of experiments further demonstrate success. Enough has been done, however, to show that material which has heretofore been lost is now worked to nearly as good advantage as clean ore, being chlorinated to 95 per cent. in some cases, while during the last run the ore has been chlorinated to 98 per cent.

COMANCHE BULLION.

To give an idea of the richness of Benton ores, as well as to present interesting facts, we add the following statement of the bullion product and shipments, with ores worked, for the past four months: For May, in a run 9 days, 74 tons of company ore, amounting to $13,933 75; 12½ tons of custom ore, amounting to $5,112 85; total, $19,046 60; bullion shipped, $17,222 61. In June, 15 days' run, there were worked 110½ tons of company ore, producing $14,897 30; 18¾ tons custom ore, yielding $4,665 52; total, $19,562 84; bullion shipped, $18,302 71. In July, with a run of 13 days, 100 tons company ore, $18,154 30; custom ore, 23 tons, $8,601 26; total, $26,755 56; shipments, $26,067 02. August—62 tons of company ore from the Kerrick, $8,919 43; 34 tons of company ore from the Tower, $5,851 03; pulp from furnace flues, old workings, $3,336 13; total, $18,106 59; shipments, $17,367 86, in a run of 10 days. For the present month the mill started up on the 18th instant for the longest run of the season.

THE DIANA.

Work in the Diana mine is being proscuted upon the 600-foot level, drifting and sinking, in some ore and very good ground, carrying the most favorable indications of the close proximity of a body of ore. The little

MILL,

Under the immediate supervision of C. H. Aaron, the well-known metallurgist, has of late been mainly employed in working over old tailings. The process of reducing the rebellious ores in these works is that known as Aaron's, or with barrels and copper balls instead of roasting. The Diana ore consists mainly of the mineral called partzite, the higher grades containing a good deal of chloride, while the lower are mixed with ironstone No chemicals are used except salt, as the decomposition of the native chloride by copper furnishes the chemical for the other silver compounds, and as the ore carries an abundance of copper carbonates, iron, in proper quantities, is advantageously substituted for copper balls in the barrels. Lately, Mr. Aaron worked some rich ore entirely with iron borings, and subsequently found that oyster cans and other old tinware answered the purpose so well that he worked ore of $400 per ton to 98 per cent with them. The feature of the works is the high per centage of silver extracted, averaging 95, and the fineness of the bullion, which runs from .860 to 980. The

BULLION SHIPMENTS

From the little 5-stamper recently have been as follows: For May last, from ore, $12,672; in June, $6,922 70, from old tailings, and in August from the same source, $7,412 97. The average assay of the first lot of tailings left on the ground by a former management was $102 per ton, of which there was 93 per cent extracted. There remains to be worked some 250 tons of these tailings, which will work over $40 per ton. A fact in connection with the

ASSAYING OF BULLION

Is worthy of note. In all lots of $5,000 and upward sent to the Pacific Refinery their assays invariably fell short of Mr. Aaron's by some $20 or $30. In a shipment to the San Francisco mint amounting to over $6,000 the assays agreed to within 60 cents.

THE INDIAN QUEEN

Mine and mill, situated in Hutch's Cañon, White Mountains, takes a position among the prominent mining properties centering at Benton. It is under the energetic management of our old Inyo miner and mill-man, Thos. J. Hubbard. The Queen mine is among the oldest worked in the district, and is quite as well developed as any. Some five long tunnels cut into the ledge, from the lowest of which comes more rich ore than the little mill can get away with. Bullion shipments have been very regular, and the very favorable appearance of the mine insures a long run. Up to the 14th instant bullion to the amount of $22,000 had been shipped during a 35 days' run, since which date four additional bars have been sent.

OTHER PROPERTIES,

Chief among which is the great gold and silver belt of Indian district, containing a score or more of very large and most promising mines, a description of which would occupy more space than can be accorded them this week, will come under mention in our next issue.

NOTICE—PERSONAL.

HAVING BEEN REPEATEDLY WARNED BY friends of the ominous threats of two persons who claim the taking of my life's blood as the only means of satisfying a bottled-up hatred and meting out crude vengeance under the cover of darkness and by the stroke of an assassin's hand, I take the liberty of addressing them this notice as the only means I have of bringing a personal matter to their attention. While I trust the uninterested will not think for an instant this a brave challenge, I do ask of the would-be assassins that they meet me fairly as men, and adjudicate as they please any grievance they may have, fancied or real, and not seek to strike in the dark as did the one whom they are so zealous to avenge. No more advantage need be taken of my absence, as I may be addressed or found at this place at any time.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 21.....1878.

THAT CATFISH BUSINESS. — As there was not quite money enough subscribed ($500) to carry out that Owens river catfish project last Spring, nothing came of it. Every locality in the county came down liberally on the subscription except Bishop, the very one of all others that, from its superabundance of splendid streams for fish of all kinds, might have been expected to have done something worth while toward stocking not only the river and creeks but their very fields, we might say, with fish. But for some reason that we know was neither niggardliness nor lack of cash, most of them hung back like a broncho steer on the near wheel; but for that the river and adjacent sloughs and the larger creeks throughout the valley would each to-day be fairly stocked with good fish. Well, to recur to the text, Mr. A. B. Kitchen, of this place, will undertake to do that work immediately if three or four hundred dollars can be raised for the purpose. About 20 per cent. will be required paid over to pay necessary expenses, the remainder to stand in collectors' hands until the undertaking on his part is fully and satisfactorily completed. No man is any better qualified by experience for this work than Mr. Kitchen, nor do we know of any who can do it any cheaper. By similar contracts he has stocked with trout most of the streams in this vicinage, and in every instance more than complied with the letter of agreements. With a live man or two in each locality from Round Valley to Darwin to interest himself in the matter—enough to get say a dollar from everybody willing and able to give—the thing can be done at once. The result, two or three years hence, will have a money and pleasure value far beyond that of any other scheme of public interest that we can think of.

GIVE YOUR VIEWS.—Mr. Reddy desires us to particularly request all who have plans for amending the State Constitution to give him their views, either by direct correspondence, or communication through these columns, whereby the opinions of others may be drawn out. This is not proposed as a mere matter of courtesy only, but in an earnest desire for suggestions for his own guidance. A paramount question with all classes is that relating to land and mining taxation: what ought to be done and how to equalize the burden of taxation is a question of such general interest that but few but have notions of their own as to methods of improving on the present system. To ascertain what these various notions are is a particular object of this request. It is hardly necessary to add that the columns of the INDEPENDENT are always open to communications upon matters of this character.

ONE OFF.—It seems the $30 allowed Mr. Meysan was for three days services and mileage, not for four as intimated in our reference to the matter last week; that is, they got the thing wrong by cutting him out of one day's hard earnings, and allowing three, instead of cutting him out of three, and allowing one for that jumped-up special meeting. But blank a county that won't pay its champion economist. There were 154 votes, all told, to count, and it in only cost $129, or a little over 83 cents each, to count them; and it wouldn't have cost much over a fourth of that if Mr. M. had not over rated his privileges, or rather, persisted in maintaining an error against the advice of every attorney in the place, with, perhaps, the exception of one not consulted. But we will drop the subject, permanently, we hope.

THE BANKRUPT LAW.—Now that the general bankrupt law of the United States has expired by limitation, the old State Insolvent Act comes in force It has this advantage over the expired general law: insolvent debtors can avail themselves of the benefits of the State Act at about one-tenth the expense and trouble entailed by the general law, as the whole business can be transacted in the local courts. In response to some inquiries on the subject as to the cost and process and all that sort of thing, we will have to refer parties to attorneys, among whom we happen to know that Reddy & Conklin have recently supplied their office with all required blanks, and that the Judge, the resident member, is fully posted in the whole routine, and can give all needed information.

OFF FOR BODIE.—Among the latest of our folks off to seek their fortunes in the Bodie country, are Geo. M. Gill and Frank Saunders. They are both very worthy young men who leave many warm friends to regret their departure. This is particularly true of George, whose days from childhood have been passed in our midst, and whose good qualities and versatile talents and laudable ambitions but add to the regrets for his withdrawal, yet at the same time enhance the desire for his success.

FOR THE SAN FRANCISCO MARKET. John Broder recently drove a vast number, probably 4,000 head, of his beef cattle from the valley here to his Monache Valley ranch, whence a large proportion of them are being driven directly across the mountains to Visalia for shipment to San Francisco. These cattle are said to be remarkably fat. We believe these are the first beef cattle ever sent from this county to the San Francisco market.

FALLISH.—There was a night or two early this week cold and showery enough to make a fire pleasanter than no fire, but it has grown warm enough since, with smoke enough in the atmosphere to indicate fires in the mountains, also the near approach of the "sere and yellow leaf" season.

ON SICK LEAVE.—Capt. MacGowan, who recently arrived in San Francisco lately from Idaho, goes East now on extended sick leave, a consequence of the hard service in Idaho.

RELATING TO BORAX.—We had the pleasure of a call, a few days ago, from Mr. John Searles, manager and one of the chief owners of the now famous borax works at Borax Lake, located just beyond our county limits, south. Mr. Searles has "banged" around that immediate vicinity for over twenty years, during which he has had some experiences remarkable enough to well fill a broad page or two in pioneer annals; among the most trying of these was that terrible handling he got from that big grizzly, "Club Foot," near Fort Tejon, the main, but not most interesting points of which have been published. But it is not of these we propose to speak now. Mr. John Searles and two or three other gentlemen, including his brother, whose names we do not at this moment recall, hold United States patents to a large area of exceedingly rich borax lands or marsh at the lake above named, and, by dint of great perseverance and labor of their own hands mostly, have succeeded in establishing the most complete and extensive borax works in, not only this State, but the world, as we have good reason to believe. Until quite recently the actual product was one hundred tons of the refined article every month. The works, as they stand, have a capacity of full 200 tons per month, but have not been worked up to the maximum because of the low market rates for borax. For months past, owing to an over supply, the price at San Francisco has stood at about 8 cents per pound, giving no adequate return to the producer. On this account—to give the market a chance to clear itself—this company, as also that at Teel's Marsh in Nevada, the next most extensive producer of which we have any knowledge, mutually resolved to suspend shipments in toto, and not wear out their lands for nothing, so nothing more is being done at either place than to employ a small force in keeping things in order. In general the Searles company work fifty persons; at this time only about fifteen. Fresh water for domestic uses is piped from a spring some five miles distant. For manufacturing purposes an abundant supply is obtained by means of artesian wells, of which there are eleven, all spouting. These are nothing more than ordinary iron pipes driven fifty-five feet through the clay and sands of the old lake bed, then pumped out. We hope soon to be able to publish all the details of borax manufacture, about which but very little is generally known. Mr. Searles is now on a visit to Bodie.

CROPS.—Our Lokleitems enjoyed recently a business and pleasure tour through the northern portion of the county, of course taking in the flourishing farming regions of Bishop Creek and Round Valley. It is with great regret that we are compelled to forego a detailed account of the many places visited and a statement of the interesting facts learned concerning the present harvest. Many of the latter points, however, will be better given at the hands of our Round Valley correspondent, whose familiarity with the subject enables him to speak by the card. Suffice it to say that the country looks crowded with enormous stacks of the finest grain; we saw field after field of from 40 to 60 acres in extent which are yielding from 1,700 to 2,000 pounds of wheat per acre, and others with other small grain in proportion. The corn crop is equally promising—and there is no discount on a steady market for all the immense quantities produced.

THE BRASS BAND.—Owing to the fact that several members of our recently organized brass band have found it necessary to withdraw and seek employment elsewhere, we fear the band as an organization has ceased to exist. As a farewell effort, the band turned out in full force on Wednesday night, and gave quite a general serenade, which was so well done as to elicit high praise from everybody. The excellence of their music was the subject of general comment in consideration of the fact that it was but a few weeks since the boys took up their instruments for the first time. In Gabe Hoskins they had an instructor and musician with but the fewest equals, and to him great credit is due and warmly accorded by every member, who best know his worth.

THE THEATRICALS.—Thursday morning Tom May started out with a big six-horse coach loaded down to the guards with our amateur theatrical folk, and the brass band, baggage and instruments, fourteen persons in all. That evening the troupe were to play at Big Pine, and the two following at Bishop. We will undertake to say that the people of both localities will be well pleased with their visitors, among whom are some of our best people, and no less so with their entertainments, which we consider "good enough."

NOTABLE SUITS ON THE DOCKET.—H. M. Isaacs, County Treasurer, has begun suit against Harris & Rhine for slander, involving $100,000 damages. E. A. Reddy & John Wilson have entered suit against R. M. Briggs and John Westerville to recover $500 for which they became responsible by an undertaking on attachment in the Chesley vs. Reddy & Wilson suits, and which undertaking Westerville was induced to sign as a mere usual "matter of form." These suits come on at the November term of the District Court.

THE UNION CON.—Rumor has it that the usual force of men are again being put to work on the Union Con. at Cerro Gordo, and that a drift is to be started from the 900-foot level toward the old Jefferson ground. Good, if true.

DEPARTED.— The Hon. P. Reddy left for the Capital on Monday last, intending to stop a day or two at Darwin, to which point he was accompanied by Mr. Gorman, who goes there to see after the Defiance furnaces.

NEW MARKET.—H. Tessier & Co., at the new butcher shop two doors south of the Postoffice, propose furnishing customers with the choicest meats of all kinds. See advertisement.

PASTURAGE.—Good pasturage can be obtained for animals at J. Vagt's ranch, Camp Independence, to which fact he calls attention this week.

Our Benton Advertisers.

With the advertisement given last week and those presented in this issue, together with others soon to fall into line, the columns of THE INDEPENDENT will present a fair reflex of the leading business interests of that place. It is but just and appropriate, since this paper was for years the only newspaper medium able to give the outside world reports concerning the progress and prospects of southern Mono, one of the steadiest and most productive mining camps in the silver regions.

The advertisement of Creaser & Millner, one of the leading mercantile houses, was given and referred to last week.

Robert Burnham, foreman and assayer at the Comanche mill, announces to miners and prospectors that he will make assays of all kinds of ores at charges specified. He is a reliable man, and has every appliance and convenience for his work, as we know from personal inspection of his office.

L. E. Tubbs, Esq., the industrious and painstaking attorney, presents his professional card. Our old friend J. C. Mitchell, in the same line of business, also advertises in this issue.

The new saloon and billiard hall of Kelty & Hutchins is a new establishment, elegantly furnished and fitted up. Its mixological department is presided over by the genial Joe, who has no end of friends thereabouts.

Last at present, but not least, is the new Partzwick Brewery, under proprietorship of one of the solid men of that country. In his new location near the upper town Mr. Kremkow has built a complete and fine appearing establishment. In brewing he avoids the hot water of the springs by pumping, wind-mill power, cool water from a deep well, and succeeds in making an excellent article of beer.

ASSESSMENT.—Through a telegraphic order received this morning, we publish to-day notice of assessment (No. 6) of the Modoc Consolidated, 50 cents per share, delinquent October 21. The Company are putting in heavy machinery to drive a couple of Burleigh drills in pushing ahead the new tunnel. The furnaces, we learn, are to be removed to a point below the mines where they should have been put in the first place. Some favorable developments have recently been made in the company's Confidence ledge.

REX MONTIS.—We have inspected several beautiful and very rich specimens of ore from the new strike in the Rex Montis, some of which show a liberal splattering of free gold. The late run of the mill, however, did not prove satisfactory, partly on account of which many of the men have quit work and are now in town. We do not believe they can accomplish any good by forcing matters at this crisis, and would earnestly advise them to go back to work; give the company a chance and it will be found a solid one.

A CHANGE.—The Messrs. C. & M. Cohn, of Lone Pine and Independence, as will be seen by notices and advertisement on another page, have disposed of their stores, business, stock, etc., to Mr. H. Behrendt. The very many friends of the Cohn boys throughout this section will be sorry to learn that they have closed out and intend leaving Inyo. Their successor advertises to sell the entire stock of goods below cost.

THE AMOUNT.—The total amount forwarded by Independence to the yellow fever sufferers so far reaches the sum of $122, including $50 sent by the Masons through their own channels. The situation in the South is growing still more terrible, and our town's charitable efforts ought not to stop with this sum. A fair showing has been made at Bishop and other places in the county, but we are not apprised as to the amounts.

THE KEARSARGE.—Very favorable reports are at hand concerning the Kearsarge mine, showing that one of the main ledge has been struck and the other, the main objective point of the long tunnel; is but eight or ten feet distant. After four years of costly work the great question is soon to be solved, with prospects, so far, the most flattering.

FLOURING MILLS.—A new advertisement is given of the Bishop Creek Flouring Mills, Dugan & Blair, proprietors—one of the most noted of our local institutions. It enjoys a most enviable reputation indeed.

BULLION STOLEN.—On Monday night last two bars of Indian Queen bullion were stolen from the office of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express at Benton. Up to our latest advices no clue of the thief had been obtained.

NOTARY.—Business intrusted to Col. Geo. C. Alexander, of Bishop Creek, Justice of the Peace, Notary Public and Conveyancer, will be promptly attended to. See his card.

NEW FIRM.—Elsewhere will be found certificate of co-partnership of a new Darwin firm—Messrs. Paris & Harman. A strong team for "biz."

THE KILLING AT BODIE.—The unfortunate affair between Jimmy Harrington and Johnny Enright last Tuesday evening at Bodie is to be regretted by all. Although Harrington could not have done otherwise than defend his life when Enright made the fight he feels badly over it and sincerely wishes it had never occurred. Harrington is well known as a man too good-natured to get in any serious difficulty unless pushed to the wall, as he was in this instance, and his quick discharge by the examining officer is evidence that he was entirely justified in what he done. Enright was a good man, and, when sober, very gentlemanly, but of late years he has developed a desire to be a "gun-fighter," and that desire probably led to his death. We knew him many years ago in Idaho when he was considerable of a man.—Esmeralda Herald.

WONDERFUL GOLD DIGGINGS.—An Omaha dispatch of the 20th says that telegraphic information has been received there from Fort Custer, Montana, bringing news of an important gold discovery in the Shoshone Mountains, the discovery being 250 miles from Fort Custer. William G. Hollins, formerly of Omaha, but lately of Deadwood, sends this news from Fort Custer, at which post he has just arrived from the discovery, which is located at the north fork of the Stinkwater river, latitude 43° 30′, longitude 110° 30′. The diggings are wonderfully rich. There have been only three men at work in the gulch and they have taken out over three hundred pounds of gold in less than four months, using only a hollow log for a sluice box. It is known as the Whitmore discovery. The best route is via the Union Pacific, thence to Camp Stambaugh or Brown. This news has been looked for for some time, as these men were known to have gone thither quietly last Spring, and miners have been on the lookout ever since. A grand rush will be the inevitable result.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 21.....1878.

THE GLANDERS.--Country readers are naturally alarmed at the reports of the existence of glanders among the horses in this city. Quite a large number of cases have been currently reported, and it would be well for all owners of horses and cattle to be on their guard as much as possible against contact with diseased animals, in fact with any animals which they do not know to be free from the disease. By order of the Board of Supervisors of San Francisco, as expressed in an ordinance dated May 20, it is now made a crime to move any horse from that city which has the glanders, where before the local law required the animal to be killed or removed to the country. This new ordinance will aid the country in preventing the spread of the disease from San Francisco. It would be the part of wisdom not to bring animals to the city unless it be for the purpose of immediate sale, and not take animals from the city to the country without full surety that they have not been exposed to the disease. This would be at least a safe policy for the present, and it is every man's right to quarantine all strange animals at a distance from his own stock as far as he is able to do so. —Rural Press.

POISON IN PEACH STONES.—A fatal case of poisoning, which is noted in the French papers as having recently occurred in Paris, should serve as a warning to families in which children are allowed to look after themselves for hours at a time. Probably very few adults know how poisonous peach stones are. The victim of the recent accident in Paris secreted the stones of a number of peaches, and obtaining a hammer when left alone broke them open industriously and ate them, the result being that he was fatally poisoned by hydrocyanic (prussic) acid. Since the peach season is now upon us it is well to explain what quantity of poison the peach stone possesses. Writers on toxicology state that one ounce of the kernels contain about one grain of pure prussic acid, and this quantity, it is well-known, is sufficient to kill any adult person. Even two-thirds of a grain has very often proved fatal, and indeed may well be regarded as a fatal dose for any child.

CLEANING THE TEETH.—A writer says: A good way to clean teeth is to dip the brush in water, rub it over genuine white Castile soap, then dip it into prepared chalk. I have been complimented upon the whiteness of my teeth, which were originally anything but white. I have used the soap constantly for two or three years, and the chalk for the last year. There is no danger of scratching the teeth as the chalk is prepared; but with a good, stiff brush and the soap it is as effectual as soap and sand on a floor.

A DISSIPATED young man, who ran away and spent his substance in riotous living, resolved at last to return to the paternal roof. His father was kind enough to forgive the young rascal for his wickedness, and rushing into the house, overcome with joy that the boy had returned, cried out to his wife, "Let us kill the prodigal; the calf has returned!"

"DO NOT marry a widower," said the old lady. "A ready-made family is like a dish of cold potatoes." "Oh, I'll soon warm them over," said the damsel, and she did.

THE UNKINDEST CUT OF ALL.—The Major—"Would you advise me to have these few hairs in front cut off?" Haircutter—"U—m. Well, sir, I should 'esitate before I sacrificed my honly hornament."

FIRST YOKEL—"What be thee doing of, Jeames?" Second ditto—"Nothing. What be you?" First ditto—"Minding the children." Second ditto—"Where be they?" First ditto—"Danged if oi know."

HENRY EDWARDS, of San Francisco, is said to have collected during the past twenty-five years about 60,000 species of insects, comprising more than 200,000 specimens, at an outlay for freights, cabinets and rare specimens of nearly $12,000.

A LUCKY number: Fortun-8. A stupid number: Asi-9. — Phila. Bulletin. A warm number: Red-0.—Boston Post. A surprising number: 1-der.—Alta. A painful number: 2-thache. — Rural Press. A loving number: 10-der.

A KENTUCKY way of keeping hams for two or three years is to coat them well with molasses, sprinkle all over with finely ground bark pepper and hang in the smoke-house.

THE gold on the Whitewood, below Deadwood, is found in the gravel from the top to within half a foot of bedrock, but none to speak of on the rock.

THE Los Angeles Company's well in the Little Sespe coñon has now reached a depth of 1,250 feet, and has penetrated oil-bearing strata.

A CURIOUS case of hydrophobia is reported from Norlolk, Va., where a young man has died with all its symptoms from the bite of a pet owl.

....SELECT LIST OF....

Local Newspapers.

MANY PERSONS SUPPOSE THIS LIST TO BE composed of cheap, low priced newspapers. The fact is quite otherwise. The Catalogue states exactly what the papers are. When the name of a paper is printed in full face type it is in every instance the best paper in the place. When printed in Capitals it is the only paper in the place. When printed in Roman letters it is neither the best nor the only paper, but is usually a very good one, notwithstanding. The list gives the population of every town and the circulation of every paper. IT IS NOT A CO-OPERATIVE LIST. IT IS NOT A CHEAP LIST. At the bottom of the catalogue for each State the important towns which are not covered by the list are enumerated. IT IS AN HONEST LIST. The rates charged for advertising are barely one fifth the publishers' schedule. The price for one inch four weeks in the entire list is $635. The regular rates of the papers for the same space and time are $3.136 35. The list includes 970 newspapers, of which 163 are issued DAILY and 807 WEEKLY. They are located in 825 different cities and towns, of which 22 are State capitals, 328 places of over 5,000 population, and 444 County Seats. LETTER FROM ROUND VALLEY.

ROUND VALLEY, Sept. 19.

MESSRS. EDITORS—The grain crops, as usual, are pretty fair this year in Round Valley. The corn crop is comparatively light. Some farmers claim only a half crop of corn, while others think they will have a two-thirds crop. There is a huge growth of stalks but for some reason they didn't ear well—heaps of fodder but small corn. Considerable more hay has been put up this season than ever before, and several loads of baled hay have already been hauled up to Lake District; still this fact should not discourage Nadeau from shipping hay into this country.

Several big teams have passed through here lately loaded with merchandise and machinery for Lake. Three of Nadeau's teams, with 60,000 pounds of freight, hove in sight the other day. When the first team was crossing the bridge near the Bishop Creek Flouring Mills, the timbers gave way and crash went mules and wagons. "Can't kill a mule" is a familiar expression, and one which was verified on this occasion. Although in a fearful predicament, the long-eared old pets escaped unhurt, and while splurging among boulders they reached wistfully for the green brush on the bank. The premature death of a few hundred mules would be a matter of small importance to this community, but the demolishment of private bridges, culverts, etc., suggests the idea that Nadeau should build his own roads for the navigation of his prairie schooners. Speaking of roads reminds us of our superb county roads up this way. On the east and west sides of Round Valley the roads are in a deplorable condition in places; but the dear people are submissive, and as long as we are allowed to pay taxes and ourselves and teams are able to swim and breathe in plowing through mud-holes we will not complain. A fair sample of our county ruts and mud-holes may be seen from Clawson's (Bishop Creek) to McCrosky's. From the latter place to the church and brewery the road is a shade better. These are the main traveled roads between Bishop and Round Valley. When a good Christian starts for home about sundown from Bishop, stuck in a little old wagon behind a pair of ponies, with two or three gallons of Louie's "foosht rat" stowed away under his jacket, no wonder the good brother, after sinking a hundred times during the trip in unfathomable mud, cries out, "Who is Connelly, and where in h—l is Connelly and Supervisor Garretson?" By midnight the good man, a conglomeration of mud and lager, arrives home, when his noble half exclaims: "Well, John, you do smell like a muddled Dutchman."

The Hon. Jas. E., of THE INDEPENDENT, made a short visit, under the supervision of Mrs. Sneden, to this valley lately. Buttermilk being too strong for his delicate constitution, he soon left for parts where milder beverages are concocted.

MATRIMONY.

"Mr. and Mrs. Hilton request your presence at the marriage ceremony of their daughter Millie and G. H. Badger, Thursday evening, Sept. 18." Thus read the invitation cards kindly distributed. Last evening the ceremony was consummated, the Rev. J. W. Bell officiating, and quite a large and respectable company was present. The ceremony being over, the reception and refreshments were in order. Of the excellent quality and abundant quantity of the eatables it is only necessary to mention that Mrs. Hilton, with her usual skill, had been diligently manipulating and supervising the culinary department.

Everything went on lovingly until about three o'clock in the morning when a

A TRAGIC AFFAIR

Occurred. Mr. Badger, the bridegroom, stepped out of doors and walked a few steps to the creek for a drink. While in the act of stooping for water two men bounced him. Badger drew his pistol and discharged three barrels, but in the meantime one of the assailants struck his (Badger's) hand, which resulted in Badger receiving the contents of one barrel. The ball went through his coat, vest and shirt bosom and slightly grazed the flesh. The Sunday night previous, while in bed in the store, he was attacked by two men, who administered chloroform, and then tied him. In the morning he discovered that they had been prospecting his cash box, which contained $700. The report is that the honorable thieves took only the gold coin, $100, and left the balance in silver and notes scattered on the floor. They also left their chloroform bottle and a rope, with which it is supposed they had intended to hang him. Such is matrimony under difficulties. JUMBO.

LETTER FROM LAKE DISTRICT.

MAMMOTH CITY, Cal., Sept. 20.

MESSRS. EDITORS — You probably think your correspondent from this place lost, strayed, stolen or very neglectful in regard to keeping you posted about this new country.

THE WEATHER

For about a week past has been almost intolerable, the wind blowing at a fearful rate with cold and snow, giving this place quite an Alpine appearance. The weather has moderated and now we now enjoy beautiful calm Fall weather.

PROSPECTS.

Were never more flattering than now, several mines having recently been incorporated, viz.: the Mammoth, Don Quixote, Head Light, Folk, Crescent City, Alpha and the True Blue, all of which look well and assay high. Many other mines are eagerly sought for, which are about to be sold, and which are as good as any with but a slight exception; they are the Monumental, Grand Cash, East Mammoth, Armstrong, Morning Star and the Jordan, all of which will in all probability be sold and incorporated within the next sixty days. The Mammoth mill is now complete in every sense; it is a 20-stamper, and there is nothing in the least lacking, and when the tramway and chute are complete the mill will start up under the superintendency of John Colier, who is equal to the emergency. The most satisfactory results are anticipated, as they are knocking down 40 or 50 tons of splendid looking ore daily.

BUSINESS

Generally is good. There are three stores, six saloons and five boarding houses, together with several dwelling houses, which when thrown together help make a starter for a town. Times are not expected to be much better here this Fall, but a general rush is anticipated in the Spring, and by this time next year we expect to be second to no mining town except Virginia City.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Jos. Rowan is here on a visit. Al. Morgan and McGeary arrived here on the 18th from Benton. Mrs. G. W. Rowan is here for a visit on her way to Sonora. F. M. Adams and Edward Clark arrived from Bodie last evening. M. Lambeth, J. B. White and Geo. C. Munson started for San Francisco this morning. TAMERAC JOE.

AN old writer describes the human hand as representing the life of the universe. The thumb stands for deity, without which the hand is powerless. The forefinger is likened to the angelic creation, the middle finger to man, the ring-finger to woman and the little finger to the animal kingdom. These similes, if not very felicitous, are sufficiently quaint. In many other ways the hand has been supposed to be emblematic. This symbolism has penetrated to the nursery. A nurse will make a child put its two palms together, knitting them by closing the two middle fingers. In this position the child is told to separate the two thumbs, which it does with ease, and thereupon is told that "brother and sister may part." It is next asked to separate the fore-finger, which also it easily does, and is informed that "father and son may part." Then it is required to separate the two little fingers, and upon doing this is told that "mother and daughter may part." And it is now told to try and separate the two ring fingers. This, as the middle fingers are locked to-gether, it cannot possibly do, and is thereupon told that "wife and husband cannot part."

MR. BILLINGS—whose knowledge of natural history came by instinct—after mentioning that the hornet's disposition is a "warm cross between red pepper in the pod and fusil oil," gives his essay a moral bias by informing the public that this "inflammable,' insect is not long lived, simply for the reason that any creature, bug or human, who is mad all the time and stings every chance he can get, and plants melancholy in his track, "generally dies young." It pays, he thinks, to be more pensive and much less "peremptory."

A LECTURER, addressing a mechanic's institute, contended that "Art could not improve Nature," when one of the audience set the whole assembly in a roar by exclaiming, "How would you look without your wig?"

THE Buffalo Express don't believe the times are hard in this country when the people can afford to consume fifty million gallons of whisky, ten millions of beer and two thousand millions of cigars in a single year.

A NOTED "VAG."—Everybody in the the United States, probably, has heard of the famous Babcock fire extinguisher, but very few people know that the inventor of this engine is living in Alameda county, vibrating between Alameda and Oakland, a poor, miserable vagrant, drunk whenever he can procure liquor, his clothes in tatters and his person so filthy that people flee from him as from a plague. It is said that at one time he had a lucrative practice as a physician, was honored for his learning and skill and surrounded by a loving family. Now he is half demented by drink, he has no home, no family—not a friend. He is so repulsive that even a night's lodging in the station house is denied him, and he wanders about the most pitiable spectacle of humanity imaginable. He was arrested by Officer Hartwick, but turned loose again for the reason that it was impossible to exist in the lock-up while he occupied a cell. Complaint was made by a lady that he was asleep in her garden, and accordingly he was arrested again, but allowed to go a second time, after scenting up the jail so that it had to be fumigated to be inhabitable. If any one desires to see a living, walking temperance sermon he should take a look at Dr. Babcock, and get some one to tell his mournful story. —Alameda Argus.

TREMENDOUS POWER OF SEA WAVES. The tremendous force of the ocean waves has been illustrated at Wick, on the extreme northern coast of Scotland, where a breakwater has been building for some years past. It may give an idea of what is meant by wave power. It was found that stones of ten tons' weight were as pebbles to the waves, which have been measured to be there forty-two feet from crest to the bottom of the trough. The outer end of the breakwater, where the storms beat most violently, was built of three courses of one hundred ton stones laid on the rubble foundations; next above these were three courses of large flat stones, and upon these a mass of concrete built on the spot of cement and rubble. The end of the breakwater was thought to be as immovable as the natural rock, yet the resident engineer saw it yield to the force of the waves and swing around to the less troubled water inside the pier. It gave not in fragments, but in one mass, as if it had been a monolith. The displaced mass is estimated to weigh about 1,850 tons.

THERE is a celebrated professor in Germany whose works on Biblical science are authorities, and who is singularly ignorant of all affairs save his studies. He was lately paid a large sum of money by his publisher, on account of copyright funds. The amount was more than he could use for present demands. "What on earth can I do with all this money?" he asked in real distress. "Why," replied the publisher, "you can put it out at interest." After thinking a moment, in evidently greater anxiety, "No, no, that will never do, for don't you see that will make it still worse, for there will be ever so much more of it."

IT'S funny that when you ask a man to advertise he generally declines with the statement that "nobody'll see it." But if you advertise some little caper of his in the news column, gratis, he gets indignant over the certainty that everybody'll see it.

THE flying machine cannot successfully wrestle with currents; and the same may be said of the small boy—only the currants in his case happen to be green.—Ex.

Total, 152.

IT is complained that the Legislature of Vermont, in its anxiety to protect the people of the State against the ravages of "quacks," has recently passed an act which really prohibits the practice of medicine by anybody except a graduate of the "old" or "regular" schools; and patients are now enquiring with some concern whether they are not to be allowed to exercise their own judgment in the choice of a physician. Of course if the Legislature is authorized to decide which is the true system of medicine it may quite as well undertake to decide which is the true system of theology; it would be monstrous to take so much care of the safety of the limbs, liver and stomach and let devils and false prophets play havoc with the soul. No doubt the State ought to provide safeguards against the assumption of the character of a physician by ignorant and dishonest charlatans, who have received no training in any school, just as it ought to prohibit the running of a steam engine by an incompetent engineer; but when it assumes the right to discriminate between rival theories, either in medicine or any other science it becomes in itself a humbug and pretender.

THERE is one Congressman, at least—there may be more than one, but one anyhow—who has stood at his post like a man, fighting the pestilence, caring for the sick and burying the dead. This exception to the general rule is the Hon. Casey Young, of Memphis.

THE recent storm in Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia was the most severe and destructive experienced in those States for several years. Great loss of property is reported.

W. J. WHITE, at Visalia on Saturday last, was held in $5,000 bonds to answer to a charge of manslaughter for killing Dr. Mehring. Bail was immediately given.

THE total fever deaths in the South, up to the 24th instant, during the present scourge, were 6,679.

TAXING LANDS.

No question likely to engage the attention of this Constitutional Convention will possess as much general interest and importance as this matter of land taxation. As carried out under existing laws and practices, it is nothing but a swindle on small land owners, a tax on industry, and a premium for retarding the growth of the country. The truth is, though, these conditions exist more through the fault of Assessors than the law itself, a fact that makes it all the more difficult to devise an effectual remedy for the unequal valuations of lands, through which come the swindle complained of. For instance, the law requires (1), that lands must be uniformly assessed according to grade, and (2), that improvements must have a distinct and separate valuation. Theoretically, no plan of assessing could be fairer than this; in practice, nothing more unfair, for in ninety-nine cases in a hundred, it is the improvements or lack of improvements that determines the cash value of lands. The higher the state of cultivation, the better the improvements, the higher the tax valuation or grade of the land. A. and B. each own say a quarter section of land, adjoining, in quality of soil without a shade of difference; A., after years of hard work and the expenditure of every available cent, perhaps, of his earnings, finds himself possessed of a well-improved, well cultivated farm. He also finds in effect that he has improved the quality of his land, for now the Assessor, under the "full cash value" system, marks it down "first grade," therefore assessable at say $25 an acre. Meantime, and all this time, B's land has lain "out of doors," precisely as when he stole it from the Government, a la Bill Chapman, with Sioux scrip, for speculative purposes; it has yielded nothing to the wealth of the country, nothing to its owner except, may be, as a trap under the Trespass Act. Like the rest of "eaten-off, out-door land," its face gives no indication of its real intrinsic value—and whether it does or not, being unimproved, it goes down on the Assessor's books as second, or third grade, "full cash value," $5 or less, as the owner will make oath with one breath, and with the next possibly refusing $20 an acre offered by some actual home-seeker, who appreciates its value as he sees it demonstrated by what A. has done with his just inside the adjoining field. This supposed case is no stretch of actual yearly assessing occurrences all through this State. In fact, it does not convey a full idea of the real extent of the tax discrimination in this way against honest industry. If B's quarter section happens to be one of dozens of other quarter sections equally as good, with a half a dozen or so of poor ones intermixed, it amounts to a rule, that as they are all assessable to one owner, all are lumped off together at the value of the poorest as the average of the whole.

Simple, even-handed justice, and true political economy, demands the exact reversal of the present rules of land taxation in respect to improvements. The better the improvements, the higher the state of cultivation, or rather, the greater the proportion in cultivation, the less should be the tax valuation upon the land itself, and, conversely, totally unimproved lands should be taxed higher than any other of similar grade. Such a plan, which is substantially the same as proposed by the Hon. T. H. Laine in his draft for a new Constitution, must equalize taxation, making the large and small land owners pay alike, and thereby do one of two things: compel the grabber to either put his land to some use that will make it yield the equivalent of its own yearly tax, or sell it to those who can and will.

It is an absurdity, the worst sort of Communism, to attempt to fix a Constitutional limit to the acreage of land any person may own or control. But it is a clear right of every community to see that every man's possessions shall contribute a fair share toward the community expenses; still, no matter how much actual money tax may be got out of unimproved tracts, the community, in whose midst they are held, suffers a wrong above compensation by mere ordinary taxation, be it ever so high; this is because these uninhabited domains, being uninhabited, deprive the surrounding settlers of their social rights—of schools, churches, etc. On this account alone such lands ought, to be taxed, literally, for all they are worth.

THE Republican State Convention of Nevada, recently held at Eureka, made the following nominations: For Congress, R. M. Daggett; Governor, John H. Kinkead; Lieutenant-Governor, H. R. Mighels; Supreme Judge, Thos. P. Hawley; Controller, J. F. Hallock; Treasurer, L. L. Crockett, of Washoe; Secretary of State, Jasper Babcock; Attorney General, M. A. Murphy; Superintendent of Public Instruction, J. D. Hammond, of Lander; Clerk of the Supreme Court, C. F. Bicknell, of Ormsby.

WORTH A THOUGHT.

Our Constitution makers may find something in the following worth consideration when framing a new Constitutional election clause:

Complete returns from Maine show that the lower house of the Legislature will be made up of sixty-five Republicans, two Republicans elected with the aid of Democrats, twenty-seven Democrats and fifty-seven Greenback men. The Fusion party will, therefore, have a majority of either seventeen or nineteen votes. The State election law provides that when no candidate has a majority the lower house shall elect two candidates, and of these two the Senate shall elect one who shall be declared Governor. In this instance the Republican majority in the Senate will be forced to elect either the Democratic or the Greenback candidate. If they choose the Democrat, the next Governor of Maine will be the candidate of the party which polled the fewest votes and has the weakest representation in both branches of the Legislature. So anomalous a result will lead not directly but ultimately to a modification of the election law in that State. The majority system sometimes works admirably. In France, for instance, when an election is held for Deputy, there may be half a dozen Republicans in the canvass and only one conservative candidate, and inasmuch as a majority and not a plurality is required, the vote of the former party can safely be split up; but when a second ballot is taken the Republican who has had the strongest support remains in the field and easily defeats the Conservative who may have had a large plurality on the first ballot. In a State election, however, a second ballot cannot conveniently be had, and legislative action, whether by joint ballot or by each house under constitutional restrictions is a clumsy and unsatisfactory solution.

TAXATION OF CHURCHES.—Clergymen of various denominations propose to call a conference soon at San José to devise means to exempt church property from taxation by a clause to be inserted in the Constitution. The San Francisco Chronicle closes a well-written objection to the proposed innovation as follows:

The Monitor devotes a long article to the advocacy of the proposed change, and asserts that it can see no reason why church property should not be exempt as much as United States, State, county or city property. It argues that, "As it would not be proper for people to tax themselves in their civil corporate capacity, so neither is it proper for them to tax themselves in their religious corporate capacity."

But the State, as such, has no "religious corporate capacity," nor have the people of the State, as such. The State has nothing whatever to do with any religious organization or corporation, except to afford it that equal measure of protection which is afforded to any other voluntary organization—social, literary or scientific. It is a great mistake, as will be found, to suppose that the revision of the Constitution offers a good opportunity for changing its attitude in this regard and introducing a new feature in our organic law, which shall gives us, instead of a purely secular government, a mixed affair of Church of State, and a quasi-established religion. Those who are moving so gayly in these matters of Sunday law, religious amendment and Church exemption may as well save their powder. The people will have none of them.

A NEW YORK paper intimates that the Chinese, instead of going, are just now introducing a hitherto unheard of fashionable folly in the shape of rose-tinted teeth. It is stated that the Chinese women of the upper class color their teeth with a dye, and that this dye has recently been introduced to American fashionable circles with mischievous results. It has the effect of destroying the teeth, rendering them so brittle that in a few months after the application has been made they break off short. Several fashionable dentists in New York are said to have procured the new dye, and it is becoming quite the rage.

THE Cabinet agree in the opinion that there is no law warranting the issue of silver for legal tenders, and that to carry out such a policy would subject the Administration to hostile criticisms. The matter will be further discussed when the President returns. It is not considered that any legal plan can be devised to pay out silver for greenbacks.

AT length the right course has been determined upon at Memphis. Those who are well must leave the city, excepting, of course, the physicians, nurses and persons who have had the fever, or starve. No rations will be issued to those that remain. This is an extreme measure, but the terrible state of affairs in that city demands it.

THE War Department has prepared a long argument in favor of the transfer of the Indian Bureau to military supervision, while the Secretary of the Interior is having an argument prepared against the proposed change. The papers will be submitted to the Congressional Commission which is to meet in St. Louis on the 25th instant.

LETTER FROM BISHOP CREEK.

BISHOP CREEK, Sept. 23.

MESSRS. EDITORS—Our little town has been enlivened for a few days past by the music of the Independence Brass Band and the highly artistic dramatic playing of the Inyo Amateur Dramatic Club. They played two nights here to full houses and appreciative audiences.

The first night was performed "The Toodles," in which Mr. Geo. M. Gill played the part of Timothy Toodles with such perfect rendering of a drunken man that a little neice of his was heard to say, "O, my Uncle George is so drunk; it's too bad, ain't it?" He excelled even the best natural talent of Bishop Creek, some having practiced for years. The whole play was well rendered, and each character well sustained, and Mrs. Conklin's Tabitha Toodles was admirably given. The song by Miss Annie Eudey, "Don't Tie to a Man You Don't Know," was sweetly sang and received with applause. Mr. E. A. Reddy was called out and sang two songs with guitar accompaniment, which received hearty applause. The entertainment concluded with the comedy of "A Quiet Family," which excited much merriment from the representation of the un-quiet side of their matrimonial felicity. After the performance there was given a social dance, the band playing gratuitously, until the moon was up or a little before the sun made it daylight.

The second evening was presented an entire new programme. The performance opening with the funny farce of "Fired Out," with Mrs. Conklin as Sarah Ann. The other characters were sustained by W. F. Matlack, B. H. Yaney, Geo. M. Gill, John Langer, Mrs. Rose Matlack and Miss Annie Eudey, all acting exceedingly well their respective parts. This was a very laughable piece and caused much merriment. Next was a song by Miss Annie Eudey, "When the Twilight Soft is Falling," which was as falling dews, after a warm day, in its gentle strains.

The entertainment concluded with the "Colored Folks," four colored and two white performers. This play was new and original and elicited rounds of applause. Mr. John Langer as "Bones" was hard to beat anywhere, while all the others were equal to many of the actors in the minstrel troupes of the large cities, and all who attended seemed pleased with the general performance. The band drove around the valley and serenaded the various residences, awakening the echoes of these old hills and and silent vales with unwonted melody—with music which goes far toward distinguishing savage from civilized life.

The last performance being given on Saturday evening, the dance which followed (while waiting for the moon to rise, which was late in rising) extended its unostentatious mirth into the hours of Sunday. For this unhallowed sin of merry music and flying feet the preacher in his sermon last Sunday animadverted in rather severe language, calling the troupe "the imps of hell let loose from Independence to demoralize this place." They were consigned to the brimstone pit of the imagination, the hoped for punishment for all who do not think and believe, as they do, in such dogmatic views of Divine justice. But the fact is the people of this work-a-day world, and especially this valley, need once in awhile some relaxation or recreation of mind and muscle as this kind of amusement gives to the overtasked and hard-working men and women, and the harm, if there be any, can only come from the wrong ideas, false thinking and teachings respecting the true principles of right, for on these there are different opinions, and every one should be free to enjoy his own.

SECRETARY OF WAR MCCRARY has humanely cut all Gordian knots of red tape in ordering the issue of rations to sufferers from yellow fever. It is grander to use the food in this way than it would be to feed the rations to the most victorious army that ever marched. If Congress hesitates to approve this grand charity, the nation will, nevertheless, support the Secretary in his quick and liberal response to the appeals of an afflicted people. Secretary McCrary, by the way, is a brother-in-law of citizen H. D. Gelatt, up here at the Post.

THE first conviction in this State under the law making it a misdemeanor to sell liquor to a habitual drunkard, was obtained in a Justice's court in Middletown, Lake county, a couple of weeks since, and the saloon-keeper, E. Ford, was sentenced to twenty-five days' imprisonment in the County Jail; but the Sheriff refused to receive him owing to a defect in the commitment. The drunkard's name is Kellogg. The complaint was made, as the law requires, by his wife.

THE Postmasters and agents of Wells, Fargo & Co. in all the larger towns of the State have received copies of the subscription list and prospectus of the History of San Francisco, by John S. Hittel, which is to be published and sold for the benefit of the yellow fever sufferers and orphan asylums of San Francisco, and are authorized to receive subscriptions and payments for it.

THE Nevada Democrats place the following ticket in the field: L. R. Bradley, for Governor; Jewett Adams, Lieutenant Governor; W. E. F. Deal, Member of Congress; Fred. Cole, Supreme Judge; G. W. Baker, Secretary of State; J. E. Jones, Treasurer; J. R. Kittrell, Attorney General; S. H. Day, Surveyor General, and D. R. Sessions, School Superintendent.

New York Politics.

A Syracuse dispatch of the 25th says:

A great crowd of Delegates to the Convention which meets to-day are in the city. The discussion is chiefly in regard to which of the two factions—Tammany or Tilden—shall run the Convention. Both parties claim to have a majority of the delegates. The platform will probably be so framed as to catch the Greenback vote. A rumor was afloat yesterday that Tammany might, in certain contingencies, withdraw and hold a separate Convention.

A dispatch from Saratoga of the same date says:

New delegates to the Republican State Convention, including Conkling and Curtis, have arrived. There is much discussion about the likelihood of harmony in the Convention. It is said that Conkling may possibly accept the Presidency of the Convention. The platform will be outspoken in favor of hard money and resumption.

IN the Fourth District Court of San Francisco, in the recent trial of Cynthia Hodgdon for the murder of Mrs. Emma Downs by procuring an abortion, a sensation was created by the announcement of District Attorney Murphy that one of the jurors had undertaken to procure money from the family of the accused for the avowed purpose of buying a portion of the jury. So soon as the District Attorney had concluded his remarks he proceeded to introduce testimony to substantiate the charge. The evidence was overwhelming. When the fact had become so patent that the trial could not further be proceeded with by this jury, the Court was in a dilemma what to do with the case, the Judge and counsel on both sides stating that to the best of their knowledge this case had no precedent. The jury was finally dismissed, with the exception of the offending juryman, whose name is Samuel B. Husselman, with the usual admonition to say nothing of the case. As Husselman had twice solicited $500 for the purpose, as stated, of buying other jurors, the Judge said he should fine him $500 for each case for contempt, and should also order him imprisoned five days for each offense. So Husselman was handcuffed in open Court and marched to prison. The District Attorney at once set about making out a complaint on which to have Husselman arrested for the crime of embracery. Altogether the case is a very extraordinary one.

MR. SLATER (Oregon Democratic Senator elect) comes out squarely and strongly for real money. It will be highly gratifying to a majority of the people of Oregon and to believers in honest money throughout the whole country to be informed that Oregon's new Senator is firmly right on this vital question. In his speech last night he maintained that hard money was the money of the Constitution; that very much of the industrial and financial depression of recent times has been the result of inflation and uncertain values of currency, and it would be the hight of folly, after having at last through great difficulty brought our paper currency up virtually to a specie standard, to unsettle values again by further issues of greenbacks. He congratulated the people on resumption, now practically obtained.—Portland Oregonian.

THE Addenda mine, located on Silver Hill, is south of the Standard and Bodie mines, and, like the former, carries water in the ledge at the bottom of the shaft, proving that there is a continuous vein. The shaft has a depth of 135 feet with a well-defined ledge from top to bottom. The ore has assayed as high as $80 per ton. Contracts for sinking the shaft 100 feet deeper have been let, and is progressing finely; every indication proves that a rich bonanza will soon be found in this valuable property.—Bodie Standard.

THE New York Herald puts up seven Presidential aspirants for a nomination, and by the process of exhaustion eliminates from the list all but Gen. Grant. The only four of the seven who were seriously considered were Grant, Blaine, Conkling and Washburne, whose strength was in the order mentioned, with a possible change of place between Blaine and Conkling. The four Democrats from whom the candidate will probably be taken are Tilden, Thurman, Hendricks and Bayard.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 28.....1878.

A SHOCKING TIME.—For about half an hour, beginning about 6 o'clock, Friday morning, we had quite a shocking occurrence in this office and adjoining kitchen. The stoves in each place got so full of electricity that to put one's fingers in contact with the metal was to produce a flash and snap quite as visible and loud as that ordinarily produced by the striking of a match, while the shock was decidedly painful in its force. The old cat, lying under one of the stoves, finally got so demoralized that she went off much ruffled, snapping as she traveled. Certain parties moved around gingerly, looking with suspicion upon every piece of metal about the place. But the electrical display seemed confined wholly to the two stoves, though not continuously in either; the presses and other machinery, standing partly between the two stoves, emitted no sparks or shocks—holding both, probably, for publication day. Some light clouds hung over the summit of the mountains to the westward, and from the same direction the wind came in warm but powerful gusts. There isn't an old maid in the land so dried up but could have done some effective sparking once more had she been around this particular kitchen stove that morning.

MOUNTAIN FIRE.—An extensive forest fire has for two or three days been raging in the Sierras west of George's Creek, low down upon the mountains. On Friday morning, after the wind storm of the preceding night, the huge clouds of black and red smoke pouring up from Shepherd's Cañon presented a truly volcanic appearance, while at night the fiery mountain looked grand. The destruction of timber must be very great. We have no knowledge of its origin, but as the Indians are in that country gathering and roasting pine nuts it is probable that it started from one of their fires. The Indians, however, are scrupulously careful in protecting their piñon "orchards," and will not suffer a tree to be injured while the squaws are gathering the nuts.

PERSONALS.—T. S. Harris and lady, of the late Darwin News, passed through town on Thurday last en route to Bodie, where Mr. T. S. will devote himself to his new interest in the Standard. .... His Honor Judge Hannah returned yesterday from his Summer sojourn in the mountains, looking robust enough to settle down to judicial affairs for the coming term.... Billy Lake, from Lake district, has returned, having suspended his store business at that point for the Winter.... Charley Stoutenborough, of the Bishop Creek institution of J. H. Stoutenborough, has been sloshing about Independence and Lone Pine for the past day or two.... L. Wick, the merchant of Big Pine, is in town, somewhat under the weather.... A. K. Briggs arrived at this place to-day from Tuscarora, Nevada.

DIED.—Josiah Walker, an old and well known citizen of this county, died at his residence at Big Pine, about 7 o'clock last evening. His funeral will take place at Camp Independence cemetery at 4 o'clock P. M., to-morrow. Deceased leaves a wife and two stepdaughters, Mrs. Curt. Ober and Mrs. Hiskey. During life Mr. Walker stood in the highest estimation of all with whom he came in contact, and his demise will be greatly deplored by many old friends throughout California and Nevada. Let all turn out to-morrow to assist in the last sad tribute to the virtues of so good a man as Joe Walker.

IMPROVEMENTS AT BISHOP.—Late improvements at Snedenville consist mainly as follows: A fine store building near the hotel, by J. B. Swearingen; Hypolite's Hall, nearly opposite, for a restaurant and saloon; new store room for Mr. Elkeles; large warehouse in connection with Stoutenborough's store; new dwelling house by John Clarke, besides general additions to the drug store, saloons and blacksmith shop.

REWARD OFFERED.—The reward offered by Wells, Fargo & Co. for the recovery of the bullion stolen from the Benton office is one-fourth the value of the two bars taken, which was $1,520. Three hundred dollars is offered for the arrest and conviction of the thief. The robbers took only two out of the six bars in the office, the remaining four being the finest and richest bullion.

ALABAMA DISTRICT.—The Hitchcock boys have erected a 4-stamp mill on Lone Pine Creek, about 1½ mile above the town, and on Thursday last commenced crushing ore from their rich gold veins in Alabama district. John Schulte, working on the lately reported strike in the Orion ledge, has been running his new arrastras for the past eight or ten days, and will make a clean-up during the following week.

IMPROVEMENT.— Mr. Fernbach has lately added to the completeness of the Pioneer Brewery of this place, by introducing additional water through a long string of 4-inch iron pipes. Aside from convenience it is another protection against fire, and the suggestion is that our citizens extend the same line of pipe far enough up the creek to supply the whole town with water.

PIPING.—Several thousand feet more of the old Panamint water pipes reached town yesterday, for Messrs. Harris & Rhine. In these dull times this transfer of a relic of Panamint's former greatness affords us a source of items equal to that enjoyed by Dan Dequille on the Virginia Enterprise some years ago—the arrival of a load of hay on the Comstock.

PANAMINT.—We have heard that there are now quite a number of men at work in and around the old Panamint district, "chloriding."

AT WORK.—Bell's flouring mill is in active operation, turning out a much better quality of flour than for years past.

The Dramatic Club.

INDEPENDENCE, Sept. 25.

MESSRS. EDITORS—The undersigned, in behalf of the Inyo Dramatic Club, begs leave to return, through the columns of your paper, heartfelt thanks for the many favors and liberal patronage extended to them by the citizens of Bishop Creek and Big Pine during their recent visit to those places.

DANIEL CROUGH,
Acting Manager.

DEAD.—Poor old "Prince" is dead. Before he got gray from age he was a sprightly black dog, of medium size, and known from Independence to Carson as an animal of the most remarkable intelligence. We knew him in his prime, some eleven or twelve years ago, when at the bidding of his master he would perform services that would seem to require the intelligence of a human being. After one of his most notable performances, the carrying of a message through the blinding snow and avalanches between Markleville and Silver Mountain, when a man could not possibly get through, his owner refused an offer of $500 for him. "Prince" belonged to Hubert Gelatt, now of Camp Independence, who seemed to consider him as one of the family. The dog's many friends up north will be more sorry to learn that he died from poison, he having picked up a turkey bone which had been poisoned for the benefit of some midnight raider on Gelatt's poultry yard.

THE POST CEMETERY.— Since the abandonment of the Post by the military the care of the cemetery has fallen upon the hands of the citizens, two or three of whom have had it to look after. In doing this considerable expense has been incurred, which by rights should not be borne wholly by them. This Summer the grounds have been regularly watered two or three times a week, involving an outlay of about $60 cash. Now, as we know there are several persons having friends and relatives buried there, willing and able to give a few dollars each toward maintaining the cemetery in a respectable condition, we repectfully propose that they at once send or hand over to Mr. V. G. Thompson, of the Blaney House, whatever sums, large or small, they are willing to contribute. It is the proper thing to do for obvious reasons.

SICK.—We are sorry to hear that Jos. Walker, of Big Pine, is lying dangerously low with what we understand is a case of strangulated hernia of the bowels. W. A. Baker, of the same locality, is also quite unwell from some chronic disorder; he is at the Post under Dr. Bicknell's care. An infant son of County Clerk John Crough is reported this morning as very ill.

PROLIFIC.—Without a doubt the finest garden in the county, as to size and the great number and quality of its products, is that of S. G. Sneden, Esq., situated in the center of the growing town of Bishop Creek. It has become noted, also, from the liberal manner in which Mr. and Mrs. S. G. distribute its rare productions to friends everywhere.

REGISTERED PACKAGES.—Postmaster Rowley informs us that the Postal Department has issued instructions under which all third-class mail matter, such as books, packages, etc., not exceeding four pounds in weight, may hereafter be registered in the same manner as letters—the fee being ten cents.

WE will endeavor to present next week some reports concerning Indian District, adjoining Benton on the south. A good deal of interest is being manifested in that country, pending the sale of and active operations soon to begin upon one of the principal mines.

SHOEMAKER.—C. E. Dugal has taken charge of the boot and shoe shop, in the old Inyo House. Mr. Walz has gone Panamintward, to look after some gold mines eight or ten miles south of that place.

DIED.—Frank McDermott died very suddenly last Monday, in Darwin, from heart disease. He was a brother of Joseph McDermott, and a well-respected citizen.

BILLIARDS.—Messrs. Irwin & Mairs have added a fine billiard table, with all its accoutrements, to the attractions of the Headquarters saloon.

BULLION.—Supt. Hubbard is shipping from the Indian Queen mill, near Benton, a bar of bullion per day, averaging in value $750.

ON the first page of this week's issue will be found interesting correspondence from Round Valley and Lake District.

LOCATED.—Paul W. Bennett, Esq., has located his law office in the Land Office building at Bodie.

THE SHERMAN IMBROGLIO.—Since the unfortunate action of Thomas Sherman in entering the Society of Jesuits against his father's protest, but by his mother's encouragement, Gen. and Mrs. Sherman have not met. Gen. Sherman is on his way from Fort Yuma to San Francisco, and is not expected home before the last of October. Mrs. Sherman is seriously ill at Atlantic City. It would require at least fifteen days to return, even if his presence was necessary. After the General showed so much feeling over the action of his son, and reproached his wife and her Catholic friends so bitterly for robbing him of his favorite son, Mrs. Sherman changed her plans, and has determined to live with her husband hereafter and give up her religious labors. She has rented her house in St. Louis, and upon the General's return will take up her residence in Washington. — N. Y. Graphic.

THE Placerville libel suit is likely to come to an issue after all, notwithstanding the Chronicle's persittent efforts to stave it off. On the 24th ten jurors had been sworn to try the cause and a venire for eight more had been ordered, returnable the same day, out of which to obtain the other two.

WHEN a man reaches the top of a stairway and attempts to make one more step higher, the sensation is as perplexas if he had attempted to kick a dog that wasn't there.

A FARMER, speaking of the thinness of his hay crop, said, "The grasshoppers have all got lame trying to jump from one blade of grass to another."

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 28.....1878.

BRILLIANT WHITEWASH.—A correspondent wishes the recipe given some years since for the whitewash used on the east end of the White House. For her benefit and the benefit of others it is repeated: Take one half bushel of nice unslacked lime, slack it with boiling water; cover it during the process to keep in the steam. Strain the liquid through a seive or strainer, and add to it a peck of salt, previously dissolved in warm water; three pounds of ground rice, boiled to a thin paste; one-half pound of powdered Spanish whiting, and one pound of clean glue, which has previously been dissolved by soaking it well; then hang it over a slow fire in a small kettle within a larger one filled with water. Add five gallons of hot water to the mixture, stir it well, and let it stand for a few days covered from dust. It should be put on hot, and for this purpose it can be kept in a kettle on a portable furnace. It is said that about a pint of this mixture will cover a square yard upon the outside of a house, if properly applied. Fine or coarse brushes may be used, according to the neatness of the job required. It answers as well as oil paint for wood, brick or stone, and is cheaper.—Ex.

IN BEHALF OF HORSES.—A horse-owner, favorably circumstanced, may save bushels of oats nowadays, and a goodly percentage on the blacksmith's bill, by making the stable dark so that the flies do not torment the horses. If the stable has blinds which can be readily closed in the daytime, well; if not, cloths hung up before the windows which would shut out the sunlight would do just as well. Stamping to beat off flies is wearing to horses and loosens their shoes and often breaks their feet. It strains their cords and produces splints and puffs. A cheap blanket of cotton cloth will protect the body of a horse and pay for itself in a week, especially when horses are ploughing or working at anything in the sun. Rubbing them over with smart-weed or walnut leaves or tansy or kerosine will keep them off for a day; only a few drops of the oil must be used or the hair will be injured and the skin made sore. Blankets are the best.

KEEP BORAX IN THE HOUSE—A writer in the Advocate says: In the laundry it is economical, as it saves both labor and soap, and is really cheaper than the latter. For blankets and other large articles it is especially valuable, and in all cases the use of a little borax will save half the labor when articles are much soiled. It is perfectly effectual in driving away real ants, cockroaches, etc., if sprinkled around on shelves, or put in small quantities on paper and placed in the run ways of insects. Borax is also of great value for toilet uses. For removing dandruff and cleansing the hair it is unequalled. It is also a good remedy for rough face and chapped hands. Its application to wounds, sores, bruises, sprains, etc., proves very salutary, and is often the only remedy required, even in severe cases.

LEAD POISONING.—Considering mercurial affections as being due to the presence of metals in the organs which are the seats of those affections, M. Melsens, of Belgium, administers granulated doses of iodide of potassium, the noxious metals by this means being carried away in the urine in the form of double soluble iodides. He also advises the uses of iodide of potassium as a preventative in cases where men are exposed to the effects of lead dust or mercurial emanations. Numerous experiments at Brussels, Lille, Vienna and other places prove the value of this system. Workmen affected with lead paralysis have been cured, and others liable to mercurial colic have beneficially resorted to it.

IT is with great pleasure that we assure our readers that they can now buy land in this State, both improved and unimproved, at really low prices, which do not exceed its actual value, and will pay a good investment. The prospect of a speedy action by our Constitutional Convention, and subsequent legislation in the matter of taxing lands has rendered all our large land owners anxious to dispose of their estates at moderate prices to actual settlers. —Homes in California.

AN enterprising German editor got an idea of the sensational style in which some of our papers advertised their issues, and he tried it by putting in his columns in large type the mystical words, "To-morrow afternoon." It was on the afternoon of the next day that the Emperor was shot, and the luckless editor was arrested and had hard work to convince the authorities that he was all right. He is disgusted with the American system.

BELOW SEA LEVEL.—Colton, 57 miles from Los Angeles, is 750 feet above the sea; Cabazon is the eastern slope of the Coast Range, 92 miles from Los Angeles and 1,729 feet above the sea; Indio is 129 miles from Los Angeles, and 20 feet below the level of the sea; the Southern Pacific is below the level of the sea for 61 miles, and reaches its lowest depression—266 feet—23 miles southeast of Indio.

GRAHAM BREAD.—To a pint bowl of wheat sponge raised overnight add nearly a quart of warm water, half a cupful of molasses, saft, and stir in as much sifted graham flour as you can with a spoon. Do not knead it but put each loat in a separate pan. When raised, bake in a quick oven.

AN Albany clergyman was recently telling a marvelous story, when his little girl said, "Now, pa, say, is that really true, or is it just preaching?"

"How old are you?" asked a conductor of a little girl who was trying to ride on half fare. "I'm nine at home, but in the cars I'm only six and a half."

THERE is nothing so easy as to be wise for others; a species of prodigality, by the way—for such wisdom is wholly wasted.

ACCORDING to existing law, which, in the present political status, cannot be repealed, resumption will take on the 1st of January, 1879. The 46th Congress will not assemble until eleven months after that date—that is to say, on the first Monday of December, 1879, By that time the country will have settled down to specie payments. To disturb that condition of things a two-thirds vote will be necessary, both in the House and Senate of the 46th Congress, for the President will, from his pledges and well known opinions, be certain to stand in the gap. It is not at all probable, therefore, that the finances of the country can be much shaken up by any upheaval which may now take place.—S. F. Bulletin.

"OH, I know she loves him!" cried the grief-stricken youth. "But how do you know she prefers your rival?" inquired the friend. "Ah," was the sad reply, "I saw her look bias at him."

....SELECT LIST OF....

Local Newspapers.

MANY PERSONS SUPPOSE THIS LIST TO BE composed of cheap, low priced newspapers. The fact is quite otherwise. The Catalogue states exactly what the papers are. When the name of a paper is printed in full face type it is in every instance the best paper in the place. When printed in Capitals it is the only paper in the place. When printed in Roman letters it is neither the best nor the only paper, but is usually a very good one, notwithstanding. The list gives the population of every town and the circulation of every paper. IT IS NOT A CO-OPERATIVE LIST. IT IS NOT A CHEAP LIST. At the bottom of the catalogue for each State the important towns which are not covered by the list are enumerated. IT IS AN HONEST LIST. The rates charged for advertising are barely one fifth the publishers' schedule. The price for one inch four weeks in the entire list is $635. The regular rates of the papers for the same space and time are $3.136 35. The list includes 970 newspapers, of which 163 are issued DAILY and 807 WEEKLY. They are located in 825 different cities and towns, of which 22 are State capitals, 328 places of over 5,000 population, and 444 County Seats. New Exemption Law.

The Act of April 1st, 1878, greatly amends, or rather repeals and re-enacts, the whole section 690 of the Code of Civil Procedure, with several additions. This section is the one detailing what property is exempt from levy and forced sale under execution, and has straightened up some clauses that the courts disagreed about, and added a number of other things to the list of exemption. Here it is, and it is worth preserving, by both the creditor and debtor classes:

SECTION 690. The following property is exempt from execution, except as herein otherwise specially provided:

1. Chairs, tables, desks, and books to the value of $200, belonging to the judgment debtor.

2. Necessary household, table and kitchen furniture, wearing apparel, beds and bedding and bedsteads, hanging pictures, oil paintings and drawings drawn or painted by any member of the family, family portraits and their necessary frames, provisions actually provided for individual or family use for three months, three cows and their sucking calves, four hogs and their sucking pigs, and food for such cows and hogs for one month.

3. The farming utensils or implements of husbandry of the judgment debtor, also two oxen, or two horses, or two mules, and their harness, one cart or wagon, and food for such oxen, horses or mules for one month; also all seed, grain or vegetables actually provided or on hand for the purpose of planting and sowing at any time within the ensuing six months, not exceeding in value the sum of $200; also seventy-five bee-hives, and one horse and buggy belonging to any person who is maimed or crippled, and the same if necessary in his business.

4. The tools or implements of a mechanic or artisan necessary to carry on his trade; the notarial seal, records and office furniture of a Notary Public; the instruments and chests of a physician or surgeon, necessary to the exercise of their profession, together with the professional libraries and the necessary office furniture; the professional libraries of attorneys, judges, ministers of the gospel, editors, school teachers and music teachers, and their necessary office furniture; also the musical instruments of music teachers actually used by them in giving instructions; and all the indexes, abstracts, books, papers, maps and office furniture of a searcher of records, necessary to be used in their profession.

5. The cabin or dwelling of a miner, not exceeding in value the sum of $500; also his sluices, pipes, hose, windlass, derrick, cars, pumps, tools, implements, and appliances necessary for carrying on any mining operations, not exceeding in value in the aggregate the sum of $500; and two horses, mules or oxen, with their harness, and food for such horses, mules or oxen for one month, when necessary to be used on any whim, windlass, car, pump or hoisting gear; and also his mining claim actually worked by him, not exceeding in value $4,000.

6. Two horses, two oxen or two mules and their harness, and one cart or wagon, one dray or truck, one coupé, one hack or carriage, for one or two horses, by the use of which a cartman, drayman, truckman, huckster, peddler, teamster, hackman, or any other laborer habitually earns his living; and also one horse with vehicle or harness, or other equipments, used by a minister of the gospel in the legitimate practice of his profession or business, together with food for such horses, oxen and mules for one month.

7. Poultry not exceeding in value $25.

8. The earnings of the judgment debtor for his personal services rendered at any time within thirty days next preceding the levy of execution of attachment when it appears by the debtor's affidavit or otherwise, that such earnings are necessary for the use of his family residing in this State, supported in whole or in part by his labor; but where debts are incurred by any such person or his wife or family for the common necessaries of life, the one-half of such earnings above mentioned, are nevertheless subject to execution, garnishment or attachment to satisfy demands so incurred.

9. The shares held by a member of a homestead association, duly incorporated, not exceeding in value $1,000, if the person holding the shares is not the owner of a homestead under the laws of this State; also all the nautical instruments and wearing apparel of any master, officer or seaman of any steamer or other vessel.

10. All moneys, benefits, privileges or immunities accruing or in any manner growing out of any life insurance on the life of the debtor, if the annual premiums paid do not exceed $500.

11. All fire engines, hooks and ladders, with the carts, trucks, carriages, hose, buckets, implements and appurtenances, and all furniture and uniforms of any fire company or department organized under the laws of this State.

12. All arms, uniforms and accoutrements, required by law to be kept by any person, and also one gun, to be selected by the debtor.

13. All court houses, jails, public offices and buildings, lots, grounds, personal property and fixtures, furniture, books, papers and appurtenances belonging or appertaining to any county [city] or city and county of this State; also all cemeteries, public squares, parks and places, public buildings, town halls, markets, buildings for the use of fire departments and military organizations, and the lots and grounds thereto belonging or appertaining, owned or held by any town or incorporated city, or dedicated by such town or city to health, ornament or public, or for the use of any fire or military company organized under the laws of this State.

No article, however, or species of property mentioned in this section is exempt from execution issued upon a judgment recorded for its price, or upon a judgment of foreclosure of mortgage thereon.

ARMY OFFICERS' QUALIFICATIONS. The law of June 18th last having wisely provided for promotion of non-commissioned officers in the army to the rank of commissioned officers, the regular snobs at the head of the army sought its defeat in execution by prescribing a formula of examination which the general himself could not pass. The applicant was to be examined upon his knowledge of the use of logarithms, algebra, plane and solid geometry, elements of surveying, astronomy, the globe, and a variety of things of which it is safe to say he never heard, and of which the War Department, if some of the West Point people were not opposed to his promotion, would never have thought. The animus and effect of the order were so apparent that Secretary McCrary has directed its withdrawal, and prescribed the following rational examination: In English grammar, to the soldier's ability to read and write with facility and correctness; in arithmetic, to his ability in the application of its rules to all practical questions; in geography, particularly in reference to the northern continent of America; in history, particularly in reference to his own country, and to his knowledge of the Constitution and the organization of the Government and of the general principles which regulate international intercourse.—Chicago Times.

THE CAMEL.—No human royal family dare be uglier than the camel. He is a mass of bones, faded tufts, humps, lumps, splay joints and callosities. His tail is a ridiculous wisp, and a failure as an ornament or fly-brush. His feet are simply big sponges. For skin covering he has patches of old buffalo robes, faded and with the hair worn off. His voice is more disagreeable than his appearance. With a reputation for patience, he is snappish and vindictive. His endurance is over-rated; that is to say he dies like a sheep if he is not well fed. His gait racks the muscles like the ague, and yet this ungainly creature carries his head in the air and regards the world out his great brown eyes with disdain. The very poise of his head says: "I have come out of the dim past; the deluge did not touch me; I helped Shotoo build the great pyramids; I knew Egypt when it hadn't an obelisk or a temple. There are three of us, the date palm, the pyramid and myself. Everything else is modern. Go to!" —Charles Dudley Warner.

AH SIN IN A NEW ROLE.—A very singular description of fraud on the Chinese Customs has recently been detected by the vigilance of the authorities at Shanghai. The ambition of every Chinaman who leaves his native land is either to return or, if he dies abroad, to have his bones sent home for burial. Hundres of coffins are annually received at the various ports, professing to contain the remains of Celestials who have given up the ghost in barbarian lands. An unusually large number of bereavements in one family in Shanghai attracted the attention of the Collector of Customs, and on opening the coffins they were found to be full of opium. Since the discovery the import of dead Chinamen has fallen off very much, while the duty from opium has sensibly increased.

ON the Midland Railway, England, when a traveler buys a ticket he is given a bill of fare, on which he ticks off what he would like for dinner or lunch and at what refreshment station he would like to have his meal. He signs his name and the number of his ticket to the bill, which is telegraphed on, and when he arrives he finds a table spread for his party, the soup on the table, and the other courses in readiness, and all at the usual hotel charges.

A GENTLE HINT.—Jere Haroldson, a negro orator, proposed to make some speeches for the Republicans in Alabama, but the following remarks from the Selma Times will probably discourage him: We know exactly what we are talking about and have weighed well every word we have put in print. You are in danger, you devil, and before you know it will bite yourself with a snake. You cannot longer go over Dallas county making incendiary speeches to the negroes and using every means in your power to create violence and bloodshed. In doing such acts you become a public enemy, and you are liable to be shot down by any one. Now, while we will not advise any one to shoot you, we are free to say that if you continue in your present course, and it is done we shall shed no tears over your demise. We understand that you were supplied by the Radical Executive Committee with funds to return to this district and whoop 'em up in the style we have alluded to. If this is so, you had better use your unexpended balance in getting away from this country and section. Your incendiary speeches must be stopped somehow or somehow else. Do you understand.

THE MAN WITH THE TOOTHACHE.—A man with the toothache doesn't care for anything else. The glories of the world pall on his taste; the wonders of creation seem as naught. The tooth becomes a volcano of belching fury, and the rest of life hidden in a cloud of its billowing smoke. You can't borrow anything of a man with the toothache. You can't instruct and improve him. You tell him that the world travels at the rate of a thousand miles a minute, and it doesn't startle him in the least. He simply groans. You say to him: "My friend, there are stars so far off that their light has not yet reached this world;" but he don't mind it; he only howls. You tell him that some of the sun-spots are one hundred thousand miles in diameter, and that one of them would take in Jupiter at one mouthful, but it is nothing to him. He goes on swearing and weeping. Sometimes a man's tooth aches so hard, the pain is so agonizing, that several strong men have to hold him down by main force while some important scientific fact is being communicated to him.—Danbury News.

RELIGIOUS INFLUENCE.—An elderly gentleman of benign appearance has of late been distributing religious tracts in the street cars, and yesterday at least one case of quickened conscience was brought to public notice. A young man entered the car, paid his nickel and was handed a tract headed, "Are you a Sinner?" He turned pale at once, read a few lines and suddenly called out:

"Yes, I am! I put a bad nickel in the fare box, but now I'll begin a new life by being honest. Here, driver, change this half dollar and I'll pay my fare over again!"

The change was given him and he paid, but after riding a block or so he left the car to see a man on the walk. The passengers thought it a wonderful case and all were deeply interested, when the driver suddenly called out:

"Hang me, if this 'ere half dollar isn't counterfeit!"

And so it was.—Detroit Free Press.

THE opium dens are in full blast, and it is said some most disgraceful scenes are witnessed there nightly. Chinamen, Chinawomen, white men, and even white women, can be found lying around promiscuously in the Celestial dens, in a half muddled, semi-unconscious states and in indecent positions. This degrading habit is fast getting hold upon the youth of this coast, and unless the authorities interfere in this matter, the habit will grow up with the rising generation and become a greater evil than the use of intoxicants of the lowest groggery. Opium smoking is another of the "benefits" of Chinese immigration.—Modesto Herald.

SENATOR BUTLER, during his recent travels, met a person who ingeniously asked, "Are you the man who killed so many people in South Carolina?" The Senator, who knew nothing whatever about his questioner, replied amiably: "I presume you have killed more men than I have." A cheerful laugh from the surrounding crowd led the Senator to the discovery that he had been speaking to a doctor.

IT is said that the workingmen of England spend annually $55,000,000 for gin, whisky, beer and other invigorating cordials. At the first blush this strikes you as an immense sum to squander in this way, but when you come to reflect that is merely enough to make some fifty odd bloated bondholders, it has a tendency to sink to the contemptible level of a mere handfull of pocket change.

"I SHOULDN'T think there would be such a word as 'breakfast,'" remarked a young linguist to his mother the other morning. "Why not, dear?" asked she. "Because, ma," replied the boy, "it ain't natural. Things never break-fast—they break-loose." There was a sad bewilderment in the face of that mother as she gazed speechlessly upon her son.

CAKE WITHOUT EGGS.—To one cup of sugar and one-half cup of butter beat together, add one cup of molasses, one cup of milk, three and one-half cups of flour, one teaspoonful of cream of tartar and one-half taaspoonful of soda. Add any kind of fruit and spices desired.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY, BY
CHALFANT & PARKER.
J. E. PARKER. P. A. CHALFANT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, OCTOBER 5.....1878.

A GRAND SCHEME.—A new association is being formed in Washington, D. C., to be known as the Enlisted Labor Association. It is proposed to urge upon Congress the passage of a law by which 100,000 volunteers may be enlisted, for five years, for military and agricultural purposes on a reservation of the Government. Twelve skilled mechanics are to be employed in each company, and one regiment of each corps is to be engineers exclusively. As soon as 10,000 men shall be enlisted they shall be sent to the reservation, lay out a city and begin the erection of suitable quarters for permanent settlement, preparing the ground for agricultural purposes, and developing the mineral resources of the country. Each corps is to be furnished by the Government with seeds, stock, farming implements and tools. The volunteers are to receive the same pay as regular soldiers, and every person so enlisting shall, upon an honorable discharge, be entitled to a patent for 160 acres of land, as now provided for by the homestead act, or to one lot within the limits of the city as he may elect. Every alternate lot is to be reserved to the United States. Appropos of this, we move that the Government shall give every man, woman and child in the United States 160 acres of land and say $1,000 with which to work it.

CONVICTED.—Through an extra from the Tulare Times office, dated on the 2d, we learn that James Kerrick has been found guilty of murder in the first degree, for the murder of Jas. and Michael Maher, brothers, about two years ago. The Mahers had a band of sheep, for which Kerrick murdered both, and then forged a bill of sale in his own favor. The evidence was entirely circumstantial but too conclusive to leave any doubt as to the perpetrator. Owing to the lack of direct proof, however, the murderer will probably only get a life sentence to San Quentin.

ADVICES from San Domingo announce the success of the revolutionists, the capitulation of President Gonzales and and his departure from the country on the 2d instant for Curacoa. The revolutionists entered San Domingo the same day the President departed, when a Provisional Government was organized, Jacinto de Castro being its President. The Electoral Colleges were ordered to convene on the 6th instant with the object of proceeding to the election of a new President. Gen. Luperon is the most popular candidate.

ONE B. A. Hill, of St. Louis, advocates the idea of the Government issuing a daily newspaper to be distributed free among the people, the paper to be edited by one man from each State, to be elected by the people. We've had "the Ohio idea" about finances, and here as equivalent in sense, we have the Missouri idea for a Government Bureau of Intelligence.

R. LYMAN PORTER, the idiot who is attempting to push a wheelbarrow from Albany, N. Y., to San Francisco, has passed through Reno. The red men of the plains have been very derelict, or he would have been scalped long ere this. We still indulge the faint hope that they may raise his hair before he reaches the other side of the Sierras.

THE Richmond Company's furnaces, at Eureka, Nevada, including a large quantity of coal and other supplies, were totally destroyed by fire about noon on the 27th ult. The loss is about $85,000, which the Sentinel says the company can easily make up in two months, rebuilding the furnaces and all.

FROM the following quotation from a Memphis letter, it will be seen that the yellow fever is especially fatal to women: "We save no women who are attacked," and then follows some heart-rending stories of mothers lying dead with new born babes upon their breasts.

A DISPATCH from Denver of the 28th ult. says: The immense yield of the silver mines in the new district at Leadville, Colorado, has produced an extraordinary influx of miners and capitalists. Three railroads are extending branches toward Leadville.

THE Secretary of the Interior, in a letter to the Attorney-General, September 27, declines to advise the institution of legal proceedings to set aside patents for the Tioga and Osceola mining claims in Bodie district.

THE San Francisco communist will be filled with grief to learn that there is $11,000,000 less of property in that city to divide than there was last year. At least that is what the Assessor's report shows.

THE COMING ISSUE.

It is certain that the great issue of coming political contests is to be that relating to public finance. Greenbacks or hard money, which? To resume or not to resume, that's the question.

These are the rocks upon which both the old parties are splitting up if not going wholly to pieces. This fact worries the professional politician beyond anything he has yet encountered. To save him, he can't tell on which side of the fence to fall; if on this, he feels it a certainty many, aye, very many, of his former party friends will be looking at him from the other side; if he gets down on the other he fears it will be just as bad, perhaps much worse. But we need not stop to waste sympathy on the politician's account; he will not be distanced at the outcome, though he gets there by taking 'cross lots. This question of soft or hard money is one above mere partisan considertion, for upon it hinges the welfare of all classes—the poor as well as the rich.

Gen. Ben. Butler is at present recognized as the exponent of the Greenback doctrine, as the leader of the Greenback party. In a speech at Indianapolis the other day he announced the cardinal point of his party platform in effect as follows: "That an irredeemable currency is more easily kept at par value than a currency redeemable in coin!" The greenback which he advocates, and which is to be the money of the new dispensation, is to be absolute in its nature. He says: "What is needed now is that the Government should make an issue of money [greenbacks] sufficient to carry on all the public works and complete them quickly and cheaply. This would put money in circulation, giving employment and setting the wheels of industry in motion all over the land. These public works would be carried through without any additional burden being placed on the country, for the Government would pay out money which it has the power to make and issue to any extent that was found necessary."

And which, being irredeemable as well as without limit to its volume, would soon be worth about three bits in gold per sack full. It might bring a little more than that in localities where there was a general taste for tough wall papers of very fine texture and neatly executed figures, easily matched, but in no place, certainly not for foreign exchange, could it sell for much more for general purposes of trade. Yes, the General's plan will make money (if bits of paper of this sort is money)—will make money cheaper and plentier than was ever before known; even the tramp can pay his way as he goes. But the Government must lay in an abundant supply of suitable paper while its credit is good, else have a proviso in the new law by which the Treasurer may pay the paper man in coin when he becomes so unreasonable as to refuse to let his blank paper go for less than its weight of the printed stuff.

The Constitution of every one of our Pacific States is specific in its declaration for hard money, as against bank currency of every kind save gold or national bank notes. The business, public and private, has ever been conducted strictly on a gold and silver basis. The production of this gold and silver is an all important industry in every one of these States. Kill that off, and every other is paralyzed if not quite killed, too. Instead of an insufficiency of the metallic currency for the wants of trade, as complained of by the Butlerites, there is too much, else Congress wasted time in legislating a demand for our surplus. Now, let Congress reverse that legislation, as the Greenbackers demand—let it pronounce for a paper currency exclusively, as these crazy inflationists require, what becomes of our all important industry? The mints are all shut down, the Government wants no bullion in its vaults with which to redeem a currency that is never to be redeemed. It will not take all the gold and silver our mines produce to fill teeth, make bosom pins, and the like of that; it won't pay to run our gold and silver mines on a greenback basis—the chances are they could not and would not be run at all, even though gold would have a nominal value higher than ever before known.

Gold (meaning silver as well) is on this coast an article of production the same as wheat as an industry. Whatever enhances the demand for the production of any industry must in a similar ratio, enhance the industry itself. Then if the gold industry is no exception to this rule, a universal paper currency (which must drive gold out of general use, however little it may affect its intrinsic value), must lessen the demand for its production; whereas, resumption, which means a universal use of and demand for gold, must enhance the industry of its production. If there there is truth in those propositions, the greenback scheme would be particularly disastrous to Pacific coast interests, while resumption would be the very thing to promote them.

TRAINS on the Union Pacific Railroad are still guarded by troops.

THE CONVENTION.

The Constitutional Convention convened in due form on Saturday last, there being 145 members present—showing seven vacancies, of which two were caused by death. Gov. Irwin called the Convention to order, and continued to preside until the delegates elected a President.

The first day's operations were of a character to show that we may look for a great deal of sharp wrangling as this work proceeds. It shows that neither of the old parties, as such, will cut any noticeable figure in the deliberations of this body. It will be composed of two parties or factions, simply, the Non-Partisans and the Workingmen or Kearneyites. The latter are showing a bold front; and are well organized as a Jacobin or Communistic club, with all its members sworn to secrecy and obedience. This manifest fact compels uity of action among all opposing factions, under one general leadership, without reference or the slightest consideration to previous party affiliations. This union, known as the Non-Partisan or Conservative wing, comprises men of legislative ability and experience, more ripe maturity of judgment and experience in social and governmental science than any similar body ever before assembled in this State. It also holds a working majority. Nevertheless, the compactness or one-sided nature of the opposition or Workingmen wing will give that able majority all it can do to successfully carry on deliberative proceedings.

This Kearney wing is organized for a strong fight for Socialistic ideas. This compels a union of Democrats, Republicans and Independents in the interest of legitimate government and equal rights, and so Democrats, Republicans and Independents become simply one conservative party, bound together, as it were, for mutual protection against a common and by no means an insignificant enemy. In the contest for the choice of a presiding officer the Workingmen came out second best in this: That after a factious fight against adjournment from Saturday until Monday, to give time for consultation, as demanded by the Non-Partisans, the Workingmen finally on Monday abandoned their own candidate and voted solid for a man not in sympathy with their cause. That is, as they could not control the minority they allowed the minority to control them, and so threw away their forty-nine votes in favor of a man who had repudiated them, and whose whole personal following consisted of but twenty-four votes independent of theirs. It is likely their unreasoning sand-lot followers will denounce them for not standing to their colors; also that soon the great Kearney will be shaking his hempen noose in their faces.

After a stormy time of it a vote for President was reached on Monday, ending on the seventh ballot in the selection of J. P. Hoge, of San Francisco, by a vote of 74, to 73 for W. J. Tinnin, of Trinity.

BORUCK DEFEATED.—We regret to learn that Marcus D. Boruck was defeated for the Secretaryship of the Constitutional Convention. But for his efforts more than those of any other man, the Convention to-day would have been in Kearneyite hands. The Non-Partisans who voted against him were Ayres and Howard, of Los Angeles, Van Dyke, of Alameda, Waters, of San Bernardino, Laine, of Santa Clara, and Heiskel, of Stanislaus. It is hardly necessary to say that neither Mr. Reddy or Mr. Gregg were found voting with this ungrateful set. The Workingman elected was James A. Johnson, of Oakland, who got 77 votes to Boruck's 71.

THE result of the election in Maine has changed the face of politics in the Eastern States. It has caused a political revolution—nay, it was itself a revolution. The Rochester, New York, Democrat says: The election in Maine has put out of sight the personal and Senatorial issues in this State, and that it is idle to use the phrases Conkling and anti-Conkling. The battle is one concerning currency, and that only.

THE REPORTS.—The Record-Union will publish verbatim reports of the proceedings of the Convention, and we advise all who desire to know what is said and done in that body to subscribe for that paper at once. It is as good a paper as we have anyhow.

A LADY in Madison, Wisconsin, not exactly posted on the word "disfranchised," was told that Mr. Smith was disfranchised and she wanted to know how long he had "been so." On being informed that he had been so about four years, she said she didn't see how that could be for Mrs. Smith had a child only two years old.

MRS. DENIS KEARNEY is making a sensation in the East. She claims to have been insulted by some train man, and when asked to point out the offender refused to do so. We fear that her husband's tom-foolery has unsettled the poor lady's brain.

A man said to answer the description of Tom Lawton has been arrested at Merced.

Lake District.

The Virginia Enterprise says Reilly Armstrong, who has just arrived from Lake District, reports things progressing very favorably in that mining camp. The district is about 65 miles south of Aurora, and contains an abundance of both wood and water. There about 300 persons in the district, eight or ten women among the number, and some thirty good substantial houses, with the usual number of cabins and shanties. The Mammoth Company have a 20-stamp water-mill ready to start and probably now in operation, as it was to start on the 20th instant. They also have a saw mill in operation, and are ready to go to work in good shape. Their vein is of an immense size and crops out to a great height. They are blasting out ore above the surface which will pay well for milling, as they are able to reduce their rock very cheaply by water power. Their ditch is a very large one and carries sufficient water for two or three such mills as that just erected. Their mill is first-class in all its appointments, no expense having been spared to have everything perfect. The Armstrong ledge lies parallel to the Mammoth, is 80 feet wide and assays well on the surface in good free milling ore. The Alpha company have a fine lead and have a tunnel in to a distance of 260 or 270 feet. Three or four San Francisco companies have of late purchased mines in the district.

Good for Reno.

The pure, moral atmosphere of Reno, Nevada, has suffered a mighty shock in a base attempt at rape which took place there the other night. One W. J. Jones, a hitherto respectable merchant there, advertised in the Chronicle for a young lady to work in some capacity. The advertisement was replied to by a respectable young woman here, and after a brief correspondence she was engaged, and in a few days started for Reno to enter upon her duties. Jones met her at the cars, which arrive there shortly after midnight, and had with him a man named Carson, in his employ. Instead of receiving her as he would have done had his purposes been honest, he took her to a hotel and within an hour after her arrival made an indecent assault upon her. The girl's outcries brought help and she escaped, but not so with Mr. Jones. The citizens quietly got their heads together, collected some tar and feathers and then going to Mr. Jones' lodging place last night, deftly took him out of bed, stripped him, smeared him with tar and stuck him full of feathers, a proceeding which certainly added to the grotesqueness of his appearance if it did not add to his comfort and convenience. Having provided Mr. Jones with the latest novelty in attire, the felicitous Renoites bestrode the gentleman upon a rail and escorted with great eclat to the railway, where, placing him on a freight train, they started him for that other Arcadian town, Truckee. At last accounts Mr. Jones was not in good health, the tar having in some way interfered with the action of his perspiratory system, and the rude shock of the whole affair having somewhat upset his nerve equilibrium. There is one thing that Reno thinks Mr. Jones will not do again, that is insert a personal advertisement in the Chronicle with a view to enticing an innocent young girl to her ruin.—Stock Report.

DON'T BE PUT ASIDE.—"Don't be put aside," said Henry Ward Beecher in a sermon. "There are only two people who have a right to put you aside—your doctor and your sexton. No one else. It is ignominious to see men sitting down in indolence simply because they are growing old; don't seek easy ways—easy ways lead to rust; don't talk about yourselves; don't talk about your age; and at all events for decency's sake don't talk about your diseases. If you know you have the rheumatism, that's enough. Don't be prematurely old; don't be older in your feelings than you are in fact; don't withdraw from your interest in life; read what is going on in the world; don't leave to younger men the tasks of life and get out of their way. Don't get out of anybody's way, and above all don't get in your own way. Mingle with the young; enjoy their pleasures. David sought out some one of his own posterity, doubtless, to lie in his bosom and keep him warm, and it is well for you to be warmed by the sympathy and companionship of the young. Keep young to the last. Blessed be the man who goes to heaven like a boy."

AFTER a rough and tempestuous voyage across alkali flats and sage-brush deserts, T. S. Harris, of the Standard, accompanied by his estimable wife and some other passengers, arrived in Bodie. The tales of peril and suffering they have to relate would fill a volume, and their appearance upon their arrival here fully carried out the harrowing tales they have to relate. Mr. Harris says he would not make the trip of 190 miles again for all the unoccupied houses and deserted mines of Darwin. After having undergone a thorough overhauling and and becoming renovated, our senior may be seen on the streets. At present he is laid up for repairs.—Bodie Standard.

THE bullion yield of the Bodie mine from the 4th to the 24th instant, inclusive, was 11 bars, valued at $152,218. The whole yield for the month will be not less than $250,000, which, with the $150,000 carried over, will leave a dividend paying fund of $375,000, deduct expenses of $25,000. And yet the whole mine—ore in sight and not in sight, bank account and all is selling at the rate of $1,000,000 only.—Bodie Standard.

The Acklin Atrocity.

The New York Times has the following in a special New Orleans dispatch, dated September 30, in relation to the Congressman Acklin atrocity, which, it will be remembered, was not long since said to have had no foundation in fact:

To-day the Acklin matter was the topic of conversation all over the city. Acklin selected a committee of four gentleman to examine all the documents among Smith's effects and the testimony possessed by himself in the matter. Smith's house and the effects were under the seal of the Public Administrator, but Judge Tissot granted an order to remove all seals and have the documents examined. All over the city the charges were so atrocious as to be almost beyond belief. The affidavit among Smith's effects sets forth that the mother of Miss Belfrey helped Acklin to seduce her daughter, and she gave an affidavit afterwards that Acklin afterwards employed a physician on Rampart street in this city to procure an abortion. Other details are elaborated which makes the story horrible and revolting beyond measure. The visit of Acklin's agent to Smith is considered to have been but little short of sheer murder, and is so commented upon freely by everybody.

WHERE THE GOVERNMENT BUYS ITS SILVER.—All silver bullion for coinage purposes is now purchased in this country. Until recently large quantities were bought in London. Now the Government can secure all the bullion it wants from native holders, buying at the London rate. Most of it is purchased in San Francisco and New York. It is a little singular that, though paid for in the standard silver dollar, very few of those dollars get into circulation in this way. The sellers take silver certificates instead. In a recent transaction in San Francisco more than three million ounces of silver were bought by the Superintendent of the Mint, who gave in payment therefor a check on the Assistant Treasurer there for the bullion's equivalent in standard silver dollars. The holder of the check presented it at the Assistant Treasury and, without moving his dollars, re-deposited them and received silver certificates for the amount.—Washington Star.

SHOOTING AT CERRO GORDO.—On last Wednesday night at Hughes' saloon, Cerro Gordo, Dr. H. A. Hehner was shot and mortally wounded in a treacherous and cowardly manner by one John Grady. A short time before the two had had a quarrel, but the matter had been settled between them and the bystanders thought it of no moment whatever. About 9 o'clock Grady went into the saloon where Hehner was, and without a word of warning shot him—the ball striking in the left hip and lodging in the bowels. The assassin was drunk at the time, but immediately left the place and so far as we can learn has not been heard of since. The doctor, upon being taken to his lodgings, announced himself as not seriously hurt and strongly objected to his friends sending for surgical assistance. However, Mr. Harwood was despatched to Darwin for Dr. Lesesne, who came over that night. Our latest information from Cerro Gordo is yesterday morning, at which time Dr. Lesesne gave up the case as a hopeless one. We shall endeavor to give a more full account of the unfortunate affair in our next issue.

FIRE AT LONE PINE.—Saturday afternoon last Mrs. S. W. Modie's house, near Lone Pine, caught fire and was totally destroyed with pretty much all its contents. It was a thatch roof and burned like tinder. Mrs. M., who was alone, in her endeavors to get things out from under the burning roof, was quite severely, but not dangerously burned. She was left in a very destitute condition, so that the good folks of Lone Pine at once raised a $50 subscription for her, besides replacing her cooking stove and similar utensils that were destroyed.

ANOTHER SHERIFF DEAD.—Sheriff L. B. Lott, of Esmeralda county, Nevada, died at the Nine-Mile House on the other side of Aurora, on the 24th ultimo, from consumption. He was an old resident of that county, and a man most highly esteemed as an officer and citizen. It is a noticeable fact that during this year the adjoining counties of Inyo, Mono and Esmeralda have lost their Sheriffs by death—Thomas Passmore, R. S. Patterson and L. B. Lott, in the order named.

AT BODIE.—H. L. Childs, Deputy U. S. Revenue Collector, whilom proprietor, editor, ink and type-slinger on THE INDEPENDENT, the sawyer of Black Rock and late bookeeper at Stoutenborough's, Bishop Creek—and a bully boy most generally known throughout Inyo—has located himself and office at Bodie, Mono county. He is one of Uncle Sam's incorruptible officials, and we hope he has not left the county for good—nor for the county's good.

PROBATE COURT.—His Honor, Judge Hannah, held court in probate matters on Tuesday, the 1st instant. The will of John A. Reddy was proven up and admitted to probate, which testament appoints P. Reddy the guardian of a daughter of the deceased, living in Vermont. In the estates of Nelson F. Coburn and Thomas Passmore orders were made for the sale of real estate, the notices of which will be found elsewhere.

DIED.—Mention was last week made of the precarious condition of the infant son of County Clerk John Crough, which, we are pained to announce, died on Tuesday morning last. There was a deep sympathy for the bereaved parents manifested by all, and a very large turnout at the obsequies upon the following day.

VIRGINIA CON.—Mr. Joseph Bitterlin, representing the Virginia Consolidated company, has arrived and is now putting on a small force of men at their mines on Kearsarge Hill. Mr. B. is a metallurgist of long experience, and will make a thorough examination into the merits of this company's "plant."

GOOD WORK.—T. A. Gardner has just finished a business sign for Fromm's restaurant which is about as finely and tastefully executed as is seen anywhere. It is now in place on Fromm's building, which of itself is quite an attractive structure, put up by Sam't Andrews, the contractor.

RUNNING.—The new reduction works of Hunter & Co., at Beveridge District, have been working on the gold ores of that country for the past two weeks. We hope to get a favorable report of their clean-up, which will take place the following week.

UNION CON.—Well authenticated reports come of a very important strike of ore in the old works of the Union Con. at Cerro Gordo. More men are being put on at increased wages, and it is probable that the furnace will soon fire up for a long run.

ECLIPSE.—We learn that Capt. Eudey has gained his suit against the Eclipse property, and now having a controlling say in the entire works will soon start up the mill and mine again in full operation.

WORKING.—The old Osceola and Crowning Glory mines, Belmont District, are each working a small force of men. The showing of ore is said to be very good, especially in the former.

NEW RESTAURANT.—Mrs. R. D. Parker has established a restaurant and boarding house at the old Headquarters building, one door south of J. S. Rothschild & Co.'s store.

GONE BELOW.—County Treasurer Isaacs has gone to San Francisco on a trip in connection with his recently entered suit against Messrs. Harris & Rhine.

MEETING.—Stated meeting of Inyo Lodge, F. & A. M., at the hall to-night for important business.

"Chemically" Considered.

BENTON, Oct. 3.

ED. INDEPENDENT—Young man, pause and reflect. Whence comest thou, and whither art thou going? You said in your report of things at "Beantown" (that is, a town which has "been" but is no longer) that "no chemicals" are used in working the Diana ores "except salt." Now, that, in the classical language of one long since departed (to a warmer zone) is a d— li-kly story. Don't you know that, according to the best Beantown authority I am "ruining the Diana company" in the matter of chemicals? It takes me a long time to do it, to be sure; but "the mill of the gods grind slowly." Nemesis is not stinted for time. Men have been known to indulge in the pernicious practice of smoking for ninety-five years and six months, but it got them at last. So I do not despair of ruining the Diana company yet, if they will only give me time. It is true that some of the rich, clean-sorted ore is worked with nothing but salt, oyster cans and quicksilver, but on an average it costs from one to two dollars per ton for "chemicals."

'Tis said Truth lies, in certain situations—e. g., the bottom of a well; and an editor is permitted to lie—under his blanket, but for the credit and veracity of the wise men of Beantown do please rectify the above error, and your petitioner will ever pray, etc.

C. H. A.

A Card.

To my Friends and Neighbors:—I hereby tender my heartfelt thanks for the sympathy and the kindness shown me in my afflictions through the loss of my husband. God bless you all for your thought of me in these dark hours, and for your sweet words of consolation.

MRS. J. T. WALKER.

Big Pine, Inyo Co., Cal., Oct. 4.

SENT UP AGAIN.—This time he comes from Judge Alexander's court at Bishop Creek, and is consigned to the county jail for quite a spell—six months, in fact. His name is D. Nunah, and his speculation in whisky, with Indians for buyers, got him into limbo again. We have learned none of the particulars of the case, but understand that Wm. Goodman was the principal witness in the matter, and caught the prisoner in the very act of selling the whisky. Judge Alexander is to be credited for being justly severe in sentencing the rascal, for this his second offense of the kind. Sheriff Moore will see that his prisoner gets a taste of genuine hard work during the most of his stay at the Court House.

AT BISHOP.—There is to be another Richmond in the mercantile field at Bishop Creek in the person of our old friend A. K. Briggs, who has leased the new Swearingen building, and will immediately fill it with a complete stock of general merchandise. Al. returns to his old love—Inyo county—and having sold out his establishment at Tuscarora, Nevada, has gone to San Francisco to lay in a stock of goods for Bishop.

ELECTRICAL.—A substantial little telegraph line, extending a distance of three or four blocks from this office to our junior's residence, is now in perfect operation. The old Morse keys and sounders are used, but should any one of our citizens wish to send for and experiment with telephones we will lend a hand in testing them on the wires, and in running a line all around town, if so wished.

LODGING HOUSE.—The upper portion of the new Mairs building has been partitioned off into eight good-sized bedrooms, all of which are very nicely and comfortably furnished. By notice among the new advertisements it will be seen that transient and regular patrons can obtain a good bed and furnished room by the night or month.

LETTER LIST.—The following letters remain in the Independence Postoffice uncalled for, Oct. 1: H. J. Bogard, Robert Com, John Goy, Richard Graham, A. F. Jenks, Ferdinand Lang, Wm. R. Lewis, John Mares, O. A. Payne, A. J. Riess & Co., John Russell, Van Dugan & Smith, Joye Williams.

FAILED TO CONNECT.—A concern announcing itself as the Young America Minstrel Troupe was billed to show in town last Tuesday night, but have failed to put in an appearance so far. It is probably just as well.

Arizona News.

A dispatch just received at headquarters announces that Lieut. H. P. Pereine, of the 6th Cavalry, struck the trail of some Chiracahua Indians on the Gila, and followed them for five days, finally overtaking them near Fort West, New Mexico, and killed two of them and captured several horses and one mule. An Indian scout of Lieut. Perrine's detachment was killed in the engagement. It is supposed the renegades intended to jump the stage, as their trail was discovered near the road.

Five companies of the 12th are expected here to-morrow, direct from the Idaho war. One, Capt. Burn's company (F), will remain at Whipple, and two will go to Apache and two to Verde. Major Egbert is in command of the battallion. These companies have distinguished themselves in the Idaho war, doing most of the fighting, and marching 1,042 miles from June 12th to August 8th, never being in camp six consecutive hours of daylight in that time.

Capt. Haskell and Lieut. Kinsbury of the 12th paid us a visit yesterday, and placed us under obligations for military items. In the conversation they stated it was rumored that Gen. Crook intended visiting Arizona next month, for what purpose was not known. —Arizona Enterprise.

IT is rumored that the next wedding in the Bonaparte family will be, not that of the Prince Imperial, but of the ex-Empress Eugenie. She has been having a good time in Vienna.

Indian District—A Country for the Next "Rush."

If the theory is correct that that mineral zones strike through the country in a general north and south direction, controled by the mountainous upheavals on either side, then the grand belt of porphyry and mineral lodes of Indian district is another "blowout" upon the fissure which has been opened at Bodie. Though Mono Lake intervenes and the outcrops are sixty miles distant, Bodie is directly north of Indian and from the highest mountains of one those of the other can be sighted. The main ledge of the Indian country has the same character of free-milling gold ore, though not so rich, and lying in the same formation; but whether our idea that the mines are in the same zone is correct or not, the principal ledge of the new district has a character abundantly sufficient of its own. It is from ten to thirty-five feet in width, and its length has been traced for a distance of more than four miles. Work is now going now going on upon the ledge at points two and one-half miles distant, the intervening ground being covered by the locations of idle claimants.

THE NEAL MINE,

Now under bond to San Francisco men for the low figure of $25,000, is the oldest location and the one showing so far the best developments. Through a tunnel 179 feet in length the ledge is crosscut at a depth of 90 feet, showing a ledge 30 feet wide, with no certainty that the opposite wall has been reached yet. For three and a half feet on the west side the ore assays from $40 to $50 per ton; on the east wall there is eleven feet of $28 rock, the space between being filled with ledge matter sampling from $6 to $8 per ton. All the ore carries a varying, small percentage of silver. Some 300 feet south of this point, where the ledge does not crop out so boldly, a shaft sunk for a depth of 40 feet produced ore the whole of its width that worked from $40 to $58 per ton, arastra process. At the tunnel dump is now about 25 tons of ore that will work up to $20 at least. The average of a very large number of assays from all portions of the mine was $17 per ton. The ledge strikes almost directly north and south, dipping west at an angle of 82°. The formation on the east is granite; on the west porphyry, in a general belt from one to two miles in width. To the northward of the Neal, at intervals for a distance of

THREE THOUSAND FEET

The croppings have been cut across at various intervals, all showing the same strong ledge on the surface. At one of these openings our representative picked out a specimen of ore showing free gold; the assay of a piece selected as an average of the whole, however, showed only traces of gold and $17 per ton in silver. Other samples have shown from $8 to $51 in gold. The ledge further northward is distinctly traceable by its bunches of hard red croppings for a long distance, running through a country covered with a heavy growth of piñon. A wagon could be hauled over the ground almost anywhere. Water can be obtained by sinking or brought to the ground in pipes, when the cost of mining and milling the ore could not exceed $6 or $7 per ton. The Neal & McBride mine, as referred to, is bonded to Capt. Prescott, a mining engineer of wide note and experience.

THE TEN BROECK

Is the name of a mine on the same ledge nearly two miles south, owned and worked by McNaughton & Mills. It is on top at least 40 feet in width. The shaft being sunk upon the west wall, which was down 50 feet at the latest dates, has not been drifted from to show its width at that depth. We have specimens from the Ten Broeck showing gold, which will be exhibited to those skeptical as to whether a ledge of such vast size can be so rich in gold that flecks of it are visible. Other very promising gold veins have been located outside of the great "mother lode," but upon none of them has sufficient work been done to indicate their extent or probable value.

THE SILVER MINES

Of the same mineral-bearing belt and district lie to the southward and about nine miles from Benton. Those which have been well opened comprise the Tower, Illinois and others which have been and are producing zinc or "black jack" ore of almost fabulous richness. At Clover Patch, some two miles to the south and west, several parties are successfully opening up mines of a similar character. The Prescott and Wasson company have made a number of new locations which bear every evidence of great extent and permanent value. We have but little doubt that by early Spring Indian district will present a show of activity unexceled by any new country on this side of Bodie.

A SAN FRANCISCO dispatch of the 28th ult. says: About 3 o'clock this afternoon a hoodlum named Daniel Merkle, and two companions, assaulted a Chinaman near the corner of Thirteenth and Folsom streets. A lady passing interfered in behalf of the Chinaman, and a wordy dispute followed. This was noticed by a daughter of Col. A. W. Von Schmidt, residing near by, who called the attention of her two brothers, Edward and Alfred, to the difficulty. The two young men went out to quell the disturbance, and Alfred came to blows with Merkle. The latter was worsted in the encounter, and withdrawing a few steps, drew a pistol. Merkle and Alfred exchanged shots, when Edward, seeing Merkle about to fire another shot at his brother, also drew a pistol and advanced on Merkle. The latter turned his weapon on Edward, when both fired simultaneously and Merkle fell shot through the heart. One of Merkle's companions just then fired at Edward Von Schmidt, who returned it, neither shot taking effect. The two Von Schmidts were arrested on a charge of murder. Merkle's companions ran off.

WE hope the time has come in California when we can have it the law of our State that no person can enjoy the sacred right of ballot who cannot read and write, and, possibly, have also some reasonable property qualification. —California Farmer.

A NEW COPPER PROCESS.—A few days ago a Frenchman direct from the metropolis of France landed in Eureka on a search for copper ores. He represents a new and wealthy organization who have an invention or process never introduced in this country for the reducing of copper ores. Copper ore sandwiched into our gold and silver mines has not been eagerly gobbled up by our prospectors; there have been objections raised to tampering with it, but a revolution is now to take place. The company this gentleman represents proposes to put in his reducers at the various mining camps where the inducements are such as to warrant, and then at a central point a refinery will be established. Mr. N. J. Colman, a man well acquainted with the mineral belts between here and Denver, Col., accompanies the gentleman, and together they will determine upon points of location for the works. They are now looking at the situation in Railroad District.—Eureka Sentinel.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 5.....1878.

WILL DISRAELI DIE A JEW?—Everybody knows how fond Lord Beaconsfield is of a surprise. One of the most intelligent Jews I ever met with said to me the other day: "He has yet a great surprise in store for you, and it will be the greatest act of his life. He will die a Jew, and be buried beside his father in the grave-yard of the Jews at Mile-end. He was baptized by a trick of the poet Rodgers, and no Jew is ever sincere in renouncing the religion of his race. He will die a Jew, I tell you." There is something to be said in favor of this view, but I believe the greatest charm of Christianity in the eyes of Lord Beaconsfield, and its firm hold over him, is contained in the fact which he has himself pointed out in the celebrated 24th chapter of Lord George Bentick's biography, that one-half of the civilized world worships a Jew and the other a Jewess. A man so strongly impressed with such a view as Lord Beaconsfield must no doubt feel that it feeds and flatters his pride of race quite enough to keep him true to the religion of his knighthood, and to make him content with burial beside his wife instead of beside his father.—London World.

BEFORE the recent marriage festival of the daughter of Prince Frederick William of Prussia, it was thought advisable to test the strength of the floor of the great reception room of the new palace at Potsdam. With that view a number of soldiers were ordered to enter it in double file, and, to their great surprise, were then ordered to dance the polka. They at first considered the matter as a joke, but as the strains of the band gave them encouragement they went through both a polka and a galop. The floor was found satisfactory.

A RESIDENT who reached home after an absence of two weeks was met at the station by his eight-year old son, who loudly greeted him. "And is everybody well, Willie?" asked his father. "The wellest kind," replied the boy. "And nothing has happened?" "Nothing at all. I've been good, Jennie's been good, and I never saw ma behave herself as well as she has this time."

"IT is impossible," said I to a French peasant lad who was telling me a tough story about a miracle-working chair in a neighboring church. "There's nothing impossible," he answered, "but a stick with one end; and if you go to Chartres you'll see it." "See what—the stick, or that there's nothing else impossible?" "Neither; but you will see Chartres."

POSTMASTER-GENERAL KEY received 6,000 people in the Palace Hotel in San Francisco the other evening. The assemblage was naturally described as a "brilliant" one. Mayor Bryant introduced the guests to Mr. Key, who gave each "a pleasant smile and a hearty shake of the hand, with perchance a few words of conversation."

Gen. Connor's fight for the Republican nomination of Governor of Nevada was a short and gallant one. He was beaten in the Convention by only three votes. A man who can make such a contest has a future.

When Kearney addresses 40,000 sons of toil and collects from them three dollars and fifteen cents, his honest heart should swell with pride that none of his hearers give external evidence of being "leecherous" bondholders.

One of the 294 sections (there are thirty-four sheets of schedules besides) of the new Irish Public Health Act prescribes a fine of £10 for holding a wake over a person who died of an infectious disease.

Vermont's fat woman, Mrs. Albert Smith, of Rochester, died recently, her weight being over 400 pounds, and the coffin in which she was buried at Saxton's was as wide as an express wagon.

As curious a liquidation of an old bill as any is that of the young man of Shelbyville, Indiana, who has hauled wood to pay Dr. Robbins for attending his mother when he was born, twenty years ago.

With Lord Salisbury's permission, an Orange lodge at Liverpool has been named after him, and will hereafter bear his portrait on its banner.

The Duke of Westminster has hung a peal of twenty-eight silver bells in the tower of the chapel attached to his seat of Eaton Hall. Cost, $150,000.

....SELECT LIST OF....

MANY PERSONS SUPPOSE THIS LIST TO BE composed of cheap, low priced newspapers. The fact is quite otherwise. The Catalogue states exactly what the papers are. When the name of a paper is printed in full face type it is in every instance the best paper in the place. When printed in Capitals it is the only paper in the place. When printed in Roman letters it is neither the best nor the only paper, but is usually a very good one, notwithstanding. The list gives the population of every town and the circulation of every paper. IT IS NOT A CO-OPERATIVE LIST. IT IS NOT A CHEAP LIST. At the bottom of the catalogue for each State the important towns which are not covered by the list are enumerated. IT IS AN HONEST LIST. The rates charged for advertising are barely one fifth the publishers' schedule. The price for one inch four weeks in the entire list is $635. The regular rates of the papers for the same space and time are $3,136 35. The list includes 970 newspapers, of which 163 are issued DAILY and 807 WEEKLY. They are located in 825 different cities and towns, of which 22 are State capitals. 328 places of over 5,000 population, and 444 County Seats. LISTS SENT ON APPLICATION. Address GEO. P. California—An Allegory.

At the invitation of Mr. Oscar Kunath we paid a short visit to the gallery where his picture "California" is exhibited. "California" is a queen of tall, masculine yet graceful and symmetrical figure. Upon her head is a crown of bright, ripe cereals, clasped above the forehead by the royal jewel, a full blooming rose. A long, loose garment of cloth of gold, bound on the waist, falls gracefully to her feet, and over her shoulders and reaching also to the ground is thrown an ample robe of regal purple. She stands firmly in the recess of a lofty weather-beaten rock. Behind her to the right tower two giant sequoyas, just enough of which is seen to suggest, with the help of the surroundings, the immensity of their hight. Further to the right and way below are the cliffs of the Yosemite. On her left a life-like oak lifts its branches, and in the distance is the Golden Gate, not so far but the guardian fort can be distinguished. Through the Gate rolls the Pacific stretching away to the dim horizon. Back from the horizon, and reaching up the western sky, spreads a vast sheet of veritable Summer clouds, overcharged with flowing wealth for her kingdom. In front of the Queen and to her left lies a grizzly, his paws folded comfortably beneath his chin as he reposes. At the right of the Queen the rock rises a few feet to form a barrier between her and the vast deep valley beyond, a sort of arm to her throne. Down this rocky arm, and covering it, a grape vine trails. Where the vine reaches the more level rock, and reaching around in front almost far enough to disturb the bear, there are piled in careless profusion the fruits of the kingdom. They are white grapes and purple, the apple, the peach, the plum, and representatives of semi-tropic as well as temperate climates. Below the fruit is heaped the more substantial though less prepossessing product of the mines. The malachite and cinnabar attract the eye by their colors, but a second more thoughtful glance finds worthy occupation in studying the less showy pieces.

Standing upon her throne in the midst of her dominions, "California" makes but one motion. She stretches her right arm out over these her treasures. The attitude is one of majestic command, and if her countenance showed less voluptuousness and more of forcible intelligence, her extended arm might symbolize progress as well as unbounded control. It is our State in her stretch of territory, her resources and wealth, that "California" represents. As an allegory it is as successful as it is interesting, and this is paying it a high tribute.—Rural Press.

THE earliest notice of yellow fever is that of Ligion in his "History of Barbadoes." He there states that it broke out early in 1647, and that before the expiration of a month "the living were scarcely able to bury the dead." Thereafter it did not attain any very remarkable severity until 1793, when it destroyed not less than 6,000 men of the garrison of Port Royal in the course of a month. In 1804 it was brought to the south of Spain, and visited Cadiz, Malaga and Carthagena. But its greatest force fell upon Gibraltar, where out of the civil population of the town, amounting to nearly 14,000 person, only twenty-eight escaped attack.

SINCE the introduction of coal oil in Japan newspaper reporters there have much less difficulty in filling their local columns. When the mowing machine reaches that country and chops off farmers' limbs every two or three days during the harvesting season the happiness of the reporters will be doubled.

PRESERVED GREEN TOMATOES.—To seven pounds of sliced tomatoes slice two lemons and add three and a half pounds of sugar; spice to suit the taste with either ginger root or cloves or cinnamon. Boil until you can run the proverbial straw through, then put in the jars; boil the syrup until thick and pour over.

The "True Thread."

"It's nearly done," said Old Apple John. "All I have now to do is to find the true thread of a quarter inch screw, and my work is completed and the world will be turned upside down."

Then the old man retired to his cellar, and did not return to his apple-stand. The neighbors went to look for him. The cellar was still, but a dim lamp burned at mid-day in the inner-room. The doors were forced, and the old man was found dead upon a pallet of straw. The machine that was to go without power stood on the table, but it lacked the "true thread."

For years the old man worked upon the machine, sponding upon it all his spare time and slender income, bearing patiently poverty, contumely, discouragements, disappointments; returning to the counsel of friends, the jeers of acquaintances, the single reply that when one more obstacle was overcome his perpetual motion would be a fact; then he would be at the top of the heap and have his life on those below. Of the principle he was sure; but the "true thread," or its many equivalents, forever eluded his grasp.

Strange what a hold that old idea has upon the human mind! The shadowy yet tantalizing belief that somehow something may be got from nothing—that by some trickery of mechanical device the universe may be cheated into yielding power without an equivalent return—seems to be an inheritance of the race, to be eliminated from the mental constitutions of individuals only by early instruction—or by death. So long as men are "sure of the principle"—and those who are sure are numberless—no disappointment, no accumulation of contrary experience, can convince that the search for the "true thread" is hopeless. The impossible is to them a hope: it is always possible, and always lies just one remove beyond their reach.

These are the honest Apple Johns—the genuine seekers for the "true thread." Of a very different order is the man who has found the "true thread." He is invariably a rascal and is after unearned money. So he deludes his victim with the promise of a grand prize sure to follow the investment of just enough money to make a larger and stronger model—just enough to start the Grand Turn the World Over Association on a solid basis. He shrewdly counts on the abundance of men of more cash than sterling sense; men who still harbor the delusive conviction that the "true thread," by which something will come from nothing is discoverable, and that the first to find it will make no end of money by it; and he is not disappointed. There are men always ready to bet on the inevitable, provided that some one confidently assures them that he has a trick to circumvent it; and until that race dies out the harvest of the swindler is sure. With the gambler's spirit they reap the gambler's ultimate reward.

It is amazing what protean shapes the "true thread" assumes, and how near it always hovers to the limit of the pursuer's reach. It even more amazing that so many are in one way or another in hot pursuit of it, sure of the principle, but always baffled in its material realization.—Scientific American.

The Silent Stranger.

A stranger sat in a corner of a New York car, in easy attitude, his feet upon a large black trunk. The gentlemanly conductor going his rounds at the first station politely informed the stranger that the trunk must be put in the baggage car.

To which the stranger nothing replied

At the second station the displeased conductor more decidedly told the stranger that he must put the trunk in the baggage car.

To which the stranger nothing replied.

At the third station the vexed conductor more imperatively told the stranger that he must put the trunk in the baggage car, or it would be put off the train.

To which the stranger nothing replied.

At the fourth station the irate conductor had the trunk put off and left.

To which the stranger said nothing.

At the fifth station the mollified conductor, addressing the stranger, begged him to remember that he had but done what his duty required, and that he had done it only after repeated warnings, and that it was solely the stranger's fault.

To which the stranger laconically replied:

"Don't care; 'tain't my trunk."

THE Penal Code provides in Section 415 that: Every person who maliciously and wilfully disturbs the peace and quiet of any neighborhood or person, by loud or unusual noise, or by tumultuous or offensive conduct, or threatening, traducing, quarreling, challenging to fight, or fighting, or who on the public streets of any unincorporated town, or upon the public highways in such unincorporated town, run any horse, either for wager or amusement, or fire any gun or pistol in such unincorporated town, or use any vulgar, profane or indecent language within the presence or hearing of women or children, in a loud or boisterous manner, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction by any court of competent jurisdiction, shall be punished by fine not exceeding two hundred dollars or by imprisonment for not more than ninety days in the County Jail, or by both fine and imprisonment, at the discretion of the Court.

The human heart is a strange creation. That which we have we prize the least, that which we have not we most desire, and our desires continually change. At night a man will pass ice-water by with disdain and give his most loyal service to old Bourbon, but the next morning the ice-water is at a big premium.

There are times in the life of every man when he feels that an enlargement of the catalogue of invective is one of the prime necessities of the age, and when a man puts his hands in front of him and feels for a door, finds it with his nose and realizes the fact that his arms have exactly straddled it, it is one of the times.

We know now what we will do with the next man who comes in with "a good one." We will put him down in a barber's chair, spread a big cloth all over him so he cannot use his hands, blow our breath in his face, and tell him stories he used to hear when he was a little boy. If that does not fix him we don't know what will.—Breakfast Table.

THE VACANCIES FILLED.—After numerous ineffectual ballotings the Convention finally succeeded in filling the vacant seats with Non-Partisans, as follows: In place of Morris, ineligible, San Francisco, S. B. Thompson by a vote of 70 to Sharpstein's (Workingman) 61; in place of Gov. Haight, Alameda, J. West Martin got 87 votes to 3 for Geo. Thoms (Workingman); in place of Hardwick, Mariposa, J. M. Strong was elected by a vote of 107 to 3 for Lapham, the Workingmen's candidate. The Workingmen after Sharpstein's defeat became perfectly demoralized, and hardly attempted to make a fight. At the close of the seventh day the Convention yet had the reporter question to settle and all the committees to appoint before taking up the real work of the assemblage.

THE case of Henry A. Parr, second in command of the rebel party which captured the steamer Chesapeake in Long Island Sound in December, 1863, and murdered the engineer, has just been disposed of by the United States Commissioner at Boston. The Commissioner found that the capture was made in behalf of the so-called Confederate States, and was an act of war, and came within the provisions of the proclamation of amnesty and pardon issued by President Johnson in 1868, and discharged the defendant.

THE Democratic State Convention of Massachusetts—or at least that portion which seceded from the Worcester assembly that nominated Gen. Butler—reassembled in Faneuil Hall, Boston, and nominated the following ticket: Governor, J. G. Abbott; Lieutenant-Governor, William R. Plunkett; Secretary of State, Henry C. Dewing; Treasurer and Receiver, Gen. David N. Skilling; Auditor, John E. Fitzgerald; Attorney-General, Richard Olney.

THE Glasgow (Scotland) Bank failed a few days ago, involving, through other contingent failures, a loss of $30,000,000 on the stockholders. Hundreds of them, mostly persons of small means, have been reduced to abject poverty by the great failure. The cause of the failure was the advance of some six millions pounds sterling to East India merchants, who were unable to meet their engagements.

A SPECIAL from Mason, Texas, dated the 6th, says information is received of Indian raids near Junction City. Three girls and a boy named Dowdy were killed on Johnson's Fork of Guadalupe river. Reports from the surrounding country show the Indians are stealing stock and murdering settlers. A general raid is feared.

A YOUNG student of divinity in Fulton, New York, while acting as Post-office clerk, stole stamps and money amounting to more than $500. His plea that he wanted the cash to help him finish his studies that he might the sooner go to preaching did not avail with the Justice, and the youth was sent to the county jail.

ADVICES from the South indicate that the fever is at last abating in Memphis. In New Orleans there does not seem to be much change, and the number of young people dying is perfectly appalling. In the country the disease is very virulent, and spreading with fearful rapidity.

SINCE the beginning of the yellow-fever epidemic in Memphis sixteen physicians employed by the Howard Association there have died of the disease. Nearly all of them were volunteers from other places—several of them being from Cincinnati and other northern cities.

A YOUNG man and his sweetheart created such a commotion in Watertown, N. J., the week of the fair, by riding about town, he with his arm about her waist, and she throwing kisses at the throngs that followed, that the Chief of Police threatened them with arrest.

THE jury in the Page-Chronicle libel suit, after many hours of tribulation and ballotings, finally and unanimously agreed to disagree, and so the question stands as it did before. The other points in the indictment are to be tried next month.

"YOU have not seen much service in the field, I believe, Colonel?" remarked a Chicago woman to Fred. Grant. "No," replied Fred., "but whenever I put on a pair of pa's spurs I feel just as good as if I had."

BY section 397 of the Penal Code it is a misdemeanor to sell or furnish to any habitual or common drunkard intoxicating liquor. It is also made a misdemeanor for anyone to sell or give to another under sixteen years of age any intoxicating drink to be drank at the time as a beverage.

SCHOOL LIBRARIES.

It is surprising to notice the indifference and, too often, the utter neglect manifested by School Trustees in relation to School Libraries. Scarce a district in the county but has received from $100 to $200 for library purposes since the law containing that provision went into effect. In two or three at the most there is a tolerable collection of good books; in the majority hardly enough to offer as an apology for a library. In some of them there is something more than mere neglect to charge against the Trustees: they have knowingly misappropriated the library fund, using it no doubt for legitimate school purposes, but at the same time not as contemplated by the law. Section 1712, Political Code, says specifically that the library fund must be expended for the purchase of books for the School Library. This section was subsequently amended so as to permit the fund to be used in the purchase of school apparatus, meaning maps, globes and things of that kind, but not furniture, fuel, teachers' pay and similar general purposes, to which it is sometimes perverted. But for neglect and misuse of the fund in this way every school in the county could now have a library which, in a large measure, would supply the demands of its entire district with excellent reading matter and books of reference. Books of the latter class are the most costly in the first instance, yet they are the most valuable for not only the juveniles of the school but the whole community. Such books never "wear out," never depreciate in value, so long as their pages hold together.

In many of our districts the mistake has been made of purchasing "juveniles" exclusively. From year to year these are bought, scattered through the community, used up, or never returned; and so the library remains small and rather shabby in appearance until Trustees, teachers and pupils all lose interest in it. If in that same district they had begun in the purchase of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary; then Lippincott's Gazeeter; then the Biographical Dictionary; then Johnson's New Universal Encyclopædia, in four large volumes; and then a lot of juveniles, such as the Abbott series and many others, that library would now be the source of information and interest to young and old. A sensible teacher would feel an interest in keeping such a library as that, and Trustees would take notice whether a teacher did keep it or not. It would be of value and would be looked after.

THE COMMITTEES—On the 8th President Hoge announced the Standing Committees of the Constitutional Convention, and now it is possible the honorable body may get to doing something one of these days. For the present we can only give the names of the several committees, as follows: Preamble and Bill of Rights; Right of Suffrage; Judiciary and Judicial Department; Military Affairs; Education; City, County and Township Organization (of which Mr. Reddy is a member); State Institutions and Public Buildings; Apportionment and Representation; Miscellaneous Subjects; Future Amendments; Schedule; Reporting and Printing; Privileges and Elections (of which Mr. Gregg is a member), and Mileage and Contingent Expenses.

THE ELECTIONS.—Partial returns of the State elections held last Tuesday show that Ohio and Iowa have gone Republican and Indiana Democratic. In the latter State the indications are that the Nationals will hold the balance of power in the Legislature. In the other two the Greenbackers or Nationals make no showing at all to compare with anticipations. In the city election of the same date at Newark, New Jersey, the Republicans claim a decided victory.

A Stray Lamb in Bodie.

BODIE, Oct. 6.

MESSRS. EDITORS—"Bodie Mine," a parody on "Baby Mine," has been ringing in the ears of the distressed people of the south—I don't mean the fever-stricken victims—the unfortunate cusses who when Darwin, Panamint, Lookout, Lee and other camps to the southward were turning out tons upon tons of bastard rock, staked their all, built up and dreamed over expectations—i. e.: grand results that were, alas! never to be realized. This was the class that couldn't appreciate the little ditty as a song of the times. It struck a chord that caused them to turn to the warning hour glass, and with a defiant glance at ye familiar crags and peaks, strike out boldly for the new El Dorado. Bodie to-day has so many familiar faces from Inyo county that it really seems a reflection of all your principal towns. Were I disposed—and had the necessary qualifications—to rob and plunder, it would surely disturb my conscience, for every other innocent would turn out a brother Inyoite.

It is not my purpose to drag you through a mining summary this time, nor do I think it very edifying at any time except to those who are vitally interested, and they have a recourse to the telegraph and our local paper, the Standard. Of the general outlook I may safely state that the principal mines never looked more flattering. It is true Bodie stock made many a would-be millionaire squirm, but those who receive their regular dividends and others, who are posted, say it is no fault of the mine or the way it is worked. Large strikes are authentically reported to have been made in the Tioga, South Bulwer and Pacific Consolidated, besides innumerable less noted locations. Of course the usual flurry and excitement in stocks will follow, but stock sharps do not look for much notice from the Board until the Comstock shall have partly exhausted her volcanic blow out. We can not expect an eleemosynary benefit from those great despots in San Francisco; we only know that in their innate, reckless and blind greed they can only see the Sierra Nevada in all its glory, and not till its fires are squelched to a practical heat will they pay any attention to an outside camp, no matter if they are perfectly satisfied of the vast intrinsic value.

Amid the ripping, sawing and pounding of the carpenters in every part of town; the regular thumping night and day of the Standard mill, the rattle of team after team loaded with freight, the tramp of 500 to 1,000 individuals on the streets, eternally, the jingle of hundreds of tin lunch buckets, as shift after shift perambulate into town at all hours, meeting friends with "take a drink, pard"—so like gentle music to the miner's soul—and late or early the merry rattle of faro checks at a half a dozen banks, interspersed with, "Here's your red-hot tomales"—"first four right and left," at some hurdy house, and soft, sweet strains of the violin at some bon-ton social; amid all this bedlam you meet a citizen of Bodie and ask him "what he thinks?" He will heartily and emphatically tell you, "We are going to have a hell of a time, my dear sir, before cold weather sets in." And then he will whisper in your confidential ear, "The camp is an established thing—good, sure, for two years." Many are sanguine that Bodie is permanent and that the bottom will not drop out at all. Others are confident that in Aurora we may expect a formidable rival.

The town of Bodie, often described by the heavy guns as an immense collection of saloons, and interesting because of its cosmopolitan appearance and occasional meretricious display, is really a model of sobriety and prudence. Built of wood, there are many flimsy affairs—offset, however, by some fine two-story buildings, elegantly furnished inside. From the first locations of town lots down the cañon toward Aurora the town is rapidly moving up to the southward, and across a large meadow flat. On this flat lots bring from one to two thousand dollars, and may bring the owners to grief, for a claimant now puts in an appearance ready to prove that he long since filed a homestead on this very tract, and that these people have the audacity to cut up his ranch into town lots without even consulting his feelings.

A FEW STATISTICAL FACTS.

There are at least 1,400 men actively employed in mining. Including the floating population there are 2,700 souls in town (nearly all with some invisible means of support). With six well established stores may be found quite a number of fruit, tobacco and stationery shops. Barber shops are legion, and liquor saloons, Great Czar! Think of it, forty well stocked gin mills, and more in course of completion! These rum figures are taken from the Internal Revenue books, and do not include those who have absconded or sold out. There are two breweries, one very small calaboose and some fifteen lodging houses—the majority of the latter well supplied with insects—but there is not well appointed hotel in the place. Speaking of saloons, I find from an official count 131 in Mono and Inyo counties; 10 breweries; 145 manufactured tobacco dealers; 10 public school houses and 1 doxology works. This solitary church of the two counties is enjoyed by the farmers of the rich agricultural district of Bishop Creek. I will not eulogize the little band that labor, exhort and quarrel in the vineyard of the Lord, nor will I answer the queries of the ungodly regarding the superior virtues of Gospel Swamp compared with that of its surroundings. I've had a taste of both, and am now only afflicted occasionally with cacoethes scribendi—a disease not necessarily fatal.

PERSONAL.

I will not attempt at this time to introduce the Generals, brevets, ex-Governors and plenipotentiaries of all sorts with whom I have come in contact with, bewildered and dazed like a modest lamb before the glittering knife. But editors are "public characters," and I'll mention the fact of the arrival safe and sound of T. S. Harris and lady from Darwin, and the miraculous escape of Mr. Elliott's family from the plague stricken city of New Orleans. Messrs. Harris & Elliott will make a heavy team in or out of the Standard office, and with the starting up of their contemplated daily, Bodie will be faithfully represented.

I will bite off this effort with a little practical advice to the many who want to come to Bodie. It is merely to stay where you are and herd sheep. If you are a nuisance to your family or friends, go abroad—go anywhere, except to Bodie. If you have money stay at home and raise water-melons, but if you have money and wan't to gamble, come on by all means.

INNOCENCE.

The Bank of Venice and Fiat Money.

Of all the unfortunate illustrations sought to be employed by the advocates of fiat money, that of the Bank of Venice is the most infelicitous. Of course this is only referred to by those who are densely ignorant of history, or who wish deliberately to deceive the public. We do not know precisely to which category our evening contemporary belongs, but when it asks us to publish, as a "fact," the ridiculous fiction that "the fiat notes of the city of Venice (based on a loan and forever irredeemable) made gold a glut in the market, etc.," we can only be surprised that any writer should expose himself to such prompt and crushing refutation as a statement of the truth involves. Our contemporary has not even taken the trouble to get the minor facts of the case correctly. When it talks about the "city of Venice" it means the Bank of Venice. All the rest of its assertions are pure fables. The truth is that the case of the Bank of Venice can no more be cited in the defense of fiat money than can be the case of the Bank of England. The Bank of Venice was emphatically a hard money institution. The strong credit its certificates of deposit—for that is what they were, and not notes—acquired, arose from their redeemability, and nothing else. So prompt and trustworthy was this bank that during its entire existence, which continued nearly six centuries and a half, it only suspended cash payments twice. Its certificates passed current everywhere, because it was everywhere known that their redeemability was perfectly assured. They went to a premium sometimes as high as twenty per cent., because they represented the most honest of hard money. In those days the debasement of current coin was one of the commonest of evils, and so prevalent that men would pay a high premium to be certain of receiving full weight money in payment of obligations. Now the Bank of Venice never paid out any but full weight coin. If a deposit in debased coin was offered, it was weighed, and a certificate was given for the actual value in coin in full weight, while the metal was melted and recoined. The certificates of the Bank of Venice are in fact strikingly illustrative of the advantages of a hard money system. They would have had no value had they been irredeemable. They ranged at a high premium because they were as good as gold, and also as good as the best full-weight gold. The foolish fiatists have allowed themselves to be gulled on this subject by the impudent falsifications of history which Butler has been uttering. They have swallowed his falsehoods without the least inquiry, and now they must endure the ridicule which such ignorance and credulity must entail. Our blundering contempory would do well to study history a good deal more, and such charlatans as Butler a good deal less, and by taking that course it would save itself the humiliation inseparable from exposure in such absurd travesties upon fact as it has perpetrated in this case.—Sac. Record-Union.

A Wisconsin View.

The value of all paper in currency, whether issued by the government or banks, consists in the promise it bears of payment, and in the degree of credit attached to that promise. If it cannot be converted at pleasure into currency of intrinsic value it cannot remain at par, and its depreciation will be in proportion to the prospect of its being convertible within a longer or shorter period. The printed bits of paper which some wild theorists propose to employ as currency, and which they term "absolute money," containing no promise of payment and intrinsic value, would soon become absolute in one respect only—they would be absolutely worthless. This and all the other chimerical projects by which it is proposed to find a cheap and worthless substitute for the measure of value accepted and employed by the civilized world are based upon delusion if not dishonesty, and if adopted would result in shame and disaster. We hold it to be the duty of all good citizens to oppose with uncompromising firmness all these mischievous theories, as well as the cognate doctrines of Communism and Internationalism, which menace society, individual liberty and the accumulated savings of industry.

To Be Voted Upon.

At the pending election (November 4) the people of Nevada are to vote to adopt or reject two amendments to the State Constitution, as provided by act of the last Legislature, as follows:

Article VIII—The rights of suffrage and office holding shall not be withheld from any male citizen of the United States by reason of his color or previous condition of servitude.

Passed February 15, 1877.

Article XI, Section 10.—No public funds, of any kind or character, whatever, State, county or municipal, shall be used for sectarian purposes.

Passed February 27, 1877.

ANOTHER WARNING.—The killing of Dan Merkle by Edward Von Schmidt, and the finding of the Coroner's jury that it was an act of justifiable homicide, is another warning to the hoodlums of this city that their path is a rough one unless they reform and learn to respect the law. There is no valuable sympathy in this community for those idle, vicious, violent youths, who, taking advantage of a hostile political movement against the importation of coolies from Asia, exercise their depraved and brutal nature in dealing out all sorts of abuse to the Chinese, who are lawfully here and lawfully engaged in making a living. A meaner and more reprehensible offense than the beating and unprovoked persecution of this weak and inoffensive race is not recorded in the books. For the attack made by Merkle and his associates on the poor, harmless Chinaman, which led to the interference of the Von Schmidt brothers and to the death of Merkle, there appears to have been no excuse whatever. It was wholly wanton and malicious—the act of a savage and law-defying nature—and the result touches no chord of sympathy for the deluded and unfortunate young man who lost his life. The party were all armed and prepared for murder in case of any interference to save the selected victim of their cruelty. It is to be hoped that this example may deter other young men of the Merkle stamp from the like offense. They must be brought to an understanding of the fact that as long as the Asiatics remain among us under protection of a solemn treaty, the local law must and will protect them from outrage, and that decent public opinion condemns all such acts of violence.—*S. IT has been a matter of some surprise that a mere spectator of the attempt of Niles to kill Miles should be arrested and thrown in jail, while John Fine, who drove the team for Niles and stopped just at the right place for Niles to get out of his ambush behind the curtains of his wagon and shoot at Miles, should be discharged. It appears that warrants for the arrest of John Fine, Texas Bill Smith and Ananias Niles were got out in Justice Williamson's court at Porterville, and that meanwhile Smith Fine had sworn out warrants against the two Miles', John Byrd, Wm. P. Duncan and T. J. Lambert, who were brought before Justice Herndon, at Woodville, who, being sick, held no examination but sent the case to Visalia township. The parties arrested were brought before Justice Williamson and were all discharged, for lack of evidence it is presumed. Tip Miles has been held in $10,000 and Andy in $5,000 bonds to appear before the Grand Jury. It seems to us that John Fine was clearly an accessory and virtually a principal in the attempt to kill Miles, as much so as Andy Miles, who was present at the shooting of Niles, only that the first attempt of murder was really the more criminal of the two.—Visalia Delta.

UNKNOWN REGIONS.—According to an English writer there are four vast areas which have never been traversed by civilized man, and which among them constitute about one-seventh of the whole area of the globe. Of these, the greatest is the Antartic region, the extent of which is about seventy-five times that of Great Britain; the second lies about the North Pole; the third is in Central Africa, and the fourth in Western Australia. The areas of the unknown regions of the globe are estimated, approximately, at about 11,600,000 square miles.

Accurate Tunneling.

An exceedingly difficult piece of underground engineering, and one which furnishes an admirable illustration of the accuracy of calculation based on scientific principles, has just been completed in Pennsylvania at the Hampton mine of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railway company. The Scranton Republican says: The mine has been idle for improvements for some time, and the work under notice is the construction of a tunnel in the rock vein, making one slope serve the purpose for which two slopes and a "dip" were formerly employed, effecting a considerable saving in men, mules and machinery, and shortening the distance from the scene of the mining operations to the foot of the shaft by at least 2,000 feet. The survey was begun six months ago by Mr. Joseph P. Phillips, Mine Surveyor, under directions of Mr. Snyper, the company's chief Mining Engineer, and from the outset was attended with the greatest difficulty. Over seven-eighths of a mile, principally through old tumble-down workings, had to be surveyed, and 85 sights, at as many different angles, taken before reaching the point opposite the shaft from which operations for the tunnel should be commenced. The most difficult feature was to strike the exact starting point, so that the tunnel when completed would be found mathematically correct in grade and point. A variation of a few feet up, down, right or left would entail additional cost and labor in going over the task to secure uniformity, so it is not to be wondered at that those responsible for the work regarded it with some anxiety until the workmen met in the middle of the tunnel and proved the problem to be correct.

At least a quarter of a mile of the survey was made through old workings where the roof had fallen in, and in some places the space was no more than two feet high, so that Mr. Phillips and his assistants were compelled to crawl through it. The survey was plotted on a scale of 100 feet to the inch, and the result on Saturday last, when the men who had been tunneling in opposite directions cleared away the last barrier and met face to face, was of the most satisfactory character. Every line came out just as it had been computed, and the work complimented on all sides.

Edison's Latest.

Edison, the electrician, has struck something which if he carries out successfully will make him the great man of the nineteenth century. He has about perfected an invention for applying electricity to all purposes now supplied by illuminating gas, and he promises that he can supply an amount of light equal to that furnished by 1,000 feet of gas, costing from $2 to $3 50, for 12 or 15 cents. If he can do that, then will he indeed be the benefactor of the age. The new illuminating agent is to be produced by the Wallace machine, called the telemachon or dynamo-electric machine, which may be run by water or steam power. This machine divides the light of the electricity into but ten parts; but Edison's discovery, which is to be attached to the Wallace machines, will enable each them to produce from a thousand to ten thousand separate lights, and thus give the Wallace invention great practical value. And Edison's discovery, while furnishing this cheap light to a dwelling, furnishes it also with a motive power sufficient to run an elevator, a sewing machine, etc., and heat enough for cooking purposes, and all at a trifling cost. Edison himself says of his improvements on the Wallace machine:

"With it I can light the entire lower part of New York city; using a 500-horse power engine. I propose to establish one of these light centers in Nassau street, whence wires can be run up town as far as the Cooper Institute, down to the Battery and across to both rivers. These wires must be insulated, and laid in the ground the same manner as gas pipes. I also propose to utilize the gas burners and chandeliers now in use. In each house I can place a light meter, whence these wires will pass through the house, tapping small metallic contrivances that may be placed over each burner. Then housekeepers may turn off the gas and send the meters back whence they came. Whenever it is required ts light a jet it will only be secessary to touch a little spring near it. No matches are required."

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 12.....1878.

ACROSS THE MOUNTAINS. — Sunday last County Surveyor Seth Smith, Volney Baker and John W. Crowley, of Tulare county, arrived here from Visalia, coming directly across the mountains on the line of the Kearsarge trail. These gentlemen were sent out by the Tulare Board of Supervisors to view out a wagon road to connect that county with this. Geo. Harring and John McBee, volunteers, also formed part of the expedition. As mentioned in these columns heretofore, Tulare county is determined to have wagon communication directly across from Visalia to this valley if it is a possible thing. In this resolve this party is to search out and report upon the most practicable pass. Of these there appears to be but two, namely, the one above mentioned by which the viewers came, and that from Owens Lake, via Mineral King and Porterville, known as the Hacket or Hocket trail, by which the party will return. They spent over two weeks in the preliminary survey of the Kearsarge route. Notwithstanding the exceeding ruggedness of this route as the trail runs, Mr. Smith assures us that, as compared to accepted notions on the subject, it is a very easy matter to build a first-rate road on the line of this trail from Visalia to this place — one quite practicable for heavily loaded teams going in either direction. The only difficulties of importance lie between Kearsarge and King's river, and they can all be easily surmounted by side-hill grading on light grades without the use of but very little powder. He is certain the whole work can be done, and well done, for a sum very little if any in excess of $75,000. Pending the expected publication of the report of the expedition, we shall not attempt to show what a great advantage such a road would be to this as well as Tulare county. Still, we will remark that it is a little less than 120 miles from here to Visalia; that, thence by rail it is but 250 miles to San Francisco, whereas, by the present stage and desert route, it is 160 miles from here to Mohave, and 370 by rail thence to the Bay. This shows a difference of 160 miles in favor of the Visalia route, of which 40 is a saving in stage and wagon travel. This would be equivalent to a reduction of full three days in freight time, and not less than eleven or twelve hours stage and railroad travel. As there is plenty of good feed for stock on the mountain road, the San Francisco meat market would be brought within easy reach for the surplus beef of all this country. As a competing route, this road would always be of great advantage to us even though we had a railroad from the north or the south right to our very doors. As Tulare county proposes to construct the road to the summit, all this side will have to do in case the Kearsarge route is chosen will be to build about six miles of road to make the connection. If we cannot do that much we ought always to remain in an outside wilderness.

THE TAX LEVY.—The County Board of Supervisors met Monday last, October 7th, pursuant to law, to fix and apportion county taxation for the fiscal year 1878-9, there being a full Board present. A levy of $3 upon each $100 of taxable property was made and apportioned as follows:

To the State Fund	$ .55
" Inyo Bond Fund	.43
" Expense Fund	1.10
" Road Fund	.10
" School Fund	.05
" General Fund	.40
" Hospital Fund	.25
" Sinking Fund	.12
Total	$3.00

The total valuation of all property for the year amounts to $1,441,297, as against the assessment roll of last year which footed up $1,735,993. Upon a three dollar levy last year the amount charged to the Tax Collector was $52,079 79, of which the sum of $3,791 81 was not collected. The present fiscal year there will be a much less per centage of loss, and from the fact that the State levy is 8 cents less, it is probable that the county will realize as much revenue as during the preceding year. If the full amount of this year's tax were collected it would amount to $43,238 71, which according to the above apportionment would give the respective funds credit as follows:

State Fund	$ 7,927 13.35
Inyo Bonds	6,197 57.71
Expense Fund	15 854 26.70
Road Fund	1,441 29.70
School Fund	720 64.85
Hospital Fund	3,603 24.25
General Fund	5,765 18.80
Sinking Fund	1,729 55.64
Total	$43,238 91.00

The cost of collection and per centage of loss must be deducted, of course. The school fund is augmented by the State apportionment and poll tax; the expense, hospital and road funds by lisenses and poll taxes.

RUNNING.—The Beaudry furnace of the Union Con. at Cerro Gordo is now in regular operation, under the foremanship of Frank Drake. The lead ore comes from under the old Omega works through the new shaft. The recent "strike" reported seems to be a vein of rich black silver ore in the San Felipe ledge, of the exact extent and wealth of which it appears to be a hard matter for outsiders to learn. The drift running under the old Jefferson deposit is being pushed ahead, with the chance of an early development of something good.

THE COURTS. — The District and County Courts will begin regular terms on Monday, November 4. So far as appears at present there will be a very light calendar of cases to be disposed of.

APPOINTED.—The County Commissioners of Esmeralda county, Nevada, have appointed our whilom Inyoite J. B. Hiskey Sheriff of that county, vice Lott, deceased.

MURDER.

The Killing of Dr. Hehner at Cerro Gordo. Escape of the Murderer.

The dastardly killing of Dr. H. A. Hehner at Cerro Gordo on the evening of the 1st instant, as briefly mentioned by us last week, will doubtless add one more to the long list of unpunished homicides of Inyo county. He died on the night of the 4th, the victim of a cowardly assassin who has been permitted to escape.

We will not here undertake to apologize for the strange reticence on the part of all those knowing or surmising the facts in regard to the affair, which renders it beyond our power to give any report as will not convey the general impression that there is something withheld in the background. During the day preceding the shooting Grady had had some words with Hehner, it is supposed about some mines on the Belmont side which the latter had but a day or two before relocated. Grady, with one Randall, got to drinking and began "hunting" for the deceased. About 9 o'clock, as the Doctor was sitting in Hughes' saloon, Randall and Grady entered. With pistol in hand and without a word of warning, passed up to and back of the deceased, and reaching the weapon around Randall, fired. As his victim fell the assassin coolly asked, "Which way did the ball range?" At the time there were present Mr. Ellis and a man whose name we can not learn, besides Randall. Mr. Hughes had been out, and upon returning took Grady in charge, disarmed and removed him to Hoff & Co.'s store. Here, in the excitement of caring for the wounded man, his murderer was allowed to escape. A circumstance or two goes to show that Grady concealed himself in town for a day or more and then went over to his cabin at Belmont some three miles south of Cerro Gordo, took his blankets and left for some of the outlying camps of Darwin. No warrant was issued for his arrest, Justice of the Peace Bowen having no Constable for his township and there being no citizen willing to undertake the chase and capture at his own expense. The citizens attach blame to certain suspected parties for assisting the fleeing man after he had reached Belmont. Sheriff Moore at this point, strange to say, got no word of the matter until Saturday morning, when he sent orders to Deputy Sheriff Welch at Darwin to go to Lee District, Hunter's Ranch and elsewhere to capture him if possible. John W. Grady is a man of medium size, light complexion, strongly built; a native of Ireland, and 37 years of age. Two years ago he kept a restaurant at Cerro Gordo, prior to which time he was employed at Swansea, where, it will be remembered, he once assaulted and badly cut a Chinaman with a knife or hatchet.

Immediately after the shooting, Dr. Hehner was removed to his drug store, and against his protest a messenger was sent for Dr. Lesesne of Darwin. The ball had entered back of the left hip, ranging through the bowels—producing a wound which Dr. Lesesne, upon his arrival the next evening, at once pronounced fatal. The deceased faced coming death bravely, and calmly made a will.

Dr. H. August Hehner was at the time of his death thirty-two years of age, a native of Limburg, Province Hessen Nassau, Germany. He had no relatives in this country, but leaves a sister, Miss Lina Hehner, residing at Frankfort-on-the-Main. He was a man of considerable scientific attainments in languages, chemistry and mineralogy. He came to this county from Los Angeles some four or five years ago, and except while absent, has from time to time practiced medicine or engaged in mining and prospecting. But for his erratic ways he had the talent and ability to earn a high rank in his profession, and at all events did not deserve the cowardly assassination by which he came to his death.

DARWIN. — A communication from C. F. O'Brion, Esq., of Darwin, presented elsewhere this week, will be read with interest. It refutes the idea of many not familiar with the facts, that Darwin is on the ragged edge of decay. The facts are that recent developments there and the preparations being made by one or two of the mining companies operating there for further and more thorough work, justifies the statement that the place will soon be heard from again, to the general advantage of the whole country.

THE TAX SUIT.—The case of the Union Con. vs. Thomas Passmore, Tax Collector, has been transferred to the District Court at Los Angeles, and is set for trial on the 23d instant, unless counsel agree to another postponement or transfer. Mr. Reddy will have to forego his duties as a member of the Convention long enough to attend to this case. B. S. Brooks is one of the attorneys for Belshaw.

THE SULTANA.—Following is the newspaper mention of the new mining incorporation to take hold of some the properties of Indian District, a description of which we gave a week or two since: "Sultana Hill Mining Company, to work in Mono county, with $10,000,000 capital stock. Directors: Sumner D. Prescott, Joseph Wasson, E. C. Locke, T. E. Jewell and Clinton Gurnee."

SWANSEA.—The Swansea works were announced to start up last Wednesday, having an abundance of material, lead and silver ores on hand, lacking only the sand or "soft ore" necessary for fluxing. W. E. Goodrum, late of Cerro Gordo, is in charge as chief smelter—a good guarantee of success.

THE GRAIN YIELD.—The threshers estimate the yield of small grain at Bishop Creek at 600 and that of Round Valley at 500 tons for the present season. The corn throughout the valley has been greatly damaged by smut and worms, so that not more than half a crop will be gathered.

NO FROST.—So far, though the nights have been quite cool for the past week, there has been no frost this Fall—an unusual circumstance for this region.

SCORE ONE FOR DARWIN.

Something About Its Condition, Mines, Prospects and a Migratory Editor.

DARWIN, Oct. 6.

MESSRS. EDITORS—In the Bodie Standard of Oct. 1st the following appears in the local column:

AFTER a rough and tempestuous voyage across alkali flats and sage-brush deserts, T. S. Harris, of the Standard, accompanied by his estimable wife and some other passengers, arrived in Bodie. The tales of peril and suffering they have to relate would fill a volume, and their appearance on arrival here fully carried out the harrowing tales they have to relate. Mr. Harris says he would not make the trip of 190 miles again for all the unoccupied houses and deserted mines of Darwin. After having undergone a thorough overhauling and becoming renovated, our senior may be seen on the streets. At present he is laid up for repairs.

The senior editor of the above paper claims for it a large circulation, and particularly (for a country paper) in San Francisco. The general tone of the above article is far from being refreshing or palatable to Darwinites, and though no doubt penned in the best of feeling, still it is calculated to carry out over our State a wrong impression and might lead people to think that our population was small, that the grass was actually growing in our streets.

No sane man will question the fact that to make a trip from here to Bodie is an undertaking which even a "Pathfinder" like Fremont might hesitate to make, especially if he was compelled to ride in a four-horse stage. There are, however, well authenticated cases on record which tell us that men have made the trip, actually made it, and on foot, packing at the same time their bed! The perils and difficulties are materially lessened if a party starting in with St. Louis lager beer will stick to it and keep themselves aloof from Mono county benzine.

A stranger reading the above article in San Francisco or Sacramento would naturally imagine that there was no one left here, that Darwin was dead, no business doing, no occupied houses, no mines being worked, that her checks had really been passed in. Now, Messrs. Editors, we have no channel but through the columns of your valuable paper to advocate our cause, and through them we wish to say to our State generally that there are from two to three hundred souls right here in this place that are not dead, nor have they left, and neither do they intend to go. We have four stores, open and doing business, three restaurants, five saloons, one drug store, two livery stables, one bakery, one butcher shop and one blacksmith shop, all in active operation daily. The following mines have men at work: Lucky Jim, or New Coso Co., Coso Con., or Bella Union, Defiance, Castle and Champion. While in this immediate vicinity are the following mines which are in a measure tributary to our business:

The Emigrant Co., soon to start their new ten stamp mill at their mine; ably managed by Peter Taylor. Everybody knows Peter, and the day he turns on steam will chronicle the advent of a new era in Inyo county. Then there is the Modoc Co. which is fast being brought out of chaos by its old, respected and able manager C. J. Barber, who is fast bringing that valuable property into familiar notice. Also, at Snow's Cañon there is a five stamp mill now running, under the able management of Mr. Mason.

We do not claim at present our former activity. Every mining camp has its ups and downs. Eureka was once in a similar state to our town now. Bodie (where they use a bottle of whisky for a pillow, and it freezes under their heads) was once—and for years—in all but the agony of death, and but for the plucky and creditable energy and perseverance of a few men would long ago have been abandoned.

Those that are left here have a growing faith that our locality has a future, and ere another year rolls by may rival Bodie in genuine developments, and as for climate, we yield the palm to no part of the State. No one questions the far-penetrating perception of the disciples of Confucius in our State, to many of them "by a large majority," and, strange to say, not one of our Celestials have left, except one who accompanied this senior editor as cook. Chinamen are like rats on a ship, never leaving as long as there is a button left on Gabe's coat.

Why, strange as it may seem, it is nevertheless true, the business portion of our community seriously contemplate raising funds to purchase a press and materials, and start a paper. Darwin is a pretty healthy living corpse yet, and all of her dwellings are not unoccupied, and her citizens do not propose for a moment to give any man their houses and mines who has the backbone and pluck to make the five-day alkali-flat-sage-brush trip of one hundred and ninety miles from Bodie to this place. We wish it distinctly understood that we propose to fight it out on this line if it takes all Winter and the coming Summer.

We have ample supplies to fight the battle with, unless it be the want of fire-crackera and Chinese bombs, which we in time expect to have, when the retiring Bodie party forward the $77 worth they fired off the night before they left, to celebrate their departure.

Believing that friend Harris still has a warm spot in his heart for us all, and hoping that hereafter he will not strike us below the belt, the writer will be the first to hail with pleasure the news of his having made a grand success in his new field of labor.

Yours truly, C. F. O'BRION.

BUTCHERING.—Our old friend Wm. O. Harrell has become the successor of J. N. Summers & Co., in the butchering business at Benton.

Remarkable Echoes.

In the sepulcher of Metella, the wife of Sulla, in the Roman Campagna, there is an echo which repeats five times in five different keys, and will also give back with distinctness a hexameter line which requires two and a half seconds to utter it. On the banks of the Naha, between Bingen and Coblentz, an echo repeats saventeen times. The speaker may scarcely be heard, and yet the responses are loud and distinct, sometimes appearing to approach and at other times to come from a great distance. Echoes equally beautiful and romantic are to be found in our own islands. In the cemetery of the Abercorn family, at Paisley, when the door of the chapel is shut, the reverberations are equal to the sound of thunder. If a single note of music is breathed the tone ascends gradually with a multitude of echoes till it dies in soft and bewitching murmurs. In this chapel is interred Margery, the daughter of Bruce and the wife of William Wallace. The echo at the Eagle's Nest, on the banks of Killarney, is renowned for its effective repetition of a bugle call, which seems to be repeated by a hundred instruments, until it gradually dies away in the air. At the report of a cannon the loudest thunders reverberate from the rock, and die in seemingly endless peals along the distant mountains. At the Castle of Simonetta, a nobleman's seat about two miles from Milan, a surprising echo is produced between the two wings of the building. The report of a pistol is repeated by this echo sixty times; and Addison, who visited the place on a somewhat foggy day, when the air was unfavorable to the experiment, counted fifty-six repetitions. At first they were very quick, but the intervals were greater in proportion as the sound decayed. It is asserted that the sound of one musical instrument in this place resembles a great number of instruments playing in concert. This echo is occasioned by the existence of two parallel walls of considerable length, between which the wave of sound is reverberated from one to the other until it is entirely spent.—The World of Wonders.

GOOD DEEDS.—The weary traveler in the south of Spain, who, after passing many an arid plain and many a bare hill, finds himself at nightfall under the hights of Granada, will hear plaching and rippling under the shade of the spreading trees and along the side of the dusty road, the grateful murmur of running waters, of streamlets whose sweet music mingles with his dreams as he sleeps, and meets his ear as the first pleasant voice in the stillness of the early dawn. What is it? It is the sound of the irrigating rivulets called into existence by the Moorish occupants of five centuries ago, which amidst all the changes of race and religion have never ceased to flow. Their empire has fallen, their creed has been suppressed by fire and sword, their nation has been driven from the shores of Spain, and their palaces crumble into ruin, but this trace of their beneficial civilization still continues, and in this continuity that which was good, wise and generous in that gifted but unhappy race still lives on to cheer and refresh their enemies and their conquerors. Even so it is with the good deeds of those who have gone before us. Whatever there has been of grateful consideration, of kindly hospitality, of far reaching generosity, of high-minded justice, of saintly devotion—these still feed the stream of moral fertilization, which will run on when their place knows them no more, when even their names have perished. The vision of a noble character. the glimpse of a new kind of virtue, does not perish. A thing of goodness, like a thing of beauty, is a joy for ever.—Dean Stanley.

ORIGIN OF THE NAME TRUCKEE.—The Reno correspondent of the San Francisco Bulletin thus explains how the Truckee came to bear its name: The Truckee river has little to thank the white man for. Before his time its water swarmed with fish, which suffered no devastation from the red man. Its course was free from restraint. If the tide was swollen by floods of rain or melting snows, it roared the louder or ran the faster until it was eased. It rejoiced in the beauty of nature unmarred and grandeur unadorned. But the sun of civilization arose and its freedom was lost. It suffered first in its ugly name, which sickened the fish and consigned it to drudgery. Anything known by such a homely word as that might be useful but could not be lovable, and people who lived on the Ohio and Hudson, whose syllables fall from the tongue like notes of a piano, have no time for the Truckee. The sentiment which connected the two was prettier than either of them, as is the case when love unites a homely couple. A party of sixteen men, who left Council Bluffs in 1844 for Oregon, fell in at Battle Mountain with a faithful Piute of that name, who guided them safely to Sutter Fort. He went to Mexico with Fremont and disappeared. Through gratitude to this poor Indian his name was given to the river, of which he frequently told them before they reached it.

ACCORDING to the San José Mercury one Dr. Watson of that city treated a Mrs. Babcock for consumption. Mrs. Babcock died, but during her illness and shortly after her death Watson succeeded in borrowing $675 from her mother-in-law, besides being liberally paid for medical advice and attendance. Then he sued the old lady for $299, which he said she had borrowed from him. As she had to take the body of her daughter-in-law back to the East, she left her case in the hands of a lawyer. The lawyer did not attend to it, and Watson took judgment by default. He had her property attached. Now Mrs Babcock has returned from the East to confront the doctor, and charges him addition, with breaking open the trunk of her dead daughter-in-law and stealing her clothes.

....SELECT LIST OF....

Local Newspapers.

MANY PERSONS SUPPOSE THIS LIST TO BE composed of cheap, low priced newspapers. The fact is quite otherwise. The Catalogue states exactly what the papers are. When the name of a paper is printed in full face type it is in every instance the best paper in the place. When printed in Capitals it is the only paper in the place. When printed in Roman letters it is neither the best nor the only paper, but is usually a very good one, notwithstanding. The list gives the population of every town and the circulation of every paper. IT IS NOT A CO-OPERATIVE LIST. IT IS NOT A CHEAP LIST. At the bottom of the catalogue for each State the important towns which are not covered by the list are enumerated. IT IS AN HONEST LIST. The rates charged for advertising are barely one fifth the publishers' schedule. The price for one inch four weeks in the entire list is $635. The regular rates of the papers for the same space and time are $3,136 35, The list includes 970 newspapers, of which 163 are issued DAILY and 807 WEEKLY. They are located in 825 different cities and towns, of which 23 are State capitals. 328 places of over 5,000 population, and 444 County Seats. Another Redwood Cut Down.

Another one of the mighty monarchs of the forest—one of the largest of the gigantic California redwoods—has been cut down by vandal hands and a section of it shipped away for exhibition. Messrs. McKiernan, Manley and Hubbs have, we hear, been at work for nearly a year in constructing a road to this tree, which is claimed to be four feet larger in diameter than any other discovered on this coast. It was in the mountains in Fresno county, northeast of Visalia. It was 111 feet in circumference at the butt, and stood 250 feet in hight, at which elevation it was broken off. At the breaking off place it was 12 feet in diameter. The section prepared for exhibition is 14 feet in hight, and was cut from the body of the tree 12 feet from the ground, the base being so irregular that it was inexpedient to take the lowest part. At the distance of 13 feet from the ground the tree was 26 feet 6 inches in diameter, this being the diameter of the base of the section exhibited. The top of the tree was felled 26 feet from the ground, the labor of felling it occupying four men nine days with axes. It made a noise when it came down that reverberated through the mountains like a peal of thunder. The work of taking out the section which is exhibited was then commenced from the top. The men dug the inside of the tree out with axes, these tools being the only ones that could be used to advantage. The wood was left six inches thick, exclusive of the bark, which ranges from three to ten inches in thickness. The diameter of the tree where it was felled is 21 feet. This shell was sawed down, making 15 gigantic slabs, each one of which made a load for eight horses. The owners of this natural curiosity will exhibit it through the State, thence through the East and Europe. The section for exhibition was shipped from Tulare on the 24th ult., the 15 slabs making two car loads.

The cutting down of one of these trees is nothing less than a sacrilege, and should be prohibited by the most stringent laws. When Senator Lindsey was in the Legislature he introduced a bill providing for the protection of the large redwoods of Fresno, Tulare and Kern counties, imposing a fine of $50 on each person cutting one of them down. A fine of $1,000 and imprisonment in the State Prison for not less than one year would not be too great a punishment for the commission of such an offense. If people may cut them down for the purpose of taking out a small section for exhibition by merely paying the paltry sum of $50, it will be but a short time when we shall have no more of these trees for which California is now so famous. The parties above named could not be contented with cutting down a large tree, but had to take the largest. This practice should be stopped before our forests are entirely denuded of redwoods; and the representatives of this portion of the State should see that proper means be taken for their protection. Had they cut down a smaller tree the matter would not have been quite so reprehensible, but public sentiment is strongly against such wanton acts of vandalism. The parties getting out the large trees are merely the stool pigeons of speculators, who will realize large sums from their exhibition in various parts of the world. —Visalia Delta, Oct. 11.

A LITTLE twelve-year old Mexican girl was abducted from her father's house, near the upper end of Tulare lake, on Friday last, by a Mexican, name unknown. The abductor started with the girl toward the foot-hills, and on being pursued and overtaken by the father of the child, turned about and fired on him with a pistol, inflicting a painful wound in the neck. Not being armed, the father left his child to her fate, and returned home, the desperado making his escape toward the mountains. The following day the man who was shot died from the effects of his wound, at Lemore.—Tulare Times.

The Washington Monument.

One of the landmarks of the national capital is the famous Washington monument, begun three decades ago and not yet half finished. It looms up in incomplete grandeur, visible from any part of the city and for a dozen miles or more down the Potomac, an example of great undertakings and small accomplishments. Two years ago Congress appropriated $200,000 for the completion of the monument, $50,000 to be expended upon it each year, but when preparations were made to begin that work of completion it became known that the foundations were insecure and must be strengthened underground before they could safely support the finished structure. Accordingly, last year an additional appropriation of $36,000 was made for that purpose specifically, which, the Monument Commission have now decided, is not sufficient money for the work. It is to be at once commenced on that, however, and when it is expended operations are to be started on the monument proper. Two years' money, $100,000, has accumulated, and by the time it is used another year's installment will be due, so that considerable can be accomplished and there is no plausible reason why the work may not now go on to its finis uninterruptedly. The monument, as originally designed, would be the grandest on this side the ocean, a fitting memorial of our first President, fittingly located and ornamented. It is outwardly a plain white marble shaft, Bunker-Hill-Monument shaped, but inside the walls are tablets of different kinds of stone, inscribed with various sentiments, carved, engraved or plain, that have been presented by different States, counties and kingdoms all over the world as testimonials of regard for our Republic and its founders.

PROTECTING FRUIT TREES FROM WORMS.—The bandage system, which we were the first to suggest some twenty-five years ago, and have often referred to since, is the only effectual protection we have yet seen tried against the operations of the worm in the fruit tree. We repeat again that in not a single instance have we ever had a worm in our dwarf pear trees where this was properly attended to. It is simply to bandage the bottom of the tree with any kind of muslin or cloth, and tie it, letting the bandage be about six inches above the ground and two inches below. It should be applied as soon as the ground is in a fit condition to go upon. These bandages should be removed at the end of October, that they may remain in good condition for another year; otherwise it will do no harm to let them alone. As long as this is continued we defy the worms. The beetle lays its eggs an inch or two above the ground early in the Spring, that is as soon as the warm days in March will admit its coming forth from its Winter quarters; the eggs are soon hatched by the sun, being laid on the sun-side of the trunk, and the young grub finds its way down to the soft bark beneath the soil where it gradually works its way in. The bandage prevents both the laying and descent of the grub. Let doubters try it. One man will bandage two hundred trees in a day. It may also protect peach trees in the same way. —Germantown Telegraph.

EXEMPTS.—It is a remarkable fact the Chinese are exempt from the yellow fever. It may be that the Mongolians are too yellow to afford any opening for the malady, but the fact remains that no yellow fever has ever prevailed in the Celestial land. A despatch from St. Louis now says that Hong Chin Foo, a Chinaman who has resided in this country since 1873, has gone to Memphis to treat the yellow fever by a remedy which he claims to be infallible. He proposes to make pipes of a peculiar construction, and to provide a preparation of opium and oil, the use of which, he states, is the real cause of the immunity of the Chinese from the ravages of the disease. He is sanguine of the success of his experiment. The last time the cholera visited this country some shrewd scientist remarked that cholera was unknown as an epidemic in China, a fact which he attributed to the liberal use of opium. Almost immediately the cigar makers threw upon the market an anti-cholera cigar, which was said to contain a small quantity of opium. Thousands of them were consumed as a preventative. We shall watch the progress of Hong Chin Foo with great interest.—Baltimore Gazette.

A PARABLE.—Once there was a mule. He had a pair of limber legs with heels on the end of them. Mule thought his master did not give him enough to eat. So one day as the boss was passing behind him he lifted up his heels and boosted him to the other side of the barn. This was what Mr. Mule called a strike. He thought he could get all the the corn he wanted now. Presently he wanted water. He didn't get it though. He wanted corn. He didn't get that too. He went to bed that night without his supper. Next day he didn't have to go to work. He didn't have to eat either. All he had to to do was to stand and think. He couldn't imagine why that master of his didn't come to feed him. The next day was the same, and the next. Before that mule got anything to eat again he had grown so gaunt and gentle he was willing to keep his heels on the ground. The strike had ended.

A DARKEY, who was stooping to wash his hands in the creek, didn't notice the peculiar actions of a goat just behind him; so, when he scrambled out of the water, and was asked how it happened, he answered: "I dunno, 'zactly; but it 'peared as ef de shore kinder h'isted and frowed me."

Rules for Lady Travelers.

A correspondent of a Chicago paper, in view of the difficulties and dangers encountered by the ladies when traveling alone, suggests that they should observe the following rules:

1. Before starting on a journey, familiarize yourself with the route, and names of good hotels at the various stopping places.

2. Never travel with just enough money, but always carry enough to provide for any possible emergency. This will save much anxiety.

3. Wear but little jewelry, and keep the larger part of your money in some inside pocket, out of sight.

4. Always look after yourself, and do not allow a stranger to procure your ticket or checks for baggage.

5. Avoid, if possible, making changes in car by night, but when unavoidable, go with others. Do not become separated from the crowd.

6. Take no hacks, but go in an omnibus where there are other people. These are perfectly safe.

7. If in any doubt as to changing cars, checking baggage, etc., inquire in advance of the conductors on your trains, who are always polite and willing to be of service, especially to women traveling alone.

8. Do not wait till about to make some change in the train before inquiring of the conductor. The conductor will then be hurried, and you will only half inform yourself; and finally,

9. Under all circumstances endeavor to retain presence of mind. One who can do this will have no trouble in traveling, and, instead of its being unwise for women to travel alone, I think it an advantage for them to make trips, for there are but few people who are not at times obliged to do so, and experience does away with much of the possible danger in traveling.

THE Oakland City Council has passed an ordinance compelling the use of the bell punch in saloons. It requires the payment of one cent for each drink, or quantity less than one quart of malt, spiritous or fermented liquors sold or disposed of, in addition to the present license. Every man who sells a drink of liquor must punch with a bell punch and pay the city one cent; and it is expected that the tintinabulations will be fearful in some localities. The law goes into effect December 31.

A GOOD many people are puzzled at the result of the vote in New Haven, Connecticut, providing for the use of the Bible in the public schools of that city. This was effected by a combination of sectarian influences, the Catholics voting with the Protestants because the latter have agreed to support the Catholic parish school—in other words, divide the school funds for the support of sectarian institutions.—S. F. Post.

The progress made in ocean steam navigation is far more surprising than most people are aware. At the present day fifteen times as much freight can be carried across the Atlantic, in one half the time, and at an expenditure of less one and a half times as much fuel, as in 1840. This has been shown by a comparison of the data of recorded averages of the steamship Brittannia in 1840, and the steamship Brittanic in 1877.

GEORGE had his hair shingled down so close to his head that it looked like a base ball. Then he went to Clara and said: "My head feels as light as a transparency." And Clara said: "No doubt, for all there is in it is on the outside." And George hasn't been able to make up his mind yet what she meant by it, but he thinks it sounded ill-natured.

KRUPP's latest big gun is capable of throwing a shot through the armor of any ship afloat at a distance of six miles, and at from 1,000 to 2,000 yards would make short work of sinking any iron-clad fleet that came within its range, so that little chance is left for vessels to get by the range of such guns unless they are constructed to dive, and swim under water.

THE champion mean man has again exposed himself in the person of a wealthy citizen of Memphis, who deserted his wife and children, stricken with the fever, and from a safe refuge at the North, telegraphed to the Howard Association that he felt confident such a humane society would not fail to provide for his family, and in case of death to give them a decent burial.

ONE THOUSAND members of seminaries and colleges are waiters in the White Mountain hotels. Under their intelligent management the artless tripe becomes the "prepared stomach of ruminating animals," and the guileless hash loses itself in the "mazes of the concreted particles of the disordered elements of yesterday."

A YOUNG gentleman who moves in the best society of San Antonio, said to a young lady, the other evening, "The foliage is much more exuberant this year than usual." "Yes," she answered thoughtfully, "all them imported fruits is cheaper than they used to was."

"WHY didn't you put on a clean collar before you left home?" called out an impertinent young fop to an omnibus driver. "'Cause your mother hadn't sent home my washing," was the extinguishing reply.

MR. JOHN CASS wants his name changed. He objects not to "Cass," neither is "John" nor "Jack" distasteful; but "Jack Cass" is more than he can or will stand.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 19 .....1878.

THE Esmeralda Herald has begun upon its second year. In reference to the matter it speaks of Aurora in terms as follows: "One year ago when the first type of the Herald was placed in position the town of Aurora was just awakening from a lethargy of many years. Since then it has progressed slowly, though steadily up the hill toward a standing it once had among the towns of Nevada. The progress has been very slow, but it has been correspondingly sure. Old and worthless buildings then have since been repaired and their idle walls made to do duty again in the housing of many people who have come hither with the intention of making a permanent stay. What little prospecting has been done has proven in every instance—that, although what may be found at a depth is yet uncertain—there is still enough ore in the upper and partially worked levels of Last Chance, Middle and Silver Hills to warrant the investment of much capital in its extraction." We wish for the Herald and its locality as bright a future as it claims.

THERE are startling signs of an impending European war of gigantic proportions, involving the enormous prowess of England and Russia as the principal antagonists. The march of a Russian army upon Adrianople, the strengthening of the Turkish lines around Constantinople, the threatened invasion of Afghanistan by England, and the sudden rise of discount from four to six per cent in the Bank of England, are all cited as indications that the Congress of Berlin, so far from settling anything, merely postponed the day of a general outbreak for a few months and laid the groundwork for a war on a grander scale than anything that could have transpired with Russia and Turkey as the sole belligerents.

FROM reading the following, given in the Austin Reveille, we conclude that some old Inyoite voter has strayed off into Nevada: "In a political discussion in one of the saloons last night, when the name of a certain candidate was brought up, one of the discussers thus declared himself: 'He 'aint on my ticket, but I'm going to vote for him anyway. He 'aint worth a d— for anything else, and it's cheaper for the county to have him in office than it would be to keep him in the hospital.'"

THE California State Women's Suffrage Association met in San Francisco last week, and during the session a resolution was adopted and a committee of five members was appointed to attend the Constitutional Convention in Sacramento and endeavor to have that body engraft in the new Constitution a clause removing the political disabilities of women. J. J. Owen, of the San José Mercury was elected President for the ensuing year.

ACCORDING to the way the Tulare Times reports it, the people of Tulare county have recently been convicted of horse stealing. Very likely; for, from the numerous scandals, murders, suicides, etc., we hear about in that county, we should think a general conviction for horse stealing would be about the proper racket. The Times' report was in these words: "The People vs. Tibbetts, was convicted of horse-stealing."

PRESIDENT HOGE is being severely lampooned by some for his rulings, and the papers pitted against him denounce him as a strong "partisan," although elected on the Non-partisan ticket. In each case where an appeal has been taken the Convention has sustained him. He evidently knows his duty and intends to perform it, regardless of the demagogue howl around him.

THE Semi-Tropic of the 12th turns its column rules in respect to the memory of Gen. Colton, after whom the town of Colton, where that paper is published, was named. The citizens of the place held a public meeting and adopted resolutions of sorrow at the death of the General, and of sympathy for the bereaved family.

IN Leicestershire, England, the remains of a laborer's wife were taken to a churchyard for burial, when the Episcopal vicar refused admission on the ground that the woman died a Wesleyan. This gave rise to indignation in the parish, and a mob followed the clergyman beating pans.

MR. HAZEN, of Bowling, Illinois, starting on a long journey, hired Mr. Newcomb to watch Mrs. Hazen, as to whom he was jealous. When Mr. Hazen returned Mr. Newcomb and Mrs. Hazen had eloped together.

THE ravages of the yellow fever seem not to abate in the least anywheres, only as material becomes scarcer.

SOME OF THEM.

It looks now as if California is going to have the most comprehensive State Constitution ever invented—that is, if the fininshed instrument happens to harmonize in any material degree with say one-half of the propositions already submitted as good things to be in a Constitution. Every known and every suspected contingency to insure a smooth State Government straight out from the Constitution itself is getting an an airing. Everything is to be provided for in the fundamental law, so that we won't need a Legislature only about once every ten years, and then just for form's sake, and to vote a deficiency salary bill and things of that sort. It is surprising how many hobbies, fancies, grievances, etc., etc., are set forth in these propositions. Some of these are good enough, without doubt, others quite the reverse. Among the worst in the latter category are all those propositions designed to force State cognizance of religion. We should be sorry, indeed, to have the general religious sentiment of the country diminished one iota, for we believe a religious sentiment to be the country's highest estate, its real safe guard — provided, always, that it is in no special degree a State religion, for then it is naught but a State discord. We believe in the largest liberty for every belief, special rights and privileges to none. We do not believe there is an organized religon on the face of the earth so good of itself that the rest of mankind should be compelled to join in its support, nor one fit to be trusted with absolute power, and least of all those that are ever striving for that end through special rights under the law.

John Chinaman is a prolific source of propositions. The way they are all going for that heathen Chinee is remarkable. If propositions were broad lances, John's hide wouldn't hold shucks this blessed day. Full a dozen have prodded him through and through already. The Constitution of the United States is no barrier whatever. They are going "to whoop him out of this," regardless of that great instrument, and Congressional action as to the acceptance of our new Constitution on account of unconstitutionality in this very particular. If it was not for the United States Constitution preventing Congress from accepting one by a State not in conformity therewith, most any of these propositions would be worthy of indorsement, for almost any of them outlines a very positive remedy for the great and ever growing evil. Unfortunately, however, for the consummation of that important end, over zeal for its accomplishment bids fairest for its defeat. As we view it, none of these anti-Chinese propositions, which are strong enough to any good but are of a kind certain to be pronounced inadmissible when the State Constitution of which they form a part comes up for Congressional ratification. In other words, this Convention may frame an instrument that may in every provision be highly pleasing to the people of this State, yet the whole be lost because its most pleasing feature, perhaps, may cause Congress to reject it as not in harmony with the fixed principles of the general government. There is, we believe, considerable danger of this general anti-Chinese sentiment leading to that very result. The acknowledged force of this sentiment is such that but few members of this Convention will care to vote consistently against all these propositions, one after another, however confident they may be that the incorporation of any of them would jeopardise the whole instrument on constitutional grounds, and for the reason that the motive for persistent opposition is almost certain to be misinterpreted—not a pleasant thing to experience from questions of this peculiar kind—a kind that gives the advantage to the demagogue right along. As such will bid for popular favor at any cost, it is about an even chance that the effort to get rid of the Chinaman by a constitutional clause will come to naught, and cause us the loss of the new Constitution besides, by reason of the probable unconstitutionality of such a clause. We doubt if this body can accomplish anything more toward a settlement of the China question than the State Legislature. But it is manifest many gentlemen there think quite the reverse, and we hope they are right. One of them occupies perfectly safe constitutional grounds, we know, for the sum total of his submitted proposition was: "Resolved—The Chinaman may go." That will do no violence to the boss Constitution.

WELLS, FARGO & Co. have revoked the order for the discontinuance of yellow fever subscriptions, and have authorized their agents to continue to receive money for the sufferers, as there is yet great need for the orphans and destitute in the localities where the scourge is prevailing.

MINING papers generally have been copying THE INDEPENDENT'S description of Indian District—"the country for the next 'rush.'" We stand upon the proposition that such will prove to be the fact.

LATE news from the scene of Indian hostilities is decidedly alarming, and if the strength of the hostiles now marauding and murdering in Dakota be not overestimated the atrocities of the past few weeks will inevitably culminate in an appalling calamity. The handful of soldiers sent out to punish the savages are unable to protect themselves, and it is rumored that portions of them have been cut off and annihilated. An overwhelming force of Indians is gathered in the Black Hills country, and the destruction of Deadwood and the adjacent mining camps is apprehended. The movement of the Indians thus far, with a rumor that Sitting Bull has again taken the field with his savages, seem to denote a well-organized campaign, looking to the clearing out of the Black Hills country. Such a result is thought not unlikely to wind up the present reign of devastation and bloodshed, for which the miserable negligence of the Government is responsible. The savages may then go into Winter quarters, or retire to British territory to recuperate for a fresh campaign.

AT the twenty-ninth annual convocation of the Grand Lodge, F. & A. M., held last week at San Francisco, the following officers were elected: John Mills Browne, Grand Master; W. W. Traylor, Deputy Grand Master; W. H. Crane, Senior Grand Warden; R. C. Broder, Junior Grand Warden; Moses Heller, Grand Treasurer; Alex. G. Abell, Grand Secretary; Geo. T. Grimes, Assistant Grand Secretary; Rev. Thos. Guard, Grand Chaplain; J. W. Shaeffer, Grand Lecturer; J. Q. Adams, Grand Marshal; Samuel Graves, Grand Bible Bearer; C. T. Shields, Grand Standard Bearer; L. T. Crane, Grand Sword Bearer; O. W. Hollenbeck, Senior Grand Deacon; H. S. Orme, Junior Grand Deacon; J. Pashburg, Senior Grand Steward; H. M. Isaacs, Junior Grand Steward; G. Burnham, Grand Pursuivant; Samuel D. Mayer, Grand Organist; James Oglesby, Grand Tyler.

THE INDIANS.—The news from Dakota and Nebraska up to the 14th indicates that we are on the eve of another bloody war. Already, it is stated, not less than eighty-seven persons have been murdered by the Indians along Platte river in the past two or three weeks. Great apprehension prevails, not only for the safety of the outlying settlements in Dakota, but for the extensive town of Deadwood itself. The available military force in the field is so insignificant in numbers as to scarcely be able to protect itself. In fact it is reported one detachment of the Seventh Cavalry in the Black Hills has been annihilated.

THE first nomination for the next President of the United States has been formally made. The gentleman named is Mr. William Corry, of Cincinnati. The Public Good, a paper published in that burg, makes the nomination. It is all the more valuable, this nomination is, because it is made by Mrs. William Corry, who is the editress of that paper. Now, in these degenerate days, when a man's wife says he is just the man to make a good President, who will gainsay it? 'Rah-ah, for William.

THE RESULT.—Ohio elects 11 Democratic Congresman and the Republicans 9. The latter elect their entire State ticket with increased majorities. Indiana elects six Republican and six Democratic Congressman, and one Democratic Greenbacker. The Democrats have a small majority in the Legislature. The Republicans lose six Congressmen in these two States, but show gains in the popular vote. West Virginia is all Democratic, save one Greenbacker, and Iowa all Republican.

IOWA POLITICS.—The Democrats of Iowa propose to run a full Congressional ticket in Iowa at an election next month, claiming by reason of some conflict between State and Federal law of 1875, that that election should occur in November instead of October. The Republicans, on the other hand, after a full consideration of the subject conclude that the October election was strictly in accordance with law, and will pay no attention to this November proposition.

THE U. S. Circuit Court in San Francisco is now occupied with the important subject of a Chinaman's tail. Sheriff Nunan cut off the queue of a Chinese culprit, and the Chinaman considers himself damaged to the amount of $10,000, for which sum he brings suit.

DEAD.—E. A. Cronin, well known to the world in connection with the Oregon Electoral muddle, died at Portland on the 13th inst. after a long and painful illness. Deceased was a lawyer of extensive practice and had been a resident of Oregon for about twelve years.

THE greatest benefactor to the female sex on record is Judge Grant, of Davenport, Iowa. He adopted seventeen girls, "raised them and married most of them off with generous endowments."

Financial History.

In the first five years of the 18th century a great clamor arose in New England for the issue of more paper currency "to meet the wants of trade." Bills of credit to a large amount were already in circulation, but business was depressed, and merchants complained, as they always do when times are hard, that "money was scarce." Massachusetts issued half a million paper dollars (£100,000)) in 1715, the immediate effect of which was a marked depreciation of the currency. Four years later there was a cry for a new issue, "so that workmen might be employed and the currency enlarged." "Ruin will come," continued the writer from whom we quote, "unless more bills of credit are emitted." Another half million was put out in 1821, and in the course of the next few years there were several issues of smaller amounts, always with the same result: the purchasing power of the currency was impaired, and the disorders of commerce were not alleviated in the least. After the second half million issue £1,000 in paper was worth only £360 in coin. And yet still the demand went up for "more paper currency to meet the demands of trade." When one kind of bills became heavily depressed they were replaced by another, which soon went through the same process, so that the colonists came after a while to have a bewildering variety of currencies—"old tenor," "middle tenor," "new tenor," "new tenor first," "new tenor second." And, nevertheless, money continued to be scarce, and trade depressed. At last, when business had reached its lowest ebb, and poverty-stricken merchants and mechanics had begun to leave the colony, Massachusetts receiving a large amount of coin as her share in the capture of Louisbourg, wisely resolved to devote it to the redemption of the bills. There were loud outcries against the "iniquitous resumption bill;" there were even some riotous demonstrations; but the expected shock did not occur. "The only shock," says Prof. Sumner, "was to Rhode Island and New Hampshire, who found their trade transferred to the 'silver colony,' and their paper suddenly and heavily depreciated." The commerce of Massachusetts "revived steadily and rapidly, and we hear no more of 'scarcity of money,' until the next violation of the laws of circulation." If it were only permissible for us to teach the inflationists of our day by the example of their great grandfathers? But no; history, history, according to these gentlemen, is the subsidized and mercenary minion of bond sharks and vampires. It must be put down.—N. Y. Tribune.

ONE Ramon Montenegro, well known in Inyo as a first-class ruffian and the perpetrator of a murder at Panamint, has now another killing to answer for in Candaleria, aside from the affair a year or so ago at Belleville or Columbus. The Aurora Herald gives very good apologies on behalf of Montenegro in the present affair, however. We extract the following from its account of the occurrence:

Last Thursday week an unfortunate and fatal shooting affray occurred at Candelaria between Ramon Montenegro and George Moore, in which the latter was killed. As near as we can learn the parties were engaged in a game of cards in Crotty & Craig's saloon. A dispute arose and Moore drew his pistol and struck Ramon with it. The latter then drew his pistol and both men fired at the same time, though neither shot took effect. Ramon then started on a run across the street, closely followed by Moore, who fired three shots at him while running. Ramon, finding the matter getting a little too hot for personal comfort, suddenly wheeled and fired, the ball taking effect in Moore's left breast. He lived about ten minutes. Six shots were fired in all—two by Ramon and four by Moore. Ramon gave himself up into custody.

A SAVAGE LAW-MAKER.—A Sacramento dispatch of the 16th has the following:

This afternoon, while a number of the members of the Convention gathered in the Assembly Chamber, the Convention having adjourned, a drunken man named Hale strolled in. Sergeant-at-Arms Sherwood was leading him out when Hale made some rude remarks, which Edward Barry, Joint Delegate from Siskiyou, Trinity and Modoc, who was passing by, took to himself, and drawing his pocket knife he rushed on Hale and cut him three times in the neck. Sherwood and Delegates Tinnin and Farrell seized him, when he cut the former severely in the hand and cleared himself, and then paraded up and down the Chamber gesticulating and talking wildly. Officers soon arrived and arrested him. Barry s friends say he had previously been in the Insane Asylum from the effects of drink, but lately appeared to have reformed, and being a man of ability, became the choice of the people of his section. His seat will be declared vacant and an attempt made to commit him to the Asylum. His wife and family are in Oregon.

CAPT. BOB'S BOY IN SCHOOL.—Capt. Bob's youngest boy began to attend the First Ward school-house to-day, and is at present wrestling with the complications of three different educational text books. The youthful Piute is proving already one of the best behaved boys in the school, and his father points to his exemplary conduct with honest pride. The boy beats his father in talking English, and can make pretty good chalk marks on the blackboard.—Virginia Chronicle.

Principles and Systems.

The Trinity Journal says: "The Grand Jury system is a fraud from beginning to end, and should be done away with." The Grand Jury principles and the Grand Jury system are two very different things. The principle is that the courts may be saved from wasting time over trivial cases, and that accusations may be brought forward and disposed of without the ignominy of publicity, should they prove prima facie false. The system here is very different, and is, as the Journal says, a "fraud." Under our present system Grand Juries are selected with reference to special cases; every opportunity for undue selection is given; and while they are in session they are too often exposed to improper influences. Another thing: The testimony for the defense is too often introduced, and the Grand Jury room turned into a court-room, something for which it was never intended. We have sought to improve on the Grand Jury system, which has worked well in England for a thousand years, and dissatisfied with the result of our improvements, cast the blame on the Grand Juries themselves. In Britain Grand Juries are selected from alphabetical lists of those eligible; are never summoned until just before trial day, consider the cases as the court in session, upon prima facie evidence for the prosecution only, and send their bills into court for trial as soon as found. Judges, Grand Juries and petit juries work together in the same hall, on the same day, under inflexible rules, and there is neither time nor opportunity for the use of influences that have made our Grand Juries so unsatisfactory. The love of justice that characterizes the English people has not proved inconsistent with a thousand years of Grand Juries; it is therefore probable that the Grand Jury system is good, notwithstanding the fact that we have tired of a few score years of our "Grand Jury system." Change the system, restore the principle.—West Coast Signal.

Salt Lake Items.

The Salt Lake Trtbune is not a warm admirer of the Latter Day Saints, as may be inferred from some of the following items taken from that journal of the 8th:

The Land Office has been doing an immense business the past week.

Gold is circulating as freely in Utah as greenbacks, and resumption has resumed without waiting for the 1st of January, 1879.

Sixty tramps were nominated at the Mormon Conference yesterday. They will be let loose upon an unsuspecting world in a few days.

There was an exhibition of Utah's best crop at the theater the other night. The crop was all right, but the farmers were rather a scaly looking outfit.

The days are hot enough for ice cream and the nights sufficiently cool for overcoats. Taken as a whole no better weather could be desired, and we "feel to say we are greatly blessed."

The sampling works in the city are rushed with business. Ores are coming in from Utah, Nevada, Idaho and Montana, and night and day shifts are run to keep up with the work.

It is remarked that the sisters and brothers of Latter Days are much better dressed than before the Gentiles gathered to Zion. Old sun-bonnets and wampuses are no longer seen on the streets during Conference.

The wagon and agricultural implement dealers report business more active than they ever before knew it in their line in Utah. They are kept busy night and day, and many of them scarcely get time to say their prayers on Sundays.

Many of our young elders were on the street last night, enjoying a great quantity of Valley Tan and the Holy Spirit. Some of them engaged in rough and tumble fights, and were "seen" off to the City Hall, where Bishop Pyper will impart to them some of the first principles this morning.

A CHEERFUL face is nearly as good for a patient as healthy weather.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 19.....1878.

ON THE LEDGE.—The fact is announced that the Kearsarge tunnel, at a point 800 feet from the mouth, has at last struck into what is undoubtedly its objective point—the rich ledge disclosed in the 90-foot winze from the old works above. The casings so far as yet opened is identical with the red ledge matter found on the west wall above, showing the correctness of Supt. Gray's calculations in not drifting upon the ledge matter encountered some 30 feet further back, he preferring to push ahead to find a ledge where good ore is known to exist, at least as far down as the bottom of the winze referred to. There is now 220 feet of stoping ground above the tunnel, and should the pay ore equal that above in extent and richness the Kearsarge mill will soon be pounding out a handsome reward for the company's long-continued and costly explorations.

REX MONTIS.—Late Rex Montis bullion shipments aggregate $2,685 93. The working of the ore at the mill has not so far been made a success, though there is now an increased percentage of the metals saved. At first but 27 per cent. was saved, and now it works up to little more than 60. The tailings on hand contain by assay some $12,000—which amount is by no means lost, though at present unavailable to the company. Both the Silver Sprout and the Rex Montis mines are looking well, but the late heavy snow on the mountains has materially interfered with the running of the pack trains. A number of men have been discharged, and we understand it is the intention of Supt. Talcott to let the Winter's work on the Rex Montis out by contract, while the Silver Sprout will be kept running as long as practicable.

ROUGH ESTIMATE.—At a rough estimate there has accumulated in Independence during the last six months about forty-five million little dogs—worthless curs of all colors and degrees. Harsh and indiscriminating law provides no distinction between a big and little dog when it comes to taxes, albeit there is a difference made where the sex is stated. And in this matter of enforcing a strict collection of the dog tax comes Inyo county's opportunity of acquiring an inexhaustible school fund.

MASONIC HONORS.—In the list given elsewhere of the officers chosen by the Grand Lodge of F. & A. M. of California, to serve for the ensuing Masonic year, it will be noted that our County Treasurer, Henry M. Isaacs, present Master of Inyo Lodge No. 221, was given the position of Junior Grand Steward. The Deputy Grand Lecturer for this district, Robert C. Broder, of Visalia—a brother of our citizens, John and Scott Broder—was elected Grand Junior Warden.

A LENGTHY GAME.—In one of our saloons the other day there was noted a quite lengthy game of muggins poker, for the—the cigars, you know. There were five of them interested, and the game—or the players—aggregated in length 31 feet 2¾ inches. There was J. W. McMurry, 6 feet 6 inches in hight; Judge J. A. Hannah, 6 feet 4¾; T. K. Hutchison, 6 feet 4, and Thos. May and J. J. Moore 6 feet each. We are unable to say who got stuck.

GOOD MINES.—Every season's work goes further to demonstrate the truth of the general belief that the mines of Kearsarge Mountain are permanent and very rich, the only drawback being their inaccessibility at some seasons of the year. This objection, however, is by no means fatal, since the Independence Tunnel will obviate all difficulties and tap the mines at great depths.

DARWIN.—The New Coso furnace is soon to start up for a short run. The Lucky Jim and Modock mines are working about forty men each. The Defiance is steadily working along with a prospecting force, while the Custer mine, belonging to the same company, now shows out a strong body of good silver-lead ore.

STARTED UP.—The Mammoth Company's new 20-stamp mill at Lake District started up last Monday, the 14th instant. It will now soon be demonstrated as to whether the enormous silver ledges of that country will pay or not. We predict large and regular dividends.

A SUCCESS.—From specimens of cabbages and cauliflowers presented to us by Master Henry Walters we feel constrained to say he has proved himself a most excellent gardener, for larger and finer heads of each we have not seen this season.

RUSTICATING.—Judge A. J. Gould of Darwin will leave the coming week for a Winter's rusticate in the semi-tropical region of Los Angeles, his postoffice address being at El Monte.

IN TOWN.—Dr. S. A. Middleton and J. B. Hoover, of Bishop, were yesterday in town sloshing around among their numerous friends and acquaintances.

UNION CON.—The Union Con. at Cerro Gordo reports plenty of ledge matter in the mine but lead ore scarce. The furnace is again in steady operation.

ASSESSMENT.—Assessment No. 11 of $2 per share has been levied upon the Rex Montis, delinquent November 18; day of sale, December 9.

AT BISHOP.—Dr. Fetterman has estabished his office at the lower town of Bishop Creek, instead of the upper one as heretofore. See his card.

GONE BELOW.—Nathan Rhine, Esq., left for San Francisco last Monday, to be gone about ten days on a business and pleasure trip.

CHANGED.—The Central Market has changed proprietorship, it now being run by Joseph Provensal.

The Hehner Homicide.

CERRO GORDO, Oct. 11.

MESSRS. EDITORS—Your notice of the cowardly murder of Dr. Hehner in your last week's issue was in the right vein. I would only add to the censure that it has become a general idea in Cerro Gordo, and perhaps throughout the county, that there is no good served by burdening the county with the expenses of arresting and convicting a murderer, and so the frequency of this awful crime. Murderers and scoundrels of the worst class creep towards Inyo, and by their prevalence and behavior destroy the comfort of peaceable residents, and in a great measure retard and prevent the development or income of wealth in our midst.

There can be no doubt but assistance, directly or indirectly, was given Grady so that he made his escape. To those living here the mystery, the silence, the hushing up of the abominable crime was but too apparent. Perhaps it was only a "bull-dose"—a species of imbecility carried to an extent by some here which could not be rivalled by the grossest and most vulgarly impudent. Surely it is a pity that fooling is carried to such an extent as to confound violence with humor, or even to border on it. Not long ago a case of this kind arose between two men—not naturally vicious—regarding some money, the issue of which, although bloodless, was due more to good luck than to the character of the subsequent proceedings.

I trust you will give this a corner of your valuable journal, not because of any new idea on the murder in question, but that the evident hint which it implies may help us up here to have resort to certain kinds of amusement only among parties who we know will appreciate a jeu d'esprit.

PARATODOS.

THE BAPTISTS.—We observe that the Baptists now have two State Associations at work in San Francisco, a split having taken place, mainly, as we understand, through the operations of Rev. I. S. Kallock, of the Evangel. This, we believe, is the same Rev. Kallock who has achieved some notoriety as a street preacher of communistic proclivities. Rev. A. Clark, of Bishop Creek, was in attendance at the Association of the Kallock branch, and is credited with having made a very earnest and effective address during a meeting on the 9th. The Fifth Church branch issue a card, denying the right of disbandment of that church, as assumed and announced in the Evangel last July.

A LONG JOURNEY.—Rev. J. W. Bell has been assigned work by the church of the United Brethern in the Mendocino circuit, to which distant locality he journeys with horse and buggy. The total distance is about 800 miles, much of it over mountainous roads, so that he and his old bay horse have a serious job ahead of them, particularly at this season of the year. For the past year Mr. Bell has been upon this Owens Valley work, under the auspices of the M. E. Church, South, and is credited with very good results.

GONE.—The Hon. D. Noonan, the distinguished guest at the Court House, where he was invited to remain for the period of six months for some honorable mercantile transaction in the Indian whisky business, has been allowed to quietly take his departure. Let us have the opinion of some Court or Grand Jury as to whether this is the right way to treat such an illustrious citizen.

THE MONO COURT CALENDAR.—In the Standard we find the District Court calendar for Mono county, and it indicates plenty of business for the lawyers. There are two murder cases, and some half a dozen between Bodie mining companies. Of ex-Inyoites, Abe Leyda has a suit against P. B. Taylor, Sheriff of Mono county, and P. W. Bennett one against R. M. Johnson.

DECLARES A DIVIDEND.—The Indian Queen, up at Benton, has declared another 25-cent dividend, and is taking rank as one of the most reliable mines on this side of the mountains—at least is shipping more bullion than any other south of Bodie.

BIG ONE.—We acknowledge the receipt of a cauliflower plant of most excellent quality and flavor, measuring thirteen inches in diameter, with the compliments of Mrs. S. G. Sneden, of Bishop Creek.

QUERY.—What's the matter with our northern friends generally? Why don't they remit to this office the numerous and several amounts due?

REMEDY FOR INSECT BITES.—When a mosquito, flea, gnat, or other noxious insect punctures the human skin, it deposits or ejects an atom of an acidulous nature. The results are irritation, a sensation of tickling, itching or of pain. The tickling of flies we are comparatively indifferent about: but other noisome insects disturb our serenity, and such as the pain from a wasp or bee sting demands a remedy. The best are those that will neutralize the acidulous poison deposited in the skin. These are either ammonia or borax. The alkaline reaction of borax is scarcely yet appreciated. However, a time will come when its good qualities will be known and more universally valued than ammonia, or hartshorn, as it is commonly called. The solution of borax for insect bites is made thus: Dissolve one ounce of borax in one pint of water that has been boiled and allowed to cool. Instead of plain water, distilled rose water, elder, or orange flower is more pleasant. The bites are to be dabbled with the solution so long as there is any irritation. For bees' or wasps' stings, the borax solution may be made twice the above strength. In every farm house this solution should always be kept on hand.

THE PARTY.

'Twas a moonlight night in October
When a sociable party was held,
Not to get but keep sober—
In a certain house was corraled.

The porch was covered with sheeting,
Chairs and tables covered the floor,
Choice dishes beyond description—
I looked and saw through the door.

I'll give you a few names at the party,
Of those as near as I can—
Not one named Con. or McCarty,
Not one named Judy McCann.

There was "Porter," "Bowen" and "Johnson,"
"Cowles," "Hunter" and "Drake;"
Down the room came "English" a-bouncing,
With "Morrison" in his wake.

The ladies present I'll mention,
Or the dears may worry and fret,
Although it's not my intention
To hurt their feelings, "you bet."

Mesdames Belshaw, Hunter and Bowen,
Mrs. Baragan, daughter and friend;
Miss McDonough and the wife of Chris. Crohn,
Mrs. Oates sailing up to the wind.

The ball opened up with the Lancers,
To the tune of the Mexican band,
I ne'er saw such a lot of fine dancers,
As they balanced to all hand in hand.

The tune went faster and faster,
Their feet scarce touching the floor;
Something turned the dance into laughter
And the laughter into a roar.

The gents take the ladies and seat them,
Flushed with excitement and heat;
The musicians are resting, God bless 'em!
They make life merry and sweet.

Some one comes to the door and calls dinner;
They all take their partners and march
(I know because I have been there—Wore a white shirt, shining with starch.)

But as I inhale from a distance
The odor of the delicate dish,
With no small amount of resistance;
It makes me dry as a fish.

Here's health to all here this evening;
I hope we may all meet again;
Let's break up the ball and be leaving
The sociable roof of our friend.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 19.....1878.

Conflict of Horses.

A private letter from Col. L. G. Ropes, an American gentleman residing in the neighborhood of San Juan, Nicaragua, gives the following curious account of a battle among the wild mustang ponies, which still inhabit some of the Central American regions, in large numbers:

"We had been out hunting all day, and, upon reaching an eminence in a particularly wild part of the country, beheld a hundred or more mustangs preparing for a pitched battle upon the savannah below. They were facing each other in pretty evenly divided squadrons, about a hundred yards apart, pawing the turf, tossing their bannered manes, and making other warlike demonstrations. They appeared to be thoroughly officered and organized, too, for suddenly, as if by a preconcerted signal, they charged upon each other with mad impetuosity, and in a moment were intermingled, biting, striking out with hind and fore feet, rending and mangling each other, and thoroughly absorbed in one of the strangest and most terrible conflicts that can be conceived of. The battle lasted nearly half an hour, when such of both parties as were able withdrew as if exhausted or disgusted, and galloped off in different directions toward the mountains. But when we rode upon the scene there were nineteen animals stretched dead, or dying, upon the prairie, the short grass of which was in many places drenched with blood and covered with fragments of flesh and bunches of horse hair torn out by the roots. We put the wounded ponies out of their misery, and then rode back to the hacienda, wondering as to the motives of the singular battle we had witnessed. They will stand for food for wonder, for how can you question and get replies from a wild horse?

Worth Trying.

A writer in the Chigago Tribune's "Home Department" claims that the following is a simple and immediate cure for colds in the head, sore throat, asthma, sore nostrils, etc: The remedy is crushed cubeb berries, smoked in a pipe, emitting the smoke through the nose. After a few trials, this will be easy to do. If the nose is stopped up so that it is almost impossible to breathe, one pipe-full will make the head as clear as a bell. For sore throat, asthma and bronchitis, swallowing the smoke effects immediate relief. It is the best remedy in the world for offensive breath, and will make the most foul breath pure and sweet. Sufferers from that horrible disease, ulcerated catarrh, will find this remedy to be unequaled, and a month's use will cure the most obstinate case. A single trial will convince any one. Eating the uncrushed berries is also good for sore throat and all bronchial complaints. After smoking do not expose yourself to the cold air for at least fifteen minutes. The berries are perfectly harmless, and there is no use going to "catarrh doctors" while you can procure this remedy. The berries can be procured at any drug store.

"WHO," said Peter Mitchell, a member of the Canadian House of Commons, to the members who were trying by frequent interruptions to choke him off, "who brayed there?" "It was an echo," retorted a member, amid a yell of delight.

....SELECT LIST OF....

Local Newspapers.

MANY PERSONS SUPPOSE THIS LIST TO BE composed of cheap, low priced newspapers. The fact is quite otherwise. The Catalogue states exactly what the papers are. When the name of a paper is printed in full face type it is in every instance the best paper in the place. When printed in Capitals it is the only paper in the place. When printed in Roman letters it is neither the best nor the only paper, but is usually a very good one, notwithstanding. The list gives the population of every town and the circulation of every paper. IT IS NOT A CO-OPERATIVE LIST. IT IS NOT A CHEAP LIST. At the bottom of the catalogue for each State the important towns which are not covered by the list are enumerated. IT IS AN HONEST LIST. The rates charged for advertising are barely one fifth the publishers' schedule. The price for one inch four weeks in the entire list is $635. The regular rates of the papers for the same space and time are $3.136 35. The list includes 970 newspapers, of which 163 are issued DAILY and 807 WEEKLY. They are located in 825 different cities and towns, of which 22 are State capitals, 328 places of over 5,000 population, and 444 County Seats. LISTS SENT ON APPLICATION. Secretary Chase in Command.

Starting at once to the front with our escort, we had not gone far before it became evident that a great deal of confusion existed in the command—in fact, that there was no organization, and an utter absence of definite instructions or orders of any kind. Overtaking a regiment that was scattered along the road, most of the men lying down wherever any shade could be found, as the day was intensely warm, Mr. Chase inquired of the colonel to whose command he belonged and what his orders were. He replied that he had no idea who was his commander; that some said Weber and some said Mansfield. He had received no orders, except that when he landed he was told to take a certain road, and he thought he would wait and see what was to be done next. Overtaking another regiment a mile or two beyond, the Secretary received the same answers. Going on still further we came upon Gen. Mansfield and his staff, who had dismounted in the shade near a spring of cool water. Further still, another straggling regiment was found; yet no one had any orders or instructions.

Suddenly the booming of cannon was heard immediately in front, and as no artillery had been landed by us, it was evident that the firing proceeded from the enemy. Straggling soldiers now came running toward us, with exaggerated rumors of the enemy being in force, burning the bridges, and contesting with artillery the passage of the streams that crossed the road. The ridiculousness of the situation would have been amusing if it had not been for the serious aspect that it was gradually assuming. Two regiments of cavalry had been embarked and two batteries of artillery, yet not a horse or gun had been sent to the front. Four regiments of infantry were marching along, uncertain what road to take, and unassigned to any brigade; two Brigadier Generals and their staffs, without orders and without commands, were sitting by the roadside waiting for something to turn up. This was the situation with the enemy firing in front.

Secretary Chase took it all in at a glance, and rose at once to the necessities of the occasion. Tearing some leaves from his memorandum book, he directed me to send one of the escort back to Gen. Wool with a written requisition for artillery and cavalry. This brought the General to the front with two pieces of artillery and some mounted troops. As he rode up Mr. Chase expressed to him, in very strong language, his astonishment at the condition of things. Gen. Wool replied by saying that he presumed Gen. Mansfield had felt some delicacy in assuming command over Gen. Weber, and that Gen. Weber had hesitated to act while Gen. Mansfield was so near. "Talk of delicacy," exclaimed the Secretary, "with the enemy firing in front! What absurdity! Let Gen. Mansfield go to the rear and bring up reinforcements, and that will settle all questions of delicacy." This brought about a prolonged discussion between Generals Wool and Mansfield, which was carried on a short distance from the road under the shade of a large sycamore tree. Losing all patience, the Secretary exclaimed, "Two cackling old hens;" and turning to me with a voice and manner that would have become Wellington or Soult, he said:

"Sir! I order you in the name of the President of the United States, to take command of these troops and march them upon Norfolk."

An infantry regiment was deployed at double quick, as skirmishers in advance, and the other regiments were soon moving rapidly down the Norfolk road. They had proceeded some distance before Gen. Wool was aware of the movement. He was not long in overtaking us, however, and on his demand for an explanation from me, Mr. Chase assumed the responsibility, after after which we proceeded harmoniously toward our destination.—Gen. E. L. Viele, in Scribner.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 11.

MESSRS. EDITORS—I suppose the public generally, the great mass of people, has little idea of the cheating continually going on in this beautiful, deceitful, lovely, contemptible, political city of Washington. Every department of the Government is full of it, and there is little else here. There is no direction we can look in but civil service reform is greatly needed. Even so small a thing as the examination of candidates for vacant offices is attended by so much maneuvering and falsifying that the strictest watch must be kept both upon the examiners and the applicants. For instance: This Summer 24 candidates passed an examination for appointment as Assistant Paymasters, to fill two vacancies in the Pay Corps of the Navy; and upon being examined as to their mental qualifications in history, grammar, composition, geography and mathematics, two men were reported as having passed, respectively, one and two on the list, having a standing of 999 and 998 in a possible 1,000. This excited surprise in the mind of Secretary Thompson, which was augmented when he found that 300 questions had been asked the applicants, including many such as to give the location of Lake Tanganyiko, a recent discovery by Stanley; a sketch of the 30 years war, its causes and the names of the commanding generals; a list of the writings of Shakespeare, Goldsmith, Dante, Schiller, Goethe, and other authors, wfth a sketch of the life of each, and the dates of their birth and death. All these questions were answered correctly by the two successful candidates, who also gave date and location of every battle mentioned. An investigation was made, and the facts elicited that these two so well informed and highly educated gentlemen applicants were intimate friends, and that one of them was a near relative of a prominent member of the examining board, and—the rest needs no telling. It was the oft repeated story (only too familiar here) of corruption, bribery, partiality.

How fast, in this country of heroes, politicians and great men generally, new things become old, old things are wholly lost sight of, and men and things pass away and are forgotten! The world at Washington especially sees much of this variety of varieties. The famous men who have survived the war era may be counted upon one's fingers—Grant, Schurz, Butler, Alex. Stephens, Bayard, Thurman, Edmunds, Blaine. And how long will the name of any of these survive his retirement from public life? There is no Webster in our day. There is no great soldier. No leader in journalism or in theology. No Shakespeare lives now, nor Scott, nor even a Dickens. And yet the world was never so far advanced as now in government, religion, science. The time itself in which we live is great despite its lack of renowned or rarely-gifted persons.

Capital society is looking for exciting times this Winter; so are Capital politicians. All the Departmental world is on the qui vive because of the anticipated change of the Administration from Republican into Democratic hands. Republican clerks are expecting to be ousted and are striving hard to secure themseves against being thrown out of employment penniless by economy and thrift, while scores of Democrats, particularly from the South, are flocking into the city, already engaged in pulling the wires which will put them into the positions made vacant by the removals which are sure to be made with a change of administrative power.

MARTHA.

AN OBTUSE MAN.—She was a stylish young lady about 18 years old, and to accommodate a friend she took the baby out for an airing. She was wheeling it up and down the walk when an oldish man, very deaf, came along and inquired for a certain person supposed to live on that street. She nearly yelled her head off trying to answer him, and he looked around caught sight of the baby, and said:

"Nice child that. I suppose you feel proud of him?"

"It isn't mine," she yelled at him.

"Boy, eh. Well, he looks just like you."

"It isn't mine," she yelled again; but he nodded his head and continued:

"Twins, eh. Where's the other one?"

Despairing of making him understand by word of mouth, she pointed to the baby, at herself and then shook her head.

"Yes—yes. I see the other twin in the house. Their father is fond of them, of course?"

She turned the cab and hurried the other way, but he followed and asked:

"Do they kick around much nights?"

"I tell you 'taint mine," she shouted, looking very red in the face.

"I think you are wrong there," he answered, "children brought up on a bottle are apt to pine and die."

She started on a run for the gate, but before she opened it he came up and said:

"Have to spank 'em once in a while I suppose."

She made about twenty gestures in a half minute, and he helped the cab through the gate and said:

"Our children were all twins, and I'll send my wife down to give you some advice. You see—"

But she picked up a flower pot and flung it at him. He jumped back, and as she entered the house, he called out:

"Hope insanity won't break out on the twins."

American whisky is a sixpence "a go" in London, but it often goes without the sixpence here.

An Astounding Set of Figures.

The Bureau of Internal Revenue reports that for the fiscal year ending June 30, there were produced 57,000,000 gallons of whisky and 317,485,601 gallons of ale and beer. It is difficult to know how much whisky was converted into alcohol and used in the mechanical arts and for medicinal purposes. But allowing 7,000,000 gallons for this—and the Public, in an able article on the subject, places the amount at 6,000,000 gallons, and we have 50,000,000 gallons of whisky drunk every year. Assuming whisky to cost the drinker $6 per gallon (and it costs more), and beer at five cents a glass to cost $1 per gallon (ale costs more than this), and we have this result:

	Gallons.	Cost to Consumers.
Whisky consumed.. ..	50,000,000	$300,000,000
Ale and beer consumed	317,485,601	317,485,601
Total.....	367,485,601	$617,485,601

The population of the United States is, say, 40,000 000, one half of whom are minors. Assuming one-half of the 20,000,000 adults to be women who do not drink, and we have 10,000,000, from number deduct 20 per cent. who never drink at all, and it gives 8,000,000 men—working men, business men, professional, men of leisure, and in short occupying every station in life—who spend over $600,000,000 annually for drink, being an average of $75 each, whereas the total Internal Revenue taxes paid by, say, 10,000,000 adults average $11 10 (eleven dollars and ten cents) per capita—so that while men inveigh against the burden of Federal taxation, which some find so hard to pay, they voluntarily tax themselves nearly seven times the amount for the purpose of gratifying an appetite for strong drink! Now add to this the amount expended for cigars, cigarettes, and tobacco used for smoking and chewing and the manufacture of snuff, as shown by the report of Commissioner Baum for the year ending the 30th of last June—here are the figures, averaging the cigars at ten cents each, the cigarrettes at $2 50 per thousand, and tobacco at $1 per pound:

	Quantities.	Cost to Consumers.
Cigars, number ...	1,905,073 743	$190,506,374
Tobacco, pounds....	108,794,739	108,794,739
Cigarettes, number.	165,189,594	412 973
Total.....		$299,714,076
Add cost of fermented liquors..		617,485 601
Total expended for liquors and tobacco		$917,199,677

Here then the appalling facts stand out out in burning characters: The people of the United States—poor men and rich men, its working men, mechanics, merchants, bankers, professional men, men of every calling and every station in life—spend over $900,000,000—nearly one billion dollars—for intoxicating drink and tobacco. This amount if saved in two years would exceed the entire amount now on deposit in the savings banks of the country, and in three years would pay the entire national debt! And yet the country will go on spending this money, while fortunes are vanishing into thin air, while industry is paralyzed, while labor and values are depreciated, and the various churches are begging for a few thousand dollars to enable them to pay what they owe the poor missionaries. —Christian at Work.

"OLD WINCHESTER."—Gen. Phil. Sheridan's old war horse, the one he sat astride of in his famous 20 mile to Winchester, died a few days ago, and his skin will be stuffed and preserved in a museum, probably at the Smithsonian Institute, Washington. The horse deserves more than passing notice, as he took a strong and valuable part in many of the battles of the war, and was three times wounded. He died of rheumatism, brought on by some idiotic hostlers turning a stream on him from a hydrant when he was white with foam from a hard ride. His original name was "Rienzi," but after the celebrated ride he was rechristened "Winchester." He was foaled near Grand Rapids, Michigan, was of full-blooded Blackhawk stock, stood 16 hands high, was coal black, graceful and noble in bearing, and was 20 years old when he died.

A NEW JERSEY man dreamed that his house had blowed up, with himself in it, and that as he sailed through the air four left-handed devils in blue shirts grabbed him with long iron hooks and hauled him over a road filled with red-hot spikes. He awoke bathed in a cold sweat, and heard a knock at the door. It was his wife's aunt from Massachusetts, who had come in on the morning boat, with two trunks, a bandbox, a bird-cage, a reticule, a parasol, a copy of the Gospel hymns, three parcels and the rheumatism. The man believes there is a wonderful fatality in dreams.

THE nearest living relative of George Washington is a boarding house-keeper in Washington City, who has recently had her furniture attached by a cruel landlord for rent. So it appears that kinship to the Father of his Country is not a warrant for stuffing the public with coarse hash and butter with a wig on.

"IF I should marry Eliza Jane," said a prospective son-in-law, "I should frankly confess one thing in advance—I am of rather a hasty temper and apt to get mad without cause. "Oh, that will be all right," blandly replied the dear old lady, "I shall go and live with you, and I'll see that you always have cause."

THE first thing that Mrs. Hanford done, after becoming a member of the Ministers' Association, was to put through a resolution condemning "the use of tobacco by men." Isn't this discrimination on account of sex and previous condition of servitude?

LABOR AND CAPITAL IN GREAT BRITAIN. The British Trades Union Congress, or convention of all the Trades Union in Great Britain, has just met and come to a rather gloomy conclusion. This is a very intelligent, well-organized and hard-working body, a kind of a workingmen's social science meeting, with, of course, the more immediately selfish aim to protect their own interests against those of capital. They have committees to consider such subjects as the patent laws, imprisonment for debt, hours of labor, apprenticeships, co-operation, and so on. The Congress reviews the two great strikes of the year—those of the London masons and the Manchester carpenters—and admits they failed, because employers have learned their tactics and have united against them. Employers insert "striking clauses" in all their contracts, so that failure to complete within the contract time on account of a strike does not invalidate the agreement. In this way they can stand a strike as long as the laborers can. By union and by importing laborers from America and other countries they have been able to defeat the workmen's combination. The workmen see no other help for it but to combine all the harder, though "nobody regrets more than they the ever-recurring conflicts between labor and capital."

SUIT has been filed in the United States Circuit Court by the Government against the Central Pacific Railroad Company, to recover 20,085 acres of land in Colusa county, on the ground that the lands were not subject to entry, withdrawal, selection or patent. The complaint alleges thal those lands have been in controversy between the Government and Manuel Diaz, who claims them under a grant from Pio Pico ever since 1852, and were so when taken possession of by the railroad company, who obtained patents from the Land Office, and the Secretary of the Interior, on learning these facts, made a demand on the railroad company for them on May 24, 1877, which was refused. It is claimed that the patents are invalid, as the lands were not open to selection as railroad lands prior to the rejection of the Diaz grant in 1873.

PROMINENT Democrats now or recently in Washington, generally discredit the rumored intention of party leaders to force an extra session of Congress on the Fourth of March. Aside from doubts which many entertain as to the expediency of the party assuming immediate control and the responsibility in both Houses, those who desire an extra session are averse to avowing their real objects, and have hitherto intended to plead the extravagance of Departments as an excuse for preventing the action of some of the important appropriation bills last Winter. President Hayes and his Cabinet, however, are understood to have determined to defeat this intention by keeping the estimates within the amounts of last session's appropriations and throwing upon Congress the responsibility for past and future deficiencies.

THAT Ameer of Afghanistan has some sand, else he is not reported correctly as to his words in opposition to British interference. He said to his court: "I have seven cords of rupees by me, every rupee of which I will hurl at the British Government." But perhaps that was a Ameer bluff.

MRS. LOVELL, the Deadwood woman who drove three men from her claim at the point of a shot-gun last December, and has since shot two other trespassers, was killed on Sunday, the 13th, but not until she had fatally wounded the man.

A PETALUMA preacher says that in Calaveras county, out of a population of about 10,000, there are only about 100 prefessing Christians.

HAZING AT BERKELEY.

It seems that our State University, at Berkeley, is attaining some fame as a school for hoodlums, or "hazers," the same as those colleges in the Eastern States. In the Sophomore classes here at Berkeley, as in the same in those Eastern institutions, are a number of young men who like fun. The fun they like is such as will cause the greatest amount of humiliation and bodily pain upon boys of the Freshmen classes, especially the feebler ones from whom no danger is to be apprehended. To be safe on this latter point, these natural born brutes always hunt in gangs. To such natures, it is funny beyond expression to go in the dead of night, break into some little boy's room, drag the terrified inmate from his bed, toss him in his blankets till he screams for mercy, slap his mouth to stop his too loud outcry, cut the hair from one side of his head that his humiliation may be the more lasting, duck him till he is chilled to the bone, paint his body—in short, do everything of an offensive kind to their helpless young victims just as they have been told it is usually done in real colleges, with such additional brutalities as their own Tar Flat origin or experiences may suggest. That is what our Berkeley Sophomores call fun. Now, it always appeared to us that the world is no better off with educated hoodlums than with the Tar Flat species; in fact, that it would be much the gainer to have neither, therefore, when, as now, we hear that a young Freshman has shot one of a gang of these Sophomore bullies we feel disposed to rejoice thereat. Further, we hope the little fellows will continue to serve those feeble minded Sophs in the same way until all such as find fun by inflicting serious pain on others either learn better or are entirely killed off.

The shooting referred to has finally induced the Alameda Grand Jury to take steps to check the hazing spirit that caused it, and which contemptible spirit had previously cropped out to such a degree as to cause a good deal of trouble in the vicinity of the University, and now to call for rigorous measures at the hands of the Faculty and municipal authorities to crush it out at once, and forever.

THE romance of Judge Orson Brooks' marriage is of no ordinary sort. Forty-five years ago a Massachusetts maiden promised to marry him. They had a childish quarrel and separated, he to go West, and ultimately to marry there; she to remain and be lead to the alter in her native village. In a few years she had lost her husband and he had buried his wife. Both were then married a second time, and after a lapse of years again laid husband and wife in the grave. Chance then threw the Judge and his first love together, and they married. He is seventy and she is sixty-three.

Two of the seats in the Constitutional Convention were made vacant by death, another by ineligibility and now a further vacancy is to occur by reason of insanity. The atmosphere of good fellowship and the potency of Sacramento whisky have proved too much for Mr. Barry, joint delegate from Siskiyou, Trinity and Modoc counties, and he will transfer his headquarters temporarily from the Capitol to an asylum.

GEN. FREMONT says that his Indian policy as Governor of Arizona will be to interfere with those agreeable gentry as little as possible, as long as they do nothing to retard the development of the Territory. The General is said to show few signs of his 65 years. His health is good, he is erect and has the same nervous, quick motion as of old, and the same frank manner. His hair and beard are now almost white.

INSTRUCTION in the Boston primary schools is hereafter to be almost entirely oral. Pupils will learn from objects and the teacher instead of books. An exercise known as "language" will consist of oral lessons from pictures, plants, animals, and whatever the teacher may think useful in leading pupils to express what they know in words.

THE new Arkansas Senate will consist of twenty-nine Democrats, one Greenbacker and on Republican, the last being a colored man, who holds over. In the House there will be eighty-one Democrats, five Greenbackers and seven Republicans.

IT isn't Kearney that makes Communists of men; it isn't violent harangues and incendiary speeches; it isn't the vicious teachings of hot-headed demagogues that makes men communists. It is when the President and Directors of a solid insurance company, when the President and Directors of a Boston or Chicago savings bank, get the hard-earned dollars of laboring men and working women into their own hands and then divide it up among themselves and retain their positions in the best society; these are things that make the common people think that a general division of all property would benefit the poor quite as much as a special divisicn of the savings of the poor among the few. We started out to say something funny on this theme, but somehow or other when you get down into it there's nothing funny about it. —Hawkeye.

THE patent almanacs, mortised for the publisher's name, have begun raining down on us for 1879. The designs are all new and very different from those of last year, the picture of the boy skating in his bare feet, with one little brother on his back and six more on the sled, being put on the January instead of the December page, and then the picture of Christmas eve comes along about the end of December, instead of the middle of August, as was the case last year. In fact, the almanac is entirely re-arranged, the trunks have been moved back and the hats have been put out by the door, and the ceiling painted, so it looks just as good as new.—Hawkeye

STANDARD DOLLAR VALUES.—At the time the 412½ grain silver dollar was restored to our coinage system, bar silver was quoted at 55d in London, and consequently its bullion value was 93.2. Yesterday bar silver was quoted in London at 49⅞d, and the commercial value of the dollar of our fathers is about 85 cents, showing a decline of nearly 9 per cent. During the same interval the gold-buying price of the greenback dollar has been raised from 98 cents to 99⅝ cents. Yet both dollars are current in trade circles at par.—S. B. Bulletin.

EXODUS.—On Monday there was a perfect stampede among our legal luminaries for Bridgeport. The District Court convened on that day, and as all our lawyers have cases there, we must expect to be obliged to run the town for a few days without the advantages to be derived from our lawyer friends. —Bodie Standard.

INYO'S GOLD MINES.—There is a fast growing interest and quite a local stir being created by the immediate and prospective success of some of the gold districts surrounding the valley. At Beveridge the arastras of Messrs. Hunter, Hughes & Porter have been running 11 hours per day for 24 days, during which time 43 tons of all grades of their ore was reduced, resulting in a shipment the other day of 132 ounces of fine gold. The works are to be kept in steady operation during the Winter, and with the addition of a battery, will make a showing of interest to outsiders as well as something substantial to the owners. The Uncle Abe mine, in Alabama District, owned by the Hitchcock boys, keeps an arastra steadily running and with the most favorable results. The mine, which yields some magnificent specimens of free gold ore, is reported as increasing in width and richness as depth is gained. The Orion mine, in the same district, owned by Schulte & Co., exhibits boulders of exceedingly fine gold ore. The little mill is in operation and will soon make its first complete clean-up.

PARTIALLY APOLOGETIC.—AS THE INDEPENDENT this week is very much short of its usual amount of reading matter particularly of a local character, we feel disposed to offer an apology. But, come to think about it, we will save the space necessary for that purpose, and simply say, firstly, that it was unavoidable for various reasons not necessary to specify, and secondly that it would take a lokleitems possessed of a four-horse power imagination to find any local occurrences these quiet days worth recording.

FIXING UP.—Capt. Eudey has quite a force at work preparing to start up the Eclipse mine and mill, now under his direct management. As the river is quite low it is required, among other preparations, to raise the dam at the head of the race somewhat so as to obtain a full supply of water for the mill wheel. We have the utmost confidence that the Captain will in due time make a most gratifying success of the Eclipse.

FROM THEIR HIGH RANGE.—The remnant of the Broder band of cattle, some 600 in number, left in Monache Valley, have been brought down into the valley for Winter range. Though Summery enough here, it has been quite the reverse for some time past up in that altitudinous locality. John Broder himself has not returned from his cattle expedition to the railroad.

A NEW FIND.—Lone Piners are encouraged over the discovery of some rich ledges in the Inyo range, nearly opposite the town, recently made by some Frenchmen, whose names we did not learn. The ore is a strange combination of silver, gold and lead, and reputed to be very rich.

RETURNED.—Mrs. John Grangey, nee Miss Ellen Eudey, has just rerurned from a year's residence in Idaho. Mr. Grangey, who has the superintendency of a mine in that section, will also soon follow, we believe to assist Capt. Eudey in running the Eclipse mine.

HORRIBLE!—That terrible accident to Mr. K. Nighn, and his cold-blooded murder by a friend, as related in the last Aurora Herald. It's a dog on good sell—in fact, a s— — — —h of a joke —and made people's blood curdle like asses' milk.

SICK.—Coroner Lane, for some time past, has been quite severely indisposed, but under Dr. Blair's care is now convalescing, and hopes to be about again in a few days.

MODOCK.—A gentleman from Darwin reports an extensive strike of ore in the Modock mines, the particulars of weich we hope to give next week.

ASSESSMENT.—The New Coso Company has levied an assessment (No. 9) of 20 cents a share, delinquent November 30; day of sale, December 24.

TO MEET.—The regular meetings each of the District and County Courts and Board of Supervisors begin a week from Monday.

TAXES.—See Sheriff Moore's announcement relative to the times of receiving taxes in the different townships.

PERSONAL.

Brick Pomeroy calls Kearney a loafer and a brute.

Gen. Tom Thumb pays a tax on about $11,000.

Jenny Lind's musical teacher, Lindblad, a Swedish composer, is dead.

Rochefort is interdicted from publishing any kind of a journal in France.

Baron Hubret de Seze, grandson of the advocate who defended Louis XVI on his trial, has died in Paris.

Peter Cooper is 88. The year he was born New York had only 27,900 inhabitants. It was about half as large as Syracuse.

Earl Beaconsfield is reputed a rich man by marriage and otherwise, although before obtaining his pension of $10,000 a year he had to make a declaration of poverty.

The race of Gluck, the musical composer, is extinct. The last survivor, an Austrian officer, the Chevalier Ferdinand Gluck, recently died at Aschach, a village on the Danube.

Lord Dufferin's gift from the Ontario curriers—a massive kettle of native silver—bears the complimenty inscriptions: "Better lord ye canna be," and "Will ye na come back again?"

Mrs. Stillman Alden has died in Ludlow, Mass., at the age of 82 years. During her married life of sixty-six years she and her husband were not under different roofs for a single night.

Col. Nicholas Smith, the handsome Kentucky tramp, and son-in-law of Horace Greeley, has been nominated for Congress by the Westchester, New York, Greenbackers. It is an amusing joke.

When Mehemet Ali Pasha, who was murdered lately, was in Berlin, he took the opportunity to visit his birth-place, Madeburg. Here he was so touched by old reminiscences that he declared that he should lay down his military duties in Turkey as soon as possible, again become a true German, and settle for the remainder of his life in some pleasant town in the Hartz.

Some Facts About the Indians.

A Chicago dispatch of 10th says:

At a late hour to-night military headquarters received several interesting documents bearing on the Cheyenne Indian troubles. The first is from Gen. Pope, who reports that the force of cavalry is too small to attend to the seceders, and that all the military are poorly armed with carbines against Indian rifles. The cavalry are kept busy at Forts Sill and Reno. He urges that more forces are essential for securing peace on the border. At the Cheyenne Indian Agency he learned that there is an enormous deficiency in Indian supplies, as shown by the report of John D. Miles, Agent at Cheyenne and at the Arrapaho Agency. The latter says the primary cause of the Cheyennes leaving the reservation is that the daily rations promised them of one and a half pounds of beef, half a pound of flour or corn to each person, and four pounds of coffee, eight pounds of sugar and three pounds of beans to each one hundred rations, had only been partially carried out, the supplies received being insufficient. None of the stock and aid in building houses which were promised have been afforded them. Another cause of the defection was that they objected to the manner of serving their rations. The Northern Cheyennes first withdrew, and all efforts to induce them to return peaceably have been unavailing. Gen. Pope suggests that the Indian Commissioner may, in the light of these facts, find it necessary to modify his view of affairs at the Agency.

Ben. Clark, an old scout, reports that he has information that fifteen Cheyennes have been killed in encounters with troops, and that the seceders intend to work north and propose a peaceful settlement in Fort Kehoe, but if this is not permitted they will join Sitting Bull.

WHAT would become of the Leidsdorff street buzzards if lying should suddenly go out of fashion? A few days ago they started a story that the rich ledge in the Con. Pacific was only two inches wide. The story was hardly started in San Francisco before Judge McClinton got knowledge of it here, and spoiled their little game by telegraphing the true width of the vein with references to well known mining men here. Next day they started the story that the Bulwer tunnel had run through and beyond the Con. Pacific ground, and had not found any ledge at all. This statement the Judge answered with the emphatic declaration of Mr. Wm. Irwin, of the Bulwer, that it was a——lie. But to clinch matters, the Judge obtained permission to measure the Bulwer tunnel, which he did yesterday, and then surveyed down the hill from the Con. Pacific ledges to the tunnel, with the following result: Distance from face or header of tunnel to a point directly under the croppings of Pacific No. 2 ledge, 255 feet. The dip of the ledge to the east will probably require the tunnel to be run fully 300 feet to cut it. What then? The "operators" of Pauper Alley had better try their game on some one else; they've struck the wrong man.—Bodie Standard.

CALHOUN'S LIFELONG BELIEF IN A COIN BASIS.—It is amazing that any gentleman of education and intelligence should venture again and again to represent Mr. Calhoun as advocating at any time between his birth and his death the issue by Government of irredeemable paper. He was the most earnest and persistent advocate of paper money that should always be convertible into coin upon the demand of the holder. No man can put his finger upon any declaration of the great South Carolina Senator that is inconsistent with this principle, which was with him lifelong.—Richmond (Va.) Dispatch.

THE LARGEST SUNDAY SCHOOL.—The largest Sunday school in the world is probably at Stockport, Chester county, England, a town with a population of only 53,014. The school building cost $100,000 and has between eighty and ninety teaching rooms. Since the institution was opened 5,085 teachers have been employed and 90,804 scholars registered.

RETURN OF OUR COMMISSIONER.—In a week Mr. Henry G. Hanks will be with us again. The work that he has accomplished for our coast is already too well known to need notice now. And it would be superfluous to say that he will be gladly welcomed, as he bears home our laurels. He has, too, laurels of his own, which he richly deserves. The French gave him a diploma of honor and a gold medal, as tokens of their appreciation of the skill and judgment exhibited by him in the management of the Pacific coast display. And when he is back at home, he will be rewarded not only by our esteem but by the sight of new enterprises, supported by foreign capital, growing up among us, as monuments of the good services he has rendered. This is no chimera, as time will very soon show.—Scientific Press.

A PARAGRAPH is going the rounds of the papers that Dr. Babcock, the inventor of the famous fire extinguisher, is now a miserable vagrant in Alameda county. This is not so. The inventor is a well-to-do man residing in the East.—Pacific Life.

FOUR of the editors of the Memphis Avalanche died of yellow fever within a few weeks, working to the last, but they left one courageous soul to tell the truth after they were gone, and he says: "We who are here to-day do not feel like mincing phrases or glossing over facts. But we do mean to say, in plain English, that Memphis has one other curse than the plague, and that curse is her rich men. For mean, selfish, penuriousness we think the rich men of Memphis can beat the world, ancient or modern, and there is not a man standing here to-day, fighting the greatest plague in all history, that will not indorse this sentiment."

THIS item is going the rounds: It may not be generally known that common cooking soda is a sure remedy for the bite of rattlesnake, if applied soon enough. An incision should be made the depth of the wound made by the fangs of the snake, and into this cut soda should be sprinkled. It will immediately bubble up and turn green, caused by the action of the soda in neutralizing the acid of the poison.

ANY father who would go out and put tar on top of his front gate after dark must be lost all sense of humanity and ordinary respectability.

SEVERAL of the unemployed of Massachusetts now have something to do. They go around and take votes on railroad trains.

DR. MARY WALKER has the advantage of most men in one respect—she can mend her own breeches.

THERE is a new syrup in the soda water stores called "Don'tcareiffido." It is very good.

A PRESBYTERIAN missionary, stationed at Formosa, has married a Chinese girl.

A wag, who thought to have a joke at the expense of an Irish provision dealer, said: "Can you supply me with a yard of pork?" "Pat," said the dealer to his assistant, "give this gentleman three pig's feet."

An English fashion journal, in reply to a correspondent who asks for a "girl's smoking dress," advises "something snuff-colored, steeves en tabatiere, with plenty of piping."

Eight masked robbers stopped a railroad train in the West the other day. As the train contained an excursion party of editors, the only loss was a loss of time to the robbers.

Kansas has a Limburgher cheese factory, and a case of yellow fever can't get within ten miles of the State. The victory is always to the strong.

Key weighs 250 pounds. He ought to have been Secretary of the Treasury. It requires a ponderous key to lock it from thieves.

At Jackson, Texas, a base-ball player has been struck by lightning. He thought it was a "daisy-cutter" and gave it the short stop.

Cyprus must be the Paradise of islands; it has only one piano, and the girl doesn't play the "Sweet Bye and Bye."

When you have a chance to hug the girls never complain of waisted opportunities.

....SELECT LIST OF....

Local Newspapers.

MANY PERSONS SUPPOSE THIS LIST TO BE composed of cheap, low priced newspapers. The fact is quite otherwise. The Catalogue states exactly what the papers are. When the name of a paper is printed in full face type it is in every instance the best paper in the place. When printed in Capitals it is the only paper in the place. When printed in Roman letters it is neither the best nor the only paper, but is usually a very good one, notwithstanding. The list gives the population of every town and the circulation of every paper. IT IS NOT A CO-OPERATIVE LIST. IT IS NOT A CHEAP LIST. At the bottom of the catalogue for each State the important towns which are not covered by the list are enumerated. IT IS AN HONEST LIST. The rates charged for advertising are barely one fifth the publishers' schedule. The price for one inch four weeks in the entire list is $635. The regular rates of the papers for the same space and time are $3.136 35, The list includes 970 newspapers, of which 163 are issued DAILY and 807 WEEKLY. They are located in 825 different cities and towns, of which 23 are State capitals. 328 places of over 5,000 population, and 444 County Seats. AIR CASTLES.

I was sitting alone, as we sometimes ought,
Weaving the mystical web of thought;
In and out and over and through
Lightly my beautiful shuttle flew.

First came the scenes of my childhood days,
My girlish sports and my childish plays;
I loved the mountains, the birds and the flowers,
And among them I spent my childhood hours.

And as the swift years onward flew
Wilder and still more romantic I grew.
Castles high in the air I'd rear,
And of their safety have never a fear.

I had castles fair that were peopled with kings,
And mansions, too, that were beautiful things.
But, alas, alas! for my reasoning fair,
I found they were nothing but castles in air.

But as from a girl to a woman I grew,
I built me a castle more fair to view.
This castle formed of my life a part—
I had lain the foundations deep in my heart.

I guarded my castle with wondrous care,
And thought no intruder could enter there.
But I like others must have my day.
And my foolish heart found its idol of clay.

And in my imagination fair
We reigned king and queen in my castle of air.
Alas for my love dream that was born but to die
In the beautiful part of the long gone by!

The shuttle of life more slowly flies,
And tears of regret are dimming my eyes.
'Tis the same old story, told over again,
Of passionate parting and lifelong pain.

And I, like others would gladly give
Half of my life, if I could that live—
But I stop the shuttle, 'tis foolish and vain,
Who would not live their first love dream again?

BERYL STAR.

BURKE CLAIMS ANOTHER TEN MILLIONS.—Another suit has been commenced by John H. Burke against the bonanza firm to recover $10,429,000, which augments the claim against the firm to $40,445,000, and more suits to come. The present suit is in the Nineteenth District Court, and is against James C. Flood, John W. Mackay, James G. Fair and the Consolidated Virginia Mining Company. In the complaint plaintiff alleges that at different times during the years 1872 and 1873 Flood, O'Brien, Mackay and Fair bought seventy feet of mining ground at a nominal price and then sold the same to the Company for the shares of said Company, the shares at the time being worth $300,000 more than they paid for the ground. That Flood and O'Brien were Directors of the Company at the time of these transactions. That the said shares of stock were worth in January, 1875, $10,000,000 and over, and that the value of the stock at that time, together with the dividends, was $10,429,000, all of which he prays to have returned to the Company for the use of the stockholders.

IN a speech delivered recently at Hiawatha, Kansas, Senator Pomeroy told how the greenback came to be issued. How himself and a Congressman from Buffalo, New York, went with Secretary Chase to New York to borrow $7,000,000, and how upon this trip they urged the greenback question upon Secretary Chase, who opposed it. How he finally adopted it, and how green was chosen as the color because it could not be photographed; how he (Pomeroy) was sent to New York by Secretary Chase to buy the patent of a chrome green, then recenntly invented (the green now used on bills and postage stamps), the greens in use at that time being arsenic colors and and poisonous.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 18.

MESSRS. EDITORS—A world of one idea is this little one we live in. Yesterday all Washington was agog over the Potter investigation; to-day it is the Cipher dispatches, and to-morrow it will be something else equally marvellous. As to the present wonder, an enterprising newspaper reporter has been the rounds of the Cabinet and extracted from several of its officers an opinion. The President himself very charitably asserts that he will not believe that Mr. Tilden offered to buy the the Presidency with money until he is forced to do so by the most convincing evidence.

Secretary of the Treasury Sherman crows over the translated dispatches, comparing them and their criminal intents with the letter he was charged with having written, calling the latter (if written) "at most an indiscretion which any politician could write without blushing;" and the former (if correctly deciphered) "telegrams which involve turpitude of the worst type."

Secretary of War McCrary assumes at once that the cipher telegrams are genuinely and correctly translated, and expresses an opinion that the result of their being made public will be detrimental to the Democratic party and its leaders, and advantageous to the Republicans, in that they disclose an effort to secure the Presidency through bribery, which of necessity must have been known to the leading men of the guilty party.

Attorney General Devans, with the shrewdness of a lawyer, gave no opinion as to the moral turpitude or legal liability of the persons implicated, or of the general effect of the disclosures upon public sentiment, but said he considers the matter serious, and thinks the persons involved should hasten to make an explanation if possible.

Politicians and business men begin to put in an appearance as the Congressional session approaches—the politicians to lay the pipes for the official patronage and the business men to propose measures of relief to trade and industry. There is a very general demand for some internal improvements that may give employment to idle labor and develop the western lands for settlers. The success of Capt. Eads' plan for improving the mouth of the Mississippi river has inspired new hope in further improvements to render the navigation of the Mississippi river more attractive to commerce, and in connection with this plan is one to push to completion the Texas and Pacific railway, from its present terminus at Fort Worth, Texas, to San Diego, in Southern California. The 400 miles of this road already in operation are making handsome returns and developing a country rich in resources. Many leading commercial men in the North as well as the South are looking forward with strong hope to the early completion of this line, furnishing competitive transportation to the Pacific.

Last Winter our lovers of science and its anvancements were delighted with the phonographical exhibitions given by Mr. Edison while on a visit to this city. There was much amusement created then by the lack of faith in the phonograph expressed by a certain Senator, who, when invited by the famous inventor to speak into the instrument put his mouth to the tube and sedately remarked: "I don't believe in you; you are a humbug," and who was surprised to hear the same words spoken back to and of himself in most emphatic tones. But the coming Winter has yet more wonderful things in store for us—experiments resulting from the cogitations of the same master wind. Mr. Edison's last inventive triumph appears destined to eclipse all others and create a greater commotion in the scientific world. It is an electric light, by means of which he proposes doing away with gas, oils and petroleum. Gas light companies are not disinterested and philanthropic enough to hail the invention with rapture. Already they are suffering from a decline of from 10 to 20 per cent. in stocks, with a prospect of a still greater falling off at no distant date. MARTHA.

A RECIPE TO BE MISERABLE.—The best receipt we know of, if you want to be miserable, is to think about yourself, how much you have lost, how much you have not made, and the poor prospects you have for the future. A brave man with a soul in him gets out of such pitiful ruts and laughs at discouragements, rolls up his sleeves, whistles and sings and makes the best of life. The earth was never intended for a paradise, and the man who rises above his discouragements and keeps his manhood will only be the stronger and better for his adversities. Many a noble ship has been saved by throwing overboard its most valuable cargo, and many a man is better and more humane after he has lost his gold. —Inter-Ocean.

A PROFESSOR in Leipsic University asked a student what the Aurora Borealis was. Putting his finger to the side of his head and looking wise, the student said: "I know very well, but forget just now what it is." "There," said the professor, "we are in a fix. The only man in the world who ever knew what the Aurora is has forgotten."

A SCEPTIC, who was badgering a simple-minded old man about a miracle and Balaam's ass, finally said: "How is it possible for an ass to talk like a man?" "Well," replied the honest old believer, "I don't see why it ain't as easy for an ass to talk like a man as it is for a man to talk like an ass."

MR. TRAIN sent a postal card to Memphis to say: "The fever is born of panic based on gormandizing diseased animal food—fish, eggs, butter. Meat is the delirium tremens of flesh. All your remedies only make matters worse. Stop alcohol, tobacco, brandy, quinine, drugs. But above all keep in the open air. Abolish hearses, funerals and the graveyard horrors; they spread the pestilence. Commence at once cremating the dead. The disease is mental. 'Tis the Asiatic plague or consolidation of all the diseases through mental action or fear of death. Memphis knows me. If you have faith I will stop the pestilence. Telegraph and I will come by express. Mayor and Citizen's Committee must sign the dispatch. My guarantee of good faith is that you will see me moving among the dying and the dead."

BOB INGERSOLL is in favor of inflation, but it must be the right kind. He says: "I am in favor of inflation produced by industry. I am favor of our country being inflated with our corn, with wheat, good houses, pictures, books and plenty of labor for everybody. I'm in favor of being inflated with gold and silver, but I do not believe in the inflation of promises, expectation and speculation."

COL. VEST, a Missouri Democrat, and a candidate for the United States Senatorship, has had enough of fiat money. In a recent speech he gave this as an illustration of his experience with that sort of money: "After the late 'unpleasantness' I had to pay $16,980 of Confederate money for a horse, and it was the meanest horse I ever saw." Naturally he wants no more money of that kind.

THREE hundred kegs of bad beer thrown into a pond at Insterberg, Prussia, proved that an intoxicated fish is a very queer fish indeed.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 2.....1878.

THE Mormons have planted colonies in Wyoming, Idaho, Arizona and New Mexico, and now hold the balance of power in the former Territories, being able to dictate the policy of their delegates to a greater or less extent. The New Mexico colony, though small, received great encouragement through Axtell. Most of the converts from the Southern States were sent into that Territory. The deposing of Axtell temporarily thwarted their plans in that direction, but their designs on Arizona are becoming more apparent. Within the past two years at least 1,000 Mormons have been colonized in Maricopa county, where a movement is now on foot for the removal of the capital from Prescott. Apostle Snow and John W. Snow are now in the Arizona settlements for the purpose of engineering this scheme. With Utah already in their possession, and three other Territories virtually so, it can easily be seen that a dangerous power is growing up right in the heart of the Republic. Polygamy has too long been regarded as a joke by the people of the United States, but the iniquity of the institution may become more apparent when they are brought face to face with it, as they were with slavery.

THE press is not entirely free in Germany. On the contrary, a severe criticism of the Government almost invariably causes the law to step in and suppress the publication. But publishers are learning by experience how to circumvent these tyrannical laws. When they fancy that their tone has been a little too strong to suit the authorities they immediately announce the appearance of a new journal. Then when they are ordered to shut up shop they at once come out under their new name and again make it uncomfortable for their would-be-oppressors. Verily it is difficult even for a Bismarck to abridge the liberty of the press.

THE next political contest will occur next Tuesday, November 5. On that day Congressional elections will be held in the following States: Alabama, Arkansas, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and Wisconsin. These elections will settle the political complexion of the next House of Representatives.

ADMITTED.—After much debate, the Convention on the 20th decided to admit Judge Fawcett to his seat by a vote of 74 ayes to 49 noes, Mr. Reddy and six other Non-Partisans voting no, and four Workingmen voting aye. A motion was made to reconsider. The point at issue, it may be as well to state, was that Fawcett was at the time of his election as delegate, and is now, a District Judge, which fact would constitutionally disqualify him from holding any other office except (as we now see) a membership of a Constitutional Convention.

AVICES from the various fever stricken cities of the South indicate quite a favorable change. Already a good hard frost has fallen at Memphis, and other more northerly cities, the good effects of which being quite noticeable. But few new cases are reported, while recoveries are far more general. Refugees are returning, business houses are being reopened, and no further assistance is asked for or needed.

THE TRUE CAUSE.—In consequence of the scandalous story of Gen. Colton's death, the Pacific Life has taken the trouble to prove that story false in every particular. Sworn certificates by attending physicians are produced to the effect that the cause of death was precisely as first stated, namely, the result of a fall from a horse, causing blood poisoning, technically known as septicæmia.

THE Grantsville Sun says that Downeyville is the most western town in Nye county, a fact worth mentioning, since outsiders generally have but a a very indefinite idea of the geograpical location of any of the new Nevada towns, though Grantsville and Downeyville are often spoken of as of rising importance.

THE town of Chico had a $500,000 fire a few days ago. It originated in property belonging to the Sierra Flume Company, and at the hands of some of the regular Chico in cendiary Kearneyites—at least, that is the presumption.

SENATOR JONES, of Nevada, is visiting at Los Angeles.

MR. O'SULLIVAN'S PLANS.

It would trouble the "oldest inhabitant" to keep a clear run of what is being done and is proposed to be done by our Constitution makers. We don't intend to try to do so until members get down to their work, and partly recover from the notion by which many of them are possessed, that the business in hand is to form a Code instead of a foundation for a Code. This will happen as soon as those frothy members who were pledged to revolutionize everything, blow-off enough to begin to get an idea of their own real measure, and find that it is very much smaller than they anticipated. While waiting for that time we will present for the consideration of our readers some amendments the Kearneyites propose through Mr. O'Sullivan, of San Francisco.

Resolved, That the following provision should be inserted in the Constitution: A tax on human existence being an absurdity antagonistic to free institutions, therefore taxes by the poll are forever prohibited in this State.

That ought to please that large class of Mr. O'Sullivan's constituents who "would wade knee deep in blood" to get to vote, yet never pay a dollar of property tax. It would be a good thing, indeed to let them vote away other people's money, paying not even a poll tax themselves.

His next is quite as pointed but not quite as absurd—on the contrary, is commendable:

Resolved, That the persistent attempts to monopolize Nature's free gift to all, water, demand the insertion of the following emphatic declaration in the Constitution: All the rivers and fresh water lakes within the boundaries of this State are common property, and shall be controlled by the government for public uses alone.

Then follow six sections relating to property tenures, of which we give but the main points, as follows:

Monopolies and perpetuities shall never be allowed, nor a law of primogeniture or entailment; all lands in the State to be allodial—that is, free of a lord paramount, the opposite of feudal—no leases or grants to extend beyond the term of ten years; no lessee shall sub-let any portion of lands held in his own name; no persons other than citizens, or those who have declared their intention to become such, shall be allowed to own or lease any real property in this State; no person whomsoever hereafter to be permitted to own or acquire to exceed 640 acres of land, or devise to any one heir a greater amount; actual occupation of a tract of land for one year to give absolute ownership; no more than 160 acres shall be patented by the State to any one person whomsoever.

The foregoing gives a correct idea of how our communists, like Mr. O'Sullivan, propose to fix things so that everybody will be rich and happy. While they are at it, it would be as well to put in a brief clause barring the United States from any interference in the land and revenue matters of this State. Otherwise there will be much yet to cause unhappiness to Mr. O'Sullivan's constituents.

GRANTSVILLE.—We are in receipt of the first number of a neat little weekly just started by D. L. Sayre, at Grantsville, Nye county, Nevada, called the Sun. In it we find references to two old Inyoites that will be read with interest. The first, as follows, is an extract from a Downeyville letter to the Sun, concerning the furnace of that place, the other in its "personals:"

Owing to inexperience, or a want of knowledge of some of the employés, it did not always work as well as could be wished, but toward the last they secured the services of Mr. Elder, an old and experienced smelter, who succeeded in running the ore without much trouble. I suppose he will take charge when they resume work.

Among the recent new comers to Grantsville, whom we have had the pleasure of meeting, is Mr. A. J. Close, of Tuscarora. Mr. C. is an old-time typo, but is at present engaged in superintending the mason work at the new mill.

OUR DELEGATE.—Here is an extract from the San Francisco Post's Sacramento letter relating to the votes and arguments upon the admission of Judge Fawcett to a seat in the Convention. The only comment we have to offer is that Mr. Reddy must have aged rapidly since he went to Sacramento, else there is a misprint in connection with his age, which is put down full fifteen years more than it is:

P. Reddy, who is about fifty years of age—in a brilliant speech, full of argument, wit and humor—assumed his natural position as one of the ablest debaters of the Convention. It was not a scholarly production, nor was it remarkable for its beauty or symmetry; but it was intense, full of vitality and strengthened by mental sinews of steel. California has no abler stump speaker than Mr. Reddy, though I never heard of him before. If he had been more deliberate and particular in the choice of his words, and possessed of less wit, he would have been pronounced a great lawyer. He has the untamed and unharnessed genius of a natural debater.

ON the 23d ult., at the royal castle of Mandria, near Turin, King Humbert assembled and presided over a formal sitting of the royal family, for the purpose of dividing up the property left by the late Victor Emanuel. The sitting was abruptly postponed, however, and it was found on examining certain papers and bills that there had been nothing left to divide but royal debts—many and heavy.

The left leg near the hip joint was shattered and torn nearly off, and the thumb of the right hand blown off. Dr. Goodnough, of Antelope, was called at once, and being satisfied that amputation was necessary, telegraphed for Dr. Smart, of Carson, who came, accompanied by Dr. Black. The three then took the leg off near the hip joint on the morning of the 19th instant. Forrest lived about seven hours after the amputation, dying at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Deceased was a native of Gloucestershire, England. Two little girls, daughters of E. A. Gouser, of Antelope, were walking beside Forrest when the explosion occurred, and were severely if not dangerously wounded by the flying caps, their right arms and bodies being badly lacerated, but on the morning of the 20th instant they were considered by Dr. Goodnough out of danger.—Bodie Standard.

WE have received a letter from J. H. Fenton, who resides in Belleville, in which he says: "Times are somewhat better here, and prospects for the future flattering. New Boston, a new mining camp eighteen miles from here, bids fair to be a flourishing mining camp and rank high among the bullion producing camps of Nevada. Candelaria is improving fast; new and rich mines are being developed there, and the prospects are good for a lively camp the coming Winter."—Belmont Courier.

A Sad Accident.

A serious accident occurred on Wednesday morning as the stage from Darwin was approaching Indian Station on its way to Mojave, which resulted in the death of a little child and the serious injury of the mother. About six weeks ago Wm. Cuff, who had been living at Darwin, changed his residence to Virginia City, leaving his wife and little child. then about six weeks old, at Darwin. On the morning when the accident referred to occurred, Mrs. Cuff was a passenger with her infant, she being on her way to join her husband. They had traveled all night, and at about 8 o'clock in the morning, as the stage was nearing Indian Wells, Mrs. Cuff discovering that her infant needed attention, concluded to make some change in its clothing. She laid the baby on the seat in front of her and reached for her satchel, and as she did so, by some accident, she lost her balance and fell out of the stage, which was what is known as a mud wagon. In falling she either reached for the baby or her foot became entangled in the scarf or cloth with which it was covered and drew it after her. In falling the leg of the little child was caught between the brake lever and the wheel and horribly mutilated; in fact, the thigh was completely mashed and the leg nearly torn off. The mother also sustained a severe internal injury. We are informed that at the time the accident occurred the stage was going at a moderate pace up hill. The distance from where the accident occurred to Mojave is fifty miles. They must have seemed interminable to the poor mother with her little mangled babe. Mr. Taylor, the route agent, was on board at the time and did everything in his power that would contribute to their comfort. On reaching Mojave in the evening they were put on board the passenger train and taken charge of by Mr. Price, the agent. At Tehechepa he telegraphed to Dr. Wells to meet them at Sumner, and on their arrival there they were taken to the Central House. The doctor severed the leg of the infant, which had been nearly amputated when the accident occurred, and did all that human skill could do for the little sufferer, but it breathed its last Thursday morning. The condition of the mother may be imagined. The death of her child, under the circumstances was a terrible shock to her, and this added to her own injuries, made her quite ill, but she is rallying, and in a fair way to speedy recovery.—Kern County Gazette, Oct. 26.

A BOY EXHORTER.—Thomas Harrison, a boy exhorter, is conducting a remarkable revival in the Foundry Methodist Church, Boston. He is eighteen years old. His entrance to a meeting is thus described: "Crack! snap! crack! sound upon the waiting air with the thrilling sound of pistol shots in rapid succession. The explanation appears as the evangelist comes in slapping his white hands from excess of nervousness. He is dressed in a tight-fitting black coat, whose skirts are so long as to give it the air of a priestly robe. A white tie shows above the close buttoned coat. A chained tiger is not more restless. He is never still. His feverish unrest infects the audience. The never failing wonder of what he will do next and the failure to correctly anticipate keeps up an unflagging interest." He uses simple language, and expresses his ideas clearly, but has none of the style of a trained speaker. But his energy is tremendous and his power over an audience wonderful. His descriptions of a sulphurous hell for sinners are terrifying to most of his hearers, and the excitement is always great by the time the sermon ends with an appeal for sinners to come forward for prayers. One reporter gives the following account: "He ran down from the platform and stood on the front seat. He was pale with excitement. He outstretched his hand downward, and the heads went down in front of him as if impelled by a weight. Then he said in a low voice: 'The spirit of the Lord is present with more remarkable power than I have ever felt it in all my experience.' Fervent exhortation followed. Persons began to quit their seats and rush forward. In a minute the front seats were full. Old and young struggled with each other to be first. The leaders met each newcomer with a hand shake and a shout. One fashionably attired young woman fainted, but a friend near her caught her, and she fell prostrate over the chancel rails." Harrison is from Boston. He has been remarkably successful in inciting religious fervor wherever he has worked, and is in great request by by Methodist churches. He is said to be so engrossed by his mission that he often breaks into exhortation at hotel tables, in street cars and anywhere else that the impulse seizes him.

THE discharge of Von Schmidt, who killed Merkle some weeks ago while endeavoring to protect a Chinaman from the wanton assault of a gang of hoodlums, ought to prove a salutary warning to the young ruffians who infest the city, committing all sorts of depredations. Von Schmidt did a brave act in driving off the cowardly dogs from the inoffending Chinaman, and Merkle from all accounts provoked his own destruction. The action of the Court in holding Boyle, a pal of Merkle's, in $2,000 bail to answer the charges of perjury and assault to murder, may also serve to warn the others of the gang of the danger of attempting to swear their hoodlum comrades out of trouble.—S. F. Chronicle.

TWO GENOESE recently fought a duel in a small boats on the high sea, just outside of their native port. Without witnesses, they fought with knives till one of them, the lover of the other's wife, was killed and sunk to the bottom with a weight around his neck, tied by his ferocious victor. The latter then came into port and gave himself up.

SINCE Tom Fowler shipped a ton of his Empire ore to the city, a number of San Francisco stock sharps have been rushing up to Mineral King to look after the chances, and some of them got caught in the recent snow storm.—Delta.

THE saddest words of tongue or pen, "I'm going to pay, but I can't tell when."

THE SHERMAN LETTER.—An Eastern dispatch, dated October 25, says:

Saturday's Herald will contain an interview with James E. Anderson, now stopping in this city. Anderson clears up the mystery surrounding the Sherman letter, and exonerates Secretary Sherman from all complicity in the matter. He says the authorship of the Sherman letter lies between Senator Kellogg and Colquitt Clark. who was his private secretary at that time. Mrs. Jenks never saw it. The original letter is now in the possession of a gentleman in Philadelphia, and can be produced at any time. He says Kellogg could exonerate Sherman at any time, and will do so as soon as the Louisiana appointments made in his interest are confirmed.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 2.....1878.

A CURIOUS FACT.—On the authority of Col. Talcott, who vouches for the truth of the matter, there is a certain point on a ridge high up on Kearsarge Mountain where can be heard the rumble of trains on the Southern Pacific Railroad, as they cross the range to the west of Mohave—140 miles distant. There is a regular daily train passing at 10:30 o'clock, and upon reaching the place at this hour the noise of the train is heard as stated. It is a curious thing in Nature, but scarcely more wonderful than some of the mountain echoes we read of, nor no more incomprehensible than late achievements of science in telephones, phonographs and megaphones, possibly involving the same principle of conducting sound through the air or solids.

OLD GOLD MINES.—Parties are about taking hold of the old Fish Springs gold mines, some 18 miles north of Independence, the principal ledges being the Golden Wreath and the Macedonia. The last work done upon them was in '72, when the two arrastras then working shut down and were dismantled. McMurry worked probably 2,000 tons of ore, which yielded an average of $30. Westerville's mine produced 1,000 tons, which worked up to an average of $35. An unlimited water power very near the mines renders the working of the ore by arrastras very cheap, not to exceed $4 per ton. The Golden Wreath has a tunnel in about 100 feet, which has but a short distance more to run to strike a known ledge of ore at a depth of 90 feet.

THE COURTS. — The District and County Courts are booked to meet next Monday. The calendar for the former is extremely light, and it is very probable that all the important cases will go over to the next term under the rule tacitly adopted by all the principal courts of allowing such delay when any of the principal counsel are engaged upon their duties as Delegates to the Constitutional Convention. The calendar for the County Court is so far bare of any new or appealed cases, and there being no criminal actions to dispose of, no Grand or other juries will be required.

RESTING SPRINGS.—This district, situated in the extreme southeastern portion of this county, and distant some 200 miles from Independence, bids well to become an important place. One lot of mines has been sold to a San Francisco company for $40,000, and the parties are about building a mill, having contracted with the Cerro Gordo Freighting Company to haul the machinery and material from Mohave. The country is represented to be well timbered and watered, and the mines large and rich.

TELEGRAPHIC. — Paul Houard, M. Lasky and others of Lone Pine have invested in some telegraph instruments and propose familiarizing themselves with the Morse system. A company might be organized to connect this place with that town, with an intermediate office at Shepherd's, George's Creek. Let our citizens make a start in this important matter by accomplishing this much, and our mining companies and the Freighting Company will take a hand in pushing the line through Darwin and on to the railroad.

THE YIELD OF GRAIN.—We are in-indebted to Supervisor Westerville for the following statement of the amount of grain threshed in the valley by his two machines and that of Williams & Horton, of Round Valley. The total for all points from George's Creek up foots up as follows: Wheat, 600 tons; oats, 257 tons; barley, 594 tons, making a total of 1,451 tons. The grain is of a far better quality on the average than heretofore, and exceeded the yield of any previous year by at least 150 tons.

BENTON.—From the last run the Comanche mill at Benton shipped bullion to the value of $19,415 57, of which $15,474 40 was from ore and $3,941 17 from tailings. The mill was to start up again yesterday. The Company's mines are looking well. The Indian Queen is making its usual shipments, and has a large quantity of ore on hand at the mill. The Diana continues to run on full time.

RETURNED INYOITES.—Geo. M. Gill and John Grangey arrived here by this morning's stage from the north. The former returns from Bodie, and the latter all the way from the snows of Idaho. Think likely they'll be content to stay in a civilized country, now that they have got back to one of that sort.

WILL somebody elucidate two conundrums: (1) why is the Northern stage so much later in getting here on Saturdays than other days; (2) why should letters be from four all the way to ten days from Benton to this place?

STRUCK IT.—Col. A. G. Boley, as we learn from Jos. Rowan, has been working upon a mining discovery of his at the foot of Round Valley, but some nine miles across the ridge from the north side of Round Valley. The ledge is 25 feet in width, and carries silver ore assaying $150 per ton.

PROSPECTING. — Tom Richards, of Benton, has built him a home in Indian District, Mono county, and is going to put in a Winter's work on the first north extension of the Neal & McBride gold ledge.

GONE BELOW.—On the 27th ultimo Supt. Barber of the Modock met with a singular accident at the hoisting works, by which he lost one of his big toes, and has gone to San Francisco for repairs.

A NEW ORDER.—"Pap" Walker, of Olanche, has instituted a new secret order in this county, with headquarters for the present at this place.

PAST AND PRESENT.—Last evening we received a visit from Mr. Morris Lyons, now engaged in blacksmithing at Big Pine. Mr. L. was years ago an intimate friend and associate of the writer hereof, and then, as now, one of the most reliable of men in every respect. But the cause for this reference is this fact: Mr. Lyons was of the first party who ever did any substantial prospecting in this lower section of the Inyo range, and was doubtless the first blacksmith that ever "blowed up a fire" in this vicinity. This was in 1861, being the same season in which Col. Russ, after whom the district was named, but of a separate party of prospectors, located several ledges just across the river here, among the rest one known as the Union, situated a few miles below the Eclipse. The Lyons-Hill-Meacham party also located the same on or about the same day, neither party at the time knowing about the other's claim. By a subsequent compromise the ledge became joint property and named the "Union" in consequence. The Lyons party then located a ledge near where the Chrysopolis mill was subsequently built, calling it the Iowa, since known and re-located as the "Soldier ledge." Here Lyons set up his blacksmith forge and worked at it for two months, during which time the other "boys" operated on this discovery, which they thought was a "world-beater." When, in August of that year, the party decided to return to their homes for the Winter, Lyons cached his tools, together with a good stock of steel, horse shoes, etc., and with the same an assayer's outfit; the bellows were brought to this place, and left at Putnam's old stone store, but were afterwards destroyed by the Indians. But instead of getting back to them next season, seventeen years have flown by before he revisits the scene of his pioneer blacksmithing in the "Owens River country," as it was always called in those days. Naturally enough, he feels a little desirous to know if his cache has ever been "raised" by any one, and will take an early opportunity to investigate the matter, unless satisfied in the meantime that some of those who were known to have made search for the cache were successful in finding it. We would esteem it a favor if any of our pioneer friends knowing that it was so found would drop us a line to that effect, giving circumstances and such other pioneer reminiscences in addition thereto as they may think worthy of mention.

DON'T YOU SEE.—Since newspapers were first invented they have labored zealously and unceasingly to impress one little simple fact upon the minds of occasional contributors, to-wit: that it is a pre-requisite to the publication of every such communication to have the writer's real name accompany it, but never for publication or to be made public in any way, except when so desired. Give your real name as a guarantee of good faith to the publisher, no matter what nom de plume you may attach to your contribution. Either do that or don't contribute anything more for publication, for otherwise it is a waste of your time and material.

SOLD.—The real property belonging to the estate of Sheriff Passmore, deceased, was sold at Administrator's sale on Wednesday last. It consists of something over 500 acres of grass land near Olancha, at the foot of the lake, and produced annual crops of hay from which $3,000 was readily realized. The property was bid in by Wm. Walker for the nominal sum of $2, his mortgage claims against the property together with the expenses of administration amounting to about $5,500.

A LAKE DISTRICT INCORPORATION. Among numerous recent mining incorporation is the Lake View Mining Company, to operate in Lake District, having a capital stock of $10,000,000. The Directors are John Neate, S. M. Holmes (both largely interested in our local enterprise, the Independence Tunnel), John T. Davis, C. A. Genning and C. A. Wilsey.

AT LAW.—Three lawyers and a half dozen or more litigants and witnesses raided Big Pine on Monday last, and adjudicated some petty cases before Judge Campbell on change of venue from Justice Gardner's court here. All hands came out loser, and it is falsely rumored that the whole crowd kept perfectly sober.

MINING STORES.—Supt. Caldwell, of the Independence Tunnel, is engaged in laying in Winter supplies of wood, timbers and coal. Mr. Holt is on his way from New York, and it seems pretty certain that work will be prosecuted by night and day shifts through the Winter.

BULLION SHIPMENT. — Wednesday last the Rex Montis mill shipped a bar of bullion valued at $1,100, .906 fine. Another of equal value will be ready to go to-day. The ore is now being worked to 65 per cent. of its assay value.

TO MEET.—The Board of Supervisors asemble in regular meeting on Monday next. There are no questions of particular import before the Board, and it is supposed that the principle business will be the allowance of bills.

LOCATED IN TOWN.—Dr. Bicknell has removed his office and residence from the Post to his just completed dwelling in town—a pleasing change to all here needing attention at his able hands.

BULLION.—The Freighting Company are now hauling away bullion from both Cerro Gordo and Swansea. This fact seems a forcible reminder of "old times."

THANKS.—Sam Regensburg, of San Francisco, will please accept our thanks for favors received at his hands.

NEW BRAND.—"They All Do It" cigars at L. Woods'. Call and try one. *

Among the Mines—The Rex Montis and Shawmut.

A recent inspection of the Rex Montis and old Silver Sprout mines, on Kearsarge Mountain, by an INDEPENDENT representative more than repaid for the time and trouble attendant upon climbing the peak and reaching the great altitude at which the mines are situate. Since our last visit the road and trails have been greatly improved and many new ones made, so that all the mines are readily accessible by horsemen and pack animals. At

THE REX MONTIS

For some reason known only to the Company and incomprehensible to an outsider, the season's work was just being closed and the remaining miners transferred to the Shawmut, on the other side of the mountain. Whatever bungling has been done on the mine heretofore it is now open in shape for systematic and comparatively inexpensive working. As a general description of the country, the formation and the property has been given before in these columns we shall refer only to such points of interest as may go to show what there is now in sight. The old Nos. 1 and 2 levels were not visited, sufficient developments and points of interest being found in the later and lower levels, or No. 3 and 4 tunnels. For a distance of some forty feet along the bottom of No. 3, through the interstices between the timbers and ice is noted a continuous ledge of ore trending into the mountain, a corner of which is encountered in the intermediate level from the winze, below No. 3 and above No. 4 tunnel. This is an extensive body of $100 ore, very difficult to extract without endangering the tunnel timbers, except by high stoping from below. A mass of crystal ice prevented the examination of this level to its full length in the mountain, but it is stated that ledge matter is continuous along the entire top. One hundred and twenty feet below runs No. 4 tunnel, which is now 241 feet in length and at the face 215 feet below the first surface opening. At a point 200 feet from the mouth a winze connects the two and the intermediate, which latter has no level running to the surface. This winze, which is substantially timbered, follows down a small ledge of fine ore all the way, while nearly under it has been started what is called Prospect shaft. Sixteen feet below the level of 4 tunnel this shaft encounters ledge matter five feet wide, in which is found four small veins of ore of distinctly different characters—a red vein, one of yellow chloride, one of black sulphide and one carrying small pieces of white quartz which are covered with a feathery film of

PURE WHITE SILVER.

The assay value of the latter, however is light; the miners have a theory that it is some sort of a concentrated silver fume from an ore body beneath. Certainly at this, the lowest depth of the mine, no more promising indications of a heavy deposit below could be asked for. Further on in the tunnel the bottom shows a strong strata of good ore, and at its face a small stringer of quartz appears. A list of pulp assays of Rex Montis ores taken at random from the books average in value $116 10 per ton, barring such samples as the following: Sulphurets, $6,021 84; $2,715 07, and another showing $1,229 33 in silver and $60 29 in gold. A point bearing upon the merits of the mines is the fact that there is in the dumps and thrown down the mountain as waste, ore assaying as follows, the quantity being taken from careful estimates: Thirty tons of $60 ore; 600 tons of $30 ore, and about 1,500 tons that will average $20. It is of course unnecessary to add that all this, and much more of it remaining in the mine, could yet be worked at a profit by means of a wire tramway and a mill properly located. The Arctic and Boomerang ledges, running parallel a short distance below, appear on the surface to be equally strong and permanent, and if properly developed would without doubt prove as valuable.

Winding around the summit of the Peak to the south side about one mile, in order to accomplish an air line distance of 2,000 feet through the hill. we come to the Company's other mines, the old Silver Sprout and the Lamb, now called the

SHAWMUT AND THE ROANOKE.

The former has been generally conceded to be one of the most powerful ledges in the district, but any visitor, however well informed of the mine through reports, would now experience a thorough surprise at the quantities of exceedingly rich sulphuret and galena ores on the dump and in sight in the main raise from the lower tunnel and in the stopes. A shaft from the surface 93 feet deep connects with a tunnel 157 feet long. At the point of intersection the ledge matter from wall to wall is 14 feet in width, containing ore varying from two to two and one-half feet in thickness which assays from $80 up to as high as $2,128 68 per ton. The tunnel cuts through at a right angle, the ledge—differing from those on the north side of the peak—running nearly east and west. On the west side a raise of about 30 feet has been made, and stoping is now going on in a body of ore where four miners can readily break down five tons per day of the finest galena and sulphide ore. The richest of this product is selected out for shipment to San Francisco, as the mill cannot at present profitably handle it by raw amalgamation. The Roanoke ledge crops out prominently on the face of the mountain, running a little below and nearly parallel with the Shawmut. The tunnels run in with and on this ledge are five feet wide, all in ledge matter and low-grade ore. The assesment work for the present year has been done by sinking a 14-foot winze 65 feet from the mouth of the lower tunnel, in the bottom of which a stringer of pay ore was uncovered. The old "exploitations" of this mine present a study for even a looker-on, let alone some unfortunate who may have had to put up for the folly. Tunnel No. 1 penetrates the ledge a distance of 94 feet; No. 2 gets in 93 feet and No. 3 is 195 feet in length. These tunnels are 30 feet apart, and at the faces are on a vertical line—an aggregate of 382 feet of hard tunneling to gain a depth of 60 feet.

PROPOSED DEEP TUNNEL.

From these mines the mountain breaks down to the head of Onion Valley, where Supt. Talcott has secured a site for a deep base tunnel. In a distance of 2,500 feet it will strike the Shawmut croppings 2,000 feet deep. As a base it will be 1,000 feet lower than the Independence tunnel on the opposite side of the mountain. County Surveyor Seeley is engaged upon an extensive system of surveys of the mines and the mountain, and from his deductions we hope soon to present some interesting facts and figures.

A descriptton and further mention of the Company's mill, in charge of Mr. S C. Woodhull, who is fast gaining success in manipulating the peculiar ores of the district, is necessarily deferred for the present.

AN EXCURSION TO MODOCK.

DARWIN, Oct. 27.

MESSRS. EDITORS—When Providence moulded Mother Earth, and dressed its surface in so many curious styles, ornamenting one part with admired landscapes, where valleys with their beautiful carpets of living flower life, interspersed with here and there a crystal rivulet, and then a chain of hills or miniature mountains towering around their border, upon whose sides and tops all species of trees and grasses relieve the eye with their colors and inviting foliage of living green, He at the same time arranged and fitted up another part of our earthly footstool in another kind of wardrobe, manufactured deep down in her internal labratory, which to the majority of minds is uninviting, unattractive and simply indicating barrenness, and void of redeeming qualities.

To a superficial observer, one who simply looks at an object but not into it, he will see nothing to praise or enjoy; while to one who penetrates beneath the surface he will see God in everything, and Inyo's rough, dry and apparently barren of interest surface will prove a continued lesson from which one can draw themes for thought fully as instructive as from any other part of California's varied surface. All, all of earth is from God, and nothing was made by Him in vain.

No event has transpired, Messrs. Editors, since my residence in this county that has given me more solid pleasure than the trip made to the Modoc Company's mines, at Lookout, on Friday, the 25th intstant.

The able, genial and respected Superintendent of the above company, Mr. C. J. Barbour, since his return to take charge has given matters his whole attention, and a general overhauling and reorganizing of the working material has been made preparatory to bringing into being a new era in the history of that valuable property. Among the latest improvements and changes made by the managers is the erection of hoisting works down in the mine, together with a set of Ingersoll drills.

The occasion of the starting up of so much important machinery was considered an event of more than ordinary import, being, I believe, the first machine drill ever worked in the county. Consequently the management happily conceived the idea of giving a variety party at the mine at night, and the privilege next day of witnessing in active operation the new improvements, to which the citizens of Darwin and vicinity were cordially invited. The following residents of this place accepted the invitation:

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Woolard, Mr. and Mrs. H. Sharp, Mr. and Mrs. G-Center, Mr. and Mrs. J. Le Cyr, Mr. and Mrs. Van Dyke, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Childs, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. O'Brion, Miss Julia New, C. H. Sharp, J. J. Williams, Superintendent New Coso Mining Company, W. H. Poulten, ex-Clerk New Coso Mining Company, E. V. Joyce, Superintendent Cuervo Mining Company, S. Lewissohn, M. Harmon, Benjamin Russell, Justice of the Peace, Jos. Lesesne, M. D., J. Olivas.

The writer was most fortunate in occupying a seat in Mr. Barbour's conveyance, who drives as fine a pair of roadsters as the county affords. Space seems to be annihilated, especially when making the last six miles of the journey, from the summit of the Argus range down to the mine. One is forcibly reminded of Horace Greeley's stage ride, when Hank Monk held the ribbons, while making this six miles in less than twenty minutes.

Upon the arrival of our party at the mine, we were met by the Manager and his right and left bowers, Mr. Ward Clark and Mr. Simons, Foreman of the mine, who both, like the able manager, seem to have the happy faculty of anticipating a person's wants before they crop out in words.

The ride over gave us all active, determined and lively appetites, and fortunately for us all we fell into the hands of Messrs. Ross & Gunn, who keep the boarding house at the mine, which is especially under the able management and eye of Billy, who has the happy faculty of looking at a person of either gender and in a minute can take their measure and tell exactly what each guest wants. He never fails and his "lay-out" is a "winning card." At 9 o'clock P. M. the Lookout Hall was in shape. It was tastily decorated with colors of red, white and blue, and the merry time commenced. And when Messrs. Ward & Olivas, musicians of high merit, struck the opening Grand March the ladies were caught up for partners by the opposite gender quicker than if each one had been a priceless diamond.

At the Hall the Darwin party was increased by Mr. and Mrs. Birche[illegible] and Mrs. Ross and Mess[illegible]t, Mr. Fitzgerald, Vannoy, Saw[illegible]rs. Parker, others. Minnietta [illegible]yer and many by Mr. and M[illegible] as ably represented acting as [illegible]s. Turner, the former Snow's [illegible] agent of the C. G. F. Co. [illegible] Canyon district by Mr. Mason, who is successfuly running a five-stamp mill on gold ore there. At 4 A. M. one of the jolliest variety parties was concluded that ever took place in the county. Dancing, singing, recitations and eating were the order of the fast fleeting hours, and in this variety there was an ample amount of spice.

Cerro Gordo once had a party and a poet—so had we, and in order that the fact may be known, and thereby keep "T. T." within bounds, we will give a few verses after steam was up and the machine in tolerable grinding order:

On the 25th of October in the town of Lookout—
A beautiful place, of which fact there's no doubt—
A fine time was had until all were quite snoozy—
Strange to say that in Inyo not a soul there got boozy.

The occasion was one gotten up on the hill
For the purpose of seeing the Ingersoll drill,
Which has been introduced to that beautiful spot
To burrow the hill, and find out what they've got.
The night it was spent in chatting and dancing,
And was merrily past until daylight's advancing,
When we all through the mine after breakfast was shown
To see where the silver grows down in the stone.
The guests from Darwin, Lookout and Snow's Canyon,
All unite and agree and are of the opinion,
And to this true fact their names will all sign,
That the place for real fun is at Modock mine.

Then let us all pray that those owning stock
Will come out all right by holding Modock.
In all coming time how can we but harbor
The best of good-will for our friend C. J. Barbour.

After breakfast was over we returned to the Company's office and found surrounding the same either a mule, horse or burro for each of the party, upon which to visit the mine.

The ladies having first choice of conveyances, made their respective selections, when our procession was soon formed, and under the command of Manager Barbour we commenced moving for the tunnel. The descent is not quite perpendicular, but near enough to satisfy the most curious of the lady equestriennes, and the view that we all presented seated on our long-eared locomotives, wending our steep and winding way down the trail, would have made a picture grand, picturesque and peculiar. Regrets were freely made that an artist from Bradley & Rulofson's was not present.

The hoisting works are erected in the mine, some distance from the surface, over a perpendicular shaft now being sunk down to the 1000-foot level to connect with the tunnel coming in from the surface, both intending to cut the ores at that depth.

We found the hoisting works working to a charm, which consists of the usual style of skip, etc., and a Cory engine—a very small and compact piece of mechanism, taking up but very little room, using but a small quantity of wood, apparently easily handled by one man, and taken altogether is both a practical and economical piece of machinery for localities where fuel, transportation and high labor are such important items.

The Ingersoll drill, now running successfully in the tunnel below, which tunnel is virtually the key to the mine, and will soon unlock its hidden treasures, is a masterpiece of workmanship, so simple in construction but powerful in execution, rapid in movement and a never ceasing power—it will in the course of the next three months reach the connecting point with the shaft, a distance in of 1,000 feet. When this important work is completed the mine can be both economically and successfully worked, and at the same time afford good, and from favorable indications in all their present workings above it is confidently believed that large bodies of ore will be cut by these new works when they reach the connecting point.

The future of this company, so far as can be ascertained, seem to the casual observer very favorable, as the ore bodies heretofore and now being opened up look very promising, and there is now on hand 500 tons of smelting ore besides a large quantity of milling. When the Ingersoll drill cuts the bodies of ore on the 1000-foot level which have been so productive above the works for both smelting and milling will doubtless be moved down into Panamint Valley, when from their location relative to the mine the tendency will be that when a sack of ore is removed from its long resting place each successive move it makes will be down, until it reaches the valley below in the shape of bars of bullion. When the attraction of gravitation can be successfully harnessed for transportation purposes it beats and discounts all kinds of up-hill work on mules and burros.

Everything around the Modoc seems to be in a healthy and thriving condition, and I confidently believe that if the Almighty put ore in Lookout Hill C. J. Barbour will find it.

The hour of departure finally arrived and at 2 P. M. our homeward bound procession was formed, consisting of five carriages, when in line, and we left the mine, surrounded by its whole-souled residents, who offered up cheer after cheer as we moved away.

There was but one unanimous verdict rendered by the Darwinites and that was that the 24 hour trip to the Modock had more concentrated pleasure, true and genuine enjoyment, than was ever before experienced in a week's time by us, and for our treatment meted out at the hands of the manager, and his able corps of officers, we of one accord in this place take this means of returning them all our warm and sincere thanks.

Yours truly,

C. F. O'BRION.

BODIE GROWING.—Parties who [illegible] recently returned from Bodie [illegible] have upon their arrival in [illegible] say that hardly knew the [illegible] that town they improved. [illegible] place, so much had it not long [illegible] houses stand thickly where Co[illegible] since it was "all out of doors." [illegible] and plenty of lumber have been procured many more buildings than are now seen would have been erected. A railroad to the town would double its size next season. INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 2.....1878.

CAN THIS BE "SIMPS?"—The San Francisco correspondent of a New York paper, writing October 1st, gives the following bit of hotel gossip: The Palace Hotel is just now perplexed with an amusing contest with the wife of an army officer, who has made her presence very objectionable to the inmates of that vast establishment by undertaking, on her own assumption, to manage its social arrangements. She has succeeded in making herself so obnoxious to the guests of the house that the managers have requested her to leave, which she peremptorily refuses to do, and challenges them to put her out by force. Her gas and water are cut off, but she holds the fort and refuses to surrender. Her appearance in the public rooms occasions a general stampede; but as she pays her bills regularly, and has an uncommonly voluble and bitter tongue, Senator Sharon and his staff are in an awkward dilemma.

SIX THOUSAND LIZARD HIDES.—One of the most remarkable of lawsuits has been begun in the Superior Court of Cabarras county, Pennsylvania. A few months ago John M. Imgraham was applied to for work by John Forst. He told the applicant that he had nothing for him to do, but that he would give him $12,000 for the hides of 6,000 lizards, Imgraham giving the man his note for that amount. Forst, with his wife and five children, at once started for the mountains. There they established themselves in camp and began a war upon the reptiles. The result of the first day's effort was so encouraging that they worked with renewed energy, and within 20 days had the 6,000 lizard hides. The family walked into town yesterday and offered the reptile skins to Imgraham, and were told that his offer was a jest.

CALHOUN was a Virginia infidel. He wrote a book against Christianity and peddled it throughout the State. Wherever a camp-meeting was in progress there he was to be found, selling his books and making speeches. Recently he fell among the encamped negro Methodists at Crab Bottom. They set about converting him. They surrounded him, drowned his voice with prayers and singing, got him on his knees and finally brought him to repentance. He burned his books and has taken the agency for a Christian publication.

THE attention of the authorities in England is seriously directed to the subject of infant mortality. The returns of the Registrar-General have told year after year a shocking story. Putting the thing plain, the horrid fact stands forth that a vast proportion of British born infants are murdered for the sake of the burial money, and infanticide now is as common on the banks of the Severn as it was in days of old on the banks of the Ganges. Patent child food is the chief means by which this slaughter of innocents is carried on.

THE VISION.

The moonlight falls upon the water,
The stars are shining bright above,
The rippling sea is softly sighing
Of Warfare, Carnage and of Blood.

Hark! In the stillness of the night,
Across the water, there comes a sound
As of strife and deadly warfare,
It's echo on the rocks resound.

Those deadly, onward, fiercely battling
Fortresses on the tossing sea,
Sounds of guns and sabres rattling
Borne on the wind to me.

A shadow passes o'er the moonlight,
A cloud of darkness comes between
The starry heavens and blood stained waters,
Then it passes like a dream.

The darkness rises like a curtain,
The once bright moon looks sadly down,
On dying wretches and conquering heroes,
The conflict's o'er, the battle's won.

Then I rise in silent wonder
From my seat upon the shore,
And in my ear still rings the thunder
Of Carnage, Bloodshed and of War.

The new born day peeps through my window,
My eyelids open on the scene
Of nothing but familiar objects—
The sight I saw was but a dream.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 25.

MESSRS. EDITORS—The Sherman family has long been very prominent, but was never more so than now, especially that branch of which Gen. W. T. Sherman is the head. The General himself is, as a matter of course, always before the public, and his wife, although not a society lady, has been so for many years on account of her important connection with the Catholic Church, of which she is an active member. A remarkably intellectual lady with a finished education and fine literary abilities, not to mention her pecuniary power, she could not fail of being known and valued in whatever circle she choose to move. And when a lovely and benevolent character is added to such qualities, it is not wonderful that she is known and quoted the world over. Their daughter Ellie's recent graduation from the convent school that has educated her, her debut in society, together with her beauty and good common sense, have of late brought her into more than passing notice; and the oldest son's sudden renouncement of the world and entering in to the Catholic priesthood has rendered him famous, for the time at least. It is a pity that good alone should not be spoken of these people—or, at least, the truth alone. Many reports have been set afloat concerning their family relations, the most of which, no doubt, have no foundation. They are a happy family, very devoted and affectionate. The action of his son was naturally distasteful to the General, who is not a Catholic, but that it caused an estrangement between him and his wife is a rumor that is wholly false, according to intimate friends of the family. Mrs. Sherman's recent illness is said to be largely due to the tax upon her strength, sympathies and time while here last Winter, imposed by persons in need of aid who besieged her at all times and in all places, so well known is her benevolence, kindness and habit of assisting the needy.

A few weeks ago, while Gen. Sherman was in Arizona, a ball was given in his honor, the tickets of admission being placed at $10. The General's fondness for tripping the "light fantastic to" is so universally known that while receptions or dinners are tendered other prominent men, he is always honored with a grand dance or ball. It was at this one in Arizona that he received as sincere a compliment as the greatest of men could wish for. In the midst of the dancing a rough miner—evidently just from his toil, in full miner's outfit, trowsers in boots, belt filled with cartridges, pistols and knives—presented himself at the door and asked if the entrance fee entitled him to the privilege of shaking hands with Gen. Sherman. Answered in the affirmative, he replied, "Ten dollars goes," passed out a ten dollar bill and entered the ball room. Carefully wending his way through the crowd until he found the General, he extended his hand with the remark, "Gen. Sherman, I merely want to shake your hand. I fought under you in the march to the sea," turned and left the room without another word. No doubt he got his money's worth in satisfaction.

The Spanish Minister, Señor Mantilla, is to be transferred to Constantinople, and Señor Mendez Vigo will come here to take his place. This political move will be a sad blow to our social world, because it will necessitate the departure of Madame Mantilla from Washington. For years she has been the observed of all observers, wearing the richest costumes and making more display than any other lady in society here. Hers are the rarest diamonds worn in Washington; hers the brightest eyes seen here and hers the fairest neck and arms, the daintiest feet, the most dashing carriage. In fact, she has been the star of Capitol society for a long time. Hundreds and hundreds of persons go to the public White House receptions every year expressly to get a sight of this famous Spanish beauty and leader of fashion. MARTHA.

THE Alta gives the following condensed statistics of California: This State has a total area of 100,000,000 acres, including 3,000,000 held by private ownership, 7,000,000 enclosed, 4,000,000 cultivated—nine-tenths of the cultivated land being in cereals, and 82,000 in grape vines. She has 2,500,000 bearing trees of temperate fruits—apples, pear, peach, plum, prune, apricot, nectarine and cherry—300,000 bearing trees of sub-tropical fruits—orange, lemon, lime, fig and olive—400,000 almond and English walnut trees, 4,400 miles of mining ditches, 260 gold quartz mills, 300 saw mills and 140 grist mills. Among her annual products are 12,000 tons of wool, 5,000 of butter, 10,000,000 gallons of wine, 14,000,000 of beer, and 500,000,000 of sawn lumber. The assessed value of her property is $320,000,000, of which half is in San Francisco and its suburbs; but the market value is twice as great, The annual increase in the wealth of the State is not less than $30,000,000.

HE DIED RICH.—How hard some men strive all their lives to have it said of them when they have passed hence: "He died rich!"

Relatives and friends who are left behind seem to consider it a sort of compliment to the dead to dwell upon that theme, "he died rich."

And now comes up the question: Is it an honor for a man to die rich? Is the world any better for a man to die rich than if the same man died poor? Is the man any happier in the next life on account of it? If the spirit is conscious after death, is it any satisfaction to that spirit, in the other life, to know that he left a hundred thousand or two for his relatives to quarrel over, and break his will over, and on account of which they are to be at swords points with each other through all time? Is the man who died rich mourned for any more sincerely than the man who died poor? And when we come to talk about that, is it really desirable to have people mourn for us after we are dead? It is exceedingly uncomfortable for them, and what benefit can it be to us?

AN exchange says: John Splan, the driver of Rarus, while at Kansas City was introduced to one of the city clergymen. The reverend gentleman was quite favorably impressed with Mr. Splan, and in course of conversation remarked: "Mr. Splan, I have heard a great deal about drivers being bad men, but since meeting and talking with you I must acknowledge there are exceptions." "Thank you," dryly remarked the turf man. "Now, I live in Brooklyn where I hear a great deal about bad ministers, and (with a smile), since seeing you I too acknowledge there must be exceptions."

THE Chinese Ambassador to England attributes the famine in India to so much land being devoted to the cultivation of the poppy. It is estimated that 1,036,000 acres of the best land in India is devoted to the cultivation of the poppy.

CORN CAKE.—Two cups of Indian meal, one cup of flour, one teaspoonful of soda, two teaspoonfuls of cream tartar; sift all together very evenly, then add one teaspoonful of salt, one third cup of sugar, and wet to a batter with milk.

THE big trees in the Calaveras group number 1,300; in the Tuolumne and Merced groups less than 100; in the North King's river grove only 50, while the Fresno group occupies an area of three or four square miles.

GOV. IRWIN has signed the discharge papers of thirty-seven prisoners now confined in the State Prison at San Quentin, who will be liberated during November. Of this number twenty-four receive restoration to citizenship.

FOUR steel steamers of light draught have been ordered from England by the Egyptian government, for use on Lake Albert Nyanza and for opening the navigation of Cental African rivers.

The beach at Galveston is the largest and broadest in the world, extending about twenty-five miles, forming the unbroken tide of the Gulf of Mexico on the south and east.

Voice of Experience.

An elderly gentleman of culture and much experience, as well as being well versed in Governmental affairs, in a letter to his son in this city says:

"Fiat money is the most idiotic, most dishonest, most destructive agency that the evil genius of man could invent. Its evils can be estimated only by those who have once who have once tasted them. We once had fiat money—it was in 1836. The deposits (public) had been removed from the old United States Bank and placed in what were called 'deposit banks,' selected in the different States in such a way as to equalize the distribution of the public funds. When the deposits were removed there were less than 300 banks in the country—in three years there were 1,350. After the deposits were removed and placed in the banks selected by the administration, the then Secretary of the Treasury (Levi Woodbury) issued an order to the deposit banks to discount and issue liberally. This they did. The bank of Cleveland, Ohio, a deposit bank, issued $23 of paper to $1 of specie; others did the same liberal work; so that in 1836 and the forepart of 1837 money was as plenty as the leaves of the trees. But in '37 the crash came, beginning in the East and moving West—property went down, down; potatoes sold at 4 cents a bushels, and flour at $1 50 a barrel. The first barrel of flour I bought in Dayton, Ohio, was only $1 50—this was in March, 1840. I have no time to write the whole story—it is one of pain and one of shame to the country—how much greater the shame of the idiots of the present day?"—Ottumwa (Iowa) Courier.

BOXING CHILDREN'S EAR.—The practice of boxing children's ears is a most dangerous one. Prof. Stanich, aurist, in a letter to the Timaru Herald, says: "As one single instance, I have found in Canterbury no less than four children in one family affected with serious deafness. One of these little ones had the drums of both ears absolutely broken, which means, of course, incurable deafness. The parents assured me that they never struck their children, but it was in school that the boxing of the ears, which had so fatal results, had taken place. I understand also that more than one schoolmaster in Timaru is in the habit of resorting to this barbarous practice as a means of punishment, and who—unwittingly, no doubt—will be answerable for many a case of deafness in years to come, when their present pupils will have reached manhood or womanhood." When the barbarous practice of beating children in school is resorted to, preferring a charge of assault against the teacher would have a moderating influence. If children are utterly disorderly they should be expelled the school, and the onus of punishment thrown on the parents, who if they neglect the proper correction of their children, would have the pleasant reflection that the reformatories or training schools would be the places to which incorrigible children would be sent.

THERE is a panicky feeling in England in business circles and a gloomy outlook. To add his mite to the troubles Mr. Edison's promise of making electricity take the place of gas in illumination has frighteded all the holders of gas stocks so thoroughly that there has been a great rush to sell and a great break in prices, while heretofore gas stocks have been the very cream of investments. A little of the same thing is seen in America, but not nearly so much. It is yet to be proved that electricity can be domesticated. It will light up all outdoors but it is not yet a house companion.

CHINESE PENALTY FOR ADULTERATING TEA.—The practice of adulterating tea with willow leaves has been brought under the notice of the Governor of Foochow by the Chamber of Commerce of that place. As the result an official proclamation has been issued threatening the delinquents with severe punishment. Those at the head of the scheme, it recites, are numerous, and any person who proves the guilt of one of them will receive 100 piasters. "Let all," it adds, "tremble and obey."

AN interesting young lady in London was addicted to the habit of reading in bed by the light of a candle. The first public mention of that young lady aphars in connection with the verdict of accidental death rendered by a coroner's jury.

AN exchange says that Kansas and California stand side by side in grain crops the present year. From the eighth place in 1876 Kansas jumps to the first place. Her crop of wheat will be over 30,000,000 bushels, and of corn 100,000,000 bushels.

INFLATION is the method of the exhausted inebriate who would cure the delirum by fresh draughts of the fatal poison. Inflation is death to business—death to character.—Charles Sumner.

THE ELECTIONS.

In the Chronicle, of the 6th, received this morning, we have sufficient election news to show very nearly how the great contest of the 4th instant is going to finally foot up, although of necessity reports are far from complete.

Among the certainties is the agreeable fact that Massachusetts has sat down on Butler and his fiat money so hard as to effectually knock the last political breath out of both. The majority against Butler is not less than 40,000. Much of this came through the votes of Hard Money Democrats. In Massachusetts, New York, Wisconsin, in fact every Northern State, the Republicans show great gains.

In the South these conditions are exactly reversed, every State, including those heretofore divided, going solidly Democratic, if we except the election of three or four Democratic Greenbackers to Congress.

The New York papers generally rejoice greatly at the fact that the Greenbackers or Nationals cut a most sorry figure everywhere, and no less so at the fact that John Kelly's Tammany Ring is routed, horse, foot and dragoons.

From our neighboring State of Nevada the returns are less complete than from some of the Eastern, but enough is shown to make it quite probable that the Republicans elect their State, Congressional and a majority of the Legislative tickets.

COMMISSIONER WILLIAMSON, of the United States Land Office, has reviewed the testimony taken in the famous desert land controversy, and has given an unqualified opinion that Messrs. Haggin, Carr and others in the taking up of lands in Kern county, under the desert land act, have been guilty of nothing improper, that the law has in no wise been abused and that the rights of the Government have not been molested. The lands located are abundantly shown to be desert in character and irreclaimable, save at great outlay and expense, and the Commissioner says: "The fact that one man encourages others by loans to make claims under the statute so as to have their aid in procuring water and the right of way, does not make a case, in my judgment, of entering several tracts for his own use, and does not savor of fraud against the Government; but simply enables others and himself to enjoy the benefits of law, and accomplish what Congress seems to think desirable, namely improvements of lands now nearly useless, which would not and could not be none by a single person." This pretty effectually disposes of the charges against Haggin and Carr which have been dinned into our ears for the year past, and we hope now the subject will be allowed to drop.

THE Miles' bigamy case in Salt Lake is attracting more than passing notice from all parts of the country. It is the first action brought under the Act of Congress against polygamy, and will be looked upon as a test case. The authorities have encountered the greatest opposition from the outset, and it is with difficulty that evidence can be drawn from the witnesses. President Taylor testifies that he is and has been for years a polygamist in faith and practice, and has children and grandchildren as the result of his illegal and unnatural alliances.

LORD DUFFERIN, late Governor-General of Canada, has departed for England. He was an agreeable gentleman, and rendered himself very popular amoug the Canadians, as well as with people on this side of the border with whom he come in contact. He is succeeded by the Marquis of Lorne, whose fame consists principally in being the husband of the Princess Louise, daughter of Queen Victoria.

THE United States Supreme Court, according to the reassignment of its calendar, will next month hear arguments involving the constitutionality of all laws heretofore made bearing on the question of polygamy in Utah. The decision will involve the legality of all laws, National, State or Territorial, to crush the Mormon mode of life.

THE present condition of the Southern cotton crop promises to equal that of the splendid crop of 1870, and excel that of any intervening year. The total out-turn of the crop it is now thought will be upwards of five million bales; in some sections it is estimated a bale per acre will be picked.

THE Memphis Avalanche reporter who was so bitter on the rich absentees from that place during the epidemic, is in his grave. They can now return in safety.

A WRECKING INCORPORATION.

The Pacific Mail Steamship Company has suffered the loss of more splendid vessels in a few years than any other navigation company ever organized. We are told the company is "enjoying a streak of very bad luck." The revelation of the San Francisco Chronicle in regard to the loss of the company's fine steamship Georgia on the 30th of September last, shows pretty conclusively what causes this "luck"—it is the company's bad luck to select incompetent or drunken commanders. Capt. Howard of the Georgia was so drunk he could scarcely stand up at and for some hours previous to the time he ran his vessel on the rocks; the warnings of the lookouts were nothing to him. When the Chronicle first mentioned the trifling fact of the captain's condition, and that that was the cause of the steamship's loss, the company took it in high dudgeon, and at once ordered out their advertisement. But, thanks to the Chronicle, the whole matter is being subjected to a rigid official investigation. But still, no matter what is shown by the evidence of a ship-load of wrecked passengers, the P. M. S. S. Co. will always be able to find captains willing to get drunk or do anything else to help the company make something out of Wall street by sending a splendid ship to the bottom every few months. The Chronicle shows by the published list that nine of the company's steamers, of the aggregate value of $4,050,000, have been so disposed of within the past six years. That paper remarks:

That a cool, diabolical conspiracy somewhere exists for the "bearing" of Pacific Mail stock through the incessant loss of vessels and the persistent and outrageous mismanagement of the company's affairs in other respects, there is little reason to doubt. The manipulators who are on the inside when they have sold large blocks of the stock "short" are, with good reason, suspected of malpractice like this, having for its object the depression of Pacific Mail stock so that they can fill their contracts profitably. When it is reflected that not less than five hundred of our fellow beings have gone down to watery graves in consequence, language is powerless to express a sufficiently severe condemnation of such fiendish methods of making money.

The losses of this company since 1872 are absolutely startling, and can be explained on no other satisfactory theory than that of deliberate design.

NEED CONCILIATION.—If the following dispatch is literally true, certain South Carolina gentleman stand very much in need of some first-class Federal conciliation. The dispatch is dated Washington, October 30:

Details of the attack upon the Republican meeting in Georgetown have just reached Washington. It seems that the Republicans had called a mass meeting to be held at that place and were quietly conducting it. At the same time, in another part of the town, a large Democratic meeting was organized, attended by two cavalry companies and one of infantry, dressed in uniform and armed with rifles, pistols and sabers. The companies almost immediately set themselves to work to break up the Republican meeting. Some of them went over to the stand and made demonstrations against one of the speakers, which immediately produced general confusion. The armed men then made a combined attack on the meeting, drove off the Republicans, tore down the speaker's stand, cut down the flagstaff and pulled off the national colors. They then tore the flag in pieces and trampled it under foot.

NEW PATENTS.—The Mining and Scientific Press Patent Department has received official notice of the issue of the following patents to Pacific Coast inventors, for the week ending October 15, viz.: James T. Dongine, San Francisco, excavating machines; Job F. Peacock, Reno, Nev., door knob attachments; Nicholas Siebert, San Francisco, steam cylinder lubricators; Nicholas Siebert, San Francisco, lubricators; Chas. H. Baker, San Francisco, horse powers; Horace R. Huie, Livermore, Cal., vehicle springs; Ambrose J. Lattin, San Francisco, spring beds; William S. Plummer, East Portland, Oregon, peach parers; Christian Meyers, Napa City, Cal., plows. Trademarks: Engelbrecht, Fox & Co., (2) San Francisco, cigars and smoking and chewing tobacco. Labels: Engelbrecht, Fox & Co., San Francisco, "the club house."

BLANTON DUNCAN has started a circus which in some respects eclipses Butler's. He is traveling in his Congressional District in Kentucky, where he is the Greenbacker, with a wagon which is equipped with a desk, a small cannon and some locomotive headlights. When he reaches a place where he wishes to speak, he fires off his cannon, illuminates and loosens his chin upon the assembled crowd. Thus far no one has been hurt by either the cannon or the chin.

AN attempt was recently made by a provincial to take the life of the young King Alfonso. Gen. Grant, from his hotel window witnessed the flash. The would-be assassin's name is Juan Moncasi. He boldly avows his intention to have been to kill the King.

THE actual loss sustained by the failure of the Glasgow bank is estimated at no less than $31,000,000. This vast sum must come out of the pockets of the individual shareholders, who are liable to the full extent of their means.

A destructive prairie fire has traversed from 15 to 20 counties in Dakota, between Jim river and the Missouri river. The destruction of property is large.

The Chinese Minister sees no reason why pure tea, which is cheaper than that artificially colored, should not be used by us more extensively.

Shipping pampas plumes is a new industry of Santa Barbara. One man has sold 40,000 this season to San Francisco and the East, netting him $4,000.

On the morning of October 23 a frightful hurricane swept along the region between the Atlantic and Alleghanies, damaging property to the amount of millions.

Annie Cook, the notorious woman of Memphis, who sent away the frail inmates of her house at the outbreak of the yellow fever in that city, and turned it into an hospital, has died a victim to her constant and careful personal administrations.

The President has officially promulgated, through the State Department, the Convention which has been ratified between the United States and all the nations of Europe except Great Britain, together with most of the South American Republics, providing for the establishment and maintenance at Paris of an International Bureau of Weights and Measures.

Doc Goodale, one of the participants in the late robbery and murder of the stage driver at Cañon Springs, Montana, escaped from the overland train lately by throwing himself from the window while the train was in motion.

LAKE DISTRICT.—From B. N. Low, a large owner of mines in Lake District, we gather that the Mammoth mill started up on the 21st of last month on ores from the Mammoth and other mines belonging to the company. The property of this incorporation is said to be looking exceedingly well, and explorations go to prove considerable richness and extent. A soft streak of mineral bearing quartz was struck in the Mammoth which assayed $200 per ton. Gen. Dodge, who is one of the largest owners in the property mentioned, is at present in the East, but his agents are highly elated over the future of the district, and state that work will be vigorously prosecuted. We are pleased at the evident coming out of Lake District, and extend our best wishes for its present and future prosperity. It is our desire to add our mite to the success of all camps near us, and we only ask to be informed of the work being done in them to give the benefit of our circulation to their advancement. With the facilities at hand, which are ample, water and wood being plentiful, and ore abundant, we cannot see why Lake shall not prove a success.—Bodie Standard.

COL. JOS. U. CRAWFORD, well-known over California as an energetic and thorough-going railroad engineer, has been appointed Superintendent of Railways in Japan, at a salary of $10,000 a year. We congratulate Col. Crawford on his pecuniary advancement, and feel certain that railroad building will receive a new impulse from his efforts. —Semi-Tropic.

TWELVE THOUSAND different works have been published in regard to the American war. A good deal of this war literature first saw the light in Europe, but the bulk appeared in the United States.

THANKSGIVING DAY.—The President has issued a proclamation designating Thursday, the 28th instant, as a day of Thanksgiving.

INDIAN DISTRICT.—Since these discoveries and organizations were made we have still others to record which give promise of even greater things at no distant day. We refer now to the long time neglected Indian district, organized in 1865. The importance of this over the others named is its location in an outlying range, like Bodie, Aurora and Virginia, instead of in the main Sierra, against which there exists more or less prejudice among mining men. Whether this feeling is more the result of accident than from genuine knowledge founded upon practical experiment, it is not necessary in this connection to inquire. Suffice it, that Bodie and Aurora are looked upon as distict creations, like Virginia—permanent and important. Indian district may be said to be an intermediate as well as outlying, as to formation, being situated south of Mono Lake as Bodie is north, and about midway between the main Sierra and its almost equally elevated companion parallel—the White range of mountains. The latter takes its name from a great white wall of limestone at a point opposite and east of the town of Benton, and the result, apparently of a split or slide. Under and round about this section of the White range (which blends south into the Inyo-Cerro Gordo-Coso range) is Montgomery district, and the one containing the Indian Queen mine, which recently declared a dividend. —S. F. Stock Report.

THE average jury trial has again been heard from. The trial of Thistleton in Los Angeles on a charge of libeling a young lady there most atrociously, ended on Saturday. The jury rendered a verdict of "not guilty," but coupled their verdict with a statement in writing which they asked to have spread upon the minutes of the Court, that the injured young lady was in their opinion virtuous and honorable and had undoubtedly been cruelly maligned. There's consistency for you! The young lady had been outrageously libelled, yet the man who was proven to have committed the deed was found not guilty! We believe it was the stubborness of two or three men that brought about this ridiculous verdict, and the result is only another strong argument in favor of a modification of our present jury system. As for Thistleton, he can still thank his stars that the devil's luck still attends him. One of these days a new element may appear in the adjustment of the public's differences with him—the shot-gun element.—Stock Report.

THE Alpine Chronicle of October 19th says: The decline of Alpine county and its rapid depopulation have decided us to remove, as soon as practicable, to Bodie, Mono county, California, where the Alpine Chronicle will be published semi-weekly.

A FEW days ago, at Lumberton, North Carolina, Amelia Lirklan, a highly respectable young lady, called at Ranche's Hotel and asked to see Ed Hartmen, a commercial traveling salesman for a Baltimore grocery house, whose home is in Lumberton. Hartman went into the parlor, and while shaxing hands with the young lady she drew a pistol and fired, the shot penetrating Hartman's bowels. The young lady as she fired exclaimed, "You have ruined me, and I will ruin you." It is said that Hartman seduced the young lady and promised to marry her six months ago.

ACCORDING to a dispatch from Port Jervis, the people around Thompson, Pa., are all looking for two tramps, who entered the village school after the children had been dismissed, seized the teacher, Alice Kennett, and grossly assaulted her. Then, to prevent her telling the story, cut out her tongue. The young woman managed to reach the black-board, wrote the circumstances of the terrible affair, and a description of the scoundrels, and died.

A PARIS paper tells a story of a barber's apprentice in Hungary who cut his throat because a girl would not marry him. He was taken to the hospital of Ratisbon and cured. It subsequently proved that in the operation his larnyx had undergone he had secured a fine tenor voice, which he improved by practice, and he has lately been engaged at the Opera House in Vienna.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 9.....1878.

INTO THE LEDGE.—We are pleased to record the fact that the long tunnel Supt. Gray has been running on the Kearsarge is now fairly into the ledge. The full width of the ledge, or ledge matter, is not yet known, cross cutting still continuing; but it is certain that the walls are far enough apart to give room for an immense bonanza. Some ore is found, in appearance identically like the croppings 450 feet above, but no body of it as yet of consequence. County Surveyor Seeley, from whom we have these facts, has just completed a survey to determine the relative bearings of the tunnel heading and the bottom of the old Company shaft, the objective point. By this it is shown that the heading is 80 feet north, and 140 feet vertically below the bottom of the shaft. It also appears that the ledge, which runs north and south nearly, dips some 35 feet in a hundred vertical to the west and into the mountain; this added more to the length of the tunnel than was anticipated. The peculiar nature of the ground made it essential to progress to turn it to the northward somewhat instead of to the southward on a more direct line to the shaft; but for this the heading would have tapped the ledge at a point about 50 feet north instead of 80 from the vertical line of the shaft; this, however, would have been no saving in tunnel length, which is now 800 feet, and, as before stated, between 450 and 500 feet below the surface above the heading, and 80 feet north and 140 below the shaft, to reach which an upraise is to be run through the ledge. It is altogether probable the ore body will be found in the intervening ground, but if not no great disappointment will ensue, for this reason: in sinking the shaft it happened that it cut right down the northern end of the ore body, which hardly at any point, except at the bottom; extended clear across the shaft to the north side, though of good width and without a break for a hight of 40 feet down the south wall of the shaft to the bottom; this is the side furtherest into the mountain, therefore furtherest away from the tunnel heading. Various strata cut in the tunnel or visible on the surface all clearly converge to the same point, or near it; furthermore, as we thought after an inspection of the ground years ago, this Kearsarge ledge and the Cliff, hundreds of feet higher up the steep face of the mountain, and from which so much rich ore has been taken; are simply one and the same—in short, all the developments so far made tend to confirm not only that belief but the theory maintained by Mr. Gray and others, namely, that all those ledges on that face of the mountain run together at but a very moderate depth. But to revert to more obvious realities, we know an extensive body of ore, assaying from $150 to $500 a ton, is exposed in the old shaft, and we feel quite as confident as Mr. Gray it will grow larger if no richer the deeper and further in toward the Cliff mine it is followed into the mountain, all of which, by means of this tunnel, will now be an easy task.

GONE BELOW.—On Tuesday last Supts. Caldwell and Talcott, of the Independence Tunnel and Rex Montis mines repectively; started for San Francisco. Mr. Caldwell had supplies on hands and things in general in readiness for regular work on the tunnel during the Winter; but as no orders came to put men on he thought best to hang up for a few weeks and report in person at headquarters, where he can accomplish more for the present than by remaining here. Col. Talcott has no thought of returning here, having, by reason of a peculiar turn of affairs, been compelled as it were to remain here full three months longer than he either desired or expected when he took charge last Spring. He does not assume to be a practical mining man, yet, whether on his own motion or by the aid and advice of a good foreman, the mines are in better working shape than they ever were before; in that respect he has certainly accomplished a good work for the company; in other quite as important respects, his management has been of still greater advantage to the company's interests, or we are greatly in error as to the prospect when he arrived here. But for him and his faith in the great and permanent value of the several mines, as became manifest on examination, the whole business would most likely have been suspended weeks ago. That is our own impression, anyway.

A GOOD PROSPECT.—Supt. Gray has lately been doing some assessment work on the croppings of a little ledge situated some three hundred feet below the mouth of the Kearsarge tunnel, and called the Whitney. At first the ore assayed only about $3 a ton, but as it continuously grew richer and more plentiful as the work advanced, he has continued to drive ahead upon it beyond assessment requirements until it now assays $50 a ton right along, and is altogether a most encouraging prospect. He thinks, however, it is but an off-shoot or feeder of the Kearsarge or main lode proper.

SHORT TERM.—This term of our District Court must go down on the records as the shortest, therefore, sweetest, we have had these many years. The session lasted only part of one day, for the proceedings of which see report elsewhere. Several, in fact all, the important cases go over until the May term, and, with such as may come in the meantime, are likely to make that session a good deal longer than this. Judge Reed departed for his home this morning.

PERSONAL.—D. P. Macarter, of Macarter & Edwards, Lone Pine, was in town to-day. C. F. Stoutenborough, another merchant, and Jerome Hoover, of Bishop Creek, are also here. This morning Paul W. Bennett, Esq., got home from Bodie, having been delayed several days longer in his return than he expected.

DISTRICT COURT.

Hon. Theron Reed, Judge.

FRIDAY, Nov. 8.

Court assembled in regular term on above date, yesterday.

V. G. Thompson vs. J. B. White et al; continued for the term.

Harman & Paris vs. Defiance Mining Company; continued for the term.

J. D. Demitt vs. E. Mallory; report of Court Commissioner submitted.

L. Wapelhorst vs. Cuervo Mining Company; dismissed.

J. S. Rothschild & Co. vs. D. Stubblefield; demurrer withdrawn and defendant ordered to file answer within ten days before the next term.

Reddy vs. New Coso Mining Company; continued for the term.

J. S. Rothschild & Co. vs. J. Vagt; continued for the term.

H. M. Isaacs vs. N. Rhine and H. M. Isaacs vs. I. Harris; continued for the term.

Gelcich vs. Moriarty, et al; judgment for defendant.

Reddy & Wilson vs. R. M. Briggs and J. R. Westerville; demurrer withdrawn and defendant ordered to answer within ten days before next term.

Dorcas Clark vs. J. & B. Rowan; referred to Court Commissioner to take testimony.

Mary A. Parker vs. R. D. Parker; decree of divorce granted.

Jas. Shaw vs. heirs of George Smith; appointment of P. W. Bennett as Referee revoked and Geo. M. Gill appointed as such.

BELMONT MINES.—Supt. Peter Taylor will start up his mill at Lee District to-morrow or Monday next, when the miners of Belmont, three miles south of Cerro Gordo, expect to sell their ores at good rates, as all the mines on that side carry high grade silver ore. The mines are looking well, and as soon as they have a market plenty of ore can be extracted. Mr. Taylor is now hauling wood from within two miles of the Belmont mine. This change will do away with the expensive method of packing ore on mules to the furnaces at Cerro Gordo.

THE EMIGRANT.—The Emigrant Mining Company, at Lee District, have the water now running to their new mill at the mines. Lumber for the mill and boarding house is in transit from the Black Rock Saw Mill, and our informant states that the reduction works are probably now in operation. The company have a large quantity of ore on the dump already, with plenty more in the mines. The Emigrant is proving itself one of the most solid companies in the county.

PETITION.—A petition, with a long list of signatures of residents of Lone Pine and Cerro Gordo, was submitted to the Board of Supervisors during their late meeting, praying for the removal of T. F. A. Connelly as Road Overseer on account of his absence from the State, and the appointment of G. H. Palmer to the position. The Board laid the consideration of the matter over until the next meeting—which was a very sensible thing to do, all the circumstances considered.

COUNTY COURT.—His Honor John A. Hannah opened the County Court in regular term on Monday. Following was the only business transacted: In the case of the People vs C. A. Walters, indicted for misdemeanor, on motion of counsel for defendant the indictment was dismissed. In the matter of L. Gill vs. His Creditors, a discharge from all his liabilities, as a bankrupt, was granted. Court adjourned to Wednesday, November 27.

NEW AGENTS.—Some new agents, and thoroughly good men, too, are now energetically shoving matters in behalf of THE INDEPENDENT. At Bodie, Mr. H. L. Childs attends to all "biz.," while his successor at Bishop Creek, Judge Alexander, spares no pains to secure success. At Darwin, from which point the most important of late orders have come, C. F. O'Brion, Esq., the popular merchant and correspondent, is the duly authorized representative.

TELEGRAPH.—Some of the citizens of Darwin now have their houses and places of business connected by telegraph, nearly a half mile of wire being in the line, with five offices. It is proving both amusing and instructive, and they would gladly hail the day when a connection is made with this place and intermediate points.

ORE ON THE DUMP.—A mining friend assures us that in his belief there is now enough good ore on the dump and in sight in the Silver Sprout mine alone to pay off the present assessment of the company (the Rex Montis). This shows good work on the part of Foreman Walker, with whose management the company have been well pleased.

DENTISTRY. — Dr. J. R. Wakefield, Surgeon-Dentist, late of San Francisco, is now stopping at the Blaney House, where he will be happy to perform any and all operations in his line required by residents of this place and vicinity. See his card under "New Advertisements."

NEW STOCK.—A solid invoice of paper, cards and general stationery is now en route for this office, besides a lot of new type and some of the very best and latest devised labor-saving material. Send in your orders, and take an early advantage of a reduction of prices.

TO RETURN.—The latest report from Supt. Barbour of the Modock is that his wounded foot is rapidly recovering and that he will return to duty in the course of a week or two.

AT LOOKOUT.—Mr. Baker, who acts as agent for the parties introducing the Ingersoll drill on this coast, is at the Modoc mine instructing those who will run them there in the future.

TO START UP.—The New Coso furnace at Darwin, under the superintendency of J. J. Williams, will be started up on or about the 15th instant for a short run.

PROSPECTING.—A. C. Harvey is engaged prospecting on the south end of what is known as the Buena Vista Hill, Cerro Gordo, with fine prospects ahead. C. R. Jones is in the same locality opening a mine which will some day amply pay him for his expense and trouble. These mines are situated close to the Beauregard, owned by Porter & Co., and is by good judges claimed to be equal to the famous Union mine.

CERRO GORDO. — The Union Con. have commenced a cross-cut at the 700 level, cutting across the slate dyke under the old Santa Maria mine. This ground has long been considered, by those best qualified to know, as the best in the hill. A bonanza may be looked for soon. Other drifts, three in number, are being driven as fast as possible through hard lime rock.

BEVERIDGE DISTRICT.—Messrs. Porter, Hughes, Hunter & Brittan are working about ten men in Beveridge District, with very satisfactory results. The arrastras work splendidly and the mines improve as they go down. They will soon make another clean-up, which will net them a rich reward.

That Mail Business.

BISHOP CREEK, Nov. 4.

MESSRS. EDITORS—I notice in THE INDEPENDENT of November 2, an article in which two questions are asked, to-wit: "(1) Why is the stage later getting here on Saturdays than other days, and (2) why are letters from four to ten days on the way from Benton to this place?" To the first question I can made no intelligent reply, but the second gives me the opportunity to inform you that there is scarcely a package of letters coming from the north, marked Bishop Creek, that does not contain a less or greater number of letters for Big Pine and Independence. As the mail arrives at midnight these packages are not opened until the following morning, and the error not until then discovered, The mail leaving here but three times a week, you can readily understand why some letters are four days and longer from Benton to Independence. These mistakes may also be detected at the Big Pine Office. As all packages of letters from the north for Bishop Creek are made up at Benton and Aurora, you will at once see that no blame can be attached to the Bishop Creek or Big Pine offices. At this time there are letters directed to Big Pine, postmarked Columbus and San Francisco; that came here Friday night in a package marked Bishop Creek.

C. F. STOUTENBOROUGH, P. M.

OF INTEREST TO BOYS.—At the risk of a general invasion from the small boys, we feel it a duty to state that a gentleman the other day picked up a small boy's pocket knife (or a boy's small pocket knife), and left it at this office for identification and redemption, The knife is worth, say, two bits—this notice about the same, or a little more, according to circumstances.

HOW ARE YOU?—"My name is Haines! and I live at the cross roads!! My latch string is out, and you can always find me there!" In a speech before the Board of Supervisors, last Monday, our honorable District Attorney made the foregoing declaration. How are you, Mr. Haines? You have general condolence in this new phase of your not extraordinary affliction.

RE-ELECTED.—At the annual election at Cerro Gordo, on the 15th ultimo, John R. Hughes, Esq., was re-elected Mining Recorder, receiving nine votes against one for Thos. McDonough.

THERE will be a stated meeting of Inyo Lodge, No. 321, F. & A. M., at the hall to-night, for regular business and work in the third degree.

FOUND GUILTY.—Con. Casey, who was on trial at Bridgeport for the murder of John W. Lewis, in Benton was found guilty last Thursday, and sentence of death was to have been pronounced to-day.—Bodie Standard, Nov. 5.

There are prospects of an immense crop of oranges at old San Bernardino this season.

A CONSTANTINOPLE "YANKEE."—We have all heard of Rothschild's grand coup after Waterloo on the London Stock Exchange. It has been imitated on a smaller yet considerable scale by Mr. Zarify, the well known banker of Constantinople, who could not have done a smarter stroke if he had sprung from a concentrated essence of Yankee stock. The morning after the signature of the private Anglo-Turkish treaty for the session of Cyprus, he dispatched one of his most trusted employés to Cyprus with sealed orders. On opening them he (the agent) found that, like Monte Christo, had "unlimited credit" to buy everything he could find worth buying. He spent $200,000 in purchasing all he could lay hands on—horses, cultivated lands, shops, cattle, etc. The people were frightfully hard up, and ready money had a wonderously persuasive effect. To-day this property is worth over $1,500,000.—New York World.

ABOVE THE CLOUDS.—Probably the largest and highest rock in the known world is the South Dome of Yosemite. Standing at the fork of the upper valley, it rears itself a solid rocky loaf 6,000 feet above the ground. A more powerful hand than that of Titian has cut away the eastern half, leaving a sheer precipice over a mile in height. No man ever trod the top of this dome until 1875. Former visitors gazed in wonder at the spikes driven into the rock by hardy spirits, who had repeatedly endeavored to scale it. The shreds of ropes dangling in the wind told the story of their failure. Last year many persons visited the top of the dome, and this Summer two sheep were discovered browsing on this hitherto unaccessible peak.

TRADE POSITION OF THE UNITED STATES.—As a remarkable feature in the world's commerce at the present time, it may be noted that the United States is the only country where its exports exceed its imports with the exception of India, which has a small trade balace in its favor. The increase in the importations of Europe is principally in breadstuffs, the United States being the great source of supply for European deficiencies in that line.

TELEGRAPHING is cheaper in Switzerland than in any other country. Being a part of the postal system, the telegraph is as common as the postoffice. There is not a village, however small, or wherever situated, even in the highest region of the Alps, that has not a government telegraph working night and day. The charge of a message in any part of Switzerland is only ten cents.

FIVE noble and wealthy English girls are about to take the veil, all having considerable fortunes in their own rights. They are Lady Edith Noel, daughter of the Earl of Gainsborough, the Hon. Constance Howard, sister of the Marchioness of Bute, two daughters of the Hon. Maxwell Stuart, of Traquar, Peebleshire, and the youngest daughter of Mr. Blount, of Mapledurham.

WHILE Blaine was speaking in Fanueil Hall he soberly remarked: "Whatever your currency you never will get rid of banks." Somebody yelled "N. P. Banks?" and the laughter was immense.

THE Chinese language is spoken by about 350,000,000 people. The English language by from 80,000,000 to 85,000,000.

A SCOTCHMAN has proposed that everybody who drinks alcoholic liquors should be compelled to take out a license. This at $5 a head a year would raise a very pretty revenue.

Politics in Nevada.

For some days past it has been whispered about that Col. Pete Canavan, the well known manipulator of Republican politics in Eureka, carries the famous canvas sack, which is supposed to contain the sinews of war for the Jones Assembly delegates of the Base Range section. Two accounts are in circulation regarding the sack question.

The following conversation overheard last evening in a saloon will serve to illustrate the situation:

"I say, Bill, have you got a whack at the sack?"

"Pete Canavan's?"

"Yes."

"No, he freezes to it like a grayback to an army blanket."

"Did he get the soap from Jones?"

"Guess not; Jones has been a puttin' up mud on the Sierra Nevada."

"Don't get off your chunk that way. Jones and John Mackay and the rest of them were in the pool with Skae, that cunnin' cuss you know. Well, Jones wanted some bullion for the fight, and Mackay took the stock of his hands at $175 a share, and the next day the chink commenced to circulate. Canavan thought he saw a trick layin' for him, and started up for a racket."

"Did he take it in, d'ye think?"

"You bet, and he come back with the sack. He told Jones he had the vote of the county in his vest pocket, and Jones pungled. Now he's freezin' on to the chink and the boys ain't gettin' the regular divy."

"Well, he'd be a —— fool if he didn't. What does he care for Jones?"

"Why, he's for Jones big'ern a wolf."

"Well, he's a heap bigger for Canavan."

"There's another story goin' round, that Jones wouldn't come up and Canavan came back without a cent, bilin', and then some friends of Canavan's influenced Jones to reconsider, and he sent a check.

"For how much?"

"Sixteen thousand."

"Oh —! Five thousand is all he got."

"He's got more, and don't you forget it."

"But he won't give up over five thousand, you ken bet on it."

"Let's go up and buzz him for a hundred, and tell him we kin corrall the workmen of the Richmond."

"Oh, he's too fly, you can't git a cent."

"Well, if he don't come down better Jones is beat in Eureka."

"Saltpeter won't save him unless he comes down heavy. If the seat was worth eight hundred thousand before, it ought to be worth considerable more now."

"Here's a candidate going to treat; let's ring in."

"You bet."

And the two melted into the crowd before the bar.—Eureka Sentinel.

THEY took up a yellow fever contribution in a Portland church the other day and when the returns were all in the minister observed with considerable sarcasm: "The committee find a five cent piece in one of the plates. As there is no desire to rob the extremely indigent, the person who deposited it is requested to step forward and have it returned." The next day the only millionaire in the congregation gave up his pew. He said that he wouldn't belong to any church that deliberately insulted him. This could never have occurred in a San Francisco sanctuary. The millionaires all use pennies here. —S. F. Post.

THE town of Albert Lea, Minnesota, has escaped all the hail storms and tornadoes this Summer, and is far beyond the reach of yellow fever, but last week it was visited by a young man who is learning to play the tuba. Up to date there is no abatement of the dreadful scourge.—Hawkeye.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 1.

MESSRS. EDITORS—The commercial world as well as the Government has been startled by another of the bold moves which have made some of the American railroad monopolies infamous. The constant struggle of the freighters and the Government against the Union and Central Pacific railroad ring, and the uniform success of the ring in extorting outrageous rates, and defrauding the United States Treasury, are things of universal notoriety. That ring has purchased or forced into a combination with it, the Pacific Mail Steamship Co. and all the competing transportation lines of California, and it has defeated all efforts at constructing a railroad through Texas, New Mexico and Arizona by promises to put one through without public cost. Having thus lulled the public to sleep it suddenly announces a change of programme and another grand combination to strengthen its grip on the carrying trade of the country. It is no less than a total abandonment of the Southern Pacific Railway scheme and a determination to run the Southern road from Fort Yuma to Santa Fé, there to connect with the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé road and by a long detour to find a terminus far north of the real Southern route. This scheme is known to be for the purpose of still further fastening the exactions of the monopoly upon the Government and upon the people, and it has so exasperated the people doing business over those lines that they have called a convention at Chicago to consider the matter, to which the President and other Government officials are invited. The call of these merchants intimates that Congress will be called upon to interfere in some way to check the strides of this gigantic monopoly, and it is supposed this convention will demand of Congress a slight degree of aid for the construction of the Texas and Pacific road, which, it is said, can be finished in four years if the Government will guarantee the interest on the construction bonds, taking in return the company's property sufficient to amply secure it against loss. The convention will meet in Chicago on the 12th, and a deep interest is felt in it.

Are not the old world and the new closely united? A ruffian shot at Alphonso, King of Spain the other day, and within 24 hours the United States State Department telegraphed President Hayes' congratulations to King Alphonso at his Majesty's escape from assassination. Gen. Grant saw the affair. He was standing in a window watching the royal procession and noted the flash of the would-be murderer's pistol. The General was about leaving the city and did not have a personal interview with the King after his narrow escape, but sent his congratulations by the King's Prime Minister. Gen. Grant's reception in Spain has been one of unqualified honor and distinction. A delegation of the King's officers met him as he entered the country; the royal car was offered and accepted; at Vittoria he was met by the civil and military officers attached to the Kings' staff; received the following morning by Alphonso, who told him that no man lives whom Spain would more gladly honor than himself, and afterwards rode and dined with the King. Thirty years ago this man who is now the guest of Kings and Emperors was living with his father-in-law near St. Louis, poor and unknown, and was occasionally the guest of his own father, a well-to-do tanner in Kentucky. His wife, now dining with Queens in velvet, satin and jewels, was then poor cross-eyed Julia Dent, doing her own house work and living in two or three rooms. "Things have changed since Reuben"—was young.

The city is quiet but very pleasant. These Autumn days are most enjoyable here. The fierce storm of last week did an amount of damage, but the weather has been fine since, with only one sharp frost. MARTHA.

THE question of woman suffrage is remanded by the Committee to the consideration of future Legislatures. The first proposal was to submit it in a separate article to the popular vote; but that was rescinded on Friday. We think the Committee made a mistake. The better plan is to settle this question once for all by the popular vote, and thus keep it out of the Legislature, where it will now become a standing vexation and impediment to business for many years. We are of opinion that a very large majority of the women of this State do not crave the right of suffrage and would vote against it if they had votes. But the minority is an active, while the majority is a passive force.—S. F. Chronicle.

THE Seventh French Army Corps, commanded by the Duke D'Aumale, maneuvered lately in presence of a number of English, German, Russian, Austrian and Belgian officers, who expressed themselves greatly surprised by its admirable discipline: 28,000 men were in the field. The French army is reported to have made remarkable progress since the overthrow of the empire. Both musketry and artillery are of the latest invention, the soldiers are more thoroughly drilled and their numbers greatly increased.

HENRY SLADE, the trickster, whose pretended Spiritualistic performances were exposed in London, causing his flight to escape imprisonment, is having better luck thus far in Germany. The Leipsic professors have become deeply interested in him, and one of them, Zollner, has written a book about him.

The City of London.

Of all the great cities London, on the whole, contains the most to interest and instruct Americans. Its has doubled in population in the memory of men still young. Most of readers remember when Macaulay's History appeared. In his first volume was contrasted the grandeur of the modern city with the London of Charles II, and boasted that the number of inhabitants had increased from 500,000 to at to at least 1,900,000. In the brief time that has passed since Macaulay wrote the 1,900,000 has become 4,000,000. A few contrasts taken from the best estimates will give some suggestions of the immense magnitude of the city. It is aptly described as a province covered with houses. New York is equal in population to the aggregate of Maine and New Hampshire. London equals Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Massachusetts and California all together. To equal the city of London here we should have to bring together the people of the following cities: New York, Philadelphia, Brooklyn, St. Louis, Chicago, Boston, Baltimore, Cincinnati, New Orleans, Buffalo, San Francisco, Washinton and Louisville. The transient people in New York are about 30,000; in London 160,000. In New York a baby is born every fifteen minutes, and a death occurs every seventeen minutes. In London a birth occurs every six minutes and a death every eight. The drinking places in New York set in one street would extend seventeen miles; those in London seventy-three miles.

How the Sioux and other Indian nations were driven to war was partly explained recently at a session of the Indian Commission in Omaha. Lieut. J. M. Lee, who was put in charge of the Spotted Tail band by Gen. Crook, in March, 1877, and remained in that position about fifteen months, testified that his experience had satisfied him that there would be no trouble if promises made the Indians were kept. Bad faith was the cause of the wars with them. The Indians expected every promise made to be kept. He found that the Indians, when supplied with implements and seeds for farming, worked industriously and took pride in the produce of their toil. Of course they could not all be made self-sustaining any more than all the white persons. They were very fond of teams, wagons and animals, and engaged most readily in freighting, transportation and the rearing of stock, though many seemed adapted to agricultural pursuits. The Lieutenant added that "proper treatment and strict honesty are what the Indians want." Gen. Crook testified to the same effect.

IF the Vanderbilt will trial is productive of no other result, it will at least be beneficial in the exposure it has furnished of the rapacity and treachery of so-called Spiritualistic mediums. Of course, the great majority of thinking people have always known them to be just what this trial proves them have been, that is, more or less clever impositors, but there are others to whom these plain professions of trickery may be of service. The intercourse between a medium and his or her dupe is ordinarily to the last degree confidential. Family and personal secrets are treated of with a freedom displayed in very few of the other relations of life. If the medium is shrewd and his visitor weak and believing there is hardly any event in the experience of the latter which cannot be brought out for inspection. That the salient points in one's private history should be in the possession of such irresponsible parties as the Vanderbilt trial has shown these mediums to be, must be a present source of misery to a great many persons.

A NUMBER of invitations to attend Senator Booth's reception were extended the clerks in different departments of the State Capitol, to which but few responded. On each invitation was printed the letters "R. S. V. P.," which translated means, "Answer, if you please." As an act of courtesy these clerks responded, setting forth the fact that it would be impossible for them to be present, and to each declination was attached the letters "N. G. C." This was a puzzle to the Senator's secretary, but the matter was explained last evening when the latter interrogated one of the clerks to whom an invitation had been sent, with a view to learning the meaning of the mystic letters, and the clerk, with the modesty always displayed by a State official under embarrassing circumstances, politely informed him that the translation thereof was, "No good clothes."—Sacramento Bee.

LAKE DISTRICT.—From a letter written to a lady of this place the Herald has been permitted to extract the following items relating to the famous Lake District: The Mammoth mill has been running about two weeks, though not to its full capacity for want of sufficient water to drive the machinery. The company melted their first bullion last Monday—about 1,500 ounces—and melted another bar Tuesday. The mail facilities of the camp are very limited at present, as the person who has been carrying the mail from Benton all Summer has just quit, and now the only mode of communication is by whosoever happens along. The storm began there on Monday night, but was not very severe, and passed away in two days.—Esmeralda Herald.

THE Boston Transcript gives us a paragraph quoted from the "Dhammapada Budha Sayka; Hindu." We intended to have delved into that line of classics ourselves, and give some of "Damfino Enythingabou Titana How," but we refrain.—Boston Bulletin.

HE was a tramp. As he watched the merchant pace his store with cast-down eyes, he shook his head. "Poor fellow," said the tramp. "I feel for him. Note to pay, probably, and ten cents to do it with. Ah, gentlemen, fortune cannot smile on us all; but I tell you, it's a precious thing to know how you stand every saturday night. Ah, yes," he said with a sigh, "that poor fellow is doomed to bear burdens which we know nothing of."

A GOOD PROJECT.—The University of California is desirous of forming an ore deposit collection, and has issued a circular to that end, asking mine owners and mining men to contribute mineralogical specimens for the museum to the University, which Wells, Fargo & Co. have agreed to forward free of charge. We hope there will be a general and generous response to this circular. The mining interests of this coast are so closely identified with our whole social economy that it seems of the utmost importance that our chief educational establishment should be in possession of a representative mineral cabinet. We ought, on this coast, wiih very little effort, collect the finest display of the kind in the kind in the world, and the library of the State University is just the place to keep it. Let every mining superintendent and every miner on the coast send at once a specimen of his best ore, and in a few months we will have a cabinet worthy of our State pride.

A CONVENTION has been ratified between the United States and all the nations of Europe, except Great Britain, together with most of the South American Republics, providing for the establishment and maintenance atParis of an International Bureau of Weights and Measures. One of the inevitable results of this movement must be the final adoption of the metric system of measurements in this country, as it is now used in France and other countries. In view of that, certainly it would be well for the teachers in our public schools to commence at once to familiarize pupils with the system.

C. E. PERKINS, General Manager of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad, accompanied by several of the directors, has been in San Francisco. Their visit to this coast is for the purpose of establishing a southern through line from Chicago to San Francisco. The company they represent owns the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railroad, and has a thirty years' lease of the Denver and Rio Grande Narrow-gauge Railroad.

MISS ELLIE WILTON has returned to San Francisco from Paris, and the disputed possession of the letters addressed by her to Alex. Austin has been settled. Miss Wilton consented that Judge Myrick, of the Probate Court, should open and read them, and should anything be found furnishing a clue to the missing money he could use the same. The scandalmongers of the coast are thus deprived of a choice morsel.

THE November number of the American Young Folks is brighter and better than any before it. Published at the low price of 50 cents per year, it gives sixteen large pages of useful and interesting reading matter, that parents need not be afraid to place in the hands of their children. It does not belong to the blood and thunder. The publishers, Hudson & Ewing, of Topeka, Kansas, will send a sample copy free to any address.

THE testimony adduced at the investigation into the loss of the steamer Georgia proves that Capt. Howard was not in charge of the vessel at the time it was wrecked, and also that no one else was. The Captain was too drunk for business, and his subordinates had too much respect for his feelings to insinuate as much by assuming command in his stead.

MRS ALEXANDER, the Connecticut ogress, who killed people in order to sell their bodies to surrounding colleges for dissection, has been sentenced to imprisonment for life. In a few years some soft-headed Governor will turn her loose. And yet people gravely wonder why so many crimes are committed nowadays.

THE Southern Pacific Railroad Company of Arizona, of which the late David D. Colton was President, has been re-organized, C. F. Crocker being elected President vice Gen. Colton, deceased, and David Neahr, a member of the Board of Directors, in place of Crocker.

MISS OWEN, the Mormon third choice of Elder Miles, proves to be a female fraud. After claiming and receiving the protection of the authorities, she returns to the harem of her liege lord, and flaunts her meanness in the face of the Gentiles by riding around the streets of Salt Lake in his carriage.

ALEXANDER SMITH, a Republican Congressman elect in New York, died on the 5th, during the time the votes were being counted.

IN BAD ODOR.

Mr. Denis Kearney has been making some characteristic harangues in Boston. He says he is organizing an army of thousands of men with the intention of "making the streets of Boston and other cities run knee deep in blue blood if Gen. Butler is not elected"—this was just on the eve of the election. He is still harping on the same string. He also claims to have worked wonders in Butler's behalf, consequently that the workingmen of the United States owe him (Denis) wagon-loads of obligations. But somehow or other the sand-lot bilk seems to be falling from grace, even among his own kind, Butler included. Here, for instance, the Chicago Times remarks:

"Kearney's private secretary delivered an address to the hoodlum constituency of that pestilent nuisance in San Francisco on Sunday, in which he asserted that Kearney intentionally assisted in the defeat of Butler by making incendiary speeches in Massachusetts. The hoodlum orator, according to this story, desired Butler's defeat, and thought he could best accomplish this purpose by pretending friendship and loading "Old Cock-eye" down with the odium of sand lot ruffianism. If this is true it marks Kearney as a most infamously treacherous scoundrel. But is probably not true. The chances are that Kearney's friends in California expected him to revolutionize Massachusetts. They supposed he would be as influential there as he was among the bummers of 'Frisco. He was losing prestige among his coherents on account of Butler's defeat, in spite of his support, and to restore their confidence in his powers his scribe devised this stupid lie that makes him appear a shrewd and potential scoundrel instead of an impotent, brainless brawler."

And the New York Herald adds:

Kearney stands before the people of the United States to-day, and especially the people of Boston, as a fraud. Unless he can get over the statemant of his "private secretary." To add to the embarassment, he withdrew from the municipal fight last night in a speech on the sand-lots of South Boston, as he said openly himself, because he had been persuaded to do so by Butler; that Butler had been laboring with him for some days to try and deter him from making Labor party nominations for Mayor and Aldermen. Butler himself, who is determined to make a fight in politics in Boston, had a long conference with Kearney, and advised him to desist. He represented that he (Butler) would take care of the interests of labor, and that if Kearney should put up a ticket it would draw away many votes from the Butler candidates. Kearney agreed to step out of the way, and whether he got any money or not for it is not known, but he showed up Butler's game before he left the field. In a speech in Independence Square last night he announced that he had decided to retire from the field of politics in this city at the suggestion of Butler, if the meeting so desired. There being no objection he carried out his purpose.

On the night of the 13th, Denis attempted to nominate a municipal ticket at a Workingman's meeting in Boston. The Workingmen denounced him as a fraud, told him he was there to produce dissensions in their ranks, and turned the gas down in his face, so he had to retire completely discomfited. The dispatch says he went into the street, and "was unusually profane." Perhaps you had better come home, Denis, dear, to your Wellock's arms. He needs your sympathy just at this time.

AN exchange says that a farmer living near Boise City, Idaho, is doing a heavy business in rabbits. He traps about four hundred rabbits a day. Traps are placed along about three miles of brush fence. The rabbits leap the brush fence, and light on the board covering of the hole or trap, which board works on a pivot. The trap resets itself, and very often catches a half a dozen rabbits at a time. The rabbits are fed to hogs. Seven men are employed on the rabbit farm. The ears of the game are saved, as there is a bounty of two cents per pair, enough to pay all expenses of setting the traps.

MUM.—Charles Gilbert has been in the Connecticut State Prison thirteen years on a life sentence for murder. The truth now comes out that he was only guilty of a knowledge of the crime, his father being the actual murderer. The son would not speak out until after the death of the father. It is believed that, as he has been punished enough for his complicity, he will be pardoned.

EACH school teacher in France is to receive a copy of the New Testament, each copy costing 60 cents. It will require 80,000 copies, and the Bible Society of Geneva, Switzerland, has undertaken the grand work. Letters of thanks are pouring in already, and among them is one from a Roman Catholic nun.

THE full returns are not yet at hand by which to determine the exact political complexion of the next House, but so far as now known it will foot up about this way: Democrats, 142 or 143; Republicans, 134; Greenbackers, 8, with a chance for 9; doubtful, 5.

A CHANCE FOR A PREACHER.

It isn't often that a preacher, particularly of the Methodist persuation, gets to be anybody in particular—that is, an object of national interest, a great power in the land, a President maker, a la Judge Bradley, all by himself. But such is the great destiny some of the political quid nunes are shaping out as likely to fall to the lot of an Indiana Methodist preacher, whose name we regret to say we cannot now recall: he is the Greenbacker, though, who was elected to Congress from that State, the other day. However, it is a pretty fair inference that the reverend gentleman, seeing that he has a taste for politics and is a Congressman, is not and never was preacher enough to create much anxiety in his Sulphurous Majesty's mind. Nevertheless, should he become a great man in the manner hinted at as possible the cloth is entitled to a share of his accidental glory. His chances for such glory hinge upon so many contingencies, however, it is premature to attach much consequence to them just yet; these chances are about the same as gave Mrs. Toodles hopes of utilizing that door plate with Thompson's name on it—the daughter is yet to be born likely to take a fancy to a man of that particular name so as to give value to Mrs. T's, i. e., the Hoosier preacher's, political door plate. It is this way: Should there be no choice by the people of President in 1880 so that the selection at last became the duty of the House of Representatives; and should it so happen that the the Democrats, for instance, had a majority of the House Delegates from nineteen States, and the Republicans of but eighteen, leaving Indiana out of both counts, the situation would then become exceedingly interesting and momentous withal; and no less so, were the conditions with respect to parties exactly reversed. No matter which party so controlled, one the eighteen, the other the nineteen State votes, our preacher man from Indiana would at once become a "bigger man than old Grant"—than Doorkeeper Polk himself. It would rest wholly with this reverend gentleman from Indiana whether these fifty millions of excitable people then should or should not have a President. If he threw his vote with the nineteen, making the totals by States stand 20 to 18, there would be an election and things would go smoothly; if with the eighteen, there would be a tie, consequently no election, leaving a pretty good opening for a dreadful muss all along the line.

In such a possible contingency, it is plain this humble minister becomes at once as much of a somebody in the way of King-making, as it were, as ever did the great Napoleon as the arbiter of a nation's destiny. He would, in anticipation of such an election by the House, and especially by holding decision under advisement till the last moment, become an object of the intensest interest to all classes of people even of foreign countries. He would be interviewed, bored, pumped, cajoled and remonstrated with till he could "even wish he were dead"—or had never descended from the pulpit to a Congressman's seat; for a while his greatness would be a greater load than even the cross he had thrown aside that he might be the means of leading the Greenback party to a place of power it would otherwise have never reached in this stiff-necked generation. All this comes or may come through a case of odd and even wrongly arranged. In the first place, Indiana happens to have thirteen Members of the House; six of these happen to be bull-headed and unpurchasable Democrats, and six more equally bull-headed and unpurchasable Republicans, while the thirteenth happens to be a Greenbacker, who is the preacher under consideration; he being the odd man, and in this delegation in a gang politically all by himself, he at once becomes ace, king and jack, sometimes called the knave, in his power to settle every game put up by the other two parties. In the next place, the whole number of Stattes happens to be divisible into two equal parts, being an even number as a whole; hence, in the possible contingency of the election falling to the House, we may have the peculiar anomaly of an odd number really becoming an even one, and by token of the same, an obscure preacher getting to be the greatest man of the day and age.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL DEVENS has given a decision which is a veritable windfall to the National Banks. It is that they are, and always were, entitled, to deduct from the capital on which they pay a tax all United States bonds held, estimating them at their market, not face, value, premium added. This will cause a desperate rummaging over of old accounts, and a hurrying of Presidents to Washington for a re-settlement. It is stated at the Treasury Department that 50,000 assessments will have to be overhauled if this decision stands. Of course the result of it will be a grand raid on the Treasury.

THERE is little doubt of a general revival of trade in the South as soon as cold weather comes to put an end to to the yellow fever ravages. Here in New Orleans we are still hindered by quarantines, but we shall soon have the full weight and benefit of splendid crops of cotton, sugar and rice, with an active demand for plantation supplies of every description."

Revenue and Taxation.

The Sacramento correspondent of the San Francisco Bulletin furnishes that journal with the following articles to which the Constitutional Convention Committee on Revenue finally agreed:

1. All taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects within the territorial limits of the authority levying the tax, and shall be levied and collected under general laws.

2. All property, exclusive of growing crops, private property exempt from taxation under the laws of the United States, and public property belonging to the United States or to this State, or to any municipality thereof, and inclusive of stocks, franchises and solvent debts, deducting therefrom indebtedness due to bona fide residents of this State, shall be taxed in proportion to its value, to be ascertained as directed by law. All property used exclusively for charitable purposes, and all property the proceeds of which are exclusively for charity, shall be exempt from taxation.

3. Lands and the improvements thereon shall be separately assessed, and cultivated and uncultivated land of the same quality and similarly situated shall be assessed at the same value.

4. Judge Fawcett's proposition as reported above.

5. A mortgage, deed of trust, contract or other obligation by which a debt is secured, shall, for the purposes of assessment and taxation, be deemed and held as an interest in the property affected thereby, except as railroad and other quasi-public corporations. In cases of debt so secured, the value of the property affected by such mortgage, deed of trust, contract or obligation less the value of such security, shall be assessed and taxed to the owner of the property, and the value of such security shall be assessed and taxed to the owner thereof. The taxes so levied shall be a lien upon the property and security respectively, and may be paid by either party to such security; if paid by the owner of the security, the tax so levied upon the property affected thereby shall become a part of the debt so secured; if the owner of the property shall pay the tax so levied on such security, it shall constitute a payment thereon, and to the extent of such payment be a full discharge thereof.

6. Any contract hereafter made by which a debtor is obligated to pay any tax on money loaned, on any mortgage deed of trust, or other lien, shall, as to such tax and any interest specified therein, be void.

7. No corporation, except for benevolent, religious, scientific or educational purposes, shall be hereafter formed under the laws of this State unless the persons named as corporators shall at or before filing the articles of incorporation, pay into the State Treasury $100 for the first $5,000, or less, of capital stock, and the further sum of $20 for every additional $10,000 of such stock, and no such corporation shall hereafter increase its capital stock without first paying into the State Treasury $20 for every $10,000 of increase.

8. No license shall be imposed by this State, or any municipality thereof, upon any trade, calling, occupation or business, except the manufacture and sale of wine, spirituous and malt liquors, shows, theaters, menageries, sleight-of-hand performances, exhibitions for profit, and such other business or occupations of like character as the legislature may judge the public peace or good order may require to be under special State or municipal control. But the legislature may by law impose any license or other tax on persons or corporations owning or using franchises or corporate privileges.

9. The legislature shall provide for the levy and collection of an annual poll tax of not less than $2, for school purposes, on every male inhabitant of the State over 21 and under 60 years of age, except paupers, idiots, insane persons and Indians not taxed; said tax shall be paid into the State school fund.

10. The power to tax property shall never be surrendered or suspended by any grant or contract to which the State shall be a party.

11. The legislature shall provide by law for the payment of all taxes on land by installments.

12. The legislature shall provide by law for an annual statement, to be rendered under oath, by every taxpayer in the State, which shall set forth specifically all the real and personal property owned by such taxpayer or under his control, on the first Monday in March of each year.

13. Assessors and Collectors of town, county, district or State taxes shall be elected by the qualified electors of the town, county or district in which the property taxed for State, county, town or district purposes is situated; provided, that vacancies shall be filled by appointments according to general laws.

14. The State tax on property, exclusive of such tax as may be necessary to pay the existing State debt, shall not exceed 40 cents on each $100 for any one year.

15. A State Board of Equalization, consisting of two members from each Congressional district in the State, shall be elected by the qualified electors of their respective districts at the general election to be held in the year 1879, and every four years thereafter, whose duty it shall be to equalize the valuation of the taxable property in the State for the purpose of State taxation. The Boards of Supervisors of the several counties in the State shall constitute Boards of Equalization for their respective counties, whose duty it shall be to equalize the valuation of the taxable property in the county for county taxation.

16. The State Board of Equalization shall assess the value of all railroad corporations in this State. For the purpose of taxation, the value of all lands, workshops, depots and other buildings belonging to or under the control of each railroad corporation, shall be apportioned by said Board to the counties, cities, townships or districts in which such lands, workshops, depots and other buildings are situate, and the aggregate value of all other property of such railroad corporation shall be apportioned by said board to each county, city and county, city, town or district in which its road shall be located, according to the ratio which the number of miles completed in such county, city and county, town or district shall bear to the whole length of such railroad.

17. All corporations, except railroads, shall be subject to taxation upon their capital stock, the value whereof for the purpose of such taxation shall be the market value of the same at the time of its assessment. The real and personal property of said corporations shall be separately assessed and taxed, and said taxes paid in the several counties respectively in which the same may be situated, and the aggregate amount of such taxes upon real and personal property shall be deducted from the amount of said tax upon the capital stock of said corporations. The residue of said tax upon said capital stock shall be payable by said corporations in the counties respectively in which their principal offices or places of business shall be severally located, in which counties the said capital stock shall also be assessed. The stock held by each stockholder in such corporation shall be exempt from taxation. It shall be the duty of the legislature to pass such law or laws as may be necessary for the strict enforcement of the provisions of this section.

It may here be mentioned that the committee were not by any means unanimous in several of the sections.

Progress of East River Bridge.

The last wire of the last cable of the East River bridge is in place. Six million eight hundred thousand pounds of wire now hang between the towers and anchorage, and about 24,000 wires are bound up in the 76 strands that form the four great cables. The estimate of Engineer Roebling was that it would take no less than two and a half or three years to make the main cables but the workmen have been so expert that the whole process of cable making has not lasted two years. The cables are made about five or six feet above the position they will occupy after all the settling has taken place.

To protect the cables they must be continuously wrapped with charcoal iron wire, bound about them with the precision of thread about a spool, and then this exterior must be saturated with oil, thick enough to produce on drying a viscid gum, and then painted with a thick coat of white lead. This preparation will be moisture proof. This week the last two strands will be lowered into position, and then the 12 strands of each cable now swinging loose, will be brought about the seven cables, already bound together as a core, and put into wooden squeezers to be held for wrapping.

The interesting work of wrapping the cables has been begun. The cables are held in position by wooden clamps, and wrapped from the towers towards the center of the river and towards the anchorages. Sixteen wrapping machines will be employed. The wrapping machine is a reel arranged to carry a coil of wire, and it has handles like a pilot's wheel. An iron cylinder, made in halves so as to fit close about the cable, is worked around by a handle. The wire is first fastened to the cable, and this machine is moved along, slowly winding the wire about the cable as though it were a spool of thread. The wrapping will take three months.

IT is a dreadful fate to be a millionaire. A man thus afflicted is literally harassed and worked out of existence, and usually fills an early apoplectic grave. Even after he departs this life there stands the parable of the camel and needle's eye against his soul. And then his wife marries a spendthrift—may be a gambler—and his children go straight to the devil. His estate is litigated and his character held up to public view, while his every weakness and vice are illuminated with a calcium light. Lastly, some ghouls come along at night, break open his tomb and coffin and carry off his body in a sack. The remains of the dead millionaire are not allowed the poor boon of a resting place in the ground at last, but are stolen and hidden away to exact blackmail from his surviving relatives. "Give me neither poverty nor riches," Solomon sang, and Solomon was a very wise man.—L. A. Express.

DISSOLUTION OF CO-PARTNERSHIP.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE co-partnership heretofore existing between Casper Cohn and Meyer Cohn, doing business at Lone Pine and Independence, Inyo County, California, under the firm name and style of C. & M. COHN, is this day dissolved by mutual consent.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 16.....1878.

SNOW'S CAÑON.—A bullion shipment of $1,300 has been made by Messrs. Grove & Mitchell, the proceeds of five tons of ore from their mine in Snow's Cañon—a silver brick weighing 22 pounds valued at $500, and a gold bar weighing 4 pounds worth about $800. This is one of many small shipments from the 5-stamp mill at that point, which has just concluded a two months' run. The works were started up in the spirit of experiment, to thoroughly test the ores from the many mines in that vicinity. The results have been very satisfactory. Some of the most promising mines have now men at work, and ere long when some little improvements are made in the mill and ore accumulates operations will again be resumed there.

NO MORE.—The Independence Brass Band, which has semi-occasionally for many months enlivened our town and demoralized the cats with its cheering strains, has become a thing of the past, to the no little regret of everybody hereabouts. The popoular leader, Gabe Hoskins, and John Langer, the inimitable "Bones" of the Blaney House for these many years, have "gone to Bodie," taking with them the entire and full set of instruments. As a farewell note, the night before their departure pretty much all the partygoers of the country assembled at the Independence restaurant and held forth in dance until morning.

CLOSED OUT.—The mercantile business of the Cohn boys, which was established at Lone Pine some eight years ago and a branch of which was lately extended to this place, has been terminated, at least for the present. During their business career the Cohns have won the greatest respect from their many Inyo patrons. In direct contrast to this, one W. Behrendt, who has of late been representing the Cohn's real successor in ownership of the remaining stock, has left the county with no one to regret his departure.

GOOD.—A private letter from Wm. B. Daugherty, our well-known ex-County Clerk, now a resident of Eureka, Nev., brings the good news that by the election of James F. Hallock to the office of State Controller, he (Billy) will assume the responsible position of Deputy. His duties continue for four years, at a stated salary aggregating $14,400. Billy's friends here will rejoice, while we can congratulate that State upon having secured the services of a man so thoroughly competent.

DROPPING.—The sear and yellow leaf is beginning to tumble, drop as it were. In the lapse of something more or less than a century of time the annual outflow of leaves from the many cultivated groves on this side of the valley, as blown over the plains and on to the alkali grass lands, may enrich and materially change the character of the said plains, grass lands, etc.

LEE DISTRICT.—Supt. Taylor was in Darwin from the Emigrant mines on Monday, and reported the new waterworks a complete success in every particular, and water in ample quantity running to the mine. Wednesday last was the time set for starting the mill, after which Lee District will be heard from weekly through regular bullion shipments.

FALL PRODUCTS.—There is exhibited at the Headquarters saloon bunches of luscious, red-ripe strawberries, now growing in the open air at the garden of E. Robinson, just east of town. In the dooryard of J. L. Woods are rose bushes still blooming with the finest of large pink and white roses.

NOW READY.—A very complete and full supply of standard styles of stationery, equal to any demands of our patrons, together with some novelties in the typographical line, will be unpacked and ready for work on Monday.

GONE.—Mr. W. S. Woodhull, late foreman of the Rex Montis mill, left for San Francisco last Monday. The figures show that upon his last run the ore was worked up to 78 per cent. of its assay value.

J. P. FOR DARWIN.—Ben. Russell, the Darwin Notary Public, received his appointment as Justice of the Peace on Saturday last, and was sworn in by Judge Reed as his honor was passing that way.

QUIETUDE.—A quietude and an air of general desertedness has settled in and about the Court House, indicating a lack of legal and official business not salubriously cheerful to the officers.

MODOCK.—The Ingersoll drill is running nicely and rapidly pushing the work ahead. The shaft to connect with the tunnel is going down in fine ledge matter with some ore mixed in it.

ABSQUATULATED.—One Joe Provensal, butcher, last Sunday suddenly disposed of the available property of the Central Market, and immediately got up and dusted.

IN MOTION.—The Emigrant mill at Lee District started up on the 13th and worked splendidly. A full report of the matter will be given next week.

RUNNING.—The Black Rock saw mill has been steadily running for some time past, getting out lumber for the Emigrant Company, at Lee District.

DEER.—Yesterday J. W. Smith, he of the saw mill, favored his friends in town with the half of a fat venison. Let's all go a' hunting.

BULLION.—November 8th the Rex Montis shipped per express two bars of bullion, valued at $1,000.

PAY DAY.—Yesterday was monthly pay day of the New Coso Mining Co., at Darwin.

Case of Suspended Animation.

BISHOP CREEK, Nov. 10.

MESSRS. EDITORS—One of Bishop Creek's oldest citizens was unaccountably struck with a feeling of liberality, and by way of giving this feeling full force and effect, he gathered some eight or ten mutual friends and gave them a treat to a couple of roast pigs, and that things should slide smoothly on he determined that the dinner should be had at the Brewery, on November 7. All was in readiness, and at 3 P. M. the hungry guests marshalled and in solemn strides wended their way to the Brewery, where mine host, with his two beautiful pigs, roasted to a lovely mahogany brown, waited with smiling face to welcome his guests. First in order, to give effet to so important an occasion, was my humble self, supported on my right by our venerable Judge (the victim), representing the Colossus of Rhodes and the Pygmy of Egypt; the rear closely brought up by Mr. P. S—, Billy H—, Mr. J—, of the firm of R. & J., J. P— and others. The procession filed in with beaming countenances and empty stomachs, to their respective seats. We saw by the uneasy gestures that our venerable judge was impatient for the fray. So laying aside all conventionalities, we charged upon the pigs recklessly. Pigs, beer and good humor flowed mixed and unmixed through the same channel. As roast pig grew beautifully less beer flowed more freely; compliments and gracious smiles would pass and repass between host and guests. Thus waned the evening. When our very ancient and honorable friend deemed it proper to pay a tribute of respect to pork, and pigs in general. He arose, and in that dignified manner, as if about to pass sentence on a convicted criminal, launched out into a beautiful peroration and as he warmed up in his discourse you could see the slumbering fires of departed youth rekindle in his hollow cheeks, we felt that something very extraordinary would occur from such a burst of eloquence. We saw the old man was too full of gratitude, or something else, and in one of his most beautiful appeals to man to still perpetuate the hog and brewing of beer, his voice died to scarcely a whisper, and he fell back to his seat, non compos mentis. Medical assistance was immediately called, but to no purpose. Sadness now reigned where but a few short moments before was gaiety and happiness. All that learned skill and the ingenuity of man could devise was done, but in vain. Some advised vigorous rubbing to create all the friction possible; others advised a stomach pump—but we all knew that would be a failure; no stomach pump in Christendom could raise that bulk of pig and beer, so that idea was abandoned as futile. Infusions of hot water, hot bottles to his feet, hot flannels to his stomach were all applied, but to no purpose. We began to think of some appropriate epitaph to express our sorrow, some fitting eulogy for the world at large to know the irreparable loss Bishop Creek had sustained. While deeply immersed in our sorrowful reveries, our friend L. M—, of the Brewery, called in to see how this case of suspended animation was progressing, and while we were pouring our sorrows into his unsympathetic Dutch ears, he cut us short with: "Go vay! you mush pe a tam foolish; dond you see dese ish noding der matter mit him? He vash only drunk. I sees blenty dimes kases shust likes dot in Bavaria mid dose stiffs." VETUS.

IMPROVING.— The developments in both of the Kearsarge tunnels grow more and more encouraging. Supt. Gray, whose judgment we accept without question, is as sanguine as it is possible for a person to be, that before many more months roll around he will have uncovered in that mountain a ledge "second in size and richness to no other on the coast"—a high expectation, certainly, but in real truth we do not believe it an unwarrantable one. In the main ledge at the heading of the long tunnel, he is now finding ore, specimens of which assay into the thousands. Up to Friday last, five days later than our last report, the west wall had not yet been reached, although it should be understood that the cross-cutting is not in solid ore by any means. The plan now is to suspend cross-cutting and run straight to the vertical line of the shaft (a distance of 80 feet), then by an upraise of 140 feet to make the connection therewith. The Whitney tunnel last Monday was in 60 feet, at which point the ledge had increased to five feet in width, about one-third of which was ore that would easily go $150 a ton. As stated heretofore, it is only a question of distance (perhaps 300 feet) when this ledge will merge into the Kearsarge proper. In view of these favorable facts, there is a probabilty that work on the proposed deep tunnel, starting near the mill, will be commenced before Spring; in any event the other two will be driven straight along all Winter. The mill will not likely be started up before Spring, although there is already quite a pile of good ore on the respective dumps.

TWO MEN KILLED AT TEHACHAPI. We have a report that a man named Jerry Glint and another, known as "Mexican Joe," had a shooting match at Tehachapi last Tuesday, in which both were killed outright. They were engaged in the cattle business, but we are not advised as to the immediate cause of the affair.

FISH.—The law is now in force which makes it a misdemeanor for any person to have trout in his possession, this being the spawning season. In the way of protecting our stocked streams, all citizens should have public spirit enough to promptly report any violation of the law.

EXHIBITION.—The Sunday School at Bishop Creek is proposing a grand exhibition, to be given for the purpose of raising funds with which to purchase an organ. Mrs. S. G. Howell, the popular teacher of the school of that district, is the leading spirit in the matter.

WORKING.—Capt. Eudey is resolutely pushing developments on the Brown Monster or old Eclipse mine, with the most favorable results as to the opening of ore bodies. Two or three other promising mines in the same district are being prospected, with the view of sending the ore to the Eclipse for reduction as soon as the mill starts up.

GAME.—The geese and duck season is close at hand, but somehow of late years they do not appear in the sloughs and river in such great numbers as formerly.

THE Supreme Court of Virginia has refused to recognize as valid the marriage of a negro to a white woman, the parties having gone from that State to the District of Columbia, where such unions are legal, been married there and then returned to Virginia. The effect of the decision is that the couple go the Penitentiary. In two New England States, Maine and Rhode Island, such marriages are prohibited, though in Maine the law is said to be a dead lettter. In New York State over 1,500 white women have colored men for husbands, and the proportion in some of the Eastern States is said to be equally large. White men rarely marry negro women, and a case of the kind which came to light in upper circles in Boston recently, created a sensation.

NO ACTION whatever has yet been taken on Gen. Gibbs' charges against Gen. Pope. There is an impression in army circles that they will not be entertained, because they were not preferred within two years after the foundation for them became known, as required by the army regulations. The question remains to be settled, however, whether Gen. Pope's recent repetitions of the circulation of the incorrect and unjust statement in Gen. Porter's case does not constitute a new offense, subjecting him to tenable charges.

NEWS is received that Adam Heber, a German farmer of Oshkosh, Wisconsin, who lately visited Fatherland, has there been sentenced to five years imprisonment for speaking disrespectfully of Emperor William. The attention of Secretary Evarts will be called to the case, as Haber is a naturalized American citizen.

THE vagaries of politics are past finding out. In Nevada Kinkead (Rep.) beats "old Broadhorns" (Dem.) for Governor by 700 majority; for Lieutenant Governor the polysylabic Adams (Dem.) beats Harry Mighels (Rep.) by 900 votes—the smartest Injun in the entire political field of the State thus getting "left."

JEFFERSON DAVIS has been singularly afflicted in the death of his sons. Joseph H. Davis fell from the piazza of the Executive Mansion in Richmond during the war, and was killed. William Davis died of diphtheria in Memphis, in 1873; and Jefferson, the only surviving one, as already announced, has died in Memphis of yellow fever.

HETZEL & BENNETT.—Judge Selden Hetzel and Paul W. Bennett, who, as lawyers, need no introduction at our hands, have formed a partnership to practice law in the Courts of California and Nevada. We call attention to their card published elsewhere. Bennett & Hetzel's new office will be in Bryant & Wests' building, Mr. Hetzel removing from his old office, formerly on the east side of Main street.—Bodie Standard.

COL. STROBRIDGE, who superintended the construction of a great portion of the Central Pacific Railroad, left for Yuma Saturday, to take charge of the work of extending the Southern Pacific road through Arizona, with orders to rush the work with all possible speed. It is expected that fifty miles of the road will be completed during January next, and 157 miles to Maricopa Wells in April. Material for the work, including 10,000 steel rails, is now on the way from the East via the Pacific Railroad.

IN Ohio the tramps and the Akron militia have had a little battle. The former fought nobly, but with poor success, as eighteen of them were captured. If the tramps continue to affect military organizations and warlike demonstrations, they may find the practice of taking prisoners less fashionable.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 16.....1878.

A Sad Case of Persecution.

And now the painful news reaches us that Bob Smalls, the negro member of Congress from the Beaufort District of South Carolina, and who is a candidate for re-election, announces that owing to the persecution of the "red shirt" Democrats, he will be compelled to retire from the canvass. The Associated Press telegraphs this decision of Bob's as a text for the usual bloody shirt dispatch, and we hear that the Republican National Committee are telegraphing the facts to every Republican District at the North in the hope of firing the loyal heart. Of course we don't believe that Mr. Smalls fears are half so well grounded as he would like to have it appear, but even if they were, we are not sure we should feel very badly about it. If there is any district in all the Southern States where a little persecution judiciously applied would be justifiable it is in the case of Smalls. Bob Smalls is a corpulent negro of no education—he can barely read or write—and for three or four successive terms he has misrepresented a Congressional District in the House of Representatives. When the Democrats came into power in South Carolina and began to scatter the thieves and corruptionists from their midst, almost the first scoundrel they caught was Smalls. They found that he had while a member of the Legislature accepted a bribe of $5,000 to vote for some one of the many schemes of plunder hatched by the carpet baggers and carried through. The proof of the crime was overwhelming. He was indicted, tried, convicted and sentenced to five years tn the penitentiary. But he promptly set up the plea that as a member of Congress he could not be molested or his personal liberty interfered with. And to this day Smalls is out of jail. Is it any wonder that the decent people of South Carolina say that an ignorant negro majority of a few hundred votes shall no longer send this convict to the House of Representatives to disgrace their State? We don't believe in bulldozing, but sometimes great evils require extraordinary remedies.—Stock Report.

April 10, 1781—Voted £10,000, to be worked out on the highway this year at $60 per day, men's wages.—Augusta (Maine) Journal.

ALONE.

Alone in my sorrow, alone in my gloom,
I am sitting to-night in my silent room.
I am sitting alone, and I am dreaming of thee,
My angel bride on death's unknown sea.

Oh where have you gone to, my angel, my sweet?
Is your life more happy, more pure, more complete?
Would you rather be there in the heavens above
Than here on this earth with the one that you love?

Oh tell me, dear one, for I long to know,
Do you love up there as you did here below?
Do you ever look back on this desolate plain?
Or know how I long for your presence again?

Could you see me, dear one, when the shadows fall
As I gaze on your picture that hangs on the wall—
Could you look in my heart, see its passionate pain,
I am sure you would come to me, darling, again.

For I love you, I love you; oh, say, can you hear?
A thousand times better than when you were here.
For I loved you then in a man's cold way,
And knew not your worth till you'd passed away.

But self reproaches and tears are in vain,
Since they bring you not back to me, darling, again.
And useless repinings and bitter tears
Leave the Dead Sea fruit of the vanished years.

BERYL STAR.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 8.

MESSRS. EDITORS—No singer has received such a welcome here since the war as was given Miss Emma Abbott last week when she sang in opera with the Hess Troupe. Night after night the Opera House was crowded. The Cabinet officers with their families went to hear her, as did all the best society people. Her crowning triumph was on the occurrence of her last appearance, Saturday evening. Mrs. Hayes was in one of the boxes with some friends, and sent several beautiful bouquets and baskets to the stage. During the last scene, at a given signal, bouquets were thrown in a shower from all parts of the house, literally piled upon the stage, and it required some dodging on the part of Miss Abbott and Castle, who were then before the footlights, to escape a pelting.

For years the best choir at the Capital has been that of the leading Catholic church, St. Aloysius, the soprano being Miss Eva Mills—daughter of Clark Mills, the sculptor—who received a good salary for her services. But recently the choir has been disbanded and the singers all discharged. This is said to be in obedience to the Pope's late orders, which are to the effect that Catholic churches shall not pay their singers. This arrangement is a disappointment to lovers of good music here, for it has come to be a habit with very many to visit St. Aloysius on Sunday afternoon as they would attend any fine concert. Miss Mills has gone to New York and is studying for the opera. The other members of the choir are out of Sunday employment, but will doubtless soon be engaged by Episcopal churches, for their voices are too good to remain unsought.

Much interest is naturally felt in the election returns here. Guns were fired all Tuesday night, and considerable excitement prevailed. Both parties consider they have grounds for encouragement and both appear jubilant.

Announcement has been made that another discharge—of 70 clerks—is soon to take place at the Treasury Department, and the whole force is awaiting the selection of victims with fear and trembling. The day when the average Government clerk is thrown out of position is a sorry one, especially in these latter times when so many are without employment. It is hard, often impossible, for an employé, having been a long time in office, to turn his hand to other work. It is conceded on all sides that Government employment totally unfits for other business. Of course we refer to the majority of positions. What is a man good for after having spent 10 or 15 or 20 of the best years of his life in counting sheets of paper or bank notes, or in copying figures?

There are men here who have grown old and gray in Government service, whose monotonous duties have consisted of a daily routine of the simplest acts, such as filing away papers, or carrying them from one room to another. An old, white-haired man in the Postoffice Department (who was young and strong when first appointed to the office which he still holds) has done nothing all these years but cut open the ends of envelopes. Little active business could he do now should he be discharged.

The city is quiet but very pleasant this month. The days are all sunshiny. The evenings and mornings are getting frosty, but the weather is, on the whole, right enjoyable.

MARTHA.

Poisonous Tin Plates.

The Boston Journal of Chemistry, after commenting on the many hidden dangers that surround us in our daily life, goes on to say:

Attention has recently been called to a new risk of chronic poisoning by the old enemy, lead. What we call "tin" vessels—that is sheet iron coated with tin—are in daily use in every household in the land. They are cheap, durable and convenient, and have been considered perfectly safe for the thousand culinary purposes to which they are devoted. They are safe if the tin plate is honestly made; but unfortunately this is not always to be counted upon. Tin is comparatively cheap, but lead is cheaper; and an alloy of the two metals may be used in place of the dearer one, with profit to the manufacturer though with serious detriment to the user. The alloy is readily acted upon by acids, and salts of lead are thus introduced into food. The Michigan State Board of Health has lately been investigating this subject, having been led to do so by a letter from a physician who found that certain cases of what had been mistaken for chorea were really paralysis agitans, which could be traced to this kind of lead poisoning. Other cases were brought to light in which children had died of meningitis, fits and paralytic affections, caused by milk kept in such vessels, the acid in the fluid having dissolved the lead. Malic, citric and other fruit acids are of course quicker and more energetic in their action upon the pernicious alloy. The danger is the greater because lead salts are cumulative poisons. The effect of one or two small doses may not be perceptible, but infinitesimal doses, constantly repeated, will in the end prove injurious if not fatal.

Analysis of a large number of specimens of tin-plate used in culinary articles showed the presence of an alloy with lead in almost every instance, and often in large quantities. It is safe to assert that a large proportion of the tinned wares in the market are unfit for use on this account.

That we may not be accused of exciting fears that may be groundless, we will inform our readers how they can settle the question for themselves by a simple and easy test. Put a drop of strong nitric acid on the suspected tin, and rub it over a space as large as a dime. Warm it very gently until it is dry, and then let fall two drops of a solution of iodide of potassium on the spot. If lead is present it will be shown by a bright yellow color, due to the formation of iodide of lead.

It is stated by Dr. Kedzie that a peculiar kind of tin plate, the coating of which is largely made up of lead, is coming into general use for roofing, eaves-troughs and conductors; and it is suggested that much of this lead will eventually be dissolved and find its way into household cisterns. Susceptible persons may be poisoned by washing in the lead charged water, and all who drink it, even after it is filtered, are in danger of chronic lead poisoning. There is also risk in the use of glazed earthern vessels, if, as is often the case, the glazing contains oxide of lead. The danger in the use of certain enameled iron vessels was pointed out sometime ago in the Journal, and it is said that these poisonous wares have not entirely disappeared from the market.

THE recent opinion of Attorney-General Devens regarding the taxation of National Banks threatens to open claims for the refunding of the tax paid, which in the aggregate will amount to about $1,000,000. If suits are brought they will be tried in the Court of Claims, and the Government will be represented either by the Attorney-General or one of his deputies. The anomalous position he will be obliged to take excites much attention and discussion made by himself. The position is one that will be as embarrassing to Attorney-General Devens as it will be interesting to the public at large. Mr. Devens has got himself in a position that cannot be the most pleasant in the world, and how he will get out of it naturally provokes much discussion.

CASTOR oil has been introduced into the Texas schools as an instrument of torture. A teacher in Galveston compelled a boy to take a heavy dose as punishment for smoking, and rubbed castor oil over a girl's lips for swearing. The punishment was effective, but the people swell with indignation and pronounce it barbarous.

A Steam Juryman.

The other day a summons commanding Thatcher Magoin to present himself for service in the jury box, was returned to the Commissioner of Jurors with the information that it had been served upon the wrong party. The Commissioner said to the bearer:

"That settles it as far as you are concerned, but Magoin must come here and show cause why he should not be a juror."

"He can't," was the reply, "he's too busy. If he did come he would make things hot for you. Besides, you would have to send a derrick and a truck to bring him. He turns the scales at 5,000 pounds."

The Commissioner was incredulous; worse, he made remarks not complimentary to the speaker's condition with respect to sobriety. Then the summoned man explained:

"I am telling you facts, Mr. Commissioner," he said. "Thatcher Magoin is a steam engine, and is located at the foot of Fletcher street. I am Nicholas Morris, stevedore. Years ago I was employed by a man named Thatcher Magoin. I named my engine on pier 19, East River, after him. When the Directory man came to the dock to get names he saw the name of Thatcher Magoin on the engine, and thinking that he was the boss, put it in the book. You'll see it on page 949."

This, we believe, is the first time that a steam engine has been called to do political duty. There appears to be no reason, however, why a well-conducted or well-constructed piece of machinery, with a phonographic metric attachment, should not be able to hear and weigh evidence quite as efficiently as the average jury.—Scientific American.

THE New York bank robbery and its peculiar circumstances leads the New York World to say that Schell, the President, in looking after his own private box two days before the burglary, "gave himself away." The World adds: His whole connection with the "watch and ward" of the bank, as well as with the safety of his own private box, reminds one of Dion Boucicault's Irish sentry, who cried out to an intruder: "Cabbage is the countersign; give it at once loud and clear or I'll shoot." "To save us all trouble," said Schell and his associates in substance to the janitor, "here is the combination." After the intruders had obtained the countersign through the connivance of sentinels it was an easy job to get in and sack the camp.

A FEW days ago the country was shocked by the story of a young schoolmistress in New York who was shockingly outraged by tramps and her tongue cut out to prevent her revealing the facts or describing her assailants. We didn't go much on the story, for we happened to remember having read an old tragedy—"Titus Andronicus"—in which a precisely similar crime served as the leading incident, and we are not surprised, therefore, to find the story of the New York outrage to have been made out of whole cloth. The New York World had it investigated and found it to be a country bumpkin's joke.—Stock Report.

THE present year is a memorable one in the development of the Russian navy. One hundred torpedo boats and numerous cruisers have been constructed. Three clipper steamers have been launched, four steamers have been bought in America and two iron-clads are on the point of completion. Several iron-clads also have been lately launched, but have not received their armaments. To these four cruisers have been added by private subscriptions.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 23.....1878.

"CAN we get rid of polygamy without at the same time getting rid of the Mormons?" asks the St. Louis Republican. The former is an unendurable nuisance; the latter are valuable members of the body politic. We cannot afford to drive away from us forever an industrious, energetic and thrifty people, who have literally made "the wilderness to bud and blossom as the rose;" who, conquering alike the intolerance of man and the unfriendliness of nature, have built in the midst of a wretched desert a city which is one of the curiosities of the continent. The indomitable courage and exhaustless enterprise and skill which have accomplished so much heretofore, are capable of still greater things hereafter. We must retain them if we can do so without paying too high a price. How can we keep the sturdy and vigorous tree and yet eradicate the rotten fruit it produces? This is the problem demanding solution, and which the National Legislature cannot much longer thrust out of sight and out of mind.

THE Greenback vote in Congress will be pretty evenly divided between the two old parties. The Greenbacker elected in the Fifteenth Illinois District was opposed only by a Democrat, and probably received a great many Republican votes. The Greenbacker in Indiana was the joint nominee of the Greenbackers and Democrats, and will most likely act with the Democrats. The two Greenbackers in Iowa were also the joint nominees of the Greenback and Democratic parties. The Third and Tenth Kentucky Districts are still in doubt, with the chances about even. One of the Greenbackers in Maine was elected by the aid of the Democrats. The Missouri Greenbacker was opposed by a Democrat, and probably received the strength of the Republican vote. The Greenbacker in Pennsylvania will probably act with the Republicans.

IF this thing keeps up a little longer there won't be so many people bewailing the hard fortune that they were not born Kings or Queens. Here, a short time since, it was Kaiser William who came near death's door for being Emperor of Germany. Soon after King Alphonse, of Spain, had cause to congratulate himself for a similar escape. Next, on the 17th of the present month, an assassin makes a determined attempt upon the life of King Humbert of Italy, but, fortunately, like the others, fails, is arrested and will soon like them be hung or have his head cut off. Until the European Kearneyites cool down or are generally knocked on the head, as they will be sooner or later, it will be well for the monarchs to remain quietly in-doors till the excitement blows over.

TO PROVE the value of lands along the line of a Texas railroad, the company has been exhibiting the products of the country through which it passes. Apples ripening all along from May to Christmas, in seventy-three varieties, form part of the collection; also, clusters of grapes fourteen inches long; peaches in one hundred varieties, weighing from ten to fourteen ounces each, and over one hundred kinds of valuable wood.

A PROMINENT Democratic member has assured the Hartford Times' Washington correspondent that as soon as Congress meets he will introduce a resolution directing the Potter Committee to thoroughly investigate the entire cipher telegram business, including those that were sent to and by Zack Chandler, in connection with the Florida and Louisiana Returning Board rascality.

AMONG the numerous cases to come up in the present term of the District Court for Kern county is that of the Yoakum brothers, under two indictments for murder, in which counsel as follows are engaged: J. W. Freeman and Geo. E. Otis for the prosecution; D. S. Terry, Alex. Campbell, Sr., E. E. Calhoun, P. T. Colby and V. A. Gregg, for the defense.

THE Springfield Republican says: The latest Republican bugbear is that the wicked Democrats will pigeon-hole enough of the President's nominations next Winter to require a special session of the Upper Branch in March, when they will turn out the Republicans who now hold the Senate offices and put in Democrats.

GEN. SHERMAN sat in a box in a Chicago theater during a burlesque performance. He applauded the singing of an actress in tights, whereupon she threw him a kiss. He seemed to resent her impudence.

DR. F. A. MCDOUGAL, Mayor of Los Angeles, died in that city last week, aged sixty-four years.

MINERAL KING DISTRICT.

A representative of the Tulare Times, in company with Senator Tom Fowler and others, recently paid a visit to Mineral King district, of the fine prospects of which he speaks in terms so very euologistic as to make us think there is really something there, particularly in the Empire, a mine in which the Senator is a large owner. Upon this, he says, the miners in the employ of Senator Fowler are sinking a shaft some thirty or forty yards to the "right" (whatever direction that may be) of the natural shaft, which will strike the roof of the cave about fifty feet down. From where this shaft is started in the rock is rich in silver from the very surface. We quote: "The miners sometimes took out pieces, from which the blacksmith said he could easily forge out enough bullion to pay the mens' wages regularly, simply using his little furnace on the mountain side fitted up for the purpose of sharpening the few drills that eighteen or twenty men use. The miners are all enthusiastic, and think they have struck the biggest and best bed of silver ever found in the world. * The result will be that the Empire mine, in the course of a few months, will be pouring out bullion in immense quantities."

Senator Fowler and his associates in this enterprise are all men of capital, and are greatly elated at the richness and extent of this mine. They expect to have a hundred stamp mill in full operation upon its ores in the course of six or eight months, and a Burleigh drill at work forthwith. The whole country, in the views of the Times' representative, is full of mineral, and he thinks, "within a year there will be thousands of people in the district, with churches, school houses, pleasant homes, plenty of employment with good pay, and everything to constitute a prosperous town and community. And the result to Tulare will be prolific wealth."

The Empire mine is situated in a bold mountain, in which good ore is found almost every where, and at but a few feet from the surface. About two-thirds the way up is found the natural shaft above referred to, which, at a depth of about a hundred feet, opens out into a vast cave. "This cave," says the reporter, "was explored by our party, and a mining expert, as well as others who knew more or less concerning mines and minerals, and was declared by all to be lined, loaded and filled with the richest kind of silver ore, with well defined veins running north, south, east and west, through which nature has run cross-cuts and drifts. The party descended into the cave by means of a windlass and rope, with a stirrup for one foot in the latter, the descent being through an aperture perfectly straight, but so narrow as to squeeze a large man with less gentleness than people like to be squeezed, is not a pleasant trip by any means. In the cave, we explored it for several hundred yards horizontally, reaching altogether a depth of about two hundred feet, with everywhere the strongest and best evidences of beautiful silver ore. In this ore, some of which has been assayed with the most satisfactory results, is found almost every character of argentiferous matter, including black sulphurets, horn silver, chloride of silver, and all mixed with a strong percentage of gold."

It is not often, since the days of Aladdin, that mines of silver and gold are found so nicely arranged by nature with shafts, tunnels, cross-cuts, etc., as the one here described. It is pretty evident the Times' representative is not a first-class mining expert, and his account of so wondrous a mine may be considered somewhat overdrawn. Nevertheless, we are quite well satisfied he reports facts very much as they actually exist, and precisely as he saw them. Such being the case, developments in Mineral King district portend almost as much of good to the business interests of this county as to those of Tulare—that is, if the business men of Inyo will stop sucking their thumbs and complaining of hard times in time to lend a liberal hand toward the construction of a few miles of wagon road, through which alone can we hope for ever so small a share of those benefits.

THE Washington correspondent of the Boston Transcript is authority for this: It is understood to be the purpose of the Administration, after the November elections, to bring itself even more in accord with the leaders and the party in both Houses of Congress. Neither Conkling nor Blaine nor other prominent leaders will have cause for complaint. This is now evidently the intention of the President, in order to harmonize the discordant elements of the Republican party, and in order to crystalize it for the great political conflict of 1880 against the financial and disloyal heresies of the Bourbon Democracy; and as far as possible to aid the November elections, the President has determined to take into his confidence none but its tried leaders, and to avoid as far as possible future experiments with its enemies.

QUIEN SABE?

Suit against Inyo county is being commenced by the District Attorney to recover her share of the indebtedness of this county at the time she was set off from Tulare by the Legislature in 1865-66, amounting to between eight and ten thousand dollars, it is supposed. Ex-Sheriff Glasscock, who was the Assessor at that time, did the last assessing in that county in the Spring of 1876 ['66?], before the news of the act had reached that isolated region. The Supervisors endeavored several months ago to open communication with the Inyo Board, but they failed to respond with any sign. The matter, however, can all be amicably settled without any suit or any costs, if they will accept our proposition, which is this: that if they will pay us compound interest on the sum due from the date of the act at 1½ per cent. to date; we will agree to settle the bill with this county, and furnish every old Tulare settler in that county with a copy of the Delta for one year.—Visalia Delta, Nov. 15.

The last condition bars us from entertaining the proposed basis of settlement—our old Tulare settlers are badly enough demoralized now with reading outside papers without having to take the Delta; but for that it might be all right. There are some other considerations worth mentioning, viz: It is not likely our Taboose eaters would have calmly submitted to be assessed by a man named Glasscock merely to pay off a Tulare indebtedness. Next, if Tulare county has a District Attorney who required 14 years to get ready to prepare to commence such a momentous suit, Inyo also has one "whose name is Haynes, and whose latch-string is always out." Thirdly, our Supervisors never sent any sign to the Tulare Board, first, because they never knew the latter needed one, and, secondly, we had none to spare, anyway. Fourth, the Tulare bill was not made out on the blank forms prescribed by our Board and the Code, and, could not, therefore, be accepted and ordered paid. Lastly, and as the sum of our knowledge in this matter, the subscription price of THE INDEPENDENT is only $5, buyer 30.

THE TEHACHAPI TRAGEDY. — Last week we made reference to a tragedy reported to have occurred at Tehachapi. We now learn that Jerry O. Glenn and Guadulupe Astorga were the parties, and that Glenn's wife was in some degree the cause of the dreadful affair, though innocently enough so far as she was concerned. It seems that Glenn, who was much given to drink, had treated his wife so badly that she was in constant fear of death at his hands. On this account she, about a year ago, left him, and for which he blamed Astorga, professing to believe there was a criminal intimacy between the pair. In this, however, it appears he did his wife an injustice, no such cause of jealousy existing. When Glenn and Astorga finally met it was at a neighbor's house, and both were on foot from the beginning to the end of the desperate encounter in which both were killed outright. Each fired three shots, the last by Astorga after he was down and dying on the ground, Glenn being in a stooping position over him at the time he received Astorga's last deadly shot. Such, at least, appears to have been the case from the nature of Glenn's wounds, although no one saw the fight, the family at the house where they met having fled when they saw Glenn approaching, knowing from what he had told them but a short time previously that he intended to kill Astorga, the latter having called at the house shortly after Glenn had left when there the first time that day. It has been wrongly stated that both were mounted when the firing commenced, which it seems was not the case.

NO DANGER FOR MURDERERS.—The law's delay makes the life of everybody but the actual murderer uncertain, remarks the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. If punishment was meted out before the offense is forgotten its moral effect on the criminally disposed would be good. As it is, the murderer who deliberately hurries his victim into eternity without a moment's warning or delay is allowed to take advantage of every legal quibble that the ingenuity of paid counsel and the mistaken mercy of easy going courts can devise for delay. The result is that it has become an unusual thing in this country for punishment to come within two years of the commission of a murder. Ordinarily the first trial does not take place till after the lapse of a year from the commission of the offense. In that time important witnesses frequently disappear, and every effort is made to create public sympathy for the criminal. Under ihis loose administration of justice the belief is growing in the minds of large classes that murder is bad for the victim but safe enough for the perpetrator, and this belief undoubtedly has much to do with the growth of crime.

THE INYO ROAD.—Seth Smith, County Surveyor, Volney Baker and J. W. Crowley, appointed viewers to determine the most feasible route for a road from Tulare county to the summit of the Sierra Nevada mountains, have examined the route by way of the mills, the Hockett trail and the Mineral King route, and recommend the latter as the nearest, easiest grade and most practicable. They think the road can be built by this route for $20,000 less than by either of the others. The greater part of the road can be made at a grade of eight to ten inches to the rod, but some of it will be as high as 18 inches. They also think it will be a saving of labor and money to make a few short pitches with a grade as steep as two feet to the rod. They recommend the location of a road beginning at the end of the county road near Clodfelter's, and running up the Kaweah river on or near the New England tunnel company's grade, thence up the north side of the east fork of the Kaweah, thence south through Farewell gap, thence east crossing little Kern river near the head of big Kern, and crossing the latter stream above where the Hockett trail comes in, thence east to near where the Hockett trail crosses the summit. The length of the road from Clodfelter,s to Mineral King will be twenty-nine miles, and from there to the summit forty miles—sixty-nine miles in all. The cost of building the road from Clodfelter's to Mineral King is estimated at $25,000, and from there to the summit $30,000. The viewers also suggest that a good wagon road can be built from Owens river to the summit, about twenty miles, for $12,000.—Visalia Delta.

ON Sunday last two men drove into Tehachipi in a wagon. They were on their way to Arizona, and stopped to lay in some supplies, They intended to go on further that day, but one of them, named King, drank too much, and being in an unfit condition to drive, they were prevailed to put up their team and stay till morning. King got upon the wagon with the intention of driving to the stable, and another man got up with him. King began to whip the horses and his companion seeing there was danger ahead, jumped down. Pretty soon King fell forward over the front of the wagon, striking upon his head and receiving serious injuries. He was unconscious for two hours, but rallied afterward and on Monday was better. He was formerly a butcher at Panamint.—Kern County Gazette.

MECHANICS' LIENS.—Notice is given the Supreme Court in two decisions delivered at Pittsburg recently, that mechanics who file liens against property "for work done and material furnished" must comply exactly with the requirements of the statutes if they would have their claims sustained. In one case, the lien "for plastering and furnishing materials for plastering two dwelling houses, as per contract," was declared fatally defective because the claim did not set forth the kind and amount of the material furnished, and the time when the materials were furnished and the work done. In the other case, the lien set forth that the materials were for the "erection and construction" of the buildings, whereas, the evidence showed that they were for the repair of the buildings, and it was therefore disallowed. This is getting the law down to very fine points, but mechanics are warned by the decision that to make their liens good they must be very exact in stating their claims. In one case, at least, the claimant has no opportunity to file a new and amended claim, the limited time for that having already expired. — Scientific Press.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 23.....1878.

POWER DRILLS.—We received a call last Saturday from Mr. C. H. Baker, machinist and agent for the Ingersoll Rock Drill. Mr. B. came up from San Francisco to superintend the setting up of one of these drills for the Modock Company, and having seen that one in highly successful operation, came through this way en route to Benton, Lake District and Bodie, with the view of introducing this great labor and money saving machine to the attention of the miners of those camps. The Ingersoll drill is simply a modification of the better known Burleigh drill, upon which it is claimed to be a decided improvement. Let that be as it may, there is no doubt but these power drills are just what every mining company ought to have. Their total cost, air-compressor included, is less than $2,000 set up ready for work; assuming three feet of progress in a tunnel by means of the ordinary hand drill in 24 hours, or three shifts, the same number of men can with one of these machines make in the same time from 8 to 12 feet, and at much less incidental expense. At all events we strongly urge our mining men to investigate the claims of these machines, for if they are as great as we have reason to believe, it would well pay any company with a few hundred feet of tunnel to run to set one to work at once. The San Francisco agents are Reynolds, Rix & Co., No. 20 Fremont street.

THE TIMES.—There is now a more general complaint of hard times in this southern portion of the conuty than at any previous period within our knowledge—that is to say, money is scarcer, there are fewer people, less business generally and the labor demand lighter. Nevertheless, we never had a stronger faith or apparently more substantial reasons for anticipating fairly prosperous times in the near future than we have at this moment. True "all signs fail in dry weather," and these very well founded hopes may be disappointed, but if mining operations, which alone make the "times," are not in active operation all along the line by Spring then we are deceived indeed. And there will be more men put to work in the mines before that time than there has been for Winter operations for several years past. Such are the present indications any way, but we shall defer specifications for the present.

WHY?—The proposed investigation into the management of the Union Consolidated works at Cerro Gordo, to be set on foot by dissatisfied stockholders, has, it appears, been met with a quietus. Why, and how much? As a sample of further instance of curious manipulation at the expense of stockholders, it is stated that the Union mine—by the present line of developments—cannot be reached and lead ore in sufficient quantities to run the furnace be found inside of the next six months. Hence the plan of now letting large coal contracts at a rate in excess of the market value, and the compelling of the packers, under penalty of discharge, to buy their grain at two cents per pound and hay at $15 per ton more than the same can be bought for in the same market—looks, well, looks as if the Freighting Company and Belshaw continue to have a pretty good thing of it.

MUST BE PAID.—A good many of our citizens, liable to pay taxes, are fondly hugging the delusion to their bosoms that the special law by the last Legislature extending the time of payment to July still remains in force. We regret to say, on our own account if nobody else's, that that is a mistake; that law was special only to the past year, therefore taxes become delinquent on the first Monday in January, precisely as prior to the passage of that law. So, hard as times are, everybody must "jar down" by that time, else stand the five-per cent. raise, and may be something worse than that. A man's virtues, no matter how extensive they are, will not protect him from the tax collector—otherwise, we'd feel easy.

MODOCK CONSOLIDATED.—The following statement of the financial condition of the Modock Consolidated Mining Company, November 1st, 1878, is published for the information of stockholders: Amount due Daniel Meyer, Treasurer, $55,416 12; outstanding drafts, $1,040 82; October expenses (estimated), $6,000; total indebtedness, $62,456 94. Collected account of assessment No. 6, $19,157 80; indebtedness November 1st, $43,299 14. Stock in treasury, 22,856 776-1,000 shares.

GOOSEY.—If the wild geese and other migratory fowl were to reverse order of migrations and be seen going northward for Winter quarters, people would think they were the gooseist of the goosey. Yet every day or two live humans pass through here to do that very same thing.

HYPERBOREAN.—Private letters from Bodie complain bitterly of the coldness of the weather in that altitudinous locality. The writer of one of these letters states that the cold was so excessive he had to remain indoors for four days.

ABROAD. —The Grand Attacher is abroad in the land, Sheriff's keepers are in demand, and debtors are fearful any moment may be soon followed by the next.

RETURNED.—Supt. Hudgin, formerly of the Rex Montis, has returned from San Francisco to this place, presumably in the interest of some new mines which he proposes opening.

ASSESSMENT.—The Modock Consolidated has levied assessment No. 7, of 50 cents per share, delinquent December 23; day of sale, January 13.

COURT.—The County Court will meet on Wednesday next, in the matter of L. Lasky, in bankruptcy.

DARWIN.—A note from Darwin, under date of the 18th instant, gives a couple of items as follows: Darwin has been quite lively of late, caused by two or three surprise parties per week. The citizens never in her palmy days were more sociable than now...Mr. and Mrs. Jos. LeCyr leave to-morrow for Bodie. Mr. LeCyr is an old resident of this place, and has been engaged in the livery business. The citizens turned out in mass and honored them with a party at the Darwin Hotel last Saturday evening.

NEW DISCOVERIES.—There is considerable excitement at Cerro Gordo over the discovery of some rich silver ledges near the "Yellow Grade," on the Belshaw road. Several discoveries lately made on the mountain side back of Swansea seem to indicate that much of the prospecting formerly done has been too high up on the hills.

APPLES.—The late Spring frosts of the present season did not, as was generally understood, entirely destroy the apple crop of the Baker and Bell orchards at Big Pine, as evidenced by a box of splendid ones received at this office from Mr. Baker. They are certainly as fine Fall and Winter apples as can be grown anywhere.

GOOD.—The developments in the tunnel on the Whitney ledge, belonging to the Kearsarge Company, show a solid ledge of one foot to eighteen inches in width of from $300 to $400 ore. This, in connection with the fine showing on his big mine, causes much elation on the part of Supt. Gray and his many friends hereabouts.

NEW ROAD.—We are informed by Mr. J. G. Thompson, County Surveyor of Mono, that the new road from Frank Shaw's, at Adobe Meadows, to Bodie is now completed. The distance is 28¼ miles. There is water eight miles north of Shaw's. The desert is sandy, but the grade up into Bodie is hard and solid.

MINING PROPERTY SOLD.—Mr. Frank, of San Francisco, has purchased from Jos. Seeley the old Potosi tunnel and mining ground at the lower town of Cerro Gordo. The property will prove a valuable adjunct to the famous Ygnacio mine. The consideration named in the deed is $4,500.

ITS ADDRESS.—In response to a letter of inquiry from the East, we would state that the address of the Borax Lake Company, J. W. Searles, Superintendent, is now as follows: "San Bernardino Borax Mining Co., No. 424 California Street, San Francisco."

MODOCK.—Mr. Simon, Foreman at the Modock mine, reports the tunnel as being rapidly driven ahead, making about 8 feet per day. The rock in the tunnel is changing from hard lime to a material more resembling vein matter—an encouraging sign.

GOLD BULLION.—At Darwin, on the 18th instant, W. L. Hunter shipped to San Francisco 101 ounces of gold bullion, worth about $1,600, from the Beveridge District mines—the product of 22 days' run on 39 tons of ore.

A J. P.—R. L. Peterson, Esq., late of Lone Pine, has recently been appointed a Notary Public and Justice of the Peace for Bodie. We know of no more capable Justice than is R. L.

FURNACE.—T. McDonough is putting up a "basso" furnace on the Belmont side, Cerro Gordo, to smelt out some of the rich ore from the mines there.

NEXT WEEK.—A series of Cerro Gordo rhymes necessarily laid over. This is not Spring, and will our poetry people please give us a rest?

RUNNING.—The New Coso furnace at Darwin started up on Thursday last for a short run.

FINE fresh apples at Woods', at 10 cents per pound.

STOCKS.—The late fearful break in Comstock stocks amounted almost to a panic, the depreciation in two of the leading mines aggregating $14,000,000 in one day. Much excitement has prevailed on California street and Virginia City. Were one half of the money lost in fancy stocks legitimately invested in mining properties of Inyo and Mono counties the returns would in a few years more than equal the whole product of the bonanzas. Given a railroad through this valley, no one familiar with the vast mineral resources of this county will consider the above assertion at all wild.

THE Democratic President makers, according to the Cincinnati Gazette's Washington correspondent, agree that of the candidates now much spoken of Bayard is about the only one left in the field. Thurman has died, they say, of greenbacks, and Hendricks has been too soft on money questions to be of use for the future; Tilden, though for hard money, has been put out of the field by the cipher business and his wicked coparceners; but Bayard is a consistent hard money man, and with a sufficient character and standing in other respects.

LIXIVIATION IN UTAH.—The old Telegraph leaching works on the Jordan are running very successfully on ores from the old Telegraph and Jordan mines. About 700 tons of ore per week is the amount being leached. The ore is concentrated after leaching, for the remaining lead and silver, and by this means there is very little loss. The cost for leaching and concentrating amounts to less than $1 50 a ton. The sulphides are mixed with slacked lime and the slimes from the concentrator, the whole being put in sacks and melted down with the ores in the smelter. It is the intention to treat the sulphides from the Bingham works in a like manner from this time forward.—Salt Lake Herald.

Excursion to the Emigrant Mine, Lee District.

DARWIN, November 17.

MESSRS. EDITORS—It has become a time-honored custom among Americans in this country whenever inaugurating any new or important work, which has caused a considerable outlay of both money and time, when completed and ready for use to make the day that chronicles its commencement one of festivity and pleasure.

The 13th of November was one of this nature, and one, too, we trust, will always be memorable in the history of Inyo county. One of the principal mining districts in this county, which possesses so many, is known as Lee, and is at present as promising as any within its borders. The first discovered mine in this district was called the Cactus, so named from the fact of there being a very large tree of that species near the mine. Shortly after there was discovered another very promising mine very near, which was named the Valentine. These two veins compose the property now known as the Emigrant Mining Company's, and are situated in a northerly direction and about fifteen miles from here.

It was on the date above mentioned that this company concluded to start up its new ten-stamp mill, which has just been completed, and in order to give it a "good send-off" Peter Taylor, Esq., so well and favorably known throughout the county, and generally throughout the State, extended invitations to the citizens of Darwin and vicinity to be present and participate in the ceremonies. Following is a list of the persons who accepted the invitation, and enjoyed the beautiful ride over a natural road to the company's property: Mr. and Mrs. J. LeCyr, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. O'Brion, Mr. and Mrs. G. Center, W. F. Welch, Deputy Sheriff, Dr. N. R. Carson, C. H. Sharp, of Sharp Bros., O. M. Paris, of Paris & Harmon, S. W. Montague, Agent C. G. F. Co., P. T. Morrissey, Jas. Cavanaugh, Dan Williams, R. Hatch, Frank Fitzgerald, Constable at Lookout, Mr. Woodhull, of the Rex Montis mine. Which with about twenty-five persons residing at the mine gave the little town of Lee a lively appearance.

As the conveyances carrying the parties hove in sight of the mill, Mr. Taylor caught hold of the steam whistle wire and welcomed us all with its shrill and telling music, and cheer after cheer went up from all those warm hearts present which even seemed to gladden the surrounding hills, as they echoed back from one to another, with more than ordinary distinctness, that combination of sounds they never heard before—sound principally made by a harnessed element, which is soon to develop that region, and enable us to know what hidden riches God has deposited there.

Previous to starting up the mill it was deemed advisable by the manager to first attend to the wants of the inner man by putting it in a more satisfactory and harmonious state, which offish feeling was caused by freely breathing the heavenly air and occasionally jolts that one necessarily undergoes in traveling in a country where the foot-prints of the township road master are few and far between.

Upon arriving at the company's boarding house, Ah Kee, master of that always inviting spot, we found a beautiful repast awaiting us. Our sojourn at those loaded down tables afforded an experience long to be remembered, interspersed as it was with occasional toasts whenever the clinking of glasses was heard. The effects of that hour was all that soul could wish. We arose from the table rested and refreshed, and all with one accord exclaimed, "it is good to be here."

"To the mill, to the mill," was the general cry, and under the command of Mr. T. we marched to see it start upon its important mission. Upon our arrival we found a compact, complete and well constructed 10-stamp quartz mill, in running order and as perfect as any in the State, all ready with harness on, steam up, only awaiting the bidding of its master spirit to commence pounding out bullion with which to pay the expense of its erection. The commencement exercise consisted: First, when Mr. Taylor announced that all was in readiness, he called upon Mrs. George Center to sound the alarm, and soon the whistle gave forth its shrill and welcome tones, after which Mrs. C. F. O'Brion took hold of the little wheel and with a few turns the throttle-valve was open; in rushed the hidden force into the steam chests and immediately the perfect working little engine at just 2:40 P. M. moved off as quietly as did the first railroad engine that was ever run on Scottish soil, which our same Peter had the honor of handling. The stamps were immediately set in motion, and Mrs. J. LeCyr was allowed the honor of putting in the first shovel full of ore, which they commenced eating up with a will. Thus was set in motion the little mill at Lee, amid cheer after cheer, and under the most favorable auspices and the hearty good wishes of all present. The ladies above mentioned performed their alloted parts to the entire satisfaction of the manager, and if there is any charm and good luck in woman's presence this company may consider themselves very fortunate in the able representation of the opposite sex on so important an occasion.

For the information of those not conversant with the past history of the company, it may be of interest to state that the 5-stamp mill erected in former years some nine miles from the mine, where the nearest water was to be had, has now been removed to the mine and five more stamps added. This change was not made until the company had thoroughly tested their ores by a nine months' profitable run, and producing the highest grade of bullion in the State, and under the most unfavorable circumstances, paying for the item of freight alone $14 00 per ton.

About the first of July the change was determined upon, and on the 7th the tearing of it down commenced. The securing of an ample supply of water was the next matter to be considered, and was effected by the purchase of the Ball Springs, nine miles distant, affording ample water for both mill and mine purposes. The next question was the securing of ample pumps and pipes to carry the water to the mill. A master stroke of policy was executed by Mr. Taylor when he purchased for $4,000 the entire outfit of the Cerro Gordo Water and Mining Company, composed of Los Angeles parties, which cost them $97,000 when in position on Cerro Gordo hill. The principal items in this outfit consisted of 13 miles of water pipe, of various sizes, 3 steam pumps, 4 tanks of 12,000 gallons capacity each, 3 large boilers, and a multiplicity of tools, etc., in all about 113 tons weight, and all in as good condition as when first laid.

At the same time the mill was being torn down the water pipe and machinery were being extracted from the mountain fastnesses, where no human soul ever supposed they could or ever would be removed. Mr. Taylor, however, was most fortunate in the selection of his men for this difficult work. In Mr. Wm. Moulds was combined the requisite qualifications for the general variety work to be performed, being a master mechanic capable of attending to all branches of wood-work, as well as the erection and putting in place the machinery, and to his able services and capacity to dispatch work the company are deeply indebted. He like Mr. Taylor is a worker, a practical, capable, driving man; neither have stopped to consider personal comforts, and both night and day, when duty called, could be found with coats off ready to attack anything to be done. Archy Craig, the engineer, has been an able assistant to Mr. Moulds in the erection of the machinery, and is deserving of much credit for his faithfulness and capability.

When the company asked Mr. T. how long it would be before he would have the mill up and the water running in the tanks, he replied with all the material on the ground, three months, but by his admirable will and energy the herculean task has only required ten weeks time, with nothing at the mill-site on commencing. Before the three months pass Secretary Mudge's heart will be gladdened by the privilege of seeing a few silver bricks in his office, No. 81, Nevada Block, San Francisco.

The mill starts out upon mission with about 400 tons of ore upon the dump, and the mine sufficiently opened to work from 40 to 50 men. At present there are about 25 men on the pay-roll, which number will be doubled in the course of the month.

J. C. Eddy acts as mining foreman, a capable and energetic man of a life's experience at mining in all its varied branches, and if the hill in which the mines are located has a bonanza in it he is just the man to find it.

The mill-man of the company is S. W Woodhull, who comes highly recommended from below, a genial and affable gentle and capable to perform his duties.

Mr. Geo. Stevens, our tinsmith, has had charge of laying the water pipes from the springs to the mine. His duties have been arduous and severe, and he has used up in lead alone in the laying of the pipes between four and five tons. For his stick-to-it-iveness in this job, and able manner in which the work has been done (not leaking 50 gallons of water out of a pumping of 25,000) he he is deserving of all praise from the company, and which he certainly receives from its resident manager.

It is sincerely hoped and quite generally believed that this new enterprise of the Emigrant company will prove a grand success, and that it will open up a new mining region in our county. The ores generally in Lee District are of a free milling character, easily worked and of a fair average grade. There are a great many mines in this district, it being but a short distance from the Belmont mines, and with the facilities the Emigrant company will give for working ores most of the mines will be developed, and in the course of the coming year that part of Inyo may build up a favorable reputation and help to remove some of the blackness from the black-eyed reputation she now holds abroad.

The past history of most of the mining operations in this county does not afford very pleasant and agreeable reading matter for their various stockholders. The failure of many of the companies perhaps may be directly traced to incompetent management. Men are sent to direct mining operations void of practical business talent and mining experience. What the country wants is honest, intelligent and working superintendents, men who know how to work a mine and construct and run a mill after it is made; and then money invested in mines may prove more profitable, and the country have a more favorable reputation in other parts of the State.

Yours, truly. C. F. O'BRION.

LETTER FROM BODIE.

BODIE, November 18.

MESSRS. EDITORS—I intended to write you a long time ago, but having been suffering with a very bad cold, contracted to keep along Allman's stage, have not felt in a writing mood, and do not yet feel as though I could write but in a growling tone.

Some five weeks ago I walked into the stage office at Bishop Creek and booked for Aurora—fare $15. A young man with a "blanco" moustache weighed my trunk, containing all my earthly goods, and told me that only thirty pounds was allowed to a passenger and that I must pay four dollars for thirty-four pounds extra baggage. (Under the law stage companies are bound to carry 60 pounds of baggage free for each passenger—see Sec. 2180, amended Civil Code.) I kicked a little, but finally shelled out, and got aboard of one of Allman's buckboards. After proceeding some eight or ten miles to about the center of an alkali flat, one of the horses concluded he'd stop. We stayed with him about him an hour, and you can rest assured that my temper was none of the sweetest, sitting there in the broiling sun and remembering the $4 for extra baggage. I commenced in a gentle voice to call down blessings on Allman or any man who had the cheek fo call himself a stage man, and drive two plug horses twenty-eight miles, and halt his passengers in the middle of a desert. And my feelings were not allayed in the least when the driver looked at the way-bill and discovered that the young candidate for future honors (?) had only put on the way-bill $2 10 for extra baggage, thereby making $1 90 for himself and beating either Allman or me out of the same. We finally reached Fish Slough an hour and a half behind time. Our old friend Charlie Burroughs served up a delicious chicken dinner, showed us his beautiful trout, and we pulled out for Benton. And now comes in another piece of Allman strategy: To save a few dollars per month he runs his buck-boards around by Whisky Flat, one of the most rocky roads it was ever my misfortune to travel, and six and a half miles longer than the toll road, and lands his passengers in Benton after 9 o'clock, too late to get a good supper.

Six o'clock next morning we started with some 1,200 pounds of Indian Queen bullion, and six passengers, in a mud wagon drawn by four more plug horses. At Adobe Meadows we took another passenger and changed horses, started on our next drive of thirty miles. Before we had got out of sight of the station we were told to get out and walk up a mountain, some three miles. I refused to walk, when the driver offered to bet me that I "would walk" after we got somewhere this side of Aurora. The next time the passengers were told to walk a female who rode on the seat with the driver glanced into the coach, and seeing me called out: "Driver, don't start yet; make that big, fat husky get out and walk, too." I had resolved that I would not walk a step, but seeing a woman walk was too much, so I walked behind Allman's plug horses and blessed him for it. The idea of a stage man driving four horses thirty miles, over a mountain road! How Bergh would caress a man like that! We finally reached Aurora, three hours behind time—10:30 P. M.—and if the passengers had not walked some four or five miles we would be on the road yet.

I have only this to add about this stage line from Independence to Aurora: If any of your readers intend to come to Bodie, come up on some freight wagon, or buy a jackass, or come afoot, and I will guarantee that you will come as quick and more comfortably than if you paid money for the privilege of walking behind Allman's worn out and ill-fed plug horses.

My growl is out now, and I feel better. If Mr. Allman or any one else feels aggrieved over anything in this letter, just refer them to BUSTER.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 23.....1878.

AN extended telephone line is thus sketched by the Nevada City (Cal.) Transcript: The extensive telephone line now being erected in the upper portion of Nevada county will prove a great convenience to the inhabitants of that section. The Eureka Lake, North Bloomfield and Milton mining companies are the projectors of the enterprise, the completion of which will require an outlay of about $5,000. As the Milton company expect to derive the most benefit from its construction, they will bear the largest portion of the expense. The line is to be over 60 miles in length, and will extend as follows: From French Corral to Sweetland, San Juan, Cherokee, Columbia Hill, Bloomfield, Derbec, Watt, Moore's Flat, Shand's, Eureka, Weaver's Lake. From the last named place one branch will extend to Fouserie, via Bowman's Lake, and another to the head of Milton ditch, via South Fork. The work has been finished on the upper end to a point just this side of Moore's Flat, and the wires work most satisfactorily. The construction of this, or the southern division, is progressing rapidly. Stations for receiving and transmitting messages will be established at all the points above named, for the benefit of the public as well as the corporations. This means of communication will be of much advantage to the people living in that section.

CLEOPATRA'S NEEDLE.—Northern climates are ill-adapted for the preservation of stone monuments, at the best; and when there is added to the inclemencies of the weather the action of a corrosive atmosphere like that of London, the hardest stone stands small chance of preserving its integrity for any great length of years. The Egyptian column, Cleopatra's Needle, is scarcely in position on the banks of the Thames when the question of its preservation engages the attention of the Metropolitan Board of Works. At a recent meeting, the engineer and consulting chemist of the board reported that the surface of the Needle was in a condition that made it liable to be rapidly disintegrated by the action of the London atmosphere and frost. It was recommended that a trial be made of a "stone solution," to harden the surface and make it impervious to the weather; but, on the assertion by members of the board that the same solution had been used without success on the Houses of Parliament, the matter was referred to a committee for further inquiry.—Scientific American.

WASTE NO TIME.—After allowing yourself proper time for rest, don't live a single hour of your life without doing exactly what is to be done in it, and going straight through it from beginning to end. Work, play, study, whatever it is—take hold of and finish it up squarely and clearly, then to the next thing without letting any moments drop out between. It is wonderful to see how many hours these prompt people contrive to make of a day; it is as if they picked up the moments that the dawdlers lost. And if ever you find yourself where you have so many things pressing upon you that you hardly know how to begin, let us tell you a secret. Take hold of the very first one that comes to hand, and you will find the rest all fall into file and follow after like a company of well drilled soldiers; and though work may be hard to meet when it charges in a squad, it is easily vanquished when you bring it into line.

THE pet railway project of Northern Italy and Switzerland is the St. Gothard Railroad, projected under the treaty of 1869 and 1871, and put under contract in 1872. This railroad is to extend from Central Switzerland, by way of a tunnel in St. Gothard Pass, into Italy, so as to connect with the Italian system of railroads. It is a German, Swiss and Italian project as opposed to the Mont Cenis line, under French influence. Twenty-one of the twenty-two cantons of Switzerland have voted for the completion of the road. Under the treaty of 1871 Switzerland was to contribute 20,000,000 francs to the construction fund. The Mont Cenis tunnel is eight miles long. The St. Gothard tunnel, constructed in March, in the same way, will be nine and one-quarter miles long.

BODIE RAILROAD.—The branch railroad from the Mound House to Bodie will not be built this Winter. D. O. Mills has gone to the Atlantic States for the purpose of contracting for rails and other materials and to make arrangements for the transportation of the same to this coast. It appears that owing to combinations among manufacturers it has been a difficult matter to purchase rails at satisfactory prices. It is expected that all the rails will arrive here this Winter. The ties and all the timber and lumber that will be required will also be ready, and work may be commenced early in the Spring. —Virginia Enterprise.

WHITELAW REID, of the New York Tribune, interviewed on the question of the cipher dispatches, says there is no truth in the story that Ben Butler gave the dispatches to the Tribune as consideration of its maintaining silence about him, the story that Morton had the dispatches and translated them. Three of the Tribune men worked at the cipher dispatches for months before they got a clue. The first key was discovered simultaneously by two men working separately.

BRUMIDI, the Italian artist, who has been many years engaged in frescoing the Capitol at Washington, will take two years to finish the fresco work in the rotunda upon which he is now engaged. He is more than seventy years old, and he has painted more than an acre of space in the Capitol building.

SAMBO, who had recently been out to sea during a hard gale, said: "All de passengers were a heavin' and de captain gave orders for the ship to heave to."

PARSNIP FRITTERS.—Boil six medium sized parsnips until tender, then mash them smooth with a lump of butter and pepper and salt to taste. Add two beaten eggs, three even tablespoonfuls of flour, and half a cupful of sweet milk. Heat some nice drippings, a little butter in a frying pan and drop the mixture by teaspoonfuls into the hot fat. When nicely browned on both sides, lay them on whitish brown paper folded in a plate, and set them for five minutes in the oven, then serve on a hot dish in which is laid a folded napkin, and garnished with curled parsley.

SWANSEA'S DUKE.

I've traveled many a weary mile
Over the sea and over style,
But never a country yet I've struck
That has such accursed luck
As Swansea.

I know another place yet out here,
Where water costs as much as beer,
It's right upon the mountain's top,
I'm darned if it ain't as rough a spot
As Swansea.

So what can a fellow do just now
But walk around with a clouded brow,
Thinking that something must turn up,
For we've had promises from the pup
Of Swansea.

It's some dark and deep-laid plot,
Which we workingmen cannot stop.
It's wrong that we are made the dupe
By the stupid insignificant Duke
Of Swansea.

What makes them try so many times,
If iron ore is not in mines.
To suit the furnace and make a run
Unless it's taken from this scum
Of Swansea.

I've thought of a bright and bold idea,
Although to some it may seem queer,
Let's buy three thousand worth of stock?
As some of them do who wear a smock
In Swansea.

It must be part of the company's creed
"Keep out the whites and mix the breed,"
For they must run, bow and stoop
At the will of the short legged Duke
Of Swansea.

Enough of this for the present time,
I'll write it out upon this line,
And in the next no doubt you'll see
The confounded stupidity
Of Swansea.

S. A. S.

POSTSCRIPT:

Things have changed since last I wrote,
And people now refuse their note.
The Duke and all his kind are matched,
For everything now is attached

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 15.

MESSRS. EDITORS—No man is more noticeable in Congressional halls than Alex. H. Stephens, the veteran statesman of Georgia. During the last session he was in such poor health that he could not stand, but sat in a wheeled chair in which a servant brought him from his hotel to the Capitol. He made several speeches during the Winter, and while delivering them he was constantly rolling himself back and forth in the area in front of the Speaker's desk, gesticulating and moving about as freely and as naturally as if he was on feet. Also, except when speaking, he remained in his out-of-doors wraps—cloak, hat and gloves. His faithful black servant takes him in his arms and carries him everywhere without an effort, as well he may, for the big-brained man's body weighs but 80 pounds. When in health he tipped the scale at a hundred, and it is not unlikely that his physical littleness has saved his life more than once, for, being a firm adherent to the old English and Southern code of gentlemanly "honor," duelling, etc., and withal a man of hot temper and excitable, he has repeatedly challenged politicians who have impugned his motives or questioned his integrity. Herschell V. Johnson, Ben. Hill and other prominent men, who are known to be adherents of the duelling code, have been challenged by him and have declined fighting him, in some cases undoubtedly for the sole reason of his puny body and ill health. In 1848 he had an altercation with Judge Cone, in his own State, and afterward when the two met at a hotel the Judge called him a traitor. Stephens, who was unarmed, immediately struck the Judge across the face with a small cane, whereupon his opponent drew a dirk-knife and attempted to stab him. Stephens, though tiny, was agile and evaded the thrust but received twenty more or less serious wounds in different parts of his body, and was at last seized by the Judge and thrown to the floor. Then forcing his head back, and holding his knife aloft, the Judge shouted, "Now apologize or I'll cut your throat." "Never! Cut away," was the plucky reply, and as the dirk descended Stephens caught it, nearly severing his hand in the effort, sprang to his feet and was doubtless saved from death by the interference of common friends just at this juncture. The scars he received then and there will go to his grave with him. He refused to appear against the Judge at his trial, and their relations thereafter were most amicable. Stephens has been a great leader in his party, but younger and fresher men are needed now. The recognized ability of Senator Thurman in the matter of leadership is such as to inspire the entire Democratic party with confidence. A man of sterling worth, strict integrity and boundless information, he is sure to win the trust of strong men and to become a formidable antagonist to any who dare oppose him.

A man who will be welcomed back to the Senate by friends and foes alike is the Republicans' great party leader, Roscoe Conkling. Although such as he will always have strong political opponents, yet worthy men of any party cannot fail to recognize his exceptionable qualities as a statesman and to respect him accordingly. Politicians who have the country's good at heart, are glad to see any party's guiding lines in firm hands, and to know that the public interests are being looked to with eyes true and keen. Such hands and such eyes has Conkling.

The President and his Cabinet sent congratulations to the commercial convention in Chicago on the 12th and 13th, which was called to devise ways to promote better facilities and cheaper rates between the Atlantic and Pacific. The convention returned the compliment by recommending the construction by Congressional aid of the Texas Pacific Railroad, and an extension of time allowed the Northern Pacific to build its line through. The success of these measures would certainly give great relief to trade. MARTHA.

The Proposed Autocratic Commission.

Speaking of rich men, we learned yesterday that Gen. Beale is the owner of 196,000 acres of the best and most fruitful acres in California. It is said that all the grants which gave this vast estate were forged—not that Gen. Beale forged them or had any knowledge of them—that they cost comparatively nothing; that a hundred-vara lot in San Francisco cost more than this vast domain. This property was acquired when the General was Surveyor-General of California, and it was of him whom President Lincoln made the joke that when he went out of office "he was monarch of all he had surveyed." This land is crossed by the Southern Pacific Railroad. It is used for a sheep pasture; it is doubtless taxed for one-tenth of its value. None of it is cultivated. It is being held that time, future emigration and the enterprise of other men may give it valve. It has no church nor school house nor improved road upon it. It is a desert, unoccupied and unused, except for the herds of its non-resident landlord. If it were taxed as other and not more valuable lands are taxed to the poor men who till them, it would bring a large revenue to the State. If it were owned in small farms and properly cultivated it would maintain a population of 10,000 souls; it would have doubled it present worth and given value to other lands; it would give occupation to railroads; it would contribute to the prosperity of San Francisco. Now it contributes nothing to the State, and only serves to enrich one man, and he, an absentee, spends his money beyond our borders. And yet the Constitutional Convention, now engaged in the preparation of an organic law, hesitate as to the propriety of doing anything in the direction of compelling these vast landed estates to be either divided or made to contribute their quota to the maintenance of a State government. At the same time this mob-fearing body of wisdom seriously propose to give over the absolute control of the Southern Pacific Railroad to three politicians elected by the people—who "shall have the sole control to fix the rates of freight and passage;" a railroad built without subsidy through an unsettled part of the State, reaching out to the Rio Grande in Texas in order to grasp and bring to San Francisco the vast future trade of the great empire of Arizona and the valley of Mexico, and whose prospect of an ultimate profit is in a distant future. This Southern Pacific Railroad enterprise is doing more for our city than all the rich men, corporations, merchants and business men of the the State beside. It is extending the jurisdiction, the business and commercial area of the city to a great productive and unoccupied country. It is opening up to us a future business, the extent and value of which the unthinking city trader has no conception or appreciation of. It is giving us a grasp upon a valuable trade, and is inviting to our port a business that in the future will be of inestimable value. The Southern Pacific Railroad has no subsidy, no lands, and is asking no aid, yet in San Francisco there is an ignorant, mean and jealous prejudice against it difficult to understand. Half the press is constantly denouncing it; all the politicians are making capital in the abuse of it; a Constitutional Convention threatens to go to the voting masses with propositions to confiscate it; the sand-lot mob meet before the dwellings of its promoters, and with bonfires, blasphemy and threats of personal violence seek to intimidate the men who are building it, and who are giving labor to honest workers. Such narrow-minded ignorance, such mean and jealous stupidity, we never saw before in any community. If the road is built to the Gulf of Mexico—which is its objective point—it will bring to our city all the trade of that great empire of undeveloped wealth. If the system of California railroads, now being carried out by Gov. Stanford and his associates, is left to be developed without needless interference, the Rocky mountains will bound our commercial jurisdiction on the east, and it will bring to our port the splendid commerce of Asia and the islands of the Pacific. If the narrow-minded political newspapers and sand-lot bigots are permitted to arrest the development of this enterprise, the Sierra Nevada hills will bound our trade eastward, and we shall find ourselves like Portugal locked in between the ocean and the Sierra, with a limited trade and limited political influence. It seems a pity that San Francisco cannot produce one man who has breadth of statesmanship enough to recognize this fact, and boldness enough to give the fact utterance. It is shameful that the press is cowardly, mercenary, selfish and stupid; that it is left to an "obscure literary paper of limited circulation" to announce what every one ought to know; and the most absurd thing of all is the howling of the jackass mob at the only concern that gives labor and the only men who spend money generously. If the community—of course we mean that portion of it that is disinterested and intelligent—would consider this work that the Southern Pacific Railroad is now doing, and its relation to the future prosperity of San Francisco; would contemplate in all its bearings the effect of a new transcontinental road, owned and operated in the interests of this city, it would be convinced that it is the most important enterprise ever undertaken on this coast. If Tom Scott could be permitted to accomplish the building of a road to San Diego, to be controlled by him in the interest of Eastern capital, it would strike a most serious blow at San Francisco. Thanks to the enterprise of Gov. Stanford and his associated railroad builders, this danger is now indefinitely postponed. The time will come when our citizens will understand and appreciate this contest for railroad supremacy; when they they will do justice to the railroad men of this coast and give them a credit well deserved, but now withheld, under the influence of demagogy in politics, bigotry in journalism, jealousy in business circles and ignorance among the masses.—*S. Antidote for Mercury and Lead Poisoning.

A Belgian scientific jury has just awarded to M. Melsens a prize of 10,000f, founded by Dr. Guinard as a reward for the best contribution for the intellectual or material amelioration of the working classes. This decision was arrived at after an examination of Melsen's remedy for combating the poisonous effects produced by the above named metals, and to which those classes of workingmen who have to do with them are dangerously exposed. The remedy which Melsens clearly demonstrates to be efficacious in curing chronic cases of such poisoning, where the substance has accumulated in the system, and for preventing the occurrence of poisoning from these sources is the iodide of potassium. The affections of the organs involved by the disease depend upon the presence therein of insoluble metallic compounds; the iodide of potassium transforms these into soluble compounds, and effects the removal from the system. The iodide has long been considered to be of itself a dangerous substance. Melsens claims that it is quite inoffensive, if it be perfectly pure and if administered prudently at first, in small doses which may be gradually increased. The effect of the administration of strong doses of the iodide to persons suffering from mercury or lead poisoning is to bring about the formation of a soluble double salt, which will be eliminated by the secretions of the body. The sulphate of lead, as well as the carbonate, which are both but very slightly soluble in water, are nevertheless poisonous, as are all the other insoluble compounds of lead. All these bodies are eliminated by the iodide of potassium, which relieves the system of the toxical agent and prevents its disposition in the organs when the remedy is administered in suitable doses. Mr. Melsens' interesting and most valuable observations have also been recognized and rewarded by the award of the Monthyon prize of the Institute of France.

HINTS TO TEACHERS.—Superintendent Doty, of Chicago, publishes in the Educational Weekly 98 hints to teachers. A teacher who would pause to study the two columns of good advice, would have no time to ascertain the average age of the youngest pupil and compare it with the per cent. of the weight of the tallest pupil, and report the result to the Superintendent. What our public schools really need, in order to render them more nearly what the people would like to see them, is more advice to the teachers; maxims by the cart-load; more rules; more regulations; more averaging and percenting of individual pupils as to age, weight, sex, moral bias and previous condition of servitude. Whenever we see a Superintendent unloading a bulk cargo of proverbial advice upon a lot of teachers who work six hours a day in school and seven or eight out of it, we say: "There is an officer who is earning his salary."—Burlington Hawkeye.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 30.....1878.

WE believe the present administration of land affairs is the most corrupt this country has ever been cursed with. The rich land thief has only to nod to this Commissioner Williamson to get any favorable order or decison required, no matter whether it is to steal a land office, affirm the right of non-residents to enter a section each of "desert" land, transfer title the next day for $2 50 to a boss grabber, or turning hundreds of settlers adrift that he may patent their homes to swell the principality of some Spanish grant thief. Look at this last outrage: Los Bolsas, located near Anaheim, was years ago confirmed as a valid Spanish grant, with metes and bounds definitely established. Now Williamson tells its owners they may open their lines and take in 12,000 additional acres of highly improved lands, the homes of full 300 settlers! Our land department is surely corrupt from bottom to top, else Secretary Schurz is too honest, too much of a fool to have the control of so many rascally underlings from Williamson down.

THE New York Mining Stock Circular, in comparing the profits from various branches of industry in the United States last year, calls attention to the fact that in 1877 the mines doing business in San Francisco, and one mine doing business in New York—the Ontario—paid as much in dividends as all the railroads doing business in New York, although the investment represented by the mines was not a tithe of that represented by the railroads. The average total assessments levied on mines owned in San Francisco the past five years were $9,706,800. The average annual production from those mines was about $75,000,000. In a word, while other leading industries have been losing not only profits but principal in the crush of values to a gold basis, precious metal mining, having never left the gold basis, has increased both principal and profit, and to-day finds it better established and more successful than ever before.

A NEW section of country now beginning to attract the attention of capitalists and miners is in Fresno county, between the Fresno and San Joaquin rivers, commencing from the foothills, about twenty miles northeast from Madeira, Borden and Fresno on the Southern Pacific Railroad, and extending into the Sierra Nevadas to the summit, a distance of fifty miles from the base of the range. The principal developments so far have been made in the vicinity of Fine Gold Gulch, about thirty-five miles northeast of Madeira and seventy miles southwest of Bodie.

THE polygamous wives of Utah have held a mass meeting to counteract the petition recently set forth by the "Gentile" ladies who wish to have the evil checked. The petition held that plural marriages were too horrible to be spoken of in detail, while the resolutions of the mass meeting were especially strong in favor of such marriages. The conflict is essentially between the women.

CREED HAYMOND of Sacramento is credited with the following criticism on the work of the Constitutional Convention thus far, one-half the allotted time of which has been consumed: "The Convention has made a good beginning; the Convention has abolished the grand jury, emasculated the petit jury, established the whipping post, muzzled the press and choked off free speech."

THE Visalia Delta is now printed on a "steam cylinder power press"—which for a name is slightly tautological—and if things go right the paper is to be considerably enlarged about the beginning of the new year. We are truly glad to note these evidences of our contemporary's prosperity, for the Delta is as good a country paper and as deserving as any we know of.

THE Memphis Appeal lost during the epidemic, a bookkeeper, eight compositors and ten men from the press-room; while sixteen members of the families of employés died. The Avalanche lost its business manager, two editors, five compositors, two pressmen, a porter and two carriers, and the Ledger four compositors.

THE St. Louis Globe-Democrat says: Mr. Grant will be the next Republican candidate for President, and his election will be as certain as fate. The Grant movement is booming strong.

THE bullion product of the Black Hills for the year 1877 was very nearly $4,000,000, and will not fall short of $8,000,000 for the present year.

UPWARDS of 17,000 tons of grain, worth at present rates nearly $600,000, is now in store in four warehouses at Livermore, Alameda county.

THE CONVENTION.

No proposition yet offered for the new Constitution has elicited so much adverse criticism as Judge Fawcett's amendment to the libel law. Every paper in the State, except two or three, that has expressed an opinion in regard to this amendment, denounces it in very strong terms. On account of this unanimity of press opposition to this one clause, we consider it a foregone conclusion that the new Constitution containing it will never be ratified by the people. The amendment is to the effect that in all libel suits the jury are to consider the facts only, the right to interpret the law being left with the Judge solely. This, of itself, would not, as we look at it, be so objectionable but for this additional fact: Such suits must be tried by County Judges only, and the decision of such Court is final—no appeal can be taken, no matter how obviously wrong or unjust the interpretations of law by which alone conviction might be possible. Any Constitution that makes a County Court a court of last resort, and, especially, in cases of such possible vital importance to country as well as individuals, as may be involved in a press libel suit, ought to be beaten on sight—and so will this one be unless this obnoxious amendment is re-amended in regard to this last restriction if no other.

A warm contest is going on over an amendment to section 18 of the report of the Committee on Corporations. It provides that where and when a railway lowers its rates of transportion to kill off a rival line of carriers, said rates shall never again be raised above such lowered rates. The oppositien to this amendment is bitter and strong, consequently it may be beaten; yet it has a good backing, Col. Ayers, of Los Angeles, at the head. There are two sides to this question, of course. It is possible, for instance, that both the original and opposition lines might reduce rates so much in prosperous times that neither could live through a subsequent season of dull times, therefore both be forced to permanently suspend, to the country's loss. But such possibilities are too unlikely to occur to be worth a moment's thought. In fact we have not noted a single argument on that side but what is equally specious, most of them decidedly puerile, not to say pettifogging in scope. This amendment covers the most perfect "live and let live" curb upon "soulless" corporations ever yet devised. It deprives them of not one right or privilege, yet gives absolute protection to people's rights. It simply protects the weak against the strong, yet without robbing the latter of any of its strength. It fairly guarantees rightful and legitimate enterprise from being smothered to death even before it fairly breathes, by corporation monsters. It does the same in protecting the poor teamster who hauls freight alongside a railway at the latter's own figures if he chooses, that the common law vouchsafes the unarmed traveler against brigands—equal rights to all, no interference even with those of the brigand till he first denies equal rights of unmolested travel to such as he may be able to overpower. It proposes to aid in building up the country by removing the monopoly's deathly shadow from every independent transportation enterprise proposed for and so essential to such result. Such a clause would have kept life in the Santa Monica railroad, given Los Angeles the privilege of two seaports and benefits of cheaper ocean freights, now imperiously denied them; more, it would in fair probability have insured the completion of the L. A. and I. R. R. right to this valley long ere this. It gives a living chance for competing roads and enterprises all through the country, not one of which dare be undertaken in all this broad State for fear of Stanford's overslaughing millions. The very Delegates who cavil loudest against this fair and perfectly impartial safeguard, voted for that stool pigeon, decoy duck State Railroad Commissioner clause referred to in an extract elsewhere in this issue; a sop for the people, but no more capable, that Commission, of commanding equal rights between people and corporations than three suits of Commissioner clothes stuffed with pulu: at least as compared to this other plan which merely says trade may seek its own channels—that the golden eagle shall not make bait of the silver quarter.

The "only victory ever won by the people," as Delegate Heiskel exultingly exclaimed, was the adoption, by a close vote, of Judge Terry's amendment by which "directors and trustees of corporations and joint stock associations shall be jointly and severally liable to the creditors and stockholders for all moneys embezzled or misappropriated by the officers of such corporation or joint stock association during the term of such directors or trustees." This is certainly a victory. Scoundrelism in the management of savings banks, insurance companies, and all such, will become a little less popular.

One of the worst mistakes of this Convention was, we think, its violation of law and usage in admitting Faweett, a District Judge, to membership. It is noticeable that his claims to a seat were advocated by nearly every lawyer in the Convention; but among the very few exceptions among them holding the opposite view, was our Delegate, Mr. Reddy. His views and vote on that issue does him infinite credit as a lawyer and consistent upholder of the law, the more so on account of the formidable array of legal talent opposed to him.

The Cost of a Mine Patent.

What it costs to obtain a patent for a mining claim and the preliminary steps required, are thus clearly set forth by a well informed correspondent of the New York Mining Record:

1. The miner must find a vein or lode of silver-bearing ore, or other metals or minerals, survey and mark his boundaries, and file a copy of his notice for record in the mining district in which his claim is situated.

2. He must perform $100 worth of work and improvements annually until a patent is issued therefor, and before this is done he must have performed five hundred dollars' worth of work and improvements upon the vein or lode he asks to have patented; and in addition to these requirements let us enumerate in detail the cost of obtaining this patent, or absolute title, as follows:

Deposit for Application of Survey in Surveyor-General's Office..	$25 00
Two certified and sworn to copies of record from district office...	6 00
One certified and sworn to copy of district by-laws..... ...	10 00
Abstract of title.....	5 00
Deposit in U. S. Land Office.....	10 00
Publishing notice in the newspaper	40 00
Certificate of no suit pending.....	3 00
Making out the different affidavits for application for patent.....	25 00
Notary Public fees.....	8 00
Proof posting and having posted diagram and notice 60 days....	25 00
Price of ground ($5) per acre 1,500 by 600 feet.....	55 00
Cost of survey.....	100 00
Value of labor, etc., required by statute.....	500 00
Cost of finding vein, marking boundaries, etc.....	300 00
Total cost of claim patented..$1.103 00

The foregoing exhibit may be termed the minimum expense by which a patent or absolute title can be acquired to a mining claim, while the maximum expense incurred by the farmer in obtaining a homestead title to 160 acres of agricultural land need not exceed $100. —Virginia Chronicle.

It is well to note that there at least two important items of expense in the above that are not properly chargable to the expense of patenting. The first of them is the $500 for preliminary work; if it is a mine at all, that is an expense that must follow no matter whether the mine is patented or not. Next is the foolish item of $300 for "finding vein and marking boundaries." It would be just as sensible to charge to the patenting account the cost of a first-class mill to work the ores. The "well-informed correspondent" over-states the necessary cost of obtaining a patenl not less than $800.

THE New York Herald's Ottawa correspondent of Nov. 20 says: It is reported that the Canadian Government has authorized Province Minister Tilley and Sir A. T. Galt to press upon the notice of the Imperial authorities the importance of aiding the Canadia Pacific railroad with a grant of £6,000,000 on the ground that the work is one of Imperial concern. It is understood that Beaconsfield is not indisposed to help the undertaking, under certain conditions—one being that the amount contributed by Great Britain shall be employed west of the Rocky Mountains.

FOLLOWING is the Bulletin's recapitulation of the October product of the thirty-six Pacific coast mines: Gold mines, $612,448; gold, with silver, $309,106: gold with lead, $149,966; total gold, $10,715 20. Silver mines, $494,308; silver with gold, $362,953; silver with lead, $223,181; total silver, $108,532; value of lead, $98,126; total silver, $22,500 78. This is the smallest aggregate for the year, being $100,000 less than in September.

A NARROW-GAUGE railroad, running from Plattsburgh seventeen miles into the wilds of New York, will be ready for traffic by the first of next month. Clinton Prison is the present terminus; the intention is to extend it among the iron mines of the John Brown tract. It has been built cheaply, running around sharp curves and over heavy grades to avoid expense of grading. Convicts did much of the labor.

PROF. HUXLEY recently lectured before the Workingmen's College in London on the human hand, and took occasion to remark that Topsey was scientifically quite right when she "spected" that she "growed." He says it is a misuse of language to say that people are made.

THE indebtedness of four firms to the Bank of Glasgow was $28,950,000. The value of their securities is put down at about $7,500,000. The first call on the stockholders will be $2,500 for every $500 of stock.

FROM the 1st to the 9th instant, inclusive, there was shipped from Bodie $42,176 37 in bullion, of which $22,579-25 was from the Bodie mine, and $1,597 12 from the Standard.

The Yoakums in Court.

The District on Monday presented something of the scene shown at the meeting of the Court last May. The Yoakums were brought to the bar, and sitting on the same bench was the widow of the murdered man Tucker, and Mrs. Burdett, who sat on the wagon seat with Johnson when he was shot. Both were dressed in deep black. W. J. Yoakum, the older brother, showed little change from his long confinement, and did not seem embarrassed in the presence of the crowd and the witnesses arrayed against him. The younger brother's face was somewhat whitened by his long incarceration. He turned his eyes away from the veiled faces of his accusers, and directed his attention to the Court. On the cases being called Judge Campbell moved the Court for a continuance on the ground that Judge Terry, one of the counsel for the defendants, was a member of the Convention, and was necessarily absent at Sacramento. It was suggested that abundant other counsel were engaged in the defense, and absence of counsel at Sacramento could not be material. The jury had been summoned, the witnesses for the prosecution were at hand and delay would occasion great sacrifice to them and the county. The matter was left over till after recess. On the second meeting of the Court the counsel for the prisoners were called but none responded. The District Attorney then stated that he had been informed that all the local counsel for defendants, Messrs. Campbell, Colby and Calhoun, had withdrawn from the case, and the prisoners' only remaining counsel was in Sacramento. He then argued that the Court could not appoint counsel, and there was no other course left but to continue the case until after the Convention. The Court then fixed January 13 for the trial, and made an order for a venire of 125 jurors returnable on that day.—Bakersfield Courier.

THE bondsmen of S. J. Lansing, the defaulting deputy County Treasurer and bank robber, were released from their liabilities by the action of the Supervisors at their last meeting. Lansing, it is alleged, died of remorse at Shanghai. The Courier says the costly search of the bondsmen was only suspended when it was found he had passed beyond human reach by death. The crime, the flight from the home of his widowed mother and the pursuit prostrated Lansing within a few days after his landing in a foreign country. The misery of his condition made it impossible for him to rally, and within two days after being taken to the hospital he became delirious, and never regained consciousness. Before that time his attendant saw that his wretchedness was of the mind rather than of the body, and sought to soothe him with hopes of restoration to his friends. He found him impatient of everything but death. His desire to live was utterly lost. The keenness of his distress was more than he could bear. He was a beggar, but he begged only for his grave.

"HERE is a shoe shop," remarks Bob Ingersoll in one of his speeches. "One man in the shop is always busily at work during the day—always industrious. In the evening he goes courting a good, nice girl. There are five other men in the shop who don't do any such a thing. They spend half their working hours in loafing and their evenings in dissipation. The first young man by-and-by cuts out from the others and gets a shoe store of his own. Then he marries this girl. Soon he is able to take his wife out for a ride of an evening. The five laborers, his companions, who see him indulging in this luxury, retire to a neighboring saloon and pass a resolution that there is an eternal struggle between labor and capital."

EVERY trade has its own peculiarities, and every one should always be ready to learn that which would be of advantage to him in the successful prosecution of his work. Dressmakers might profit by following the business sagacity and enterprise of a dressmaker across the the ocean. The story goes that an Italian princess, who is about to be married, has had her trousseau made in Paris. It order to let her know how to wear her dresses and what to put on under them, the dressmaker has sent with each toilet a little doll attired from head to foot exactly as the lady herself should be dressed—shoes, stockings, head-dress, gloves and every detail being reproduced in the costume of the doll.

JAMES O'BRIEN, the ex-Sheriff of New York, who was first to assist the New York Times in exposing the Tweed ring, and has ever since been the bitter opponent of Tammany, has been elected to Congress in place of Abram S. Hewitt. The latter was long since drafted into the army of incapables.

ANOTHER DEATH.—Merced county is unfortunate in her Delegates to the Convention, as Col. J. M. Strong, a member of the Convention from Mariposa and Merced, died at Sacramento on the 19th. He was appointed in the place of Geo. M. Hardwick, who died before the Convention met.

THE deaths of ministers by yellow fever foot up 63. Of these 35 were Protestants, 24 Catholics and 4 Hebrews.

"FIFTY ASSORTED CARDS." — The Iowa State Press remarks that a great many people wonder how it comes that those eastern advertisers who offer to furnish "fifty assorted cards, with your name neatly printed on them, for fifty cents," can afford to do it. The fact is they can't buy the new style of cardboard for that money, and it is nonsense to say they can or will fill orders at that price. The way it is done is: One of the amateur presses is bought at a cost of $5 to $10, with a few half fonts of type, at a cost say for the total outfit of $15. A few orders from a place are filled, and the money pocketed on all subsequent orders without any further attention to them. The sum is so small that it does not pay to squander a three cent stamp for a letter making inquiries, hence they receive little annoyance from those imposed upon. It is said that one Connecticut amateur printer has made $5,000 out of this swindling business. Such advertisements as the above are to be seen in many papers, even in such reliable ones as the Scientific American. Don't fool your money away by sending to such dead beats as such advertisers prove to be in ninety-nine cases in a hundred.

JAMES MILLER started with his family for the far West from Ohio, traveling in an emigrant wagon drawn by two horses. In Missouri one of his horses died, and he stole another to replace it. He was arrested, convicted and sentenced to eight years' imprisonment. Lately his term expired and he resumed his journey, his family having lived in the neighborhood of the prison while waiting for his release.

GUIDE TO MONO COUNTY MINES.—Mr. Jos. Wasson has just published a complete guide to the Mono county mines, giving a description of Bodie, Esmeralda, Indian, Lake, Laurel Hill, Prescott and other mining districts, with maps and illustrations. It is a new edition of his work on Bodie and Esmeralda, containing much later and fuller information and a great deal of new matter on other districts. It is in pamphlet form. The object of the present publication, which is merely supplementary to the one in question, is to give a more complete description of the mining region of which Bodie is the chief center of attraction at present. Several new districts have been organized, and one or more old ones brought to the point which give promise of important results. These additional notes were gathered during a prospecting tour through Mono and Inyo counties, and will be of great service to those contemplating a trip in that direction next Spring. The little pamphlet is well written and the information given in condensed form. It is of great value to all mining men—either those interested in mines or stocks.—Scientific Press.

FRIENDS of the late W. C. Ralston have petitioned the court for a guardianship of his property and the person of his wife. Since his death she is reported to have spent $130,000 of the estate, traveling with a princely retinue in Europe.

SEASONS AND PROSPECTS.—The season now upon us is somewhat remarkable, rain, fogs and sunshine in alternate days. Rains at the city of Sacramento, and other counties, and white frosts at several places in higher latitudes, of late all indicate that we are near to the rainy season, and it will be well if all are prepared for it, for we shall have the stormy season soon, and they that are caught can blame no one but themselves. We are now enjoying a season called Autumn, or Harvest moon season, soon, however, to be changed. Our farmers are at work with plow and harrow, putting in their grain in dry soil, a larger area of grain will be planted than ever before, in spite of the cry that grain growing don't pay. What other country or what other city in the world can show in the public streets on the fruit stands in the month of November at Thanksgiving time, a rich display of strawberries and rasberries such as we show in San Francisco? And were it not that mad speculation and mad politicians imperiled our prosperity all would look bright—we hope our farmers, grangers, one and all, will avoid the rocks we named, and plow, plant, reap and enjoy the fruit of their own labors.—California Farmer.

THE MINER.—Every day the miner is becoming a more important unit of the community. The Scientific Press says: West of the Rockies no one is doing more at the present time to banish "hard times" than the miner. He furnishes work for the foundries when steamship companies are so broken that they cannot send in orders. He calls for supplies, when in every other direction the market seems to be glutted and the provision men are blue. He employs labor in building railroads, and while these are under way he keeps numberless teamsters busy on the road transporting his ore. Even the lawyer finds employment from the miner. And last, but not least, the needy editors come in for a share. A mining camp gets a boarding house and a saloon, and then it is prepared for a newspaper. The miner is doing all this for the country at present. He is the life of all markets. And any man who is cunning enough to set his sail according to the wind will address his efforts to the service of the miner.

A SURGICAL operation occurred a few days ago in Council Bluffs with very peculiar results. A gentleman from California arrived at one of the hotels in that city and complained of a peculiar tingling sensation on the right side of his face. A physician was called and the knife applied to a tender spot on his face, and eighty-five living worms, from a quarter to an inch in length, were removed. The doctor gave it as his opinion that the frightful specimens had had but a few days active life, or they would have ruined the victim's face.—Iowa Republican.

THE captain of the ill-fated Pomerania was on the bridge three days and nights before she was run down in a fog, his anxiety keeping him at his post for this lengthy period. His conduct stands out in noble contrast to that of Howard of the Georgia, who was in the midst of a drunken carouse in his state-room when his vessel struck.—S. F. Chronicle.

SAM HALSEY KILLED.—The following account, which we take from the Bodie Standard of the 25th, relates to a man well and favorably known throughout this section, particularly in the Lida Valley and Gold Mountain regions, across the Inyo range: "The community were startled this morning by news received by telegraph, of the killing of Sam Halsey, who was a candidate for District Attorney of Esmeralda county, Nevada, at the last election, by Bill Pierce, a saloon keeper in Sweetwater, at which place the deed was done. As we gather from the news at hand, Halsey stopped at Pierce's saloon and a controversy was held over a debt of two bits, which the latter claimed was due him for drinks there. After some talk, reported as belligerent on Pierce's part, Halsey went laughingly to the door to mount his horse, and was about doing so when the saloon keeper pulled his revolver, fired and shot the unfortunate Halsey dead. Pierce then mounted a horse and rode away, and at last accounts was at large with the law officers in swift pursuit. As the matter now stands, until more light is given us to see clearly, we are constrained to pronounce the act of killing as a murderous deed. Perhaps when other news come to hand a different phase may be put upon it; but, from all we can gather, the murdered man was not a quarrelsome one, and seldom, if ever, gave cause for offense to any. P. S.—Since the above was in type we hear that Pierce was arrested at Bridgeport, where he had gone during the night. He went to the telegraph office at that place and was identified by the operator, who informed the officers, who collared him and marched him off to jail. He is said to have offered no resistance, but went gently along when requested to do so."

NEW COSO FURNACE.—The large No. 3 furnace of the New Coso Company at Darwin commenced running on the 21st, blast being turned on at 8 o'clock A. M. Following are each day's results:

Date.	Ore. Tons and Pounds.	No. of Bars.	Bullion. Tons and Pounds.
Nov. 21	34- 500	158	6-1345
" 22	36-1156	193	7-1945
" 23	40- 650	209	8- 975
" 24	46- 350	283	11- 589
" 25	45-1000	192	7-1155
" 26	42- 800	206	8- 95
" 27	37-1900	162	6- 960
Total	283- 150	1,403	56-1064

The mine is reported as looking well in the bottom, very good ore now being extracted.

THE ECLIPSE.—We refer to the Brown Monster mining property—now being energetically opened and developed under the general management of Capt. Eudey—by its old and better known name of the Eclipse. A strong force is engaged in extracting ore under contract, and the dumps are piled full of much richer ore than the old mine was ever supposed to yield. A 2,000-foot steel cable has just arrived, to be used in shipping ore down from the mine to the head of the tramroad. It is stated that the mill will be started up on the 17th proximo.

BENTON BULLION.—The Comanche mill at Benton is still running on ore from the Tower mine, which is of high grade and improving as depth is attained. On the 15th instant a shipment of $10,468 53 was made, and on the 22d three bars, valued at $5,286 99, were sent. During the absence in San Francisco of Mr. Morgan, our old friend Robt. Burnham, formerly of this place, is acting Superintendent of the mines and the mill.

PURCHASING AGENT.—Our readers will note elsewhere the card of Chas. W. Crane, Esq., the popular San Francisco newspaper and purchasing agent. Mr. Crane has for a long time faithfully and most satisfactorily represented the interests of THE INDEPENDENT concern in both capacities, and from experience we can give him an unqualified indorsement. He will attend to all purchases, from a needle to a threshing machine.

FOR CHRISTMAS.—We have never said anything about the Thanksgiving Day just passed, nor turkeys or anything of that sort—but sealed proposals will be received at this office for the surrender of Inyo County birds (of the issue of 1878) up to the 24th day of December, A. D. 1878. The right to reject any or all bids is not reserved in the case of delinquent subscribers.

FANDANGO.—The annual big dance or Fall blowout of the Indians has just been closed at George's Creek, where an unusual number of them have been congregated for the past week. During his regular season of revelry—dance, gambling and whisky—the average aborigine gets right up on his royal dignity when proffered a job of work.

FREIGHT.—There continues a steady shipment of freight through town from the railroad to the towns to the northward. Bishop Creek and Lake District receive the most of it, though considerable has gone to Benton for George Rowan's new store.

ELECTION.—At the next stated meeting of Inyo Lodge No. 221, F. & A. M., to be held on Saturday evening next, will be held the annual election of officers to serve for the ensuing Masonic year.

BANKRUPT.—In the County Court on Wednesday last L. Lasky was adjudged a bankrupt, and Nathan Rhine, representing the principal creditors below, was appointed Assignee.

BILLIARDS.—Billy Hutchins has lately enlarged and refurnished his saloon at Bishop Creek, and added a fine billiard table to its attractions. See his new advertisement.

The School Exhibition at Bishop Creek.

MESSRS. EDITORS—Last Thursday evening was given at this place an exhibition by the scholars of the public school here, conducted by the teacher Mrs. Howell, who deserves much credit for her excellent instructions to the juvenile corps of actors, each of whom deserves praise and commendation in their several rolés. As it would make too long an article to write of all the good things that were said and done, I can do no better, perhaps, than to give the programme in full, which will somewhat show the rich treat, both grave and gay, that was presented on the occasion:

The exhibition opened with prayer by the Rev. Mr. Case; singing by the class, "Joyfully On;" opening address, "Greeting," Eddy Schober; recitations by William Moore and Fannie Clark; "What a Good Man I Will Be," Davie Hull; "Children's Wishes: In God We Trust;" recitations by John Clark, Georgie Drake, Ira Clark and Mary Garland; "Child's Prayer," Sissie Clark; "Contradiction," dialogue: Mamie Clark, as Grandmother, Agnes Ford as Mary Sedman; "The Turkey and the Goose;" declamation, Rudolph Schober; "Be Happy As We Can," Mary Steadman; "Paddle Your Own Canoe," Willie Clark; "Hold Up Your Head, Like a Man," Jake Schober; Tableau, "The Three Graces:" song by the class, "Hail to the Queen of Night;" "The Noble Six Hundred," Frank Inman; comic dialogue, Frank and Charles Hull; Bridal (bridle) Scene; "The Young Lawyer," Willie Hull; recitations by Agnes Ford, Eddie Clark and one by Miss Viola Tull, "Bashful Lover;" dialogue: "Money Matters," Lily Drake, Emily Hull and Sophia Schober; song, "Old Man's Drunk Again," Miss Viola Tull; comic address, Milford Hull; song, "Beautiful Mabel Clare," Mamie Clark and Mary Steadman, chorus by the class; Tableau: "Goddess of Liberty;" recitation by Mary McCrosky; "In Search of a Wife," Willie Hull; Bishop Creek scene, "A Fair Fight;" comic recitation by Eliza McCroskey; dialogue, "Curiosity," Hattie Lee, Mary McCrosky and Laura Hull; "Flower (flour) of the Family;" "I've got that Bashful Lover of Mine," Miss V. Tull; "The Rival Orators," Paul and Charles Powers, "Belle of the Town," Mamie Clark; dialogue scene, "Old and New," Willie Hull and Robert Peeler. Concluding with a recitation by Lily Drake, "Barbara Freitchie."

The entire programme was well rendered, and many of the pieces were received with rounds of applause, and Miss V. Tull, who sang and played on the dulcimer, was encored. Among those who may deserve special mention are, Sissie Clark in the "Child's Prayer," Mamie Clark and Agnes Ford in the contradictory dialogue, and Willie Clark in the abridged version, thus:

"If you will listen I'll tell you something true, Mind your own business, and paddle your own canoe."

The song of "Mabel Clare" was beautifully sung and received with applause. Also the dialogue on "Money Matters" was greeted with much glee and approbation. The "Rival Orators" was admirably rendered as was the "Young Lawyer." Miss Lilly Drake gave an excellent rendition of the poem "Barbara Freitchie," and was received with applause.

Too much praise can hardly be awarded to Mrs. Howell for the interest she has taken in the getting up of this exhibition, the object of which is to purchase an organ for the Sunday-School, and the more so as she is not a resident of this place, and may never have the pleasure of listening to the sweet tones of the instrument she has done so much towards getting. Music is said to be the oil on the wheels of life, and here in this isolated valley among the hills there is need of more of this that has power to soothe the mind and smooth the roughness of life's pathway for both old and and young.

There was a fine supper set at the school house, where all were regaled at 50 cents a head. L. H.

QUERY—Is it the most laudable way of expending the public money and a school teacher's time in getting up theatricals for special purposes? Does not the taking up of so much time and the taxing of the children's memories with that which is of little use or practical knowledge, as are the various recitations they are taught to repeat, a detriment or a hinderance to the actual knowledge they should attain? L.

THE ÆTNA FOUNDRY.—It may be that some of our readers will have occasion to send to San Francisco to get some machine or foundry work done. If so, we advise them not to entrust such work to Messrs. Pendergast & Smith, the gentlemen who run the Ætna Foundry, No. 20 Fremont street. According to our experience with that institution they will keep the order on file for months, without either attempting to fill it or showing courtesy enough to decline it in toto. Neither will they take even the trouble to answer a respectful letter of inquiry as to what has become of such order, though not made until weeks have grown into months. When, as the result of one or two personal visits of resident friends interested in having the work done or refused, one or the other, they finally undertake it, they pay no attention to important instructions, yet do not forget to make exorbitant charges; all this at the end of three months instead of but a few days, in which they could have filled this order or, as before stated, declined it as requested, and thereby saved the chief party in interest a great deal of annoyance if not a very considerable pecuniary loss, occasioned by this unreasonable and unexpected delay. We say again don't send your orders to the aforesaid Pendergast & Smith, Ætna Foundry, unless you are willing to take the chances of being bilked, as we have been by that same establishment.

KEARSARGE.—Workmen at the Kearsarge are engaged in putting in the pipes and the blower for the ventilation of the long tunnel.

A "Liar," Etc.—"Buster" Excoriated.

BENTON, Nov. 27.

MESSRS. EDITORS—My attention was called to an insertion in the columns of your paper, dated Nov. 23, headed "A Letter From Bodie," and subscribed to by one "Buster," wherein said "Buster" accuses a young candidate for future honors (with a blanco moustache) of beating him out of $1 90, an overcharge on baggage. I was acting as stage agent at Bishop Creek, in the absence of Mr. B. A. Crowell, at the time the gentleman claims to have booked for Aurora, and as I am well satisfied that no one was beat out of a cent during the time I was acting in the capacity of agent, I take it upon myself to denounce the accusation as a malicious fabrication, and Mr. Buster as an unprincipled liar, and defy him to prove his assertions. Yours, etc.

T. G. KELTY.

CONCERNING THE UNION CON.—As our readers will remember a suit was proposed a short time ago to compel the Union Con., at Cerro Gordo, to show cause why the late assessment was put on. It was believed that assessment was simply a move to freeze out certain stockholders, particularly those of the original San Felipe company. It was also believed that for months previous ore had been systematically covered up, and a good deal of dead work was being done, apparently for no other reason than to make this assessment a necessity, and for the above purpose. The grounds for this latter assumption seemed so well sustained in various ways as to be accepted as conclusive by almost all in this section having any knowledge of the facts. It was thought this proposed suit in the interest of dissatisfied stockholders would throw much needed light on the mooted points. But the suit, or suits, rather, were never brought, and possibly never will be. The reason may be explained in what Mr. J. B. Bonds, an extensive stockholder in what we may call the adverse interest, now tells us. He assures us that Mr. Belshaw, the acting manager of the whole business, so far from desiring to freeze out the holders of San Felipe shares, voluntarily agreed to carry their stock for them, and did and is so doing on his own responsibility. That the amount so carried or assumed by him is nearly one-half of the entire number of shares held by the so-called adverse interests. Further it was hoped and expected that a dividend would soon be declared, in which the amount, pro rata, was to be credited to the delinquent shares, and whenever such dividends equalled the assessment the stock to be returned to the original holders. Under this arrangement not a single stockholder has of necessity been "frozen out" up to this date. It is manifest that if Mr. Belshaw intended to gobble up these shares he could easily have done so before this, but as he did not, it is pretty plain something of an injustice has been done him. It was a condition of the compromise between the Union and San Felipe companies that the former would advance all necessary funds to carry on the works for a period of two years from that date; that if at the end of that time the receipts should not equal expenditures, the San Felipe stock should then pay up their share of the deficiency. The new shaft and reconstruction of the burned hoisting works cost some $70,000. But for that there would have been no occasion for this assessment. Mr. Bonds further says, after careful inquiry into the facts, that the affairs of the company have been managed with the most marked economy—about which there can be no question. From this statement of facts, so far as they go, interested parties can draw their own conclusions. Certainly we give place to things of this character with far more of pleasure than if of an opposite nature, although fully appreciating the fact that the chief manager of the Union Con. accords no great amount of friendly feeling to either this paper or this community in general.

THE Virginia Chronicle says that during the present week a very long drift, which it will require a year to finish, will be started in the Gould & Curry to connect the old workings of the mine with the Osbiston shaft. It begins at the end of cross-cut No. 3, on the 1,700 level, and will be 1,500 feet in length. This cross-cut is already in a distance of 540 feet, and the entire length of the drift when completed will be 2,040 feet. It was decided to run it from the 1,700 in order to avoid the water which gives so much trouble in the lower levels. When completed all connections with the Osbiston shaft will be made by means of winzes from this drift, and the water in the western part of the mine will be entirely separated from the new workings.

U. S. COAST SURVEYORS.—Capt. A. F. Rogers and John Muir, of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, are encamped on the vacant lot below the Consolidated boarding house, between Buel and Spring streets. These gentleman are traveling with a complete Government outfit of camp equipage and all the instruments necessary for their branch of the service. The object of their survey is to connect the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts by a system of triangulation on the 39th parallel of latitude. They left San Francisco on the 28th of June last, having as the base line of their system the distance between Mounts Diablo and St. Helena on the Coast Range of California. Since the time of leaving San Francisco they have traveled 2,500 miles, and are now en route for that city.—Eureka Sentinel.

AN immense tidal wave, six feet above the ordinary movement, has swept the whole coast of Southern California, badly damaging the wharves at Cayucas, Port Sal and Avilla, and destroying much property exposed for shipment. So far but one life is reported lost. A great earthquake has probably occurred in South America or in the South Pacific ocean.—S. F. Chronicle.

THE remains of A. T. Stewart have been recovered, and four of the five body snatchers are in custody.

FREIGHT FOR LAKE DISTRICT.—Four of Elder's big teams passed through town on Tuesday with 132,000 pounds of freight for Lake District—mostly machinery for the Mammoth Company. Bad luck attended the drivers of this train. On Friday of last week Wm. Selby had a leg broken at Elbow, and Chas. Tuggle, another driver, was so badly afflicted with erysipelas when the train arrived here that he could go no further. Ben. H. Miller, Bodie agent for Elder, met the train here and supplied new drivers.—Esmeralda Herald.

SOME one suggests that mending blue or red stockings with white yarn "makes them a darn sight too conspicuous."

A WRITER in Scribner says that it takes 7,000,000 miles of thread to hold the people of the United States in their clothes.

I kno lots of people who are trying to bull the moral market; they kan sing the ten kommandments thru their noze and not miss a note, but if they want to borrow 65 dollars ov me thay hev got to find an endorser.

Notoriety iz gained by working for the applauz of the world. Reputashun is gained by working for the applauz of ourselves.

There iz plenty ov people whose virtews are like certain trees, they blossom regularly enough but they bare no fruit.

The world iz so phull ov sin and sinners thet we often kum akrost kounterfeit lies.

THE NOBLE CHARITY.—A partial list of the public subscriptions for the yellow fever sufferers, in forty-eight cities of the United States and in Liverpool, Paris, Montreal, Mexico, Havre and ond other cities in France and Havana amounts to the respectable sum of $1,359,000. In this total are not included any of the private, religious, or society subscriptions, the aggregate of which is no doubt very large. New York properly stands at the head of the list, her contributions amounting to $375,000. If to this sum are added the subscriptions of the various churches, Masonic and other societies, and those of private individuals, which were sent directly to the yellow fever towns, the aggregate for New York no doubt would not be less than $500,000. And if similar additions are made for the other places, the whole amount contributed would be found to be not less than $2,000,000. It is not to be forgotten that even the Mexicans, whom it is the fashion among some of our people to deride, manifested a spirit of true and unostentatious charity by sending to the yellow fever sufferers a liberal subscription.

PATERNAL GOVERNMENT.—Col. Ingersoll says he keeps a pocket book in an open drawer, and his children go and help themselves to money whenever they want it. They eat when they want to, and what they want to. They may sleep all day if they choose, and sit up all night if they desire. "I don't coerce them. I never scold, never punish them. They buy their own clothes, and are masters of themselves." If the people want a paternal government they ought to elect Bob President. Just think of a pocket book always on tap! It beats all the other ideas.

AN Italian princess who is about to be married has a had trousseau made in Paris. In order to let her know how to wear her dresses and what to wear under them, the dressmaker has sent with each toilet a little doll attired from head to foot exactly as the lady herself should be dressed—shoes, stockings, shirts, head-dress, gloves, and every detail being reproduced in the costume of the doll.

Ventilation of Bedrooms.

The ventilation of bedrooms, a very important matter, is, as rule, much neglected. The circulation of the blood is not nearly so active during sleep as when awake. The Lancet has some important notes on this subject: The sleeper is entirely dependent on the atmosphere supplied to him for the means of carrying on the chemical purification and nutrition of his body. He must breathe the air that surrounds him, and he does this for a lengthy portion of each period of twenty-four hours, although it is probable that in a large majority of cases the atmosphere has become so deteriorated by the expiration of carbon and the emanations from the body generally, that if the senses were on the alert some change would be sought as a mere matter of preference.

When a person places himself in a condition to take in all air, without being able to exercise any control over its delivery, he ought to make sure that the supply will be adequate, not merely for the maintenance of life, but for the preservation of health. If a man were to deliberately shut himself for some six or eight hours daily in a close room, with closed doors and windows (the doors not being opened even to change the air during the period of incarceration), and were then to complain of headache and debility, he would be justly told that his own want of intelligent foresight was the cause of the trouble. Nevertheless, this is what the great mass of people do every night of their lives with no thought of the imprudence. There are few bedrooms in which it is perfectly safe to pass the night without something more than ordinary precaution to secure an inflow of fresh air. Every sleeping apartment should, of course, have a fire-place with an open chimney, and in cold weather it is well if the grate contains a small fire, at least enough to create an upcast current and carry of the vitiated air of the room. In all such cases, however, when a fire is used, it is necessary to see that the air drawn into the room comes from the outside of the house. By a facile mistake it is possible to place the occupant of bed-room with a fire in a closed house in a direct current of foul air drawn from all parts of the establishment. Summer and Winter, with or without fire, it is well to have a pure ingress for pure air. This should be the ventilator's first concern. Foul air will find an exit if pure air is admitted in sufficient quantities, but it is not certain pure air will be drawn in if the impure is drawn away. So far as sleeping rooms are concerned, it is wise to let in air from without. The aim must be to accomplish the object without causing a great fall of temperature or a draught. The windows may be drawn down an inch or two at the top with advantage, and fold of muslin will form a "ventilator" to take off the feeling of a draught. This, with an open fireplace, will generally suffice, and produce no unpleasant consequences even when the weather is cold. It is, however, essential that the air outside should be pure. Little is likely to be gained by letting in a fog or even a town mist.—Scientific American.

About the latest news from the Victoria Nyanza is dated in May. At that time Rev. Mr. Wilson was comfortably established at the court of King Mtesa, and in high favor. Mr. Wilson's colleagues, who had been sent out by the Nile route, when last heard from were at Khartoum. Matters in Central Africa are, however, very much disturbed. As the Egyptian Government threaten demonstrations in the South, Mtesa may proclaim war, which would be disastrous to the missionaries, whose basis is Zanzibar.

Pennsylvania tramps refuse to recognize any leader who hasn't served at least a five years' sentence in the State Prison. They are a very select lot.

GENERAL NOTES.

Now that the great swinging bridge across the East river, between New York and Brooklyn, is half way completed the city of New York declines to advance any more money to the builders, and the courts sustain the action of the city on the ground that the Legislature intended to limit the whole cost of the bridge to $8,000,000, of which New York has furnished her proportion. A good part of the money already expended has gone to line the pockets of rogues. The uncompleted bridge, as long as it remains in its present condition, will be a conspicuous monument of municipal mismanagement. The people who pay for these costly miscalculations do not seem to be discouraged by failure or the pinch of taxation. They are ready for new schemes of expenditure as fast as they are proposed.

The Judges of the Supreme Court of the United States were recently entertained with an original argument on the appeal of Reynolds, a Utah polygamist who has been convicted in the Territory of bigamy. It was contended that, as the polygamist acted conscientiously, no crime was committed, because the bigamous act lacked the evil intent which constitutes crime. Another point urged was that there was no deception used in putting the matrimonial halter on the supernumerary wives, and deception was the essence of the statutory crime. Furthermore, bigamy could not be held a crime outside of the statute, because there was nothing about it in the Ten Commandments. These ingenious suggestions might have been expected from a police court attorney, but they were probably something of a surprise to the sedate old fogies of the Supreme Court.

The State of Guatemala now offers land free of cost to immigrants who will take possession and engage in the cultivation of sarsaparilla plants and cocoa and rubber trees. A premium of $50 is paid out of the public treasury to every planter for each 1,000 trees he sets out, and $25 for the same number of sarsaparilla plants. The trade of Guatemala with England is rapidly increasing. In 1877 the imports into Guatemala from that country were $1,208,995, and the exports to England $1,073,977. In 1877 the trade of Guatemala with the United States was—imports, $495,555; exports, $1,019,428; showing a large balance against this country. Coffee is the most considerable article of export from Guatemala. The comparison of our trade with that of England shows that here, under our very noses, the British are carrying on a trade which ought to be done by ourselves.

The King of Dahomey, on the African coast, whom the English have been trying to civilize, has relapsed into his old ways. He recently attacked a village to the windward of Whydah and brought in a great number of human heads, and also many women and children captives. He has carried off a Portuguese merchant, Ignacio Myattroes, and is now detaining in custody the Portuguese Consul and seven soldiers. He obliges the soldiers to go through a variety of military maneuvers daily for his amusement. The King has re-established his grand customs, or annual human sacrifices, and within a single month over 500 persons were slaughtered.

Mr. Sothern, it is reported, will before long close his professional career in this country, but will come over every Summer to fish for salmon, a sport of which he is very fond. He owns a good deal of land in this country as well as a river. Mr. Sothern's appreciation of fun is so strong that it is said to be simply wonderful how he preserves his gravity on the stage; and he himself confesses that in "Dundreary" he has often bitten his lips until the blood came to keep from laughing with the audience.

One of our exchanges has delved into Jugulug history and discovered that the Ahkoond of Swat was the cousin of the Newab of Joonaghur, uncle of the Rajah of Kolapore, and distantly related to the Bhow Sahib Sungli. According to the St. Louis Post's recollection of the family's pedigree this is correct—though it might be added that his uncle on his father's side married a Nucsahb whose father was the Dodugger of Yumyuhm.

New discoveries of gold have been made in Siberia, near the source of the Konnisar; and a nugget of gold weighing 147 pounds, the largest ever discovered in Russia, and probably in the world, has been found on the banks of the upper Toungouska, about 100 versts above the river's mouth. Let's go.

Two parties of medical students in Vermont went out after the same corpse. The first to arrive on the ground ambushed themselves and let the second party exhume the corpse, then rushed upon them with wild shouts of, "Body snatchers!" and "Arrest them!" and when the rivals had fled carried off the corpse at their leisure.

As the British frontier has advanced in Western Asia so has the Russian frontier. The separation now is a country of about a breadth of 200 miles, with an average elevation of about 10,000 feet, with passes of 12,000 to 13,000 feet.

Fifteen to twenty murders a week is said to be the average in Texas.

The Cost for Time and Material in Killing a Cat.

It requires ten well-directed blows with an ordinary boot-jack to kill the average cat, and at the distance of a foot the chances are ten to one that you will miss the cat. If you don't believe it, try it. Secure the cat by a string one foot long, so as to give the cat plenty of play, and after a week's practice you will consider this a scant estimate for the cat. Therefore, at a distance of one foot it will require 100 boot-jacks.

But your chances of killing the cat decrease as the square of the distance increases. This is an axiom in natural philosophy and a fundamental truth in felinology. Therefore, at a distance of ten feet it will require 10,000.

Again, the force of the projectile decreases as the square of the distance increases. Ten squares equal 100; 100x 10,000, 1,000,000 equals number of boot-jacks on this count.

But then the darkness decreases the chances of a fair hit ten to one. Hence at night it would require 10,000,000 boot-jacks.

Fourthly, the Tom cat being black; decreases the chances ten to one, according to the well-known rule of optics. Fourth count, 200,000,000.

At this stage of our solution we will leave the domain of science and draw a couple of logical inferences.

First, after a man has hurled 200,000,000 boot-jacks he will be old, as we shall presently show, and very feeble. We have no means of knowing how much his projecting force would decrease or his aim fail. But a very fair allowance the chances from these two causes would decrease in the ratio of 100 to 1. Count fifth 20,000,000,000.

It is true that 20,000,000,000 boot-jacks thrown around promiscuously might afford the cat almost invincible shelter, but to save paper we'll suppose this to diminish the chances only as 10 to 1. Count six and answer, 200,000,000,000.

It is true the man might improve in his aim, but the cat would improve equally in his dodging.

Now, suppose Adam to have thrown on average 500 per day. This is a liberal estimate when we make no allowance for Sundays, "bums," mending his breeches, blowing up Eve, etc. He would have a job of 1,056,220 years. Or, suppose the weapons to contain one square foot of inch pine and six eightpenny nails. The lumber, third clear, would cost $26 per 1,000 feet, or $5,200,000,000. And the nails 15,400,000,000 pounds, at 3 cents a pound would cost $462,000,000.

These figures are startling. If ever a tomcat is killed it is by a special intervention of Divine Providence.—Indianapolis Journal.

Le Kwei, who was one of the Chinese Commissioners in Philadelphia, has written an account of his travels. The work is in four volumes, descriptive of the Exhibition, the cities in the United States and his impressions of England and Europe. Appended to the last volume is a map showing the author's route, and Le Kwei makes the following note: "And thus people will see that the shape of the earth is round, and that there can be no doubt that it is the earth which moves and not the sun."

Director of the Mint Linderman in his annual report estimates that during the last fiscal year there was produced from American mints $47,237,107 in gold, and $46,726,314 in silver. He estimates that about three millions dollars' worth of the metals were used in the arts and sciences, and about $8,000,000 exported. He estimates the whole stock of gold and silver bullion in the country at about $332,443,000.

Mr. Tilden is supposed to be in unusually robust health. At any rate, Joe Howard writes as follows: "Poor Mr. Tilden is a physical wreck. I saw him this week in the park. He is a mere shadow of his former self. He walks feebly and his paralyzed hand hangs useless at his side. His speech is thick, and careful attention is needed to understand him. He is a good liver and fond of strong drinks."

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 7.....1878.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

The leading papers seem to be pretty well agreed in the opinion that the President's message is not a particularly brilliant state document. "It lacks backbone," says one; "indicates no fixed purpose, or will of his own," observes another. As we have not yet read it at length, we may assume these exceptions to be well taken while proceeding to list the topics touched upon:

The President deplores the yellow fever visitation, recommends the establishment of a National Sanitary Commission, and hopes Congress will legalize the issuance, and pay for, the $25,000 worth of rations sent to the sufferers by the War Department; asks Congress to look into that bulldozing business in the late elections down south, and lays down the remarkable dogma that every American citizen has the right to vote as he pleases, and if it should appear that any of them have been denied this right he will have to carry out the Acts of Congress on the subject; the American exhibit at the Paris Exposition was creditable; the Fishery Award has been paid to Great Britain, but under protest; thinks the establishment of a Chinese Legation at Washington something that would be to our advantage; believes a course of agriculture and herdsmanship would be better policy for Indian control than to try to kill them off, but says nothing as to whether he thinks Schurz or Sheridan should look after them—that is, says nothing about the proposed transfer of the Indian Bureau to the War Department; nor nothing about "Moses," "Gobble," or any other cipherer; but he is satisfied, and so expresses himself at length, that Congress should encourage forest culture, or, at least, that existing forests should be preserved; the army and navy and postal service are but briefly noticed, but some sensible reforms are proposed for each; he approves Secretary Sherman's financial views highly, and, finally, is ready to carry out the wishes of Congress whatever they may be.

TEACHERS' CERTIFICATES.—No little excitement and disgust in educational circles by a recent exposé of the manner in which many teachers in this State have obtained their certificates. It seems that certain parties regularly get possession of the list of questions to be propounded to candidates, and sell them to whomsoever will buy. This has been going on for years. The prices charged vary from $200 to $250. From twenty to forty lists were thus sold every year, so that somebody has been making a very nice deal out of it. State Superintendent Carr testifies that no living soul but himself and wife ever see these lists until after they pass from his hands, duly sealed and mailed to the respective County Superintendents. To accomplish this he long since adopted the practice of printing the lists with his own hands. Nevertheless copies are secured by the thieves in some manner yet to be found out, and thus it comes that many teachers in this State have thus secured certificates they could never have won legitimately. It is to be hoped every one of them may be broken of their positions, and above all that the thieves may every one get a term in the penitentiary. It is a most disgraceful piece of business, and may well create a stir.

A DISPATCH from Berlin says Russia is about to begin a diplomatic campaign with England in relation to Afghanistan. Gen. Kaufman has handed to his Government a memorandum pointing out how dangerous to the security of the southern frontier of Turkistan it would be if the Khyber passes are permanently occupied by British troops. Gen. Kaufman regards as groundless British apprehensions of Russia threatening the northern frontier of India from Central Asia. This frontier is quite impregnable, while British occupation of Southern Afghanistan would be a standing menace to Russian Turkistan.

AT a ball given by the Knights Templar of Salt Lake City, November 28, Libby John Young, third wife of John W. Young, presented herself in an $1,800 dress for admission, but was refused on the ground that polygamous women were improper persons and would therefore not be admitted. The affair caused quite a sensation in the city.

THERE are rumors of a rich strike in the Kernville mine, Kern county, the property of Senator Jones. The Sumner Gold Mining Company, on their 160 foot level, 550 feet south of the main shaft, have found a body of ore ten feet thick, which it is said will assay from $30 to $50 per ton.

SCHURZ vs. SHERIDAN.

Bad blood exists between the Interior and War Departments. It all comes of the blunt way Gen. Sheridan has of telling truths. In his official report he said Indian affairs were managed in a very rascally manner. Hon. Schurz, as the responsible head of that branch of the public service, takes such charges to heart, and while challenging the Gen. to bring on his proofs and specifications, has the astounding effrontery to pretend to doubt the truth of the allegations generally. Of course, if he is sincere in this belief, he would also take up the cudgel at once in defense of the other branch of public service, the land department, of which he is the head, if some official was to tell him the truth about it, namely, that its list of officers embraced in proportion to numbers almost as many first class thieves as the Indian department itself. But we have no high official like Gen. Sheridan to tell him of the doings of his underlings in the land robbing branch, so it is possible he may be honest in thinking there is not so much rascality in that service as the newspapers try to make out. But when he, or any man of mature years, proposes to go to war in defense of the integrity of Indian agents from the days of Gen. Beale, over here at the Tejon Agency, down to the last of his own appointees, he makes himself ridiculous — makes people think his mind is out of balance; that he was never within a hundred miles of an Indian agency, or had confidential talk with any disinterested man who had been. Otherwise, he would know that in the Far West where folks know a few things the title, "Indian Agent," is the vernacular synonym for a thrifty thief, the same as "road agent" is for a stage robber. The Secretary is quite too ignorant if he don't know that a real, live Indian agent considers it a reflection on his business capacity for a near friend to tell him he won't make anything but his fixed salary out of his office. Why, it is believed to be a matter of friendly emulation among the more experienced agents which can draw the biggest lot of government rations the year through for the smallest number of living wards. One that can't thus manage to pocket the proceeds of at least one ration in every two during ten months out of twelve would not be admitted to social equality by other members of the fraternity. Neither could he retain his position long if he did less than that because of the smallness of the "divy" he could make with those who procured his appointment.

No doubt but Secretary Schurz thinks he is doing the right thing in his efforts to vindicate the Indian service, and in opposing its transfer to the War Department. No doubt, either, but he is really an honest man, and would frown severely on any of his subs were they fairly caught in a steal of consequence. But it is manifest his is altogether a too confiding nature to have the control of the two most corrupt branches in the public service, Land and Indian. He ought to be relieved of one or the other forthwith, just to save his own reputation. It isn't for any one man, unless he is an experienced detective, to keep his eye on so many artful dodgers all at once. They crowd around him too thickly for him to be able to see any one of them with particularity. Scores of Indian agents or their agents and contractors, inspectors of Indian supplies and others of like character and interests, have had the Secretary and loose Congressmen in hand for weeks past with the view of preventing the proposed transfer of the Indians to the control of the military, which transfer would take bread from the mouths of all that heterogeneous crowd. Of course they make their chief see things in a light peculiarly their own; hence his exceptions to the General's report, which exceptions seem so very absurd to Western people; hence, also, the bitterness of the impending conflict in relation to the transfer.

There is another circumstance that may have confirmed the Secretary in his present views: Congress appointed a committee of their number to come out West to investigate Lo in his native wilds. These Congressmen, with wives, daughters and lady friends, about a dozen all told, arrived in San Francisco six weeks ago, all with their wigs and switches safely in place, for they came straight through in the hotel car. In the city they found one little Injun, so, with him, they begun their duties at once. They got this little Injun into a room at the Palace hotel and had him execute the war dance according to the traditions of his tribe. The committee stood bravely by the ladies the whole time, so the little Injun made no hostile demonstrations at all, luckily for him. But the committee thought it best to investigate a little further before closing their report on the whole Indian question, so, keeping well together, they went among the savages whose stronghold is at the Cliff House; learning not enough to quite fill a book there, they went thence to the Geysers, and then straight home again to Washington, so as to have time enough to fix up their bills and report in writing for Congress, and verbally to the Secretary, that the latter might have official authority in his position that Western Indians are far better managed and happier under the control of his department than would be possible under the military. This account of that committee's operations is no stretch of fancy—nor any of the rest of these remarks, for that matter.

THE Tribune's Washington special says: Representative Page, intends on the first day of the coming session to introduce a resolution for the reapportionment of Representatives in Congress from the States of Mississippi, Louisiana and South Carolina, based upon the actual voting population of these States. Page has been giving close attention to recent occurrences in the South, especially since it has become notorious that a large number of citizens of legal age in the States named have been denied their constitutional rights of suffrage, and considering the best method of correcting the wrong which will be done by admitting from the South the full quota of Representatives, in whose election only a minority of the citizens were allowed to participate. But the trouble with the mover of this is that (if the San Francisco Chronicle don't lie about him) he bought his own election, therefore shouldn't throw stones.

THE Kern County Court actually imposed the enormous fine of $150 on that murderous Fitzgerald who shot Nellie Harrison three times in an effort to kill her, because she would not go back to San Francisco with him. If they don't have reasonable juries over there in Bakersfield we don't know where such are to be found—a verdict of simple "assault," with a penalty of $150 in a case where a murderous pimp fires three shots at his helpless mistress and hits her every time—$50 a shot—proves they do have reasonable—or purchasable—juries in Kern county.

AT the municipal election in Los Angeles on the 2d, the Workingman's ticket took everything by an average majority of 600. They elect Toberman for Mayor, Godfrey for City Attorney, Litchtenberger for Treasurer, Hamilton for Tax Collector, Bilderain for Assessor, Widney and Smith members of the Board of Education, and nine of the fifteen Councilmen. This success of the new party affords food for thought for future Democratic candidates in this district, inasmuch as Los Angeles has always heretofore given heavy Democratic majorities.

ON the night of November 29 Orson Hyde, one of the Twelve Apostles of the Mormon Church, died at Spring City, Utah, of heart disease. He had been quite ill for the past six weeks, and his death was not unexpected. He was 73 years of age, and was formerly President of the Quorum of Twelve, but being somewhat rebellious was superseded upon the death of Brigham Young by John Taylor, who now holds that position.

MRS. HARRIET N. PAIST, a school director of Philadelphia, refused a bribe of $100 to vote for a young lady as school teacher. Singularly enough, it is the first case of attempted bribery that ever came to light in Philadelphia, which probably means that it was the first bribe that was ever refused. Anyway, every office-holder should Paist her name in his hat.

A FEW days ago, in a single district of Macedonia, the Turks sacked 12,000 houses and massacred their inmates, without regard to age or sex. And yet Turkey's firmest ally is Christian England, that has recently commenced forcing opium on the Japanese as she has long forced it upon China.

GEN. CROOK'S official report on Indian affairs is being mailed to the press. The substance of it is that we starve the Indians that are friendly to us, and liberally feed the Sioux that hate us. With the Indians generally, according to Gen. Crook, it is "warpath or starvation."

THE Bullion Club is the name of a new association of influential gentleman in New York city, who hope by mutual interchange of information to promote an interest in legitimate mining, and to prevent the negotiation of unworthy schemes.

THE Territorial delegation in Congress will be as follows: Democrats—Montana, Idaho, Arizona, 3; Republicans—Washington, Dakota, Wyoming, New Mexico, 4—and one Mormon from Utah.

THE slaughter of holders of stocks is doubtless about over. A small final killing was made yesterday—the last of those whose heads could be cut off. THE Enterprise comes out strong for a competing railway to this coast. The Sentinel has been advocating the same thing for five years. Both political parties in Nevada feared to antagonize the Central Pacific Railroad, and hence, neither had the courage to say a word in their late State platforms on the subject.—Eureka Sentinel.

EDISON, the great inventor, judging him from accounts that appear in the newspapers and magazines, quite realizes the popular idea of a genius—a dreamy, apparently aimless fellow, who is good for nothing in common affairs. It appears, by an article in Scribner's, that he has spoiled about everything, except inventions, he has undertaken. He started in business as a train boy, built a laboratory in the corner of a baggage car, and while experimenting with the chemicals, blew up the car. He shortly after—a few minutes after, in fact—went out of that business. Then he betook himself to the study of telegraphy; got a situation as an operator, but never could confine himself at his post, and after wrecking two or three trains was discharged. His revenge for that discharge was the invention of an instrument that has doubled the facilities of telegraphy. Certainly he approaches perilously near the usual conception of a genius—a man who is a fool in all things but one, and extraordinarily clever in that one.

THE Secretary of the Navy in his annual report says that since his former report the condition of the navy has been considerably improved. There are now in commission 28 cruising ships, one steamboat and five sailing vessels, all in condition for active service except the Gettysburg. There are six vessels, including one monitor which can be made ready for sea in a couple of months. Besides these, there are thirteen needing more extensive repairs, but all can be put in thorough condition with the present appropriations and those asked for the fiscal year. In case of necessity 91 vessels of all classes, including monitors, can be put in service.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 7.....1878.

CERRO GORDO NOTES.—Our present temporal and spiritual adviser on Buena Vista Hill furnishes the following current items: "Old Dad Moore was here last week prospecting for taxes. He got religion and 87½ cents in short bits....Our old friend Joaquin Brazil, who has been in charge of the business of Chris. Chron during Chris.' absence in Europe, left us on the 4th for the city, and doubtless in the course of three or four months will return with a Mrs. Brazil—both of whom will be welcomed, as Joaquin has many friends here....The twenty-seventh birthday of Joe Hoskins, foreman of the Union mine, was celebrated on the 4th. Parson English and Bill Johnson led off in the ceremonies....V. Hoff & Co. shipped this week 900 ounces of silver bullion recently taken out by the Mexicans from their little basso. Also 16 ounces of gold, taken out around Cerro Gordo. Who can beat it for small prospecting? As sooon as Mr. J. F. Taylor gets his schedule time from the Postoffice Department he will start a stage from the lake to Cerro Gordo, making close connections with all stages, and which will bring Cerro Gordo mail at least 18 hours ahead of the present time....Mr. Taylor has sent two men to work for Mr. Hamilton on his tunnel on Buena Vista mountain....Messrs. Porter, Hunter, Hughes & Co. are busy prospecting in the gold mines. The mines are looking well; have shut down the arastras, but will soon start up again. Mr. McDonough has his basso nearly completed, and will soon start up. Nothing new in the Union this week. Twelve miners working at present. Messrs. Evens & Jackson are working the mine of Graenley & Co., the Ygnacio. Prospects better in bottom than ever.

BENTON MATTERS.—Our Benton correspondent, writing under date of December 3, has the following to say concerning current items of interest: Last week the Comanche Company shipped twelve bars of bullion, valued at $11,000, and so far this week nine bars have been shipped, valued at $9,000. All the ore worked is from the Tower mine, in Indian District, which is yielding from eight to ten tons per day of $150 ore. To-day all the Comanche property was attached, in the suit of the Anglo-American Bank, San Francisco, against the Company, for the sum of $14,000....The Diana mill is running on custom ore at present....Capt. Prescott is expected here this week to commence work in earnest on the Sultan Hill mines. The Company has already built a boarding house, and their supplies for the Winter are on hand. The incorporation, with a capital stock of $10,000,000, has ten claims, located on both the gold and silver belts. Several of the latter show very high grade ore. Capt. S. D. Prescott is the managing Superintendent....The Indian Queen continues to ship from its four stamp mill its usual $5,000 or $6,000 weekly.

FOR THE WINTER.—We hear that the steam arrastras of the Beveridge District gold mines have been closed down for the Winter, to enable the owners to devote their attention to the mines. Shafts of 100 feet each are to be sunk on the Golden Wreath and the Bronco Borago, which from present appearances cannot fail to develop ore sufficient to keep the works employed all next season. So far, the gold bullion produced has nearly equalled the Company's entire outlay.

SILVER EXCITEMENT.—Nearly two miles of mining ground has been located along the belt of the recent silver discovery below Cerro Gordo. At the point of the first location, near the Yellow Grade, the belt is from forty to fifty feet in width, seamed with small stratas of extremely rich metal. Considerable excitement over the matter is reported at Cerro Gordo and Lone Pine.

LETTER LIST.—The following list of letters remain uncalled for, December 1, at the Independence Postoffice: Tim Cockron, R. Com, C. B. Edwards, Thomas Fulton, John Goy, Mrs. Vira Garslin, Gideon Hood, John McNulty, Wm. Odgers, R. Roberts, C. Schmidt, E. Ward, Joy Williams, T. D. Woolsey (2).

BIRTHDAY PARTY.—Quite a large number of youngsters, and many who had been youngsters sometime ago, gathered at Judge Conklin's dwelling last Saturday evening to help Miss Maggie celebrate her twelfth birthday, and had such a good time that all the first named class think a birthday party just the thing.

LODGE NIGHT.—There will be held at the hall to-night an important stated meeting of Inyo Lodge No. 221, F. & A. M., for work and the annual election. There will doubtless be a large attendance of the fraternity.

LIT OUT.—Twe of the younger Hitchcock boys left Lone Pine suddenly one night last week, under circumstances at once suspicious and particularly discouraging to the creditors of the Uncle Abe mine and mill.

TUNNELING.—Ex-County Surveyor Tuttle has let a contract for a tunnel to be run 125 feet on his gold mines in the Alabama District, to tap the ledges about 100 feet deep.

BRING IT BACK.—The party who some months ago borrowed the "Life and Reminiscences of Gen. R. E. Lee" from Judge Hannah will confer a favor by returning it immediately.

TURKEYS.—Wm. H. Huff, our respected barber, has a number of turkeys to sell, and just the sort for a Christmas or New Year's dinner.

DAILY.—Petitions are to be circulated praying for the establishment of a daily mail line from here to Aurora. Good idea.

SCORE ONE MORE POINT FOR DARWIN.

DARWIN, Dec. 2.

MESSRS. EDITORS—Whenever an important event transpires within the borders of our county, which if generally would tend to have a favorable and beneficial influence in a mining and business point of view, both at home and abroad, the fact should be generatly circulated and possibly from it good may come to an apparently dying county, and be one step at least towards prolonging its mining existence, and at the same time may cause renewed trials by other of our mining companies, and probably in the end literally resurrect us from our long continued state of inactivity. The present run of the New Coso Mining Company, which lasted just 10¼ days, was the most successful and profitable ever made by that company. The smelting was done in their new patent jacket furnace No. 3, constructed under the direction of a brother of the Company's President, Mr. E. N. Robinson, formerly in the employ of the company here. Following is a statement of the work done:

Total tons of ore smelted.....	356- 550
" " Old foul slag from slag dump.....	15- 400
Total tons flue dust.....	47-1150
Total tons.....	419- 100
Total tons average per day.....	40- 800
" " bullion made.....	79-1333
Number of bars of bullion	1,983

The ore for the above run was taken out of the mine by contract, paying $1 per ounce for all over 35 ounces per ton. The ores, necessarily by this system, were thoroughly cleaned, and little or no refuse rock had to be smelted, no ore being taken of an unprofitable grade, considering the present low price of silver and lead, consequently the ore ran through the monster furnace like water from its starting to the end. Here we have an example of a company actually paying a profit in our midst, after taking out all expenses for extracting ore and reduction, all the result of economical and good business management on the part of the company's superintendent, Mr. J. J. Williams. With similar treatment there are others of our many mines that could be made to pay, no doubt, especially if their ores are of an average grade of the Lucky Jim.

Following is a statement of the base bullion shipped in 1878 from Darwin and Lookout:

Tons of bullion.....	1131-1952
Value of lead.....	$ 93,582.30
Value of silver.....	263,867.99
There has probably been shipped through Wells, Fargo & Co's. Express in fine silver and gold say.....	25,000 00

Making the respectable sum of $382,450.29

We hope the coming year to have a a still better record, as the New Coso mine is reported as looking fairly for ore in its lowest levels The Defiance, one of the most productive of our mines, is liable any day to loom again into notice, as all the mining men in our midst believe it has a bonanza hidden somewhere away. The Modoc, too, expects to cut it rich in their new tunnel where the Ingersoll drill is now driven ahead at the rate of 8 or 10 feet per day. Then we have a large number of very promising mines in Snow's Cañon, where a fine 5-stamp mill is in perfect running order, under the able management of Mr. Charles Mason. A successful run was lately made, and I understand that the mill will soon start up again. Then we have great expectations from the Emigrant Company's mines at Lee, when the mill is in perfect running order. I understand Superintendent Taylor has already on hand some five or six bars of fine bullion ready, which will go below the present week as the first bullion shipment from there.

"Let us then be up and doing,
With a heart for any fate,
Still achieving, still pursuing,
Learn to labor and to wait."

Yours, truly, C. F. O'BRION.

"The Closing Argument."

BODIE, December 3.

MESSRS. EDITORS—In your issue of the 30th ult., appeared a card from that "candidate for future honors," T. G. Kelty. I am very glad that it appeared, as I was not positive until now what his name was, or I should have mentioned it in full in my letter over the signature of "Buster." I asked a stageman when we left Bishop the name of the agent. He replied that the agent was not there. I described the blanco moustached gentleman, upon which he exclaimed: "Oh; that's Tom Kelty. A fellow who never gave a civil answer to anybody in his life."

He asks me to prove my assertions. I can prove by plenty of people everything stated in that letter, except the one in relation to him. I will do the fellow justice by giving him credit for being quite brilliant in daring me to prove the item in regard to the $1 90 business. He well knows that no one was near enough to see or hear what was done. I gave Kelty a $20 piece, and received back only two fifty cent pieces. He told me at the time that my extra baggage amounted to $4 20. If Kelty did not swindle me on the baggage he did on the fare, which amounts to the same thing. I know that I reported the matter to the agent at Aurora immediately upon my arrival. If Kelty was not obliged to enter my name, with the amount paid, immediately on the way bill, I might suppose that the over charge was a mistake, but as the case stands it looks "too thin." A person cannot be mistaken in the amount he pays when he has no money but a $20 piece in his pocket to pay with, and has $1 left. His assertion that I am "an unprincipled liar" will not be settled through the newspapers.

Respectfully,
R. L. PETERSON.

NEW YEAR'S EVE.—It is rumored that the Masonic fraternity are considering a proposition to get up a grand ball and supper at the Court House, on the coming New Year's eve.

THE weather for last few days has been way up.

A Touching Story.

A Virginia City dispatch of the 3d says:

Yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock a sad and most shocking accident occurred on the Virginia and Truckee railroad at a point near the Merrimac Mill on the Carson river, which resulted in the instant killing of a three year old son of Samuel Marchington. The train was the local passenger No. 5 from Carson to this city. At the station at the Merrimac Mill the whistle was blown as the train arrived, and as it left the bell was rung as usual. A short distance this side of the station is a very deep cut, which is entered on a sharp curve. On rounding this curve A. L. Parker, the engineer, was horrified at seeing four children lying on the track. He immediately whistled down brakes and reversed the engine. Three of the children, none of whom were more than six or seven years of age, ran away, leaving the little boy sitting in the middle of the track. Mr. Parker tried to get out on the cow-catcher in time to reach and save the child, but was too late. The engine stopped after moving a few yards beyond where the child was sitting. It was then found that the wheels had passed over the little fellow in such a way as to cut off his head and right arm. The head rolled down the bank a few feet and stopped in such a way that it stood on the stump of the neck, with the face toward the train. A passenger informs us that neither the head nor face was mutilated nor smeared with blood. He says to "his dying day he shall never forget the look of that little tow-head, the white face and closed eyes." When the head was lifted the eyes opened, and there was seen a sort of convulsive twitching about the mouth. The mother of the boy was visiting at the house of a neighbor, a few rods from where the accident occurred, and the cries of the children soon brought her to the spot. No words can describe her grief or that of her neighbor and children. The mother insisted upon having the body, head and arm of her dead child placed in her apron, when she started for her own house two or three hundred yards away, followed by her neighbor and weeping children.

FOLLOWING is the text of a bill introduced in the Senate by Blaine regarding elections in the South, and which bill is likely to call forth a debate that will have unusual interest to many persons:

Resolved, That the Judiciary Committee be instructed to inquire and report to the Senate whether at the recent elections the constitutional rights of American citizens were violated in any of the States of the Union; whether the right of suffrage of citizens of the United States, or of any class of such citizens, was denied or abridged by the action of election officers of any State in refusing to receive their votes, in failing to count them, or in receiving and counting fraudulent ballots in pursuance of a conspiracy to make the lawful votes of such citizens of null effect, and whether such citizens were prevented from exercising the elective franchise or forced to use it against their wishes by violence or threats of hostile demonstrations by armed men or other organizations, or by other unlawful means or practice.

Resolved, That the Judiciary Committee be further instructed to inquire and report whether it is within the competency of Congress to provide by additional legislation for the more perfect security of the rights of suffrage to citizens of the United States in all the States of the Union.

Resolved, That in prosecuting these inquiries the Judiciary Committee shall have the right to send for persons and papers.

EUREKA is just now honored with the presence of no less a personage than the man who made Rutherford B. Hayes President of the United States. James E. Anderson, the champion liar of Christendom, has been shedding the light of his distinguished countenance on the Base Range for several days. He is here in the interest of an Indianapolis furnishing establishment. He is not exactly a drummer, but rather a salesman; that is to say, he has the goods along with him which he offers to the trade. He made several sales yesterday to our local dealers. It may be said to the credit of his enterprise or business tact that he sells about ten per cent. below San Francisco wholesale prices for the same line of goods. Eureka Sentinel, Nov. 30.

DIED.—At Sacramento, last Sunday, Vernon H. Vaughn, ex-Governor of Utah, went to his last sleep. He will be remembered by many Cerro Gordoans as having at one time paid the place a visit in the interest of some mining operations. He was a genial, wholesouled fellow not likely to ever be forgotten by those with whom he came in contact. He was appointed Secretary and Governor of Utah Territory in July and November, 1870, respectively. Recently he was clerk to the Committee on Corporations other than Municipal in the Constitutional Convention. His remains were taken in charge by the Relief Committee of Yerba Buena Lodge of Odd Fellows in Sacramento, he being a member of that order.

ONCE upon a time, when "boarding round" was the rule in Vermont school districts, one man had to board the teacher just two and a half days. On the third day, as the teacher sat down to dinner, the man of the house said: "Madam, I suppose your boarding time will be out when you have eaten half a dinner, but as I don't wish to appear mean, you may eat nearly as much as usual."

THE Democratic members of the Potter Committee have decided to call the Committee together at once to inquire into the cipher dispatch business. Subpœnas are to be issued for the appearance of Reid and Hassard of the New York Tribune, and for them to produce the originals of the said dispatches.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 7.....1878.

THE TEXAS "SCREW WORM.—Samuel Myers is now lying bedfast at his home in this place, afflicted with that terrible malady the screw worm. It appears that Mr. Myers has been sick of late with fever, and that recently while resting in bed one of the flies alighted near his nostrils, where there were some few drops of blood. It requires but a few moments for one of these flies to deposit hundreds of eggs, which are hatched and grown inside of an hour, many of them as much as one half inch in length. Mr. Myers, upon awakening, felt a slight tickling in the nose, and it was not until his eyes and face had become fearfully swollen that the physician discovered the presence of the worms. The only known remedy was applied—calomel and carbolic acid—by injection into the nostrils. At first a few would drop their hold and force themselves out. Application after application was made with like results, up to the time of our report, when 152 was the number passed. The patient is in a critical condition with but slight hopes of his recovery. The fly is much dreaded by our stockmen, and is represented as a dark colored and fuzzy insect, which generally attacks cattle or any other animal that is unfortunate to have blood upon which it can alight.—Dallas Intelligencer.

THE SCIENCE OF MILLING.—The problem of milling is to separate in as simple and cheap a manner as possible the interior of the grain from the outer rind, the beard and the germ; to thoroughly grind the cells of which the grain is composed, and by setting free the glair substances and starch grains from the outer integument in which they are inclosed, to facilitate a quicker and more intimate contact of the nourishing qualities contained in the wheat with the human stomach. The Austro-Hungarian high milling, with its nicely exact elimination of even the smallest modicum of bran, and its fine and careful grinding, of all other methods approximates the nearest to this ideal, and the bread made of flour so treated is consequently the most nourishing and the easiest of digestion of any bread in the world. According to this theory, if we would answer the practical question, "How much pure flour can be got out of the grain?" the above named experiment will enable us to do it in the following figures: Pure flour—wheat, 78 to 82 per cent.; rye, 75 to 80 per cent. Waste and fodder—wheat, 18 to 22 per cent.; rye, 20 to 25 per cent.—G. Pappenheim.

Miss Susan King, of Harlem, New York, saw the following advertisement in a country newspaper:

HOW TO GET RICH.—A rare secret—Send twenty-five cents to George Fullerton, box 413, Portland, Maine.

Prompted by curiosity, she forwarded the money and received the following reply:

"Work like the devil, and never spend a cent."

ONE of the greatest and most destructive annoyances to housekeeping is the moth. The American Agriculturalist has discovered an easy and simple process for getting rid of them, that it has tried with complete success. It is the use of benzine. It describes the manner in which it was applied as follows: A set of furniture that seemed to be alive with the larvae from the month it came in new, and from which hundreds of these pests had been picked and brushed, was set in a room by itself. Three gallons of benzine were purchased. Using a small watering pot, with a fine rose sprinkler, the whole upholstery was saturated through and through with the benzine. The result was that every moth, larvae and egg was killed. The benzine dried out in a few hours, and its entire odor disappeared in three or four days. Not the slightest harm happened to the varnish or wood or fabrics or hair stuffing. The carpets were also well sprinkled all around the sides of the room with equally good effect. As benzine is very inflammable there should be no fire or burning light in the room until it has thoroughly evaporated.

MR. EMORY SPEER, the member elect from the Ninth Congressional District of Georgia, is twenty-nine, and therefore four years the senior of Congressman-elect Taylor of the First Tennessee. He is the son of a Methodist minister, whose itinerate life in a dozen Georgia towns gave his son a State reputation for deviltry. He was always a fighter, and at fifteen ran away to serve in the cavalry, returning in rags and on a mule, proudly reported as having been stolen. He was always a hard student, being as a boy devoted to Macauley, Buckle, Gibbon and Hume; by the time he was fourteen he had two big volumes of "Pulpit Eloquence" and "British Eloquence" by heart. He has naturally a wonderful flow of language, and having a facile and chaste speaker in his father as example, and having enriched his diction by study, and constantly exercised his gift by constant practice he is claimed to be really an orator, with a style ornate but not tawdry, and a pleasant relieving vein of humor. He has further the advantage of a fine presence and powerful physique.

THE drift of the testimony in the school investigation is tending more and more in the direction of young Carr as the party who has done a thriving business in the sale of questions for teachers' examinations. There has been a suspicion from the very start that that young gentleman might tell more about the business than he has yet told, and in the testimony of Mr. Clery it was shown that this suspicion was not altogether groundless. Mr. Clery says that the mysterious "vailed lady," who has figured more or less extensively in this investigation, told him that she had procured the questions direct from young Carr, and that Ewald had told her that he got them of young Carr also, that he paid $600 for them and was then retaining them for $200 per set. This testimony is pretty straight, and it places young Carr in a very unenviable position.

PIRATES are again becoming numerous in the Persian Gulf, and a device practiced a quarter of a century ago by an English navy captain is suggested. The English Government had made repeated complaints to the King of Muscat regarding the injury to British commerce, but without effect, and the officer in question gave his vessel the appearance of an unarmed merchantman. He sailed to the waters which the pirates most frequented, and was soon surrounded by a swarm of their craft. His portholes then opened, and they were treated to successive broadsides of grape, canister and round shot. Two thirds of the vessels were sunk, and at least 600 pirates were killed or wounded.

GENERAL NOTES.

Bostonians pronounce the Hub's name "Bawston," and the Lincolnshire men of England pronounce the name of the old original Boston in the same manner to this day.

On the recent occasion of the marriage of Prince Bismarck's daughter, the German Emperor presented to him the Grand Cross of the Order of the Red Eagle, the only Prussian decoration which he had not already received.

The Princess of Wales is a fond mother. She is about to send her sailor son on a voyage around the world, and has packed with her own fair hands each one of his trunks, besides selecting his library, which contains for perusal at sea Shakespeare, Sir Walter Scott and Irving's Sketch Book.

The books relating to chess contained in the library of a recently deceased professor of the University of Pennsylvania are estimated to be worth $3,000. The chess playing alumni of the University are desirous of having this rare collection purchased and placed in the library of their alma mater.

They recently nearly suffocated, by thronging around him, the obliging gentleman at the perfumery fountain at the French Exposition, who scents 20,000 pocket handkerchiefs a day for nothing. An American gentleman tendered four for gratuitous odoriferous treatment. "You are a pickpocket," murmured the obliging gentleman, out of all patience.

Before leaving England for Canada the present acting Gover-or-General, Sir Patrick McDougal, received full authority from government to organize and equip, if necessary, a force in British North America for service in Europe, the Canadian government having made known its readiness to place in the field a number of active regiments in case of war.

The manufacture of fireworks on one's own hearthstone is attended with some degree of risk. At Cranleigh, Surrey, England, a laborer named Sherlock was engaged making fireworks in his cottage at an early hour in the morning when a spark ignited the gunpowder. The cottage was blown to pieces, the wife and aged father of Sherlock were killed, and his own recovery is considered hopeless.

A large, full-grown Polar bear, while being conveyed from one of the whaling vessels, escaped from its cage and coursed through several crowded streets in Dundee at a rapid pace. It at length took refuge in a clothier's shop, where after playing some havoc it was secured. Owing to the crowds which followed the bear became very infuriated, and several persons narrowly escaped injury.

The Duke of Grafton in the last century loved ease and sleep on a Winter's morning better than horses and hounds, but deemed it de rigueur in a great country gentleman to keep hounds and follow them. So on hunting days his servants had positive orders to pull him out of bed and insist on his dressing, however unwilling he might be and notwithstanding the active resistance which he often made.

Many interesting finds continue to be made in the lacustrine stations laid bare by the shrinkage of Lake Neuchatel. Among the latest are a complete bronze wax mould and a human skull. Rings, pins, buckles, hatchets, flint instruments, and the bones of animals are in great abundance. Human bones, however, are very rarely found, from which it is supposed that the tombs of the lake dwellers have not yet been discovered.

Hot whisky and water has superseded rum and water at the Parisian cafes since the chilliness of October has set in. The habitues drink it with assiduity from 11 in the morning to midnight without experiencing much harm, as the ingredients consist of a teaspoonful and a half of spirits, half a dozen lumps of sugar, a slice of lemon and half a pint of water. This exhilirating mixture is called "Grog American."

It is stated in the society papers in England that the Princess Thyra, of Denmark, who is now engaged to the Duke of Cumberland jilted the Prince Imperial. There is no doubt that the couple were what the London cabmen call "wery nuts" on each other for a time. But the fair Thyra has a terrible reputation for a flirt and a hard-shell woman of the world; and when Lulu, as the Prince's pet name goes, told his love she referred him to papa and mamma, and the heir of the great Napoleon was frozen out of Copenhagen.

The Rev. David Shurtleff and the Rev. Horace Parker are against each other in a slander suit now on trial in Fitchburg, Mass. The trouble arose out of Parker's free criticism of Shurtleff's manner of courtship. The young woman whom Shurtleff loved was engaged to a poor young man, and she felt bound to keep her promise. The reverend wooer, according to the testimony, offered the poor young man $1,000 to give her up, and argued that she ought to have a husband with money. "She will not be able," he said, "to stand the trials of life and do the washing." But he didn't get her.

WHENEVER you have occasion to rob or kill a man throw something over his head. When thus enveloped, though he may struggle desperately, he will not utter a cry. This interesting and curious fact was known to the Rusaians in the Caucasus, and they employed this means of attack to silence sentinels when endeavoring to surprise the Circassians.

A GOOD JOKE ON GRANT.—On the subject of creating Grant King of Bulgaria, the World ridicules the matter, saying that his name Ulysses may be an objection, as the Bulgarians have no love for the Greeks; but the coronation of Ulysses the First as Emperor of the East at Constantinople would be a fine thing to round off the century with. But it would not do for the Bulgarians to take up Grant on the theory that he favors the most perfect equality in political and religious rights, until that little matter of the order about the Jews during the cotton period of our civil war has been more carefully looked into. The Herald says: If an American were compelled to live in Bulgaria he would naturally want to be King in self-defense, for in any position life in that country would not be endurable. It has often been thought that he would make a good king, and we believe he would in Bulgaria. He has qualities that a man must have who is to restore order, peace and prosperity to that distracted and unhappy country. But it is doubtful whether the powers that be want order there just yet, and therefore it is not likely they want Grant. Moreover, it is not certain that we can let them have him. We may want to use him ourselves.

THE CIPHER DISPATCHES.—The Sun urges that one of the first duties of the National House of Representatives should be to inquire into the authenticity of the cipher telegrams published on the eve of the recent elections, and the means by which they were obtained. This is due to public morals and the parties implicated, who should have an opportunity to vindicate themselves or suffer the consequences. The Sun adds: Whether the cipher telegrams were procured from the effects of the late Senator Morton or the committee of which he was chairman, or were stolen from the late President of the Western Union or were surreptitiously obtained from the telegraph office, in no way affects the duty of the investigation. The Democrats of the House were outwitted by false delicacy to Mr. Orton, and in that way Senator Morton was enabled to get possession of all the telegrams and put out of the way not only all material evidence against his Republican friends, but also his own operations in California, by which that State was carried by a fraud notoriously organized when he was there in person.

HOW TO SMOKE A PIPE.—To those who are attached to the pipe it may be a matter of interest to know how their last puff or draught of smoke may be as fresh as the first. It is well known that in smoking in the usual manner the last portion of the tobacco becomes damp by presence of oil or nicotine drawn from the heated tobacco above, which causes a sickening and nauseating effect, bitter to the taste, unpleasant and unhealthy as compared to the first half of a well filled pipe. The following I have found to be effectual in giving me a good fresh smoke from first to last: Place a small quantity of tobacco in the bottom of the bowl, light it, and when well afire fill the pipe, and before each draught give a light puff outward through the stem, which causes the tobacco to burn upward, all below being consumed. This is a sensible way of smoking the time honored pipe.

STAGE LINE TO BODIE.—John Allman, the veteran stage man, arrived here yesterday and is making preparations for starting a line of stages between this city and Bodie. He brought forty head of horses over from California, crossing the Sierra Nevada mountains via Sonora Pass. These horses have been sent to Mason's Valley to recuperate, the route over the mountains having proved icy and bad, but all will be ready for the road in a few days. Besides the main line of large coaches to be run on the direct route between this city and Bodie, there will be a branch line of light coaches run from Mason's Valley to Belleville. This branch line will regularly connect with the main line both going and coming. Mr. Allman was yesterday busily engaged in getting his coaches ready for the road. —Virginia Enterprise.

In England knowing fellows, when about to enlist, pay great attention to the matter of uniform, which has a considerable pecuniary value. A Life Guardsmen at London or Windsor will be paid by a servant girl $1 25 for doing her Sunday out with him, while a horse artilleryman will only be able to command 80 cents, and a driver of artillery 35 cents. The same plan is carried on at Berlin and other capitals. The luxuries which these men enjoy are entirely paid for by their feminine admirers, who, in the case of handsome guardsmen, especially, are often of a much higher grade than servant girls. Their fee for walking out with them is quite independent of the incidental expenses of a day of pleasure, which frequently involves as much as $2 or $3 out of Mary Ann's wages.

OF all the Napoleonic statesmen the Duc de Morny best knew how to make money. When going to St. Petersburg as ambassador he arrived with a large number of elegant carriages, all fitted with silks, point lace and ladies' ornaments. Each servant had one of these carriages allotted to him; each attache and secretary at least two, while as to the ambassador he claimed six as his share. Being an ambassador he had to pay no duty. A few days after his arrival the whole lot, carriages and all, were sold by auction and a trifle of 800,000 roubles realized.

A PRIVATE letter from Gen. Grant states that he intends to extend his tour eastward through India and China, and thence home by way of San Francisco.

CHALFANT & PARKER.

December 14, 1878.

SECRETARY MCCRARY makes a strong argument, in his report, for a repeal or modification of the clause in the Army Law passed at the last session, and known as the posse comitatus clause. The Secretary shows it will be necessary to remove the restriction that soldiers shall be employed as a posse comitatus only in cases where such use is expressly authorized by the Constitution or an act of Congress, or to proceed to increase by act of Congress the number of "expressly authorized" cases. The operation of the new law leaves the people of the frontier often at the mercy of desperadoes, when the mere knowledge that the strong arm of the United States Government might be invoked would be sufficient to protect them. There is very little probability, however, that this foolish restriction upon military powers will be removed so long as existing conditions in the South remain as they are.

SENATOR DENNIS, of Maryland, whose term expires on March 4, announces his intention of becoming a candidate for the Secretaryship of the Senate, the place now held by Geo. C. Gorham. Dennis is personally very popular with his Democratic colleagues, so his election as Secretary is pretty well assured. From the first organization of our Government there have been only six different occupants of the place, and of these two were Senators previously.

IN relation to the Afghanistan war dispatches received in London on the 4th states that Gen. Roberts is confident of soon striking a crushing blow on the Ameer's army; he is only waiting for his supplies to come forward, and to rest his troops. The Afghans are concentrated in large numbers at the top of Peywar Pass, if anybody can tell where that is, and have two batteries of horse artillery.

THE Harlan (Iowa) Herald says two young ladies of that place went to buy poison at a drug store there, but the use of the deadly drug was suspected by the druggist, who gave them a harmless dose. They wrote "confessions," took the poison, failed to die, and a physician was summoned who told them they were not poisoned. But their "confessions" were out, and created considerable talk.

A STORY is published that Bonanza John Mackay, hearing that Gilmore, the musician, was embarrassed to meet expenses while in Europe, investigated the condition of the band's treasury, and insured the enterprise against failure by giving Gilmore $150,000. Gilmore does not deny the general truth of the story, but says the amount advanced was nothing like so large a sum.

IT is stated that a powerful ring has been formed in New York for the purpose of raising the price of gold and to thwart the endeavors of the Government at resuming specie payments on the 1st of January. It is said that Jay Gould, James R. Keene and Russell Sage are the leaders of the movement.

IN the Senate Mr. Saulsbury introduced a bill authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury, in redeeming United States legal tender notes, as required by the Special Resumption Act, to pay 75 per cent. in gold coin and 25 per cent. in standard silver dollars.

A SENSIBLE VIEW.

Gen. Sherman's letter upon the proposed transfer of the Indian Bureau is a forcible statement, in his earnest fashion, of many reasons for the change. He sums up in this way: "Christian and civilizing influences can be as well used by the military as by the civil authorities. There will be less hypocrisy and cant with the military agents than the civil. The military will keep the peace, protect reservations against unlawful intrusion by the whites, and can allow and encourage different Christian denominations to compete in the matter of schools and churches. The economy will be in using one set of machinery for both Army and Indians, instead of, as now, two." He makes it clear, also, that the Army is in favor of the change because it is weary of being managed and mismanaged by the Indian Bureau. He says: "In preference to being called on in season and out of season, nearly always too late to prevent trouble, or even understand the cause—but after war is actually begun—we prefer to take the whole labor and drudgery of the offices of Indian agents and superintendents, without one cent of additional compensation." If this Congress is blessed with wisdom in its last days, even this short session will not be allowed to end without the accomplishment of this reform.

THE town of Jackson, Kentucky, was recently for over a week subjected to mob rule, and many deeds of lawlessness have been committed. It seems the place bears a bad reputation, and the difficulty in this instance arose from a collision between two bands of outlaws. The civil authorities were powerless, and several parties have been shot. The forces number about forty on each side, and all the men are well armed with the latest improved Colt's revolver, Spencer and Ballard rifle, and, being good shots, an enemy is an easy victim at 100 to 200 yards' distance. It is thought the Governor will have to devise some means for subduing the mobs. P. S.—Dates of the 9th state that after a sort of an armistice of several days hostilities were renewed among the drunken ruffians, during which four persons were killed and seven wounded. The town was completely terrorized.

RAILROAD CHANGES.—The Reno Journal hears of some very important changes contemplated by the Central Pacific Railroad, all to go into effect next Spring. The overland trains will be run at much greater speed, the time between San Francisco and Omaha being shortened 20 hours. The train will leave San Francisco at 4 o'clock in the afternoon instead of 8 in the morning as now. It will arrive there at 9 P. M., or nearly four hours earlier than at present. The new route—via Benicia and the straits—will be the road over which trains will be run between San Francisco and Sacramento, and that trip is to be made in less than four hours. As soon as these changes are made the lightning train between Reno and San Francisco will be pulled off, and the company thereby saved $50,000 a year.

AN ANTIDOTE FOR DIPHTHERIA.—Kerosene oil, as a gargle, has been successfully used in the treatment of diphtheria of a most dangerous form, at Plattsburg and other places in New York, other remedies having failed to arrest the disease. In addition to the gargle patients have been required to swallow a small portion of kerosene, about a tablespoonful. The oil, it is said, destroys the canker and soon after its use the swelling goes down. It has cured the worst cases, and before it use large numbers of children and grown people had died of the disease. The remedy is a simple one, and is said to be a specific for all kinds of sore throat.

NEW PATENTS.—The Mining and Scientific Press has received official notice of the issue of the following patents to Pacific coast inventors for the week ending November 12, 1878: James Griffin, Mendocino, Cal., saw guides; John Jett, San Francisco, Cal., locks; William C. Salmon, John F. Salmon and William H. Harris, Portland, Oregon, mills for grinding ore; Phillip Giovannini and Bruno Bennerstheidt,, San Francisco, Cal., water gates; Stephen Kendall, Jackson, Cal., ore stamps; Charles W. Lane, Aurora, Nev., safety attachments for hoisting cages; Henry A. Peabody, Sacramento, Cal., copy holders.

BATTLE CREEK, Michigan, has a novelty in the shape of a young man attacked with delirium tremens, caused by the excessive use of tobacco. He is a cigar maker, and has been in the habit of smoking from ten to thirty cigars a day. He has used some liquor but not much, not enough to cause his malady. It is said to be the first case of the kind on record.

CONGRESSMAN LUTTRELL introduced a bill on the 4th proposing an appropriation of $71,000 to pay Riley, Hardin and Taylor, for property destroyed for them last year by the Bannocks and Piutes.

A Highway Desperado.

Last Thursday forenoon George Ellis and Archie Burns were driving a band of cattle from Bridgeport to the slaughter house of Stewart & Neal at this place. When about a mile above the Del Monte mill on the Bodie road they met Dudley Haskell and John Langtry who had been doing some work on the road with a horse and cart. Ellis sang out not frighten the cattle. Haskell got hold of his horse and led him out of the way. Ellis then came up and said to him, "You're a — of a feller. How long have you been in this country. Why didn't you get out of the way?" Haskell made some excuse, when Ellis said, "I have a good notion to take a shot at you, anyway." As he said this he drew his pistol and Haskell fell over backward into the creek. Ellis fired at him just as he fell but Haskell disappeared behind the bank before the bullet reached him. Langtry thought Haskell was killed, and said to Ellis, "Why did you kill the boy?" The desperado replied, "If you say anything I will take a shot at you." Ellis thought also he had killed Haskell, and turning to Burns, told him to go on with the cattle to the slaughter house. Ellis then wanted Burns to leave the country with him, but the latter declined. Ellis came to town and stayed a short time. The last seen of him he was going up Pine street over the hill. A short time afterward Haskell came into town and notified Sheriff Hiskey of the affair. Officers are now in pursuit of Ellis.—Esmeralda Herald, Dec. 7.

The brave desperado above named is, we believe, the same young Mr. Ellis whom the Vigilantes, a year or two ago, escorted out of Bishop Creek—and committed an error in not hanging him, to judge his worth from this last murderous attempt.

AN exchange observes that in the elections in November for members of Congress, the most prominent issue before the people was the question of fiat money. The result of the contest was an overwhelming victory for its opponents. In the next Congress there will be less than a dozen members favorable to the theory of the Nationalists as regards the issuance of such an apology for money by the Government—and we sincerely hope no future Congress will ever contain even that many. Though so few in numbers, these Congressional Greenbackers hold a vantage ground not to be despised; in the House it will require the presence of every Democratic vote to give that party one vote clear majority, therefore this handful of Greenbackers may be enabled to command nearly their own terms in all strictly party issues.

No doubt that dead beat, Mr. Denis Kearney, will have a goodly and appropriate following this Winter; scores of horse thieves, cutthroats, burglars, etcetera, have just been released from San Quentin under the Goodwin act, and with other tramps of all descriptions, are coming to the "great agitator's" banner. With these willing and welcome recruits it would not be in the least surprising if Mr. Kearney did succeed before Spring in a partial realization of his thousand times repeated threat of "making the streets run knee-deep in blood." Neither would it surprise us in the least if he also succeeded in reviving to his sorrow the stirring and strangling times of '56.

MRS. BOWERS, the Washoe Seeress, has been interviewed by a reporter of the Gold Hill News. The old lady claims that there is a large body of ore to be found in the Savage and Hale & Norcross mines, and another is left at the North End, and that Sierra Nevada will go up to $700 before 1880. Should her prophecies prove true, she will merely have guessed on the right side; that and nothing more.

THE Gold Hill News has interviewed Mr. Mackay in relation to his reported aid to place Grant on the Bulgarian throne. Mackay denies that there is a word of truth either in that or the story of his $150,000 present to Gilmore, and only wishes that people would let him and his affairs alone.

AFGHANISTAN, with which England has again gone to war, is about the size of Texas, or seven times larger than Iowa. Its population is nearly 6,000,000, mostly hardy mountaineers. England may subdue, but she cannot conquer them in their mountain fastnesses.

FOSTER, the United States Minister to Mexico, gives a very gloomy account of the condition of affairs in that Republic, and advises Americans not to go there to engage in any kind of business. There is no security for either life or property.

BONANZA HOMES.—It appears that some of the bonanza kings are going to eclipse the castles of the railroad magnates on Nob Hill. The Lyon County Times has the following:

J. C. Flood and J. G. Fair, two of the members of the bonanza firm, have given a contract for grading their lots on Nob Hill, San Francisco, preparatory to the erection thereon of mansions that will eclipse anything on the coast in that line. When the work of building operations is fairly commenced, teams will be kept in 300 men and 70 teams will be kept in employment for about a year. As the class of labor employed will be of that known as "skilled" the wages paid will be from $4 to $8 per day. The example thus set by the gentlemen of the bonanza firm is worthy of imitation. More and better houses should be built by the wealthy men of the coast, and a demand for skilled labor thus created which would go far toward allaying the discontent now existing among the laboring classes. Were every laboring man who is willing to earn an honest living to be given employment at fair wages, at least one just cause for discontent would be removed, and all classes of the community would find it to their interest to smoothe over the the obstacles in the way of a perfect understanding between the workingmen and the capitalists, between capital and labor.

OF the number of persons in the laboratory remark principally the one you may have least thought of selecting, from the informality of his appearance. The rest are but skillful assistants, to whom he is able to commit some experiments in their secondary stages. It is a figure of perhaps five feet in height, bending intently above some detail of work. There is a general appearance of youth about it, but the face, knit into anxious wrinkles, seems old. The dark hair, beginning to be touched with gray, falls over the forehead in a mop. The hands are stained with acid, and the clothing is of an ordinary "ready-made" order—it is Edison.—Scribner.

AN-OUT-OF-TOWN man traveling in a Boston horse car, pulled the bell-strap vigorously and made the bell ring at each end. "What are you ringing at both ends for," said the conductor. "Because I wish the thing to stop at both ends."

BRITISH INTENTIONS.—The manner in which the Ameer's note to the Viceroy of India has been received in England shows conclusively that it is the intention of the Beaconsfield government to indemnify England for the cost of the war by seizing and holding a large slice of territory, including the passes to the Indus. Afghanistan is about as large as France, and the territory coveted by England as a sure line of defense against Russian invasion of India, is a long strip from Jelalabad southward to Quettah, about twice the area of Alsace-Lorraine. It takes in all the various passes, and defended by British forts and guns would make India safer against invasion than all the fortresses of Metz, Belfort and Strasburg render the German territory against France. In short, with these passes thoroughly fortified and well garrisoned, in the hands of England the Ameer will be utterly helpless, and the future of Afghanistan at the mercy of England. If Russia submits to this without dealing a blow in favor of the Ameer from the direction of Mery and Balk, then Russian diplomacy and Russian military arms will fall, as they should, beneath contempt. If the English once place themselves firmly in Afghanistan, with an outlook to a controlling commercial influence in Persia, Russia will have all she can do to hold the ground she has won in the Khanites, without indulging in any dreams of future conquest toward the Indus and the Persian Gulf. It is well enough, however, to bear in mind that all the news received here of the progress of the invading columns toward Candahar and Cabul comes from British sources exclusively.—S. F. Chronicle.

THE SCHOOL QUESTIONS.—The inquiry into the surreptitious sale of the examination papers confirms the impression that this scandal is of considerable standing, and that it has been carried on systematically. The most surprising fact in the whole matter is that it should have been concealed so successfully, seeing that it must have been known to a great many persons and seeing also that a large proportion of those persons were women. The fair sex may, we think, refer to this traffic as proof that they were libeled by the allegation of their inability to keep secrets. It is further evident that there is much very low morality among teachers, for there can be no doubt that many teachers knew of what was going on, and should have made the fact known, but refrained from doing so, though they were aware that a great evil was involved. From the nature of the exhibit already made we think it should be possible to detect the persons who are at the bottom of this fraudulent practice. Somebody has been making considerable money by it, and the truth is in too many hands to remain hidden. Until everything is known, of course, the reputation of the whole school system will remain under a cloud, and therefore the teachers whose withers are unwrung ought for their own sakes to expedite the discovery of the whole truth.—Record-Union.

SENATOR VOORHEES, in a recent interview, remarked "that one of his first acts upon the reassembling of Congress would be a movement to make the trade dollar a legal tender." Further conversation with the Senator and other prominent Democrats of Indiana brought forth the fact that the financial fight in the Senate will be for the free and unlimited coinage of silver. Senator Jones should be there when this fight opens. We do not believe his political interests here would suffer because of his absence "in the field" when an issue of so much importance to Nevada is to be settled. The Republican policy is pretty clearly outlined by the recent action of the New York banks and by the tone of the Eastern Republican press. It will be for the repeal of the Silver bill and resumption on a gold basis. This is the new shape the money question will take, and it will be the paramount question in Congress this Winter. If it is not fought out too soon, it will be the Presidential issue in 1880.—Virginia Chronicle.

EXECUTION OF CHOW YEW.—Chow Yew was hanged in the jail yard to-day for the murder of Ah Pow in Benton last May. In issuing from the jail the condemned man was assisted to and helped up the steps leading to the gallows, he apparently being too much frightened or too feeble to help himself. While preparations were being made to land the unfortunate man into eternity, he stood on the trap door weeping piteously. The only words spoken by him were to a countryman, Ah Chung; they were but few. What the words were none but the two knew. At precisely 1:20 P. M. the drop fell, and the doomed man was launched into eternity. All present felt pangs of sorrow for the poor fellow. After the drop fell he was seen to kick from twenty to forty times, and the spectators seemed think he died of strangulation. It is to be hoped the people of Bridgeport will not be called upon to witness another sight as this.—Bodie Standard.

CHRISTOPHER ALLEN MANN, of Independence, Mo., has just celebrated his 105th birthday. This old Mann's long life is due to his temperance principles. He never went out to C. A. Mann.—Free Press.

A STINGY husband threw all the blame of the lawlessness of his children in company by saying his wife always "gives them their own way." "Poor things," was her prompt reply, "it's all I have to give them."

SAID a railroad engineer to an Irishman, whose cow had been killed: "But she didn't get out of the way when I rang the bell." "Faith, thin," said Pat, "ye didn't sthop when she rang her bell, naythur."

JAPANESE photographers charge only eighteen cents a dozen for good pictures, and they don't keep a man to twist your neck off and dislocate your shoulders to give you a "pose."

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 14 .....1878.

OFFICIAL.—The only official transaction in the criminal line that Sheriff Dad Moore has had to engage his attention for a long time past occurred several weeks ago, and was a case wherein our little Piute, Tom Hutch, getting on the rampage threw stones through a window and was arrested therefor. Sheriff Moore organized himself into a high police court, and heard the case patiently through from end to end. We had no reporter present, therefore can give no transcript of evidence or pleadings. It is enough to say, however, that defendant was found guilty, but got off with a very mild sentence—simply to chop wood four days for the Court House offices or pay $4 cash. Thomas' mahala, Capt. Jim, nor Toona, his other mahala (Thomas is something of a polygamist, small as he is in stature), would neither of them put up for him, so he took the wood-pile alternative. He seemed to fully realize the awfulness of the situation—that if he didn't sail into the work with all his might something dreadful would surely happen to him, for be it known, this was the first time he ever experienced the full majesty of our local courts. Accordingly he did sail in, and for a day and a half scarce took time from his work for a full breath. In view of this fact, and his evident contriteness of heart, together with the growing scarcity of wood remaining to be cut, the court urbanely informed Thomas that the balance of the penalty would be remitted; that he might go if he would not whip his wives. In the outburst of gratitude he faithfully promised to forego the last named pleasure, the more willingly, no doubt, because the Captain herself is just about as large again as he is, and is generally recognized among her people and by Thomas himself as one of the most accomplished fighters in this subdivision of the tribe. And so ends this significant legend; significant, because it shows that times are so dull here that we have to depend on the Piutes for even ordinary violations of law.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.—At the regular meeting of Inyo Lodge No. 23?, F. & A. M., held on Saturday evening last, the following elective officers were chosen to serve for the ensuing Masonic year: A. E. Conklin, W. M.; John Shepherd, S. W.; Jas. E. Parker, J. W.; H. M. Isaacs, Secretary and O. F. Mairs, Treasurer. The appointed officers will not be known until the installation, which takes place on St. John's day, the 27th instant. After the business of the evening was through with, the tables were spread and some thirty or more of the members present sat down to a sumptuous collation of all the best eatables and drinkables of the country.

FINE WORKMANSHIP.—We examined the other day a fine four-spring express wagon, built to order by Henry White, of Bishop Creek, for Charley Stoutenborough. It is remarkable for its finished workmanship, but more so for its strength, the wood-work having undergone a long seasoning in this peculiar, dry climate before being put together. The tires are steel and the works of Russia iron. In view of the facility with which out-side built wagons fall to pieces when used in this country the matter of patronizing all our home mechanics in this line should be encouraged.

BRANCHING OUT.—The Round Valley store of J. B. Badger & Son has been purchased by C. F. Stoutenborough, representing the heavy mercantile establishment of J. H. Stoutenborough, at Bishop Creek. The branch concern is to be equipped with a large stock of merchandise of all description, and placed under the management of our old friend John B. White. The new institution will prove quite an acquisition to the thriving settlement of Round Valley.

LEFT US.—Dr. P. G. Gelcich, for a long time a popular and well-known physician and druggist of Lone Pine, started on the 7th instant to join his family at Los Angeles, who preceded him thence some time ago. He is accompanied with the best wishes of everybody, and the Doctor's many friends will be glad to learn that he intends to return and resume business during the coming Summer.

NEW YEAR'S EVE.—A competent committee has in charge all the arrangements for a grand New Year ball and supper, as will be noted upon consulting the advertisement given elsewhere; and we learn that it is the purpose of the managers to make the affair as complete and enjoyable as possible, through careful attention to all the details that go to make up a success in such matters.

SOCIAL PARTY. — Monday evening last, in honor of the visit of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. O. Harrell and Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Stoutenborough, of Bishop Creek, a goodly company of ladies and gentlemen from the town and country about assembled and enjoyed a social dance and supper. The whole affair was "way up."

FOR SALE.—The Passmore property, at Olanche, near the foot of the lake, is offered for sale at a very low figure. See advertisement. The property is valuable, and for years past has paid more every season than the price now asked for it.

AFTER MORE.—Last Monday A. K. Briggs, the well-kown old Inyoite, passed through town en route to San Francisco, after more goods for his new Bishop Creek store.

SCHOOL CLOSED.—Mrs. A. Lowe has closed her school at the Post, and tomorrow morning proposes to take her departure north—we believe to Montana.

BODIE ITEMS.

Letter from the Stray Lamb in Bodie, now a Permanent Fixture—Things not Easily Seen or Noticed by Visitors.

BODIE, Dec. 10.

MESSRS. EDITORS — Your innocent lamb has not by any means forgotten his allegiance to the sunny clime of Inyo, but circumstance—the fell destroyer—has made him a permanent fixture of Mono, and he is liable to bust, raise again, fall and then go back to his old love.

THE MINES.

Bodie mines never promised a more brilliant future than now. Stocks range from 25 cents to $20, with just as good a show for all those fine little manipulations as was ever practiced on the Comstock, and if you want to enjoy a little deal all you have to do is to run a wire to Independence, and I'll furnish all the points necessary to double on a margin. It's done every day, and I hope you will keep it a secret. Trust me with your purse, however incompatible it may appear, and I'll do as the rest do. The Standard mill, true to its cognomen, pounds away just as regular as the miners buck their wages away at faro. The Standard, like Blaisdell with his mines, look with aristocratic scorn upon deals, and are evidently trying to pound out their own results. There are over thirty steam hoisting works on the hill, and many more nearly ready to put in the requisite machinery. The almost unprecedented spell of fine weather has been a God-send to the miners, and every advantage has been taken possible for new developments.

THAT "TRUE FISSURE."

I had a long argument with an old, experienced miner, who had dropped in here on a visit—with his backers in San Francisco, of course—and who claimed he had examined the Bodie, Bulwer and other prominent mines. His conclusion was that directly east of the town, where the mineral belt makes a descent, forming a saddle back shape and dividing what is known as the south side from the majority of the mines in active operation to the north ward, the so-called true fissure branched to either side, ultimately splitting into a thousand and one little wild cat leads or feeders. This was somewhat alarming, for without a favorable development on the south side about 50 per cent. of our calculations would be knocked in the head. This expert's ideas, however, won't stand a practical test, and ere long I hope to report a true fissure worthy of the enterprise exhibited in developing it.

THE TOWN.

The new buildings erected since my last would astonish any one but a citizen of Chicago. The main street now presents a fine appearance and the life and bustle of a Virginia City—probably exceeding that place, as there are more more people above ground. The only drawback I anticipate is that this Winter will develop a big litigation in real estate as well as in the mine. A township stake was pointed out to me the other day, which is driven almost in the center of town. A little rapid calculation showed that from this stake ran a line east, taking a corner off of the Standard building, encompassing the Standard mill with many other fine structures and blocks, and all the fine land and real estate lying to the southward of this little Mason & Dixon's line, will become a prey to San Francisco capitalists—with the exception perhaps of ten per cent. to the spotters or informers. Of the details of this particular business I will speak another time.

TRAVEL.

In spite of repeated warnings that there are people enough in Bodie, they still come, and the two daily stages from Aurora are crowded almost to suffocation. Many are left at Carson every day, praying and cussing because they can't get to Bodie on time. The Sonora stage still continues to do a lively business, and the luscious fruit and elegant bouquets of flowers the driver brings in from Sonora over the Sierras, is incompatible with the outside report of snow, a frigid climate, etc., so early in the season at Bodie.

A GRAVE ERROR.

We have a Land Office in Bodie, it is true, but a certain diabolical fiend pretended to know how to properly fix the papers—bonds, etc.—and duly install the Receiver. The consequence is that the papers have been returned for the third or fourth time, and still we have no Receiver. Some eighteen patentees are waiting patiently, and it is possible the litigation referred to above could have been avoided had it not been for this inexcusable blunder on the part of some of our legal lights. Register Briggs is now absent on account of ill-health. I learn that a petition has been quietly circulated, and a number of heavy signatures thereunto affixed, praying for the removal of Briggs and the appointment of—I don't know who. There is no special grievance set forth, except that the present incumbent is physically incapable of attending to the onerous duties of a land office.

SOCIAL.

Bodie is blessed with about 100 ladies, and many more eligible boys. The different societies give a dance nearly every week, and judging from the knots tied, the hearts that beat like unto battery stamps and the thriving business the boot-blacks enjoy there are amusements enough for the overcharged youths without resorting to keno or bucking at the inevitable tiger. There are two sides to our social life, and I'll only touch the other by winding up with the story of

A WRECK.

The pedestrian makes his way swiftly through the streets of Bodie, vainly endeavoring to infuse the warmth and fresh vigor so easily circulated in the system at a lower altitude. Everything is crisp with hoar frost in the small hours of morn, and strong lungs are filled, yet gasping in the thin mountain air. Suddenly snatches of songs, "I want to be angel," and then some familiar opera air rings out from a hidden recess, clear, sweet and melodious. It is the old story, at which men sometimes quail with remorse. "Crazy Mabel" was born of good blood—of rare musical accomplishments and more than ordinary intelligence. * * She still retains traces of former beauty, but bad whisky is fast finishing the wreck. Recently out of the hospital at Reno, her system full of poisonous drugs, she made her way to Bodie to taste the pleasures and share the generosity of a new camp. The half-clad, bare-footed, uncovered head and shoulders of the crouching figure on the icy steps of the side-walk struck pity to the heart of one, who on approaching spoke kindly to her. Starting erect, there was a wild, unearthly look in her eyes as she exclaimed: "Who are you? Are you a saint or a devil?" and then vanished in the darkness. Perchance it was the first kind word that had greeted her ears during a long dissipated career.

INNOCENT.

PERSONAL.—Among the late visitors to our town may be mentioned several Lone Pineys, including Dr. Colleau, C. S. Swan, John Viel and Paul Houard; Olanche was represented by "Pap" and Gus. Walker, E. C. Bunker and Capt. Titchworth, of the Fessie Brady. A party of Bishop Creekers—C. F. Stoutenborough and family, Wm. O. Harrell and wife, Jerome Hoover, Thos. Ellers and others passed away three or four days with us. Col. A. G. Boley, of the mines south of Lake District, was in town to-day, on his way to examine some gold ledges in Alabama District. He speaks in confident terms of the future success of Lake and its surrounding districts. F. W. Bennett, Esq., has returned to Bodie, in the interest of the new and prominent law firm of Bennett & Hetzel. Miss S. J. Nichols has gone to Oakland to remain during the Winter. Al. Briggs, of Bishop, got back here this morning from San Francisco, having, according to another personal lokleitem, started from here last Monday. This thing of revolting about so rapidly will soon let him out of the personal mention business.

SLOW.—We hoped ere this to be able to inform our readers of the consummation of some proposed plans relating to the Rex Montis and Independence tunnel properties that portend something of importance to our immediate local interests; but as yet we are as much in the dark as to results as ever. Among other pending propositions were the expected consolidation of the properties, which should be done by all means, and an increase of the capital stock of both. We strongly hope to hear before long something of a definite nature in relation to these projects. Spring is not so far distant but it would be well to prepare right now for active operations at that time. A full season of effective work will pretty well determine the future of mining operations on that portion of Kearsarge mountain; better a dead failure for all concerned than more than one more season of uncertainties.

THE KEARSARGE.—Supt. Gray has just finished putting the ventilating apparatus into the long tunnel, preparatory to driving ahead to connect with the shaft. Operations are suspended for the present, but it will be but a few days, or a month at the most, before he will have a full force at work on the two upper tunnels. By early Spring he expects to have an Ingersoll drill at work by contract to drive in the main tunnel from just above the mill to the mine, the contract to be not less than 2,000 feet of tunnel. At least, negotiations to that effect are now pending.

DON'T.—Judging from the reports of all returning Bodie pilgrims, the best possible advice to those contemplating a trip there is—don't. All parties agree in the statement that there are now in the place about five men to every job, and that business of all kinds is becoming overdone.

CAUTIONARY.—In this season of cold weather, winds, blazing hot stoves and a general scarcity of water, our people cannot be too watchful against the danger of fire. It is always the main point to see that a fire doesn't start, but more especially so where there is no means of putting it out.

A HEAVY SUIT.—It is stated that the Diana Company, of Benton, has brought suit against the Comanche for damages in the sum of $150,000, alleged to be due for ores extracted from ground belonging to the former company.

HOLIDAY FIXINS'.—In his large new stock of holiday goods, gifts, toys, etc., L. Wood, at his well-filled store, may be ahead of the times, but he has marked down the prices so that all may afford to indulge in something of the kind.

LOCALS.—If any truthful man thinks he can get up an array of interesting "locals" here these piping dull times, right here in that part of the newspaper business there is an opening for him like an alligator's mouth.

NEW NEXT WEEK.—Keep a lookout next week for the new column advertisement of J. H. Stoutenborough, Bishop Creek.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, DECEMBER 14.....1878.

SECRETARY SHERMAN says there is a strong speculative feeling springing up to give silver bullion in the form of the trade dollar a value greater than other bullion, thus discriminating in favor of bullion held in China against bullion in the hands of our miners. The Secretary says trade dollars will be bought as bullion upon bids each Wednesday, and that preference will be given to trade dollars over other bullion. This is the Secretary's answer to the San Francisco offer of 1,000,000 trade dollars deliverable there from China within sixty days.

DURING the last war 594,000 Russian soldiers poured down through Roumania into Turkey. Of these, 58,000 were sent home by rail wounded and 62,140 ill, 31,000 went home sick to Odessa, 29,000 are still in hospital; 31,000 laid their bones in Roumania and 99,000 perished in Bulgaria.

BREATHITT county, Kentucky, is in a state of civil war. Jackson, the county seat, is under the control of a mob. County Judge Burnett and many others have been murdered by the rioters. An appeal has been made to the Governor for State troops. The trouble results from a collision between two rival bands of outlaws.

SECRETARY SHERMAN has ordered the Sub-Treasurer of New York to stop issuing gold certificates. The Secretary's action is a surprise, and is interpreted as a slap at those speculators who have recently been seeking to raise the premium on gold.

In consequence of business depression in Great Britain widespread and fearful distress prevails among the working people of nearly every class in the manufacturing districts.

ONE-THIRD of the entire revenue of Russia is required to pay the interest on the national debt.

GENERAL MERCHANDISE.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 6.

MESSRS. EDITORS—Congress has settled down to regular work very soon this year. It is not usual to hear from such men as Blaine, Wood, Hale, Cox and Garfield on the first day of a session, as we did last Monday; nor is it generally the case that a strong, influential, weighty speech is delivered as early as the second day, such as Stanley Matthews gave us on Tuesday last. He spoke upon the Texas Pacific Railroad bill—brought up from last session's calendar—and with great earnestness and weight, as was evidenced by the attention paid to what he said on the part of other Senators. He argued well and reasonably for the road, showing that its construction would save $2,000,000 annually for the Government, besides being a matter of justice to the Southern States. To prove the saving he referred to, he mentioned the great expenses incurred by the Government in transporting troops and supplies to Arizona and elsewhere, and showed that the cost of operating the Texas Pacific would be less than that of operating the Union or Central Pacific roads. From that the speaker called to mind benefits that must inevitably accrue from the construction of such a road in attracting new trade with Mexico and opening her northern States to industrial colonies. Matthews is an interesting speaker, and when, as was true in this case, his heart is in his subject, his words carry a volume of weight.

This week, until to-day, has been warm and pleasant. To-day a raw, cold wind is blowing and the air feels like snow. The grass is still green in the parks and lawns, roses are blooming in the yards and dandelions still blossom by the wayside.

Society is beginning to bestir itself, and one branch has commenced operations by starting a series of germans among young people, including a large number of debutantes.

Sir Edward Thornton's family has returned to Washington, and will be among the attractions this Winter. Lady Thornton was missed and mourned in society circles here last Winter as much as Madame Mantilla will be this. The Misses Thornton, having been presented to the Queen last Winter and been through a London season, are now ready to formally enter Washington society, which they will do this Winter and will, of course, be bright particular stars for one season at least. They are called very pretty and uncommonly genial.

There have been many conjectures relative to the maneuverings of the Potter Committee in the future. The matter has been taken up already and is now under consideration. Gen. Garfield will finish at an early date the testimony he began at Atlantic City last Summer, which was interrupted by his sudden illness.

The Electoral vote business is also under consideration, and will soon be disposed of, as the main features were disposed of last Winter.

A serious attempt to increase the number of grains in the standard dollar to the number contained in the trade dollar is contemplated, several bills to that effect having already been introduced in Congress this week; and another effort will be made to compel Secretary Sherman to increase the amount of silver coined to $4,000,000 per month—the present actual capacity of the mints. MARTHA.

EASTERN dispatches teem with accounts of a destructive storm in New England, New York and Pennsylvania. It rained continuously for forty hours. Several lives were lost, and much damage done to property of various kinds.

The Pedagogue of the Gulch.

The boys, says a writer in the Washington Chronicle, had buried their thirteenth teacher in the school house graveyard kept for that purpose, for they were a hard set—sons of miners, hunters, trappers, politicians and other hard characetrs—and thirty days was a good long time for a teacher to last.

It was only the most desperate ones that stayed that long and met their fate, for the rest generally were content with a broken arm, head or leg, and left without waiting for any serious difficulty with the boys.

Harry Floyd was a university man, who had been sometime in Nevada, and having bad luck, couldn't do better than leave digging and take to his education. He was pale, slender and scholarly-looking, and the President of the Board of Trustees said to him sorrowfully, as he brushed away a tear: "Mister, you may be book learned; but it takes more than that for a teacher in the Cranberry Gulch school, as you will find. The last teacher sleeps in yonder graveyard; the one before him left an eye and one arm to show his incapacity; and the three before him ran away with about three eyes and six legs between them. Our boys are rough and don't stand no nonsense."

"Let me try," replied Harry, mildly. "I'm weak, but I have a will. I'll open next Monday at 9 A. M."

At 8 o'clock Harry went down to the school house, with the key in one hand and a valise in the other.

Sixty scholars were loafing around in a good big crowd to see what would turn up, while the undertaker stood near waiting for a job.

"Ready to slope if he finds we're too much for him," whispered the big, bow-legged, cross-eyed bully of the school, a devilish looking chap nineteen years old.

The new teacher gazed pensively at the adjacent graveyard, opened the valise, took out three navy sixes and a long bowie knife, whetted the latter on the leg of his boot, cocked one of the former, and then said sweetly:

"Ring the bell and we'll have prayers." The big bully whom he thus addressed mildly obeyed.

"We will arrange the classes," he said mildly as he cocked a revolver and walked down the room.

One after another the boys were examined and classed. He called the first class to recite in geography. A whisper was heard behind him. Quick as lightning the teacher wheeled and covered the offender with a deadly aim, as he spoke sternly for the first time:

"Don't do that again; for I never give a second warning."

Recess time came, and the boys, very much cowed, went out on the playground.

One of them threw his ball in the air, and before it started to descend toward the catcher's hands the new teacher struck it with a bullet, and from that time Harry Floyd has kept school undisturbed.

The Stolen Questions.

The New York World has announced that it will propound 100 hard questions, and will give prizes varying from $5 to $50 for correct answers. It has already given forty of these, and the New York Graphic has been so lucky as to get what purports to be an advance copy of those be given next. They are as follows:

41. Who first wrote the poem beginning:

"In tra mintra cut a corn,
Apple seed and apple thorn,
Wire, briar, lumber, lock,"

Etcetera?

42. What eminent citizen of Europe first combed his hair with an augur?
43. Where did the phrase "Set 'em up agin" originate?
44. Who was the first cross-eyed man?
45. Is kerosene one of the iles of Greece? If so, why not?
46. Who first made a stand? And was it a carpenter or soldier?
47. Who first thought of grinding an axe?
48. Why was the author of the couplet:

"And thus it is the little clam
Is good to boil, likewise to can,"

Like the ghost of Charlemagne upon the bridge at Frankfort?

49. What is the name of the distinguished athlete who first drove a nail in a tub?
50. How many times does the word "the" occur in the works of Jacob Astor?
51. Who invented crutches? And was he a layman?
52. At what period in civilization was the handkerchief, or its equivalent, first employed?
53. When was the Chinaman Y Paw Fure Chin naturalized?
54. What orator first used the words "ginger blue," and why was that color selected?
55. What language furnished the root whence the word "gosh" was derived?
56. Who first discovered that beans would not come up if planted in the old of the moon? Also, the prophetic talent of the ground-hog?
57. Does not foul play indicate that animals have a sense of humor? Or does it?
58. Who was it first said: "Heaven lies about us in our infancy, and we lie about heaven when we get older?"
59. What is the motto of the Dangellan clan?
60. What is a hen, and why?

All answers to these questions should be immediately forwarded to the New York World.

AT Atzala, in Mexico, on September 29th, a mob killed twenty Protestants and wounded a number of others, and at Pueblo a mob threatened to break up the missions.

A Benevolent Bonanza Man.

An American traveler, who has just returned to his adopted country after a brief sojourn in his native land, said to me the other day: "Let me tell you about Makay. You know all about the famous California millionaire." I said I did. "Well, he and Mr. Florence, an American actor, were traveling in Italy. One day they took a long walk together. Rather tired, they paused at a roadside inn to eat and drink. A poor wayfarer came along, dragging behind him a sort of tinker's barrow. He entered the inn. Mackay invited him to join the homely table. The tinker did so with expressions of gratitude, and ate a hearty meal. He said he had dragged his barrow over one hundred miles, work too hard even for a horse. When Mackay and Florence left the house, the Californian, in his quiet way, slipped two or three gold pieces into the Italian's hand. The man looked at the money. He had probably never before posseseed so large a sum. Then he looked at Mackay inquiringly. The Californian smiled and nodded, as much as to say it was all right, when suddenly the poor toiler burst into tears, fell on his knees and kissed the donor's hands. His expression of gratitude, his tearful joy were so touching that Mackay turned aside to hide his own feelings, and it is no shame to their manhood to say that there were more wet eyelids in that group than belonged to the suddenly enriched Italian." My friend mentioned several other instances of Mr. Mackay's generosity. "You know G—," he said. "Well, he came to Europe with a band of musicians, not only to make money, but to show Europe what America can do in the way of music. There was a touch of patriotism in the business, as well as the instinct of speculation. The impressario lost money, and the loss represented to him a serious sum. Mackay heard of it, and obtained particulars. Having arrived at a fair estimate of the loss, he sent to G— a check for $15,000, completely covering it. I saw G.'s letter, and it was the epistolary counterpart to the pathetic pantomime of the poor Italian." I asked permission to make these circumstances known. "By all means," said the narrator, "so few rich men are found making good, humane use of their money that it seems wrong that such incidents as these should be kept a secret. It was only last year," he continued, "when Mackay, having traveled from Europe to New York, rewarded the doctor on board of one of the ocean steamers in a manner quite in keeping with his liberality in other ways. He doesn't like the sea himself, and finding that the ship's doctor did not like it, he asked him why he did not abandon it. The doctor said there were many reasons; one of them was the expense of starting or buying a practice in a city where he could live up to his ideas of comfort and respectability. Soon after Mackay landed, he sent his fellow-voyager a bank-book, with a credit of $5,000 opened in his name, and the doctor is now in practice on terra firma."—Correspondence New York Times.

A REMINISCENCE OF '49.—We were emigrants just arrived at Bidwell's Bar, on Feather river, October, '49. About one hundred men were on the Bar, and Bidwell, with his Indians, was just shoveling up the gold. We never did learn how much Bidwell carried away, but the boys had set it at fabulous figures. It was at this time a man, we will call his name Jim Willis, a smart, intelligent fellow, was caught with an oyster can full of gold dust. The dust was slightly rusty, and there was but one place on the river where dust of that kind had been found. A miner had lost an oyster can of this dust, and as stealing was something unknown among the miners, we concluded that Johnny was drunk and lost his dust in the river. Happening in to Willis' camp, Johnny espied this oyster can and immediately claimed it. Willis swore he had brought that can from the Yuba, but the miners collected together elected a constable and judge and gave the man what was then called a fair trial. He declared his innocence, but the evidence was against him, and he was convicted and sentenced to receive fifty lashes on his bare back. He was tied to the wheel of an emigrant wagon, and the constable elect, a stout, hearty emigrant, was proceeding to carry out the sentence. Willis was as calm as though working on his claim, not a muscle quivered, when of a sudden a cry went up: "He is not guilty!" and in a moment a hundred hands were stretched to release him. By accident a store-keeper at the Bar was looking at the can of dust, and he says: "Johnny, this ain't your dust; a can of oysters of that brand never was on the Bar." And sure enough it was true, and Willis was saved the disgrace of a public whipping.

ITS PROVISIONS.

Elsewhere we give the Senate proceedings on the new Electoral Bill. This bill, of which Edmunds of Vermont is the author, proposes no change in the constitutional method of electing a President, but only modifies the existing plan of carrying it into execution. As summed up by the San Francisco Chronicle "the gist of the plan is to compel each State to settle all disputes between opposing Electors before the certificates are sent to Congress. If any State fail in this, it runs a great risk of losing its vote, and only the concurrence of both Houses can save it. Had this plan been in existence in 1876, the votes of Louisiana and South Carolina would have been rejected, and Tilden, not Hayes would have been declared President. Opposition is expected to be made to the bill in the House, because several States which last Fall elected Republican Legislatures—which Legislatures would have to perform the duty of fixing the State machinery to carry it into execution—are expected to have Democratic Legislatures in 1880, when the Presidential election occurs. The objection is trivial and contemptible, and ought not to prevail in view of the peril to which the last election subjected the country."

The provisions of the bill in question are as follows:

First—The day for the Presidential election is changed from the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November to the first Tuesday in October.

Second—If the office of President shall become vacant at any time before fourteen months from the regular election, there shall be a special election held to fill the vacancy.

Third—The Electors shall meet and vote on the second Monday in January next after the election. In the meantime, if disputes occur in any State or States as to what Electors have been legally elected, the States respectively, and not Congress, shall settle them; and if such dispute shall be settled before the second Monday in January, when the Electors are to meet and vote, the settlement shall be conclusive of the title of the Electors in whose favor it is made.

Fourth—Congress, on the second Monday in February, shall meet in joint session of the Senate and House. At this session the President of the Senate is to open the electoral certificates and hand them to tellers appointed for each House. The names of the States must be called alphabetically; and if the legality of any certificate is questioned, it must be objected to on the reading of the same. After such objection the Senate is to withdraw, and each House shall vote and decide separately from the other on the objection.

Fifth—If there is but one certificate or return, it requires the votes of both Houses acting separately to reject it. If there is more than one certificate returned, and if the State tribunal shall have approved any one, then that one must be accepted by both Houses as the true return from that State. If a dispute arise as the legality of the State tribunals, where several tribunals exist in any State for the approval of certificates, the vote of such State must not be counted, unless both Houses agree as to which certificate was returned by the lawful State tribunal. It is the same where a return is made from any State without authority of any lawful State tribunal.

THE Legislature of South Carolina has 5 Republicans and 29 Democrats in the Sennte, and 3 Republicans to 121 Democrats in the House. Hampton received 119,550 votes for Governor; all others, 213.

THE Portland (Oregon) Standard says that "a white man stabbed an Indian about a mile above Jacksonville." This carries a false impression; there are no Webfoot Indians so tall as that.

PAPER teeth are a new invention in Germany, and a number of specimens were displayed at the late paper exhibition at Berlin. They are warranted fully as durable as any other teeth.

PRINTING office confab: "Foreman, do we always capitalize Heaven?" "Yes, and 'raise' H—." Intelligent compositor remarked that he guessed so.

IT is stated that a company has been formed in New York with a capital of $150,000, to start a new one cent. daily in that city.

No less than seventy millions bushels of grain are annually converted into spiritous liquor in the United States.

THE finest flour in Germany is now made with glass mill-stones, or grinders.

JUDGE FAWCETT, of the District Court at Santa Barbara, and also of the State Convention, and the attorneys in the More murder case have locked horns. The attorneys tell him in effect that since his Honor is a member of the Convention he cannot at the same time hold his place as Judge; that, therefore, they move a continuance of the case till the existing vacancy in the Judgeship be legally filled. His Honor waxed exceedingly wroth at this "scandalous and impertinent paper," as he called it in an order by which every attorney who signed it is cited to appear and answer for contempt. However the business may foot up as a legal proposition, we believe the attorneys are in the right—that Mr. Fawcett has no better right than common people to hold and receive pay for two entirely different offices at the same time.

PUB. DOCS.—Representative Wigginton has our thanks for several neat and valuable books relating to public affairs. Our Convention Delegate, Hon. P. Reddy, also places us under obligations for copies of two of the most important bills introduced into that body—Taxation and Incorporations. Of the former, of which we have already given nearly the full text, we will repeat that it seems to us to be the very thing needed—the best plan yet, or likely to be, devised. Of the other we can only say that it covers too much ground for us to tell what we think about it in but a sentence or two, and we have no space now for more.

ALEXANDER STEVENS gets hold of the right end of things occasionally. He thinks the President has no business of a Southern policy, and adds, "It is the President's business and bounden duty to administer the laws of the country, nothing more. I do not see how his present position can possibly be construed into any change of policy whatever. If the Democrats of the South have been guilty of fraud at the ballot-box, it is the President's duty to prosecute each case he can find. There is no policy in that. It is law."

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA. — We have received through the courtesy of this college the Register of the institution for the year 1878-9, giving a full history of the University in all the departments now in progress, with course of studies, the Professors of each College, list of pupils in each, and also list of all graduates for all past years, its literary, scientific, practical and financial standing at the present date. The work is full, embracing 170 pages, and published in good style.

BOSTON papers report that one of the rooms of the Boston Manufacturing Company at Waltham, Mass., is now lighted with electricity, two dynamo-electric machines and ten lights taking the place of 250 gas jets. Three hundred girls work in the room at looms on which fine stockings are made. The superintendent of the mill and the operatives express themselves as much pleased with the soft white light furnished by electricity.

A WASHINGTON special to the New York Herald, of the 3d, is to this effect: "Business being utterly at a stand still in the South because rivers and harbors have been neglected, a few Southern Representatives, who care more for the interests of their people than party ties, are reported as saying said that, if Democrats decline to give them the improvements needed, they will support Republican measures in exchange for Republican help."

THE past year has witnessed a large emigration from Canada to the North Western States and Territories, mostly farmers with means of purchasing farms, moving to their new homes with their wagons, farming implements, household effects, and domestic stock. Upwards of 16,000 of this class of Canadian immigrants have been registered by the United States Consul at a single one of the Canadian lake ports.

THE Yakima Indians, in Oregon, now numbering 8,640, were taken from the war-path in 1856, and gathered upon the agency in 1860. They were then poor, but they now have 4,000 head of cattle, 1,700 head of horses, 6,000 acres of land under cultivation (with 10,000 acres additional fenced in) and raised this year 42,000 bushels of grain, besides making 400,000 feet of lumber and 100,000 shingles.

IT is remarked that the next Nevada Legislature will contain but two lawyers, one in each House. The absence of legal talent in that body will perhaps be no great detriment, in view of the fact that there are five newspaper men to help manage things.

THE San Francisco Post thinks the Chinese question "occupies about as much space in national politics as a fly on an elephant's tail." Very likely, but some day it will raise a disastrous sectional issue pretty much as slavery did.

THE trial of William Pearce for the killing of Sam Halsey at Sweetwater, Nev., recently, has been postponed until the May term of the District Court, at Aurora.

LETTER FROM BENTON.

BENTON, CAL., Dec. 15.

MESSRS. EDS.—I suppose that you know that an explosion of a financial nature recently occurred in Benton—that the Comanche Mill and Mining Company was the exploded institution. Nevertheless, we still live, and in some kinds of business, times are pretty lively, more especially in the line of Justices' Courts, both of which Courts are now running to their full capacity. They turn out some of the most important "decisions" on some of the most acute points of law ever promulgated in the State of Cal. The first volume of these decisions will appear now soon—(can be had at THE INDEPENDENT office, I presume).

LOST ARTS AND DARK AGES

And the milling of base ores are now talked of, and Benton numbers as one of the "has been" towns which we read about in some works of Josephus, or Josiah, or somebody else, all because the Comanche company failed to pay a small indebtedness of about $35,000. Yet the Goddess Diana (mine and mill) still continues to turn out a few bars of bullion, and the Indian Queen, under the superintendency of the popular and coming mill-man, Wm. Adams, Jr., is shipping bullion enough to profit the stockowners thereof in the handsome little "div." of 25 cents per share monthly, even if the Comanche did repudiate.

OUTSIDE,

The mines look well, and prospects are that times will be better in Benton next Summer than they ever were before. Capt. Prescott has incorporated a mine in Indian District, seven miles south of this place, and is going to put a force to work soon. Mr. B. A. Lowe has bonded the Neal mine for Mr. Singleterry and others, who are going to sink another shaft; if they find the ledge as good in that as in the present they will take the property and erect a mill thereon. There are many other mines in that district which prospect excellently, and likely to be equally as valuable as the Neal when as well prospected. Although the present outlook is somewhat gloomy, yet the prospect for the near future is bright—was never more so. News from

MAMMOTH CITY

Up to the 12th is to the effect that the Mammoth mill is running, and the congenial Jim Cross, acting Superintendent, declares his intention to run the mill all Winter. Various other mines there are being prospected, and next Summer, Mammoth City will rank A. No. 1 among mining towns. Morris Burke, Superintendent of the East Mammoth mine, passed through here the other day en route for San Francisco, where he proposes to incorporate said East Mammoth mine, of which he is half owner. We all hope Morris will make it stick, for he has the mine, and is a worthy gentleman.

LOCAL ITEMS ARE LEGION.

The popular stage man, John Allman, passed through town yesterday, going down the country. Mr. Allman intends to put on a line of tri-weekly stages between this place and Belleville. He has also stocked, and has in operation, a line of daily stages between Virginia City and Bodie, on the route east of Walker's Lake. By a slight effort of the citizens along the line from here south daily service can be restored upon it as it should be. Chas. Schuman has purchased the Benton-Mammoth City line, and is running semi-weekly.

Attachments of personal property belonging to the defunct Comanche company are of almost daily occurrence, and therefrom L. E. Tubbs, LL. D., is getting rich, while Judge Wales is following close in his wake, yet, at the same time, he finds time to occasionally debar an attorney from practising law in his Court for conduct unbecoming a gentleman, more especially an attorney. And yet for all these complaints,

CHRISTMAS IS COMING,

And awaited with considerable anxiety. Extensive preparations are being made for a grand ball and supper at the Exchange Hotel. G. W. Rowan and J. B. Badger are each receiving quantities of new goods, both fancy and staple.

The weather was extremely cold for about a week, but has now moderated. If we get no snow before Christmas, it is safe to predict a dry Winter. But calmer, prettier weather than we now enjoy is seldom seen at this season in this locality.

Our public school is progressing finely under the able management of Miss Shean; the term is about half through. There being no souls here to save, we have no religious services at all.

THE CASE OF W. J. WHITE.—In the case of W. J. White before the Grand Jury, on a charge of murder, he was bound over to the next Grand Jury. We understand that it transpired in the testimony of Mr. White that he was living again with his wife.—Visalia Delta.

By the explosion of a coal-oil lantern the barbed wire factory at Stockton, owned by the Grangers' Union, was destroyed. Loss, $3,000.

The total deaths from yellow fever in the South is reported to be not less than 14,000. Memphis and New Orleans each lost about 4,000 of these.

The United States paid to Great Britain, November 22, a ton and a half of gold ($5,500,000), the award of damages in the Halifax fishery case.

Halburt E. Payne, of Wisconsin, is now Commissioner of Patents in place of Elias Spear, resigned.

For eleven months of the present year the immigration to this country is given at 72,147, against 52,000 for the same period last year.

Sojourner Truth, a colored woman over 100 years old, has lately lectured in New York.

Fifty cases of leprosy are said to exist in La Fourche, Louisiana.

GENERAL NEWS.

At the commencement of the present term of the California Supreme Court there were 300 cases on the calendar.

There is said to be more timber used under ground on the Comstock than in the construction of the entire city of San Francisco—the wooden city, architecturally speaking, of the world.

In the recent municipal election in Boston, Prince (Democrat) got 19,545 votes, and Codman (Republican) 18,009 for the Mayoralty. The Workingmens' candidate polled but 431. In Lynn the Workingmen elect their entire ticket by about 2,000 majority.

A New York Times Washington special says: Representative Glover, who returned here recently, was informed by Secretary Sherman that he will not be permitted to ransack the Treasury records at random. Glover is indignant.

Henry Wells, the founder of Wells, Fargo & Co's Express, died in Glasgow, Scotland, on the 10th instant.

Only forty-four indictments have been found at Yankton, D. T., against Livingstone and other Indian Agents.

The examination into the educational crookedness goes on, and reveals a state of things more injurious to our public school system generally than all the Zack Montgomerys in the State have yet been enabled to inflict upon it by their bigoted tirades.

The new Governor-General of Canada, the Marquis of Lorne, has been received by the people of the Provinces and Canada with great enthusiasm. He enters upon his office under favorable circumstances, and a grand future opens for him.

Dr. Linderman, Director of the Mints, is lying dangerously ill at Washington, and it is quite doubtful if he recovers.

George Wilson, the convicted Cherry Creek (Nevada) stage robber, has been sentenced to imprisonment for life. The trial of Bell is now progressing at Carson.

There are in France 250,000 men of all ages required for the regular service of the Catholic church who will be liable, if Gambetta's proposition goes into effect, to conscription for military duty.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 21.....1878.

NOT A GOOD PLAN.—It is becoming somewhat the custom, particularly among the ladies, to send money to Eastern firms for common articles of apparel, for toilet purposes, etc. This is a practice that should not be encouraged. We know of several parties who have lost considerable sums of money thus sent East; why or how they never knew. These losses will, in the end, raise the actual cost of such goods as are received to a figure high above the selling price of precisely similar articles purchased from local dealers. For this reason the saving occasionally made is not worth the risk and trouble. In its general effect it is a most impolitic way of doing business. It discourages local dealers in their desire to keep as full a line of goods as the country requires. It robs every local trade and interest of the benefit of handling that much cash, and in this way local dealers are sometimes embarrassed to meet obligations that would not trouble them in the least could they have had the benefit of that much additional cash. Neither is it a fair thing to look to them for credit in time of need, and at the same time hoard cash to send thousands of miles away to those who give no credit, no consideration to any customer, whomsoever, beyond what their coin in hand will pay for. Taken as a whole the practice here under consideration, and more particularly in reference to Eastern establishments, is a losing business for the country, and rarely of but very little profit to individuals. But in case special articles, not to be had of local dealers, are required it is far better and safer to send to some responsible purchasing agent in San Francisco in our own State, than to some strange institution in New York. There is hardly a nameable thing to be had in New York but something precisely like it and just as cheap is to be had in San Francisco. And, while it was no part of our purpose in this to puff any one, yet we will say that our own agent, Chas. W. Crane, 328 Montgomery street, will attend to any order of purchase, no matter what the article or how small the sum, promptly, cheaply and in nine cases out of ten to better advantage than could the purchaser in person.

FIRE.—About 5 o'clock on Saturday evening last Hubert Gelatt, Quartermaster's Agent in charge of the Camp Independence property, discovered smoke and flame issuing from underneath and one side of one of the principal buildings of the Post—the First Lieutenant's quarters, to the north of the Headquarters and in close proximity thereto. The building was entirely destroyed, and only through the most strenuous exertions was the headquarters saved. When Mr. Gelatt gained the interior of the house he discovered the flames spreading under the entire floor of the front portion of the house. He staid in the rooms applying buckets of water until he broke through the floor, and in escaping managed to get hurt, but not so seriously as to prevent his fighting to save the adjoining property. Quite a number of residents about the Post had gathered by this time, all hands pitching into the work with a thorough will. But a small stream of water was running through the grounds, and the creek itself being about half ice it was some time before a plentiful supply could be got. Like all of the five principal buildings of Camp Independence, the one burned was a spacious, five-roomed, completely finished house, and probably cost the Government $10,000. It was unoccupied except one room in the rear portion, where Mrs. Lowe, the teacher, was rooming. As to the origin of the fire there seems to be but one curious explanation. A large wood rat has been frequenting the premises, carrying off numerous little articles that he could lay his ratship's teeth upon. The evening before a block of matches was found missing from a candlestick and the theft at once ascribed to the rat. As usual under most frame houses the ground was spread with leaves and dry shavings. Mr. Rat had ignited the matches, which set fire to his nest and from thence communicated to the floor.

THE GOLD FIELDS.—Some thirty-five or forty miners and prospectors are now engaged on the small rich gold mines of Alabama District, to the northwest of Lone Pine. Two reduction works are in operation the yield of fine gold proving the work very profitable. At present, however, the Orion or Schulte mine, one of the largest and first worked, is shut down, owing to the practical impossibility, so far, of separating the fine gold from the iron sulphurets, which seem to be a peculiarty of the mine. Experiments are going on to determine some method of handling them, and it is probable that a small roasting furnace will be put at work. Were the Beveridge and the Alabama gold fields anywhere near such a rush as Bodie, there would be thousands of men at work in them the coming Summer.

CHRISTMAS TIMES.—The folks at Lone Pine propose to celebrate Christmas by giving a grand ball on the evening preceding, and extend a cordial invitation to the people of this place, and all others in reach, to attend. As there will be nothing of the kind here to prevent, it is to be hoped quite a delegation will go, as well for their own pleasure as in reciprocation of the marked sociability of the Lone Piners when the conditions have been reversed.

BRANCHING OUT.—The mercantile establishment of J. H. Stoutenborough, which is all the same as Charley Stoutenborough, now embraces a branch at Round Valley, where, and at Bishop, both, is to be found as complete a variety of all classes of goods as in any other establishment along the Eastern Slope. And the intent and policy of the firm is to fix prices of everything at the lowest possible notch.

THE REX MONTIS.—We have been favored with a general statement of the affairs and future plans of the Rex Montis M. & M. Co., from which the following facts are gathered: At the meeting of the stockholders the number of shares was increased from 4,200 to 100,000. Of this it is proposed to sell 12,000 at the bed-rock price of $3 per share, to apply as a working capital. The purchase of the Shawmut series of mines, under bond, has not as yet been effected, owing to the absence of one of the principal owners. A roasting furnace is to be added to the mill, and a wagon road to the foot of a wire tramway leading down from the mines, which will reduce the cost of transportation of ore and mining supplies from $15 to $2 50 per ton. This saving, with a much higher percentage of working by means of roasting, will render available a vast amount of ore which cannot now be handled at all. The estimate places the cost of these improvements at from $26,000 to $30,000. total expenditures of the company up to December 12 have been as follows:

From Assessments	$ 67,888 75
" Bullion	68,912 79
Present Indebtedness	25,056 64

Leaving a surplus over all liabilities of $48,572 92. We have full confiidence in the staying and dividend-paying qualities of the company's mines and property, when backed up by some capital and competent, practical management, and believe that all those of this county having business relations with the Rex Montis should "stand in" by buying some of the new stock.

THE BROWN MONSTER.—It was expected, as mentioned by us a week or two ago, that Capt. Eudey would have all the stamps of the Brown Monster (the old Eclipse) mill in full operation by the 17th. In this he has been disappointed only for the reason that for over a week past the mill-race has been covered with ice from the head gate to the wheel, a distance of four miles; during warm days, as on Sunday last, this ice moves and, piling up, causes bad breaks in the race. On this account it was deemed best to shut the water all out of the race, which has been done. Just as soon, however, as the weather softens so as to make it safe to do so, the water will be turned in and the mill set to work upon the vast pile of ore now ready for the stamps. We have the positive assurance that all the ore bodies upon which the different sets of contractors are operating are holding out remarkably well. As a matter of course all parties in interest are quite anxious to have its value determined by mill process. If reasonable hopes in that matter are realized, this Brown Monster will be one of the best mining properties in the State, for there is scarce a limit to the amount of ores it can produce. And it will be a relief to us all to once again have at least one mill in the county in actual and successful operation.

RECOVERED.—We are pleased to be able to announce that that bullion which was stolen from the Benton express office in September last, has been nearly all recovered, and that the thieves, some delectable Chinamen, are in custody. A lawyer friend, writing on the 18th, thus explains how it was done: "D. R. Lewis, some time since, got a clue to the whereabouts of the bullion, and also that the bars had been sawed into three pieces each; that Chinamen were the thieves; that the bullion was on its way to San Francisco, via Teel's Marsh. By riding horseback to Carson in two days he passed the Chinamen on the road. Procuring the services of the Sheriff of Ormsby county, he returned to Genoa, Douglas county, where the Sheriff of that county joined the party. There they bounced the Chinamen, who had a two-horse light spring wagon, and found the bullion, all save one-sixth of one bar, which was missing. The bullion was found concealed in sacks of grain. Lewis has a trace of the missing piece, and is after it. There were three of the Chinamen with the wagon, all of whom are now in jail at Bridgeport, and two more are under arrest here."

TAXES.—The indications now are that many of our citizens whose names have never yet appeared in a delinquent tax list will this year per force find a place therein. This will not be because they are not possessed of as much real values as formerly, but simply because real values will rarely now command the necessary ready cash. Several of our most forehanded farmers in the upper part of the valley are likely to find themselves in this strait on account of the recent mining company failure at Benton, whose checks they hold in plenty, but which checks will not suffice for taxes or anything else worth speaking about. It is accepted as a certainty that there is not coin enough in the country to meet over one-half of the tax liabilities at one time. Such being the case, those who have it can pay it into the Treasury, whence it will soon find its way again into circulation, and give the remainder a chance.

AT BENTON.—It will be observed by his advertisement in this issue that our reliable friend and business man, Geo. W. Rowan, has since his return from Mammoth City, opened out an extensive mercantile establishment at Benton. George will do the fair thing with all his customers, whether they call at his counter or purchase by proxy.

ST. JOHN'S DAY.—Next Friday evening, the 27th instant, will be held at Masonic Hall a regular and anniversary meeting, for work and installation of officers. A full attendance of all the brethren is hoped for and expected.

LETTER FROM DARWIN.

DARWIN, Dec. 19.

MESSRS. EDITORS — Since my last times have been extremely quiet in our end of the county, nothing having transpired to in the least mar or disturb the almost perfect state of monotony that seems to be hovering over us. It is often said that a calm always precedes a storm. When speaking about mining here, we are in that calm and tranquil state now, seemingly resting, recuperating and gradually gathering together our scattered forces, preparatory to anticipated lively times after '78 has passed in its final check and balanced up its account with the Father of all life and good.

For a brighter outlook in '79 the signs of the times are favorable, and their dawn upon us may be near at hand—at least to one who claims no prophetic vision they seem to be. It seems improbable to believe that where God has planted so many veins of silver ore as can be found, and are already known to exist, within twenty (20) miles around Darwin, that among them all none are good, rich and capable of being made to pay. When one stops to consider that with all the thousands upon thousands of dollars that have been expended upon our mines, that we have not one with a shaft down upon the vein even four hundred feet deep. This fact, if generally known, would in a measure tend to palliate and lessen the severity of outside criticism and damaging judgment piled upon us. We do not know yet whether we have any mines

IN REALITY,

Or if they are merely surface prospects. We do know that all our supposed mines, or most of them, have good croppings, well defined veins, good indications and ore as far down as we have gone. The question to be solved is, does the ore go down. Many think that it does, and that when a depth of 600 or 1,000 feet is gained we can show to the State a second Eureka. As evidence that they do continue down toward the center of the globe, I will cite the Lucky Jim or the New Coso Company's mine. This mine from the surface down always had ore and beautiful walls, and I believe is considered a true fissure vein; sometimes the ore body being wide and productive and again narrow and barren. Recent labors have opened up quite a promising prospect for a large body of ore, some of which is of a richer grade than was ever found above, and this at a point some 400 feet from the surface (the deepest point ever reached in the mine), and showing beautiful walls.

THE MODOC COMPANY,

In their new tunnel now being run with the Ingersoll drill, cut a promising prospect and some ore about 400 feet in from its mouth—some 600 feet before they even looked for anything. The tunnel is now being driven ahead at the rate of about nine feet per day with favorable indications for ore, although they have two or three hundred feet to to run to reach the point where it is expected to exist. Superintendent Barber returned from the city about ten days ago, having nearly recovered from the effects of his late accident. Since his return he has instituted a number of economical changes in the prosecution of the work, whereby from $1,600 to $2,000 has been saved to the company. The shaft has been let out by contract, at a very reasonable figure, to sink the remaining 250 feet to connect with the tunnel. But two shifts are worked upon the drill, of ten hours each, instead of three as heretofore. By this plan two hours intervene between each shift, giving ample time for the smoke to pass out from the head of the drift, rock to be removed and track and pipes for air to be put down. We hope in the course of a month or two to be able to cite the Modock mine as another evidence that "the ore goes down in Inyo county."

The prospects are very favorable for the

EMIGRANT COMPANY,

At Lee District, as very rich ore has lately been cut there assaying high up; and this fact, in connection with another, that Wells, Fargo & Co. get a weekly brick or two thrown into their office here, not only substantially cheers their agent but others in the community.

Another of our mines, the Custer, the property of P. Reddy, and now under the management of J. S. Gorman, has every evidence of a favorable future.

Continued dropping wears the stone, and so will continuous blows from the Ingersoll drill or the miner's hammer finally open up something interesting in our midst. Many of us have a large quantity of hope, accompanied with the belief that our camp has a bright future yet in store. Dull as times are we do not get disheartened, but for the last two months scarcely a week has passed without a surprise party, and even the oldest residents say Darwin was never livelier socially speaking. On Tuesday evening J. J. Williams, Superintendent of the New Coso Company, gave the citizens a party at the Darwin Hotel, which was generally attended by the people of Lookout and here. The affair was acknowledged to be one of the best, if not the best of the season. Mr. Williams went below on Wednesday last, to spend the holidays and consult with the company as to future plans and operations.

Mr. Simon, late foreman at the Modock mine, left us on Tuesday.

Mr. A. C. Tippetts and lady returned to-day. Mr. Tippets has accepted his old position as Secretary of the Modock company, which he so ably and satisfactorily filled during Mr. Guptill's management. Mr. Tippetts received a warm welcome from his many friends, and everybody wished him and his genial lady the pleasantest possible voyage upon the matrimonial sea.

Yours, truly, C. F. O'BRION.

CALF BOOTS.—Parties wishing to fit themselves out with "store boots" can always depend upon getting a first-class article, both in the matter of stock and workmanship, by buying those made by R. G. Haskell & Co., of San Francisco, whose advertisement appears in this issue. Call for the "Haskell calf boot."

OUR BODIE LETTER.

BODIE, Dec. 16.

MESSRS. EDITORS—Since my last nothing of any great interest has transpired in the embryo city (N. B.—This is a new phrase) on the ridge. Of mining and its interests I will make mention at some future time, when at liberty to go into details. Just now it might in some instances be hitting some friends vitally in the pocket to speak of sales pending, unfinished business, etc., going on in the metropolis. Dividends from the Bodie and Standard mines for five months aggregate an even million dollars. The publication of such items as this will tend to keep up the wild sort of an excitement which has prevailed for a season past, and will continue to draw a large floating population.

WEATHER.

We still enjoy delightful weather. With slight exception last week, it has been as sunny, quiet and pleasant during the day as you could wish for in your own favored clime. But the change when the night is coming on is sudden, and ice is formed three inches thick. These changes produce severe colds, and the person who comes to Bodie to reside and escapes pulmonic ailments must possess a metallic constitution. An abundance of wood is being "laid in" for the Winter—which Winter may not put in an appearance at all—and the wood thief is in all his glory.

MAIL CONTRACT—MONO ROADS.

The Pioneer tri-weekly stage line from Bodie to Sonora, connecting with a stage road from the old Tuolumne town to Milton and from thence to San Francisco by rail, is the best and cheapest route into Bodie. Its mail contract has now expired, and bids are solicited for a Winter tri-weekly mail to Bridgeport. With the opening of Spring the Pioneer Company will put on a daily, stock the road with fine American horses and put the passenger through in a manner and style that will almost induce the heretofore unfortunate traveler to Carson to go around the horn to get to that point. Travelers via Carson city have complained bitterly of their treatment—not being allowed to lay over at any point and suffering an enormous tariff on extra baggage of over 30 pounds weight, besides being crowded almost to suffocation. Publicity of these grievances cannot harm the line, as it now monopolizes the travel, but it is to be hoped that a gentle hint may encourage better management.

Of all the diabolical outrages that suffering mankind has had to put up with is the trails, wrongly spoken of as roads, in Mono county. Your readers are nearly all acquainted with the difficulty that the people in the southern part of the county had to encounter to reach the county seat at Bridgeport. For years Bentonites could not get there during the Winter except at their peril, and in Summer there was no public conveyance—the only route being via Aurora. At present a county road leads from Dexter's Wells direct to Bodie, a saving of some 14 miles, but the road contractors "made fat" on the job—they merely run through a "go-devil," shaking up the sage brush and leaving a waste of loose sand about four miles deep. You can travel it on horseback, provided your animal be tough. Nearly all the rest of the Mono roads are private, and perhaps it is well that they are. A new toll road is now open from Bodie to Bridgeport, shortening the distance from 20 to 15 miles. The vast amount of freight, principally lumber, in this direction will necessitate travel both ways. Thompson, McNabb & Campbell, of Inyo county, are pushing a new road through to Lake District, passing Mono Lake to the westward. It will not be completed until Spring, when it is reasonably expected a large travel will take advantage of this, the most romantic route in the country. The principal station about midway—30 miles north of Lake District—will be at the Boulder ranch. This place has been purchased by Mr. King, of Bodie, and will be the ideal of a well kept station.

LUXURIES.

Our markets are now supplied with nearly all the luxuries found in San Francisco. Fresh oysters, shrimps, sea fish, game of every description and a thousand little extras are plentiful. The cabaretier who would presume to neglect his paying guests in Bodie need not look for a paying business.

A FREAK OF NATURE.

Webster tells us that the transitive verb "blush," means to make red; to express by blushing. He hit a twenty-penny nail on the head in the first definition, for the demi-monde from the fig-leaf period down to the advent of the Latter Day Saints have been familiar with the art of "making red." There are times, though, when the perisystole of the heart—or some other internal agitation—suffuses the cheek with a far more delicate tint than all the patent frauds ever perpetrated. The lusus naturæ in question is the case of a Bodie lady, who, like all ladies, must needs blush occasionally; but she blushes only on one cheek—the other remaining as impassive as a marble statue. Any reference to the phenomenon in the lady's presence will suffuse the sensitive cheek with a pretty little blush, while the right side evidently knoweth not what is going on.

INNOCENT.

CHANCE FOR A CONTRACT.—The Rex Montis managers propose to let a contract to run a new (No. 5) tunnel into the Rex Montis ledge proper, or to sink a shaft from the present No. 4 to a depth of about 160 feet. As yet the matter is merely under advisement, but parties wishing to undertake something of the kind will do well to consult Mr. Eibeschutz for further particulars.

EXPLANATORY. — Some folks don't know what two dots (thus "), mean. Well, it's a common accent, is called a "diaræsis," and is used in words of this sort: "handwörterbuch." If that isn't plain enough, see Webster, p. 1696.

MUCH OBLIGED.—Our several correspondents (just as good ink-slingers as those of the big dailies, too) make this paper one worth reading.

LETTER FROM ROUND VALLEY.

ROUND VALLEY, Dec. 17.

MESSRS. EDITORS—You intimate that it would tax the tough constitution of a Government mule to get up spicy "lokleitems" in your end of the county. We pity you, poor fellows, but would advise you to move northward—say to Pine, Mammoth, Bodie or some other lively city, where sensation is rampant. As far as pumpkins are concerned, the less news the better for 'em—squashes grow and thrive best in quietude. Rustics care nought for highfaluting rumors—what Bismark eats, drinks or smokes is immaterial. Gives us our johnny cake, mush and milk, cabbages, bacon and pumpkin pie on Sunday. Our music is derived from the squealing pigs and bleating calves, accompanied by babies' chin music. These cold, crisp mornings how delightful it is to be woke about 4 o'clock by the crowing roosters, although we sometimes mildly suggest the propriety of the young cocks prolonging their slumbers. But they will crow.

What an insatiable craving you city folks have for news. Nothing but the latest news—their doings on the "continent," etc., must be digested before breakfast. "Lo, the poor Indian," what does he care for the "latest" provided he has a fair crop of pine nuts once in two years? Ditto here. Give us, O, Lord, our daily buttermilk, and just enough Comanche checks to pay taxes with.

GOSSIP.

One of Round Valley's oldest settlers, E. P. Baker, left lately for a northern clime. He thought his wife and children's health would be improved by a change of climate. W. D. Roberts bought his property. Buryard and Edwards have also left, H. Williams buying the latter's improvements, etc. C. H. Parsons and family have gone East. John D. Jones and daughter have gone to San San Francisco, and expected back soon.

"Our Store" has changed hands, Stoutenborough being the present proprietor. Our old friend J. B. White, is chief cook, and will dish up things for us in a gentlemanly style.

JINGO.

MINING MEN.—Last week severa mines in this vicinity received a visit of inspection from Mr. John Dakin, a mining man of extensive experience and most excellent repute. We are not advised as to his conclusions, but will undertake to say his representations of Inyo mines, particularly the Kearsarge, will tend to make New Yorkers, among whom he goes, think well of them. Another gentleman well known to the mining world, Mr. John Ely, of the famous Raymond & Ely mine, is now taking a look at the mining chances in this region....In addition to these we also note the presence of Capt. Messic, who comes from about Candelaria on business connected with the Panamint and Big Blue properties, with which he and Senator Jones and brothers are extensively interested.

CROWDED OUT.—Several articles, already in type, are necessarily crowded out this week.

The Electoral Bill.

Following is a report of the action of the Senate last week in relation to the proposed new Electoral law:

At the expiration of the morning hour consideration was resumed of the bill in regard to the count of the electoral vote, and Bayard spoke in its favor. He said there was urgent need now to settle this question, and he held that the present time was especially propitious, because the two Houses of Congress were controlled by different political parties, and a measure which would receive the assent of both Houses would be such a one as should be a non-partisan measure. This nation needed rest and peace, and not further agitation. The man who would serve his country best would seek to give her rest, to allay confusion and compose strife. The country's worst foe was the fomenter of new discords. He viewed this bill as a measure tending to peace and quiet, tending to restore confidence to the public mind, and any man who could vote for it should do so unless some serious constitutional difficulty stood in the way. In conclusion, Bayard referred to the late pestilence in the South, and said the small rivulets of private beneficence on the one side and of gratitude on the other had grown into a mighty river of good feeling.

Garland opposed the bill on constitutional grounds.

Hill said the trouble that arose during the Presidential count of 1877 were not because we had no law, but because there was a disposition to disobey the law. Congress could not settle this matter of counting the Electoral vote, and would finally have to appeal to the people; but, unfortunately the people were almost as badly party-ridden as their leaders. Another objection which he had to the bill was that it allowed ninety days between the election of Electors and the time for them to vote for President and Vice-President. That would give rise to more peril than all that now existed. Party spirit not unfrequently dominated all parties in this country to an alarming extent, and he was afraid to allow ninety days for partisans to change the result of the elections.

After some further discussion between Hoar, Cockrill and Edmunds the bill was read a third time and passed. Following is the vote:

Ayes—Allison, Anthony, Bayard, Blaine, Booth, Burnside, Cameron of Pennsylvania, Cameron of Wisconsin, Christiancy, Conkling, Davis of Illinois, Dawes, Edmunds, Ferry, Hamlin, Hoar, Howe, Ingalls, Kellogg, Kirkwood, McMillan, Matthews, Merrimon, Mitchell, Morgan, Merrill, Oglesby, Paddock, Patterson, Plumb, Rollins, Saunders, Teller, Wadleigh, Windom—35.

Noes—Armstrong, Bailey, Beck, Butler, Coke, Davis of West Virginia, Dennis, Eaton, Eustis, Gordon, Grover, Harris, Hereford, Hill, Jones of Florida, Kernan, Lamar, McCreery, McDonald, Maxey, Randolph, Ransom, Thurman, Voorhees, Wallace, Withers—26.

WEANING THE BABY.—Dr. Brochard in a French medical journal lays down four rules to be observed in weaning infants, as follows: (1.) It should never be done suddenly, one regimen being gradually transformed into another, so that the child may be progressively prepared for weaning. The time for it, as Trousseau justly observes, cannot be fixed by the almanac, but it must depend upon dentition. As soon as the teeth appear we should commence our preparations. About the fourth or fifth month we may accustom it to the sucking-bottle, substituting this for one of the sucklings at night, and afterwards for another; and even for a fortnight after weaning the child should have nothing but milk. At a later period farinaceous food and broth may be added. Many women begin to give their infants this kind of food too soon, and at the time of weaning cannot get them to take the milk which should form almost their only diet. Solid food should be delayed for some weeks, and given only as the teeth appear. (2.) The child should never be weaned until it has teeth. (3.) It should never be weaned during very hot weather when diarrhœa is apt to occur. (4.) It should not be weaned while in the act of cutting its teeth, the intervals which occur between the cutting of the different groups of teeth being selected.

A USEFUL TABLE.—It is often useful to have a few approximate data to reduce weights and measures from. Here is a corrected table, which, however, does not aim at great accuracy, but may serve to make a rough estimate when it is necessary to reduce measures: A pint of water weighs nearly a pound, and is equal to about 27 cubic inches, or a square box 3 inches wide, 3 inches long and 3 inches deep. A quart of water weighs nearly two pounds, and equal to a square box of about 4x4 inches and 3½ inches deep. A gallon of water weighs from 8 to 10 pounds, according to the size of the gallon, and is equal to a box 6x6 inches square, and 6, 7 or 7½ inches deep. A cubic foot of water weighs nearly 66 pounds (more correctly 65½ pounds), and contains from 7 to 8 gallons, according to the kind of gallons used. A peck is equal to a box 8x8 inches square and 8 inches deep. A bushel almost fills a box 12x 12 inches square and 24 inches deep, or 2 cubic feet. A barrel of water almost fills a box 2x2 feet square and 1½ feet deep, or 5 cubic feet. Petroleum barrels contain 40 gallons, or nearly 5 cubic feet.—Manufacturer and Builder.

THE study of the English language has become a passion among the intelligent natives in India. Their mastery of it is "wonderful." Here is a specimen. It is a letter written by a native military official to his commanding officer: "Honored Sir — Having been amputated from my family for some years, and as I have complaints of the abdomen, coupled with great conflagrations of the intervals, and prostration of all desire for work, with also the disgorging of my dinner, I hope your highness will excuse me attending at orderly room for ten or nine more days, and in duty bound shall ever pray for the salubrity of your temper and the enlargement of your family."

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 13.

MESSRS. EDITORS—Yesterday was a great day at the Capitol. It was known that Blaine's resolutions were to be brought up, and long before the hour, the Senate side of the great Capitol building was thronged. Every seat in the spacious galleries that surround the chamber was taken, even the reporters' gallery, which is filled only on great occasions and where usually sit only a few representatives of prominent daily journals and associated press reporters, being so full there was no standing room to spare. The Diplomatic gallery, also a place where a dozen persons are rarely seen together, contained thirty or forty people, nearly all the seats being occupied. In one of the front seats in this gallery sat Secretary Evarts, thin and lank, almost lost in his cloak, and two of his daughters, both dressed in deep mourning for the brother who died last year. Opposite to them in the other front seat, sat the British Admiral, Gore Jones, his wife and Secretary, The Admiral is not old, has thin, long side whiskers and mustache, and thin hair parted in the middle like the pictures we see of Englishmen. The Secretary's was worn so, too. Mrs. Jones is very large and portly, with full, red face, and somewhat coarse features. But even these illustrious personages attracted comparatively little attention, for was there not important business before the Senate? And had not all this crowd of people come to hear Blaine and Thurman make their great speeches? Blaine began speaking from manuscript, to which he was closely confined, and which showed careful preparation, as Thurman afterwards remarked. He kept closely to his subject, spoke emphatically and to the point, showing by figures and statistics that the South was not fairly represented in Congress, and that the colored people were practically disfranchised. Blaine never speaks without showing mettle and political strength, and attracting universal attention. His speech yesterday was short but very pithy, polished and well composed.

Thurman replied to him, speaking without notes, and about the same length of time as did the gentleman from Maine. He is another who always commands attention. His utterances were strong and very positive. He assured his opponent that numbers would never rule in the South or North, but that intelligence, education and property would. Thurman is generally considered old fashioned personally, though he keeps fully up with the times in politics. He always carries a large figured red silk handkerchief which he uses with some flourish, calls the Government, "Govment," and says "Republikan," and "Dimocrat." Lamar followed Thurman with complimentary remarks of Blaine, alluding to his great influence in the past, his high position at the present time, and the possibility of his filling a still higher office in the future, and continuing, with, perhaps, a little of sarcasm with allusions to his "mighty" and "daring ambition." Lamar is an eloquent speaker and prepossessing in personal appearance. He is tall and large, with clear cut features and piercing eyes, painted beard, and long hair, which covers the ears, and is curled under at the ends. His crown shows a small bald spot, as like so many other Senators. Baldness seems to be a characteristic of the Senate's appearance. Fully two-thirds of the honorable gentlemen have no hair on a part of their crowns. Blaine brushes a thin lock over his, which takes off the shine; Conkling's one wavy curl covers a little of his cranium's bareness; Edmunds' entire pate is guiltless of hair, and as shining as silver; Buruside covers his utter baldness with a worsted skull cap, which may be comfortable but is not becoming. MARTHA.

Useful if not New.

The following simple rules for preserving health and promoting personal comfort, if not new to some of our readers, are none the less important to everyone.

The object of brushing the teeth is to remove the destructive particles of food which by their decomposition generate decay. A stiff brush should be used after every meal, and a thread of silk floss or India rubber passed through or between the teeth to remove particles of food. Rinsing the mouth in lime water neutralizes the acid.

Living and sleeping in a room where the sun never shines is a slow form of suicide. A sun bath is the most refreshing and life giving bath that can possibly be taken.

Always keep the feet warm, and thus avoid colds. To this end, never sit in in damp shoes, or wear foot coverings fitting or pressing closely.

The best time to eat fruit is half an hour before breakfast.

A full bath should not be taken less than three hours after a meal. Never drink cold water before bathing. Do not take a cold bath when tired.

Keep a box of powdered starch on the washstand, and after washing, rub a pinch over the hands. It will prevent chapping.

If feeling cold before going to bed, exercise; do not roast over a fire.—Scientific American.

MANY of the ills and diseases prevalent among women in our day are, no doubt, traceable to the sedentary mode of life so common among them. Much of the household drudgery to which women were formerly subjected has been greatly lessened by modern progress, and the result is, in too many cases, want of sufficient occupation for needed bodily exercise. The fruits of this state of things are strikingly exhibited in certain observations made by the late Mr. Robinson, a Manchester surgeon, who, in his practice as a specialist for women's diseases, found that in women who themselves performed all their work there was no trace of certain complaints; that these complaints begin to make their appearance in women with one servant, became more pronounced in women who have two servants, or worse still with those who have three servants, and so on. He showed statistically that the deaths from childbirth were four times greater in the case of women with four servants than those with none.—Popular Science.

POULTICES.—The common practice in making poultices of mixing the linseed-meal with hot water, and applying them directly to the skin, is quite wrong, because, if we do not wish to burn the patient, we must wait until a great portion of the heat has been lost. The proper method is to take a flannel bag (the size of the poultice required), to fill this with the linseed poultice as hot as it can possibly be made, and to put between this and the skin a second piece of flannel, so that there shall be at least two pieces of flannel between the skin and the poultice itself. Above the poultice should be placed more flannel, or a piece of cotton wool, to prevent it from getting cold. By this method we are able to apply the linseed meal boiling hot, without burning the patient, and the heat, gradually diffusing through the flannel affords a grateful sense of relief which cannot be obtained by any other means. There are few ways in which such marked relief is given to abdominal pain as by the application of a poultice in this manner.—Dr. Brunton.

A RAILROAD man furnishes us with the following, showing the number of men employed by the Central Pacific Railroad Company, and the rate of wages paid: The number of white men at work is 11,800; of Chinamen, 1,900, or over nine Caucasians to one Mongolian. The wages paid to those regularly employed are: to machinists, 30 to 42 cents per hour; blacksmiths, 35 to 40; helpers, 22½ to 27½; boilermakers, 25 to 36; carpenters, 25 to 32; painters, 25 to 33; engineers, $110 to $122 per month; firemen, $70; passenger conductors, $110 to $115; freight conductors, $85 to $90; brakemen, $65 to $70; laborers, $2 to $2 25 per day. It is said these rates are 50 per cent. higher than the average rates paid for such services in the Eastern States.—Sacramento Bee.

ACQUITTED.—E. P. Hull better known in this county as "Chips," was acquitted last Saturday for the murder of Dave Holland at Columbus last July. "Chips" has lain in jail ever since, and apparently, is a quiet, inoffensive old man. Of the particulars of the affray which led to the killing we have no knowledge, except that it was a drunken row between two old men who had been fast friends for years. The ending was the killing of Holland by "Chips," and the jury brought in a verdict of justifiable homicide.—Esmeralda Herald, Dec. 14.

SENATOR BOOTH'S bill provides that when lands reserved for railroads, or on account of Mexican grants, are restored to the public domain, all persons who have previously and continuously settled on them with the intention of claiming them on homestead or preemption laws, shall be entitled to all benefits of said laws, and date back such rights to the date of actual settlement.

A COLORED man in Corinth, Mississippi, is teaching his former owner to write. Good heavens! do the people of Mississippi "want their daughters to marry a nigger?"—Free Press.

Many a son of Erin who comes to this country has a hod road to travel.

Cold weather is the troubadour that brings the touch of the light catarrh.

A bale of cotton was sold at Memphis for the benefit of the family of the late Lieut. Benner, and brought $512, at the rate of $1 02 per pound. It will be sent to New Orleans and other Southern cities for sale.

No man was ever so much deceived by another as by himself.

Men who make money rarely saunter; men who save money rarely swagger:

Envy no one who knows more than yourself, and pity all who know less.

In seeking wisdom thou art wise; in imagining thou hast attained it thou art a fool.

Nothing more is wanted to render a man miserable that to imagine he is so.

Dignity is expensive, and without other good qualities, is not particularly profitable.

Probably the mild-eyed goat is the only animal ever invented that can eat twenty-four hours a day, and then get up an hour before day and devour a flour barrel and seven old fruit cans for lunch.

SHEEP husbandry in Western Texas has grown at a marvelous rate. In 1866 San Antonio received but 600,000 pounds of wool, while in 1877 she received 2,000,000. In 1866 there were shipped from Corpus Christi, 600,000 this year there will be shipped 6,500,000.

THE bill for the payment of invalid and other pensions for the next fiscal year, as it passed the House, appropriates $29,366,000, being $250,000 less than the appropriation for the present fiscal year.

NOT only perseverance is necessary to wordly success, but patience also, or a willingness to bide one's time. Of all the lesson's that one has to learn in this school of the world the hardest is "to wait."

A PAIL of milk standing ten minutes where it is exposed to the scent of a strong smelling stable, or any other offensive odor, will imbibe a taint that will never leave it.

IT is an actual fact, demonstrated beyond a doubt, that the sound of an accordion in a house will drive rats away. You see, the rats don't own any property, and can get away as well as not.

IF politicians had the same amount of ambition to be honest as the average small boy has to become a ball pitcher, the country would be comparatively safe.

HAPPY NEW YEAR.

For the eighth, and we trust not for the last time by any means, THE INYO INDEPENDENT wishes its many kind friends and patrons A HAPPY NEW YEAR! In thus extending the compliments of the season we would only add that this region seems to be as well favored as any in the country generally, and has a bright outlook for a prosperous future.

IT must by this time begin to dawn upon "Dr." O'Donnell's mind that he did not vindicate his "good name" to any alarming extent through his recent libel suit against the Chronicle for calling him a quack and other such things. The "Dr." was a Kearneyite Delegate to the Constitutional Convention, in which he made himself very conspicuous in general—proposed to reform a great many things so that honest men, particularly poor workingmen like himself, chould have a fair show. But the Chronicle sat down on him and impaired his usefulness, hence the suit. The result is that he is not only shown to be all that was alleged, but also an ignorant, unprincipled scoundrel generally, but worst of all, a murdering abortionist, and subject to indictment for more than one murder. The Workingmen are not much more fortunate than other parties in selecting champions.

THE two Chinamen who were arrested by Sheriffs Swift and Burnham for the robbery of the silver bars from the express office at Benton, were taken before Justice Peterson, at Bodie, and by that officer remanded to the town jail to await the arrival of witnesses. They were placed in charge of Deputy Sheriff Launt, who put them in a cell and locked them up. The Deputy Sheriff was in attendance on a Coroner's inquest between 7 and 7:30 o'clock, and upon his return to the jail he found that the Chinamen had vanished, and no trace of them has been found so far.

THE Larin Monetary League, which recently was in session at Paris, is composed of the following nations: France, Belgium, Greece, Italy and Switzerland. New rules were agreed upon, to replace the present, which expire January 1, 1880. The chief item decided is that while the coinage of gold shall remain as in the past, unlimited, no more silver is to be coined by and among the allies until they so order.

THEY are always having something to torment them east of the Missouri River— hurricanes, snow storms or similar afflictions. For a week or two past New York, Pennsylvania and other States contiguous have been having a very serious deluge. On the sunny Pacific coast everything is lovely. This is the favored land.

SENATORS Sharon and Jones leave Virginia on Friday for Washington, to be present at the meeting of Congress after the holiday recess. Senator Sharon is reported as saying positively that he has no idea of resigning. This settles the vexed question, to the disappointment of several short-term aspirants.

THE Times of Visalia says that the railroad land troubles of Tulare county are going to be exceedingly serious. Somebody, in fact numbers of somebodys, are going to be killed over the matter unless it is settled in some way, and the county will be under the necessity of paying immense sums in criminal trials arrising therefrom.

IT is stated that the Missouri river, above the great iron bridge at Leavenworth, Kansas, is rapidly cutting a new channel through the country eastward of the bridge, and that, unless arrested, in a short time the bridge, which cost nearly a million dollars, will be completely isolated and rendered useless.

A MOVEMENT is on foot for securing a liberal appropriation from Congress in aid of the militia forces of the various States. If it succeeds, it will ring the death-knell of the regular army.

THE death of Bayard Taylor, United States minister to Berlin, is announced. He was famous as a traveler, an author and a poet, his reputation being world-wide.

IN several parts of the State Egyptian corn has been grown very succesfully. From what we read of it we believe it would be just the thing for this valley.

IT is said that Senator Jones proposes to spend several thousand dollars in sinking an artesian well for the benefit of the Santa Monicans.

WILL HAVE TO QUIT.

The gentlemen of the Constitutional Convention are somewhat bothered as to what to do. The appropriation for the expenses of the Convention is already exhausted; the hundred days limit for which they may receive pay expires on the 6th of January, so that any work done in Convention after that date must be without pay. There are many members who have little or no capital to draw upon for this save their salary, already drawn up to date by most of them. In view of this fact it is thought a large number will not put in an appearance at all at roll call after the holiday adjournment. Another circumstance tending to practically conclude the work of the Convention before it is half complete in fact, is the influence of the prevailing belief that the people will reject the new instrument anyhow. Notwithstanding all this, however, it is thought the re-assembly will call enough public spirited members together to go on with the remaining business, and get it into something like a complete shape.

Some very important measures are yet to be disposed of. Among them are the following: the Legislative Department (which, however, may have already come to a final vote), Revenue and Taxation, Judiciary, Suffrage, Education, Municipal Government, State Prison and half a score of other important subjects. "When all these have been finished," remarks the Record-Union, from which we take this list, "the work of the Revision Committee will have to be taken in hand, and if any considerable changes are to be made by that Committee, the Convention may have to go over the whole Constitution again." This will all take probably a hundred additional days' work.

Considerable of the work done by this body is, in our opinion, highly commendable, and if the real brains and patriotism therein displayed, could have maintained the lead throughout, California could have had the model Constitution of the Union; and by this time the work would have been pretty well completed, too. But it looks as if common sense had to give way entirely occasionally to unadulterated demagogism, pure Sand-Lotism. For instance, by a vote of 60 to 35 this body of presumed American citizens declares in effect that there is not a flag of any foreign civilized country, with or without a government of its own, but what, on American soil, too, be it remembered, is entitled to at least equal recognition with our starry banner itself. Yet in no other country on the face of the globe would such a thing be allowed for a moment. Why should a State, as such, be required to equip a militia company or regiment whose members must march under a foreign flag or not march at all? Could anything be more adverse to the spirit of that great national principle which seeks to make true American citizens of the representatives of every nation who choose to ask membership in that national brotherhood it is the American's pride to make one and indivisible? It is no argument in favor of so bowing to any foreign flag that foreign born soldiers fought most gallantly for the stars and stripes, even supposing none of the same did not fight just as valiantly against it, which is not a supposable case. They did these glorious deeds under and for the flag of their adopted country, not for that of native land upon which they had no longer the slightest claim for the favors of citizenship, to which they had foresworn all allegiance and for ever. They did all this as American citizens, and for the benefit of that citizenship. And if any adopted citizen whomsover would do less than maintain his adopted flag against any and every other, he is no citizen at heart any more than those 60 members are true patriots; that they are not demagogues afraid to say one flag is good enough and all sufficient for one country for fear they may render themselves unpopular among constituents of foreign birth. In honest truth, such a fear and sentiment is a broad libel upon the patriotism and good sense of every adopted citizen, wherever born, that we have ever heard express himself in relation to such matters; while cherishing a fond and proud remembrance in a warm corner of their hearts for native land, it is the pride of such to be known as American citizens in everything truly American, and for which they desire to know but one flag, but one symbol. We do not believe that vote, if we are not in error as to its motive, will commend the voter to many even of the Sand-Lotters.

The adoption of the Chinese Article, to not more than one section at most of which would we take the slightest exception on abstract merits, leaves the impression that members voted its adoption more as they did on the flag question (for what they hoped would prove a safe record before certain voters), than in any real hope of thereby curing the evil. Anyway it was previously conceded by nearly all the members that the State could do little or nothing more in relation to this all important matter than to memorialize the General Government, which alone has the right to regulate matters international; that this Chinese question, unpleasant as the admission might be, would come under that head in about every salient particular. Nevertheless, an article was adopted finally, which, according to members' own arguments, and according to the most superficial knowledge of Constitutional prerogatives, was about as certain to cause its denial by the Suprume Court of the United States as that the first case came up for judgment. Yet there were members who, while conceding this almost certain result, favored the adoption and laid the flattering unction to their souls that the General Government would shut its eyes to every unconstitutional point, and allow the whole to pass unnoticed as it has, per force, somewhat similar violations in other States. This is too absurd for serious comment. To show further the noticeable lack of moral courage, else spirit of clear demagogy, which shadowed some members at times, it happened more than once that a member speaking against the adoption of the anti-Chinese article because it came in conflict with the Constitution and the Burlingame Treaty, or for any other reason, would be told by some gentleman on the other side that he, the first speaker, could never have won his seat had he expressed such views prior to election.

As in the common affairs of life, the man who tries to please everybody ends by pleasing nobody, so is it likely to prove with this Constitutional Convention. In deference to a well recognized public sentiment, so universal as to have the dread of a clamor, they have, as it looks to us, sacrificed their own good judgment in this matter to no adequate purpose. Unless a Revision Committee can undo much that has been done wrong, the gentlemen will have labored in vain, and the State, counting in the cost of the coming election, will be out and injured in about $200,000 with nothing tangible to show for it.

CHUFA NUTS.—Mr. Thos. Bell, of Big Pine, who, by the way, is one of the most enterprising horticulturists in this country, experimented last season in the production of the Chufa, or Ternessee ground nut. His success was of such an encouraging character as to make the subject worthy of more than a passing notice. Something of a prejudice exists against this little tuber on account of its similarity in several respects to the troublesome Taboose. If we understand the matter rightly, the Chufa, unlike its congener, the taboose, is an annual, therefore, though of very hardy and prolific growth, is no more liable to overrun surrounding grounds than the potato. Our information on this point, however, is not very reliable. Another great point of difference comes in the amount of and difference in harvesting the product of individual plants. Instead of but one or two little tubers which have to be dug out of the ground, as with the taboose, almost a quart of the chufa nuts will easily be drawn out of cultivated ground by pulling up the plant. Each plant will produce at least a pint of the nuts, and ground that will raise twenty bushels of corn, will, it is said, produce five times as much in weight and measure of this nut. In nutritive qualities the chufa is fully equal to the corn, pound for pound—a statement one can readily believe after eating the chufa, which is as sweet and almost as toothsome as a fresh chestnut, which in taste it very much resembles. In general appearance, and taste, too, the fruit (and plant) is quite similar to taboose, save that the former is considerably lighter in color, and, as a rule, more than twice as large. It is doubtless excellent food for any kind of stock, but especially for hogs, as they will delight in doing their own harvesting, and can have from Fall till Spring to work at it, and, at the same time by rules of square root, to cultivate the ground for another crop. We shall publish something as to mode of cultivation and other particulars in due time.

A LONG RUN.—The Eureka (Nev.) Leader has the following: Furnace No. 1, at the Eureka Consolidated works has been in continuous operation for one year, and during that time has not been repaired to the extent of a single rock. From all appearances, it is good for six months' further work and is smelting as smoothly to-day as when first started. This is something remarkable in the history of furnaces, as it used to be thought that if the ordinary stone smelter lasted four months it was doing well. No. 1 was built of hewn stone, well dried before being put into the walls and slowly heated. It has reduced enough bullion since it started to pay off a good slice of the national debt.

THE leading paper of Louisiana, if not of the whole south, the New Orleans Picayune, in an editorial article on the "Education of the State," says:

The paramount influence of New England to-day in American politics is unquestionably due to the forces which have emanated from her public schools and from the colleges which she contrived to make accessible even to the poor. Our hope for the southern future rests mainly on the effort which is being made everywhere throughout this section to educate all its people, male and female, black and white.

MI dear boy, lay this up on yure upper shelf: If yu hit the bull's eye 99 times and miss the hundreth, the world never forgits the miss and kant seem to remember the hits. —Josh Billings. The foregoing shows that Philosopher Billings has tried the newspaper business—has puffed some man ninety-nine times, and told a mild truth about him just once.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, DECEMBER 28.....1878.

SCHOOL MATTERS. The six months' term of Mr. Daniel Crough's school in this place closes on the 17th of next month. There will be some appropriate exercises, but no attempt at a formal exhibition. So far, Mr. Crough's administration has given unusual satisfaction, and it is a matter of regret that, for lack of funds, the school cannot be continued a month or two longer. Mrs. Lowe's school at the Post closed last Friday, instead of the preceding one, as we had so understood. Neither district has funds immediately available to settle with the respective teachers, which imposes something of a loss on both; and an unpaid balance due the last named from both districts for services last year makes the matter still worse for her.

TOO LATE.—We received this morning a very interesting address to the young folks by Mr. O'Brion, of Darwin, the publication of which we, much to our regret, are compelled to postpone to next issue. The same is true of other matter for which, this week, we had more room than time to prepare. There may be something both of leisure and pleasure for other folk during "Holiday times," but for those of a short-handed print-shop it only means more work than usual, more hurry and worry, and for such the term, "holidays," is the worst misnomer ever perpetrated. And that's how it is.

INSALLATION.—Last evening the following officers of Inyo Lodge No. 221, F. & A. M., were regularly installed to serve for the ensuing Masonic year, by Past Masters A. N. Bell, Wm. Walker and H. M. Isaacs: Aalvah Russell Conklin, W. M.; John Shepherd, S. W.; James Edwin Parker, J. W.; Omie Isaac Mairs, Treasurer; Henry Morse Isaacs, Secretary; Andrew Neel Bell, S. D., Helair Philibert Cartier, J. D.; William Lafayette Moore and Charles Frederick Stoutenborough, Stewards; George Washington Brady, Tyler.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS.—Among those who make manifest a proper estimate of the needs of ye poor printer men, and seek to earn their thanks and due appreciation, about Christmas times, there may be this year mentioned A. N. Bell, of the flouring mills, who sent in a handsome lot of chickens; W. H. Huff, who supplied the regular turkey, D. B. Curtis, with a sackful of some new-fangled style of most excellent "spuds," and T. A. Gardner, bringing candies for the Mr. and Mrs. and the little INDEPENDENTS.

AT LONE PINE.—Christmas Eve was celebrated at Lone Pine with the customary Christmas tree observances, followed by a grand dance and a sumptuous supper at the Whitney House. During the evening was given one of the popular exhibitions for which the Lone Pine school is so noted, under charge of Mr. S. W. Blaisdell, the present teacher. The parties in attendance from this place express themselves as highly pleased with the entire affair.

IN FOR IT.—Justice Duncan Campbell, of Big Pine, some time ago secured a title to some 800 acres of land in Mono county, which aside from its value as a range for his stock, is most favorably situated on the new road from Bodie to Mammoth City—southwest of Mono Lake and adjoining the Boulder ranch. It is irrigated with two ditches, of a mile and three-fourths of a mile in length respectively, the main stream being well stocked with trout.

JEWELER.—We always like occasionally to get in a good word for our old friend George Burkhardt, the jeweler and watchmaker of Lone Pine. It has been our own experience, as well as that of others, that when a valuable watch, for instance, is in need of repairs it is better treated and is considerably safer in his hands than being expressed to San Francisco and back, at a much greater wear and cost.

ALABAMA.—Messrs. Boley and Tuttle, both experienced gold and quartz miners, have been making several new locations in addition to those now being opened and prospected by them. It is the Colonel's opinion that the Alabama gold district is fully equal to Bodie, and he proposes to trace out the rich; small "feeders" until he finds the great "mother ledge" of the country.

AT THE HOSPITAL.—There are five patients now at the County Hospital, though but two, we believe, are county charges. Among those who are not is Colonel Putney, formerly of this place, who is now fairly convalescing with a broken leg, inflicted upon him some six weeks since at Bishop Creek by a vicious horse. The patients are all getting along quite well.

WOULD LIKE 'EM TO KNOW IT.—Chris. Mangle would like his numerous friends and the public generally to respectfully know that he, the deponent, came to this town the other day and went away again without getting on his high horse at all—in short, behaved himself the bulliest kind. Nobody pretends to explain the phenomenon.

PAID UP.—The Rex Montis, of all our mining companies, lead off in the payment of its taxes. We also learn that some $13,000 of its San Francisco indebtedness has been settled in full, leaving but a comparatively small amount still outstanding,

COUNTY COURT.—In the County Court, on Thursday last, Meyer and Casper Cohn, of Lone Pine, were adjudged bankrupts, no creditors appearing to contest the matter.

BALL.—The fullest preparations are being made for a complete success at the ball and supper to be given on New Year's eve, and a full attendance is quite a matter of course.

SHOT HIMSELF.—A couple of days since, a young Indian known as George, while out hunting "labbitys," near Big Pine, accidentally discharged his shotgun while its muzzle rested on or against his left arm. The result was that the flesh on the inside of the fore-arm was torn away to the bone, exposing that and numerous white tendons, several of the latter being entirely cut off; the end of the little finger was also shot off, leaving half an inch of the bone exposed. Altogether, it was a desperate looking hurt. Thursday, accompanied by his father, the blood-stained young warrior made the journey down here, 28 miles, to submit the case to Dr. F. T. Bicknell. A more urgent call prevented the doctor from taking the matter in hand till the following morning. Happening then to be present we could but note the skill and tenderness with which the doctor handled the sorely injured heathen, the latter's stoicism, and the gratification of the "old man" when the doctor, after unwinding at least a dozen wrappings, told him his son's arm would not have to be cut off: nothing but the little finger, which subsequently was sawed off in proper form. It will be some months before George gets that arm out of its sling, unless his exposure of it should sooner necessitate its amputation. And it never will again be of much use to him in stocking the cards so as to make good winnings at Indian poker, never.

COOLISH. — Yesterday morning the mercury got down to 8° of zero, or "freeze to death." That's playing it low down for this country. To date, not a drop of snow or rain in the valley, not a remaining sign of either on the mountains high.

THE next election involves the choice of an entire State ticket, four members of Congress, and county officers throughout the State. It will be one of the most important elections ever held in this State.—S. F. Spirit of the Times.

"WHAT," asks and exchange, "is so rare as an honest man?" Well, we see sirloin steaks frequently that are.

AN understanding has been arrived at between the Pacific Mail Company and the railroads. Of course.
